issued under section 103 or 104, unless the person with whom such arrangement is made, the contractor or prospective contractor, or the prospective licensee agrees in writing not to permit any individual to have access to Restricted Data until the Civil Service Commission shall have made an investigation and report to the Commission on the character, associations, and loyalty of such individual, and the Commission shall have determined that permitting such person to have access to Restricted Data will not endanger the common defense and security.

(b) Except as authorized by the Commission or the General Manager upon a determination by the Commission or General Manager that such action is clearly consistent with the national interest, no individual shall be employed by the Commission nor shall the Commission permit any individual to have access to Restricted Data until the Civil Service Commission shall have made an investigation and report to the Commission on the character, associations, and loyalty of such individual, and the Commission shall have determined that permitting such person to have access to Restricted Data will not endanger the common defense and security.

(c) In the event an investigation made pursuant to subsections (a) and (b) of this section develops any data reflecting that the individual who is the subject of the investigation is of questionable loyalty, the Civil Service Commission shall refer the matter to the Federal Bureau of Investigation for the conduct of a full field investigation, the results of which shall be furnished to the Civil Service Commission for its information and appropriate action.

(d) If the President deems it to be in the national interest, he may from time to time cause investigations of any group or class which are required by subsections (a) and (b) of this section to be made by the Federal Bureau of Investigation instead of by the Civil Service Commission.

(e) Notwithstanding the provisions of subsections (a) and (b) of this section, a majority of the members of the Commission shall certify those specific positions which are of a high degree of importance or sensitivity and upon such certification the investigation and reports required by such provisions shall be made by the Federal Bureau of Investigation instead of by the Civil Service Commission.

(f) The Commission shall establish standards and specifications in writing as to the scope and extent of investigations to be made by the Civil Service Commission pursuant to subsections (a) and (b) of this section. Such standards and specifications shall be based on the location and class or kind of work to be done, and shall, among other considerations, take into account the degree of importance to the common defense and security of the Restricted Data to which access will be permitted;

SEC. 161. General provisions. In the performance of its functions the Commission is authorized to:

(a) Establish advisory boards to advise with and make recommendations to the Commission on the legislation, policies, administration, research and other matters: Provided, That the Commission issues regulations setting forth the scope, procedure, and limitations of the authority of each such board.

(b) Make such studies and investigations, obtain such information, and hold such meetings or hearings as the Commission may deem necessary or proper to assist it in the administration or enforcement of this act, or any regulations or orders issued thereunder. For such purposes the Commission is authorized to administer oaths and affirmations, and by subpoena to require any person to appear and testify, or to appear and produce documents, or both, at any designated place. No person shall be excused from complying with any requirements under this paragraph because of his privilege against self-incrimination, but the immunity provisions of the Compulsory Testimony Act of February 11, 1893, shall apply with respect to any individual who specifically claims such privilege. Witnesses subpoenaed under this subsection shall be paid the same fees and mileage as are paid witnesses in the district courts of the United States.

§ 4.4 Policy. It is the policy of the Atomic Energy Commission to carry out its responsibility for the security of the atomic energy program in a manner consistent with traditional American concepts of justice. To this end, the Commission has established criteria for determining eligibility for security clearance and will afford those individuals described in § 4.2 the opportunity for administrative review of questions concerning their eligibility for security clearance.

CRITERIA FOR DETERMINING ELIGIBILITY FOR SECURITY CLEARANCE

§ 4.10 Application of the criteria. (a) The decision as to security clearance is a comprehensive, commonsense judgment, made after consideration of all the relevant information, favorable or unfavorable, as to whether or not the granting of security clearance would endanger the common defense and security. If it is determined that the common defense and security will not be endangered, security clearance will be granted; otherwise, security clearance will be denied.

(b) To assist in making these determinations, on the basis of all the information in a particular case, there are set forth in this part a number of specific types of derogatory information. These criteria are not exhaustive but contain the principal types of derogatory information which create a question as to the individual's eligibility for security clearance. While there must necessarily be adherence to such criteria, the Commission is not limited thereto, nor precluded from exercising its judgment that information or facts in a case under its cognizance are derogatory although at variance with, or outside the scope of, the stated categories. These criteria are subject to continuing review and may be revised from time to time as experience and circumstances may make desirable.

(c) When the reports of investigation of an individual contain information reasonably tending to establish the truth of one or more of the items in the criteria, such information shall be regarded as substantially derogatory and shall create a question as to his eligibility for security clearance. However, when such information involves association with organizations or individuals, which is the result of, and is limited to, normal business or professional activity or chance or casual meetings, Managers of Operations may determine whether such information is substantially derogatory. Managers of Operations shall refer cases involving substantially derogatory information to the Director, Division of Security, AEC. The Director, Division of Security, AEC, may authorize the granting of security clearance on the basis of the existing record, or may authorize the conduct of an interview with the individual and, on the basis of such interview and such other investigation as he deems appropriate, may authorize the granting of security clearance. Otherwise, a question concerning the eligibility of an individual for security clearance shall be resolved in accordance with the procedures set forth in §§ 4.20 et seq. of this part.

(d) In resolving a question concerning the eligibility of an individual for security clearance, the following principles shall be applied by Personnel Security Boards:

(1) Where there are grounds sufficient to establish a reasonable belief as to the truth of one or more of the items in Category "A," this shall create a presumption of security risk which, if not satisfactorily rebutted by the individual, shall result in an adverse recommendation.

(2) Where there are grounds sufficient to establish a reasonable belief as to the truth of one or more of the items in Category "B," the extent of activities, the period in which such activities occurred, the length of time which has since elapsed, and the attitudes and convictions of the individual shall be considered in determining whether the recommendation will be adverse or favorable.

§ 4.11 Derogatory information.—(a) Category "A" derogatory information. Category "A" includes those cases in which the individual or his spouse has:

(1) Committed or attempted to commit, or aided, or abetted another who committed or attempted to commit, any act of sabotage, espionage, treason or sedition;

(2) Knowingly established an association with espionage or sabotage agents of a foreign nation; with individuals reliably reported as suspected of espionage or sabotage; with representatives of foreign nations whose interests may be inimical to the interests of the United States, with traitors, seditionists, anarchists, or revolutionists;

(3) Held membership in any organization or group designated by the Attorney General pursuant to Executive Order 10450, as amended, provided the individual did not withdraw from such membership when the organization was so identified, or did not otherwise establish his rejection of its subversive aims; or, prior to the declaration by the Attorney General, participated in the activities of such an organization in a capacity where he should reasonably have had knowledge as to the subversive aims of the organization and did not establish his rejection of its subversive aims. (If an organization has been removed from the Attorney General's list, membership in the organization after such removal shall not be considered as Category "A" derogatory information but may be considered as Category "B" derogatory information.)

(4) Publicly or privately advocated revolution by force or violence to overthrow the Government of the United States or the alteration of the form of Government of the United States by unconstitutional means;

Category "A" also includes those cases in which the individual has:

(5) Deliberately omitted significant information from or falsified his Personnel Security Questionnaire or Personal History Statement concerning a significant matter;

(6) Wilfully violated or disregarded security regulations to a degree which would endanger the common defense and security; or intentionally disclosed classified information to any person not authorized to receive it;

(7) Any mental illness of a nature which in the opinion of competent medical authority may cause significant defect in the judgment or reliability of the individual;

(8) Been convicted of crimes indicating habitual criminal tendencies;

(9) Been, or is, a user of drugs habitually, without adequate evidence of rehabilitation.

(b) Category "B" derogatory information. In evaluating items under this category, the extent of the activities, the period in which such activities occurred, the length of time which has since elapsed, and the attitudes and convictions of the individual shall be considered. Category "B" includes those cases in which the indiivdual or his spouse has:

(1) Advocated Totalitarian, Fascist, Communist or other subversive political ideologies and has not subsequently established his rejection of them.

(2) Associated with persons falling within the provisions of Category "B"–1, subparagraph (1) of this paragraph, when the individual himself did not establish his rejection of such ideologies. (Ordinarily this will not include chance or casual meetings nor contacts limited to normal business or official relations.)

(3) Affiliated with any organization or group designated in Category "A," paragraph (a) 3, of this section, provided the individual did not discontinue such affiliation when the organization was so identified or did not otherwise establish his rejection of its subversive aims;

(4) Associated with any person falling within the provisions of Category "A," paragraph (a) 3, of this section, provided the individual did not discontinue such association when the organization was so identified or did not otherwise establish his rejection of its subversive aims. (Ordinarily this will not include chance or casual meetings nor contacts limited to normal business or official relations.)

(5) Parent(s), brother(s), sister(s), spouse, or offspring residing in a nation whose interests may be inimical to the interests of the United States, or in satellites or occupied areas thereof (to be evaluated in the light of the risk that pressure applied through such close relatives could force the individual to reveal sensitive information or perform an act of sabotage);

Category "B" also includes those cases in which the individual:

(6) Refuses to serve in the Armed Forces when such refusal cannot be clearly shown to be due to religious convictions;

(7) Has been grossly careless in failing to protect or safeguard any Restricted Data or other classified information;

(8) Has abused trust, has been dishonest, or has engaged in infamous, immoral, or notoriously disgraceful conduct;

(9) Is a sexual pervert or homosexual;

(10) Is a user of alcohol habitually and to excess, or has been such without adequate evidence of rehabilitation;

(11) Refuses, upon the ground of constitutional privilege against self-incrimination, to testify before a Congressional Committee regarding charges of his alleged disloyalty or other misconduct.

PROCEDURES

§ 4.20 Purpose of the procedures. These procedures establish methods for the conduct of personnel security board hearings and administrative review of questions concerning an individual's eligibility for security clearance pursuant to the Atomic Energy Act of 1954, when it has been determined that such questions cannot be favorably resolved by informal interview or other investigation.

§ 4.21 Suspension of clearance. In those cases where information is received which raises a question concerning the continued eligibility of an individual for AEC security clearance, the Manager of the office concerned shall forward to the General Manager, via the Director, Division of Security, AEC, his recommendation as to whether the individual's clearance should be suspended pending the final determination resulting from the operation of the procedures provided in this part. In making this recommendation the Manager shall consider such factors as the seriousness of the derogatory information developed, the possible access of the individual to classified information, and the individual's opportunity by reason of his position to commit acts adversely affecting the national security. The clearance of an individual shall not be suspended except by direction of the General Manager.

§ 4.22 Notice to individual. A notification letter, approved by the Division of Security, AEC, and the Office of the General Counsel, and signed by the Manager of Operations, shall be presented to each individual whose eligibility for clearance is in question. Where practicable, such letter shall be presented to the individual in person. The letter shall state:

(a) That information in possession of the Commission has created a question concerning the individual's eligibility for security clearance;

(b) The information, in as much detail and as specifically as considerations of security permit, which creates a question regarding the individual's eligibility for security clearance;

(c) That within twenty days of the date of receipt of the notification letter the individual must indicate in writing to the Manager from whom he received such letter whether he wishes a hearing before a Personnel Security Board;

(d) That within twenty days of the date of receipt of the notification letter, the individual is requested to file with the Manager from whom he received such letter his written answer to the matters contained therein;

(e) That, if the individual so requests, a hearing will be scheduled before a Personnel Security Board at a mutually convenient time and place for the purpose of eliciting information to assist in determining the eligibility of the individual for security clearance;

(f) That, if the individual requests a hearing, he will be notified in writing of the membership of a Personnel Security Board when it is appointed by the Manager;

(g) That the individual will have the right to appear personally before a Personnel Security Board, and present evidence in his own behalf, through witnesses, or by documents, or both, and subject to the limitations set forth in § 4.26 (d) and (m), be present during the entire hearing and be represented by counsel of his own choosing;

(h) That the individual's failure to file a written request for a hearing before a Personnel Security Board, in accordance with (c) of this section, will be considered as a relinquishment by him of the opportunity of availing himself of the privileges accorded to him under the hearing and review procedure provided in this part, and that in such event a recommendation as to the final action to be taken will be made by the Manager of Operations and submitted to the General Manager for his decision on the basis of the existing record without reference to a Personnel Security Board;

(i) His clearance status until further notice;

(j) The name of the designated AEC official to contact for any further information desired.

§ 4.23 Additional information. A copy of this part shall be given to the individual with the notification letter.

§ 4.24 Failure of individual to request a hearing. (a) In the event the individual fails, within the prescribed time, to file a written request for a hearing before a Personnel Security Board, a recommendation as to the final action to be taken shall be made by the Manager of Operations to the General Manager on the basis of the existing record;

(b) The Manager of Operations may for good cause, at the request of the individual, extend the time for filing a written request for a hearing or for filing a written answer to the matters contained in the notification letter.

§ 4.25 Appointment of Boards. (a) Upon receipt from the individual of his written answer to the notification letter, signifying his desire to appear before a Personnel Security Board, the Manager shall forthwith appoint a Board consisting of three members, one to be designated as the Chairman;

(b) The personnel of the Board, when practicable as determined by the Manager, shall consist of at least one member who is an attorney and one member who is familiar with the general field of work of the individual;

(c) The personnel shall be selected from a panel of individuals possessing the highest degree of integrity, ability, and good judgment. Such panels may include employees of the AEC or its contractors but no AEC employee shall serve on a Board hearing the case of an AEC employee, or applicant for AEC employment, and no employee of an AEC contractor shall serve on a Board hearing the case of an employee of, or an applicant for employment with, that contractor;

(d) All persons serving as members of Personnel Security Boards shall have an AEC "Q" security clearance;

(e) No person shall serve as a member of a Personnel Security Board who has prejudged the case to be heard; who possesses information that would make it embarrassing to render an impartial recomendation; or who for bias or prejudice generated for any reason would be unable to render a fair and impartial recommendation;

(f) Immediately upon the appointment of a Personnel Security Board, the Manager will notify the individual of the identity of the members of the Board and of his right to challenge any member for cause, such challenge or challenges, accompanied by the reasons therefor, to be submitted to the Manager within seventy-two hours of the receipt of the notice;

(g) In the event that the individual challenges a member or members of the Board, the justification of the action of the individual shall be determined by the Manager. Where the challenge of the individual is sustained, the Manager shall forthwith appoint such new members to the Board as will constitute a full Board and notify the individual. The individual shall have the right to challenge such new members for cause and such challenge shall be dealt with in the same manner as an original challenge. The Manager shall also notify the individual of his rejection of any challenge. The Board shall convene as soon as is reasonably practicable;

(h) The Manager of Operations shall notify the individual in writing, at least one week in advance, of the date, hour, and place the Board will convene. In the event the individual fails to appear at the time and place specified, a recommendation as to the final action to be taken shall be made by the Manager of Operations to the General Manager on the basis of the existing record. However, the Manager of Operations may for good cause, at the request of the individual, permit the individual to appear before a Personnel Security Board at a newly-scheduled date, hour, and place.

§ 4.26 Appointment of Counsel to Personnel Security Boards. (a) Managers of Operations shall appoint an attorney to serve as counsel to the Board; such attorney shall possess the highest degree of integrity, ability, and good judgment and shall have an AEC "Q" clearance. Counsel to the Board may be an employee of the AEC, or he may be an attorney specifically retained to serve as Counsel to a Board.

(b) Counsel to the Board shall not be a member of the Board; shall not participate in the deliberations of the Board, and shall express no opinion to the Board concerning the merits of the case. He shall advise the Board concerning the meaning and application of the procedures. He shall also advise the individual of his rights under these procedures when the individual is not represented by Counsel of his own choosing.

(c) Counsel to the Board shall not participate in any deliberations with the Manager of Operations or members of the Manager's staff concerning the latter's recommendation to the General Manager with respect to the granting or denial of security clearance.

§ 4.27 Conduct of proceedings. (a) The proceedings shall be presided over by the Chairman of the Board and shall be conducted in an orderly and decorous manner with every effort made to protect the interests of the Government and of the individual and to arrive at the truth. In no case will undue delay be tolerated nor will the individual be hampered by unduly restricting the time necessary for proper preparation and presentation. In performing their duties, the members of the Board shall avoid the attitude of a prosecutor and shall always bear in mind and make clear to all concerned that the proceeding is an administrative hearing and not a trial;

(b) The proceedings shall be open only to duly authorized representatives of the staff of the Atomic Energy Commission, the individual, his counsel, and such persons as may be officially authorized by the Board. Witnesses shall not testify in the presence of other witnesses.

(c) Counsel to the Board shall examine and cross-examine witnesses and otherwise assist the Board in such a manner as to bring out a full and complete disclosure of all facts, both favorable and unfavorable, having a bearing on the issues before the Board. In performing his duties, he shall avoid the attitude of a prosecutor and shall always bear in mind that the proceeding is an administrative hearing and not a trial.

(d) The Board shall ask the individual, AEC representatives, and other witnesses any supplemental questions which the Board deems appropriate to assure the fullest possible disclosure of relevant and material facts. The proponent of a witness shall conduct the direct examination of that witness;

(e) During the course of the proceedings the Chairman shall rule in open session on all questions presented to the Board for its determination, subject to the objection of any member of the Board. In the event of an objection by any member of the Board, a majority vote of the Board shall be determinative and constitute the ruling of the Chairman. Voting may be either in open or closed session on all questions except recommendations to grant or deny security clearance, which shall be in closed session;

(f) In the event that it appears in the course of the hearing that Restricted Data or other classified information may be disclosed, it shall be the duty of the Chairman to assure that disclosure is not made to persons who are not authorized to receive it;

(g) The Board shall not engage in argument with either the individual, his witnesses, or his counsel, nor shall the Board permit any person to argue from the witness stand;

(h) The Board shall admit in evidence any matters either oral or written which, in the minds of reasonable men, are of probative value in determining the issues involved, including the testimony of responsible persons concerning the integrity of the individual. The utmost latitude shall be permitted with respect to relevancy, materiality, and competency. Every reasonable effort shall be made to obtain the best evidence available. Hearsay evidence shall be admitted without regard to technical rules of admissibility and accorded such weight as the circumstances warrant;

(i) Testimony of the individual and witnesses shall be given under oath or affirmation, and witnesses shall be subject to cross-examination. Attention of the witness shall be invited to 18 U. S. C. 1001 and 18 U. S. C. 1621;

(j) The individual shall be afforded the opportunity of testifying in his own behalf. His failure to testify may be considered by the Board in reaching its recommendation;

(k) The Board shall endeavor to obtain all the facts that are reasonably available in order for it to arrive at its recommendations. If, prior to or during the proceeding, in the opinion of the Board the allegations in the notification letter are not sufficient to cover all matters into which inquiry should be directed, the Board shall suggest to the Manager concerned that, in order to give fuller notice to the individual, the notification letter should be amended. Any amendment shall be made with the concurrence of the Director, Division of Security, AEC, and the Office of the General Counsel. If, in the opinion of the Board, the circumstances of such an amendment may involve an undue hardship to the individual, because of limited time to answer the new allegations in the notification letter, an appropriate adjournment shall be granted upon the request of the individual;

(l) The reports of investigation shall not be disclosed to the individual or his representatives;

(m) Boards are encouraged to request the presence of witnesses whose testimony is important to the resolution of material issues. When the presence of a witness is deemed by the Board to be necessary or desirable to a proper determination of the issues before it, the Board shall request the Manager to make arrangements, if possible, for such witness to appear, be confronted by the individual, and be subject to examination and cross-examination. Upon receipt of such request the Manager shall make every effort through proper administrative channels to comply with the Board's request. In the event the witness is unavailable, such unavailability, together with any reasons which may be advanced therefor, shall be considered by the Board in arriving at its determination. Because of the confidential nature of the sources of information or for other reasons, confrontation of witnesses by the individual may not always be possible. In such cases, the Board may request the Manager to make arrangements through the Director, Division of Security, for such witness to testify privately and be subject to thorough questioning by the Board and its Counsel, and portions of the transcript involving testimony of such witnesses shall not be furnished to the individual;

(n) The Board may request the Manager to arrange for additional investigation on any points which are material to the deliberations of the Board and which the Board believes need extension or clarification. In this event, the Board shall set forth in writing those issues upon which more evidence is requested, identifying where possible persons or sources from which evidence should be sought. The Manager shall make every effort through appropriate sources to obtain additional information upon the matters indicated by the Board;

(o) A written transcript of the entire proceedings shall be made by a person possessing appropriate AEC clearance and, except for portions containing Restricted Data or other classified information or testimony referred to in the last sentence of paragraph (m) of this section, a copy of such transcript shall be furnished the individual without cost.

§ 4.28 Recommendation of the Board. (a) The Board shall carefully consider all material before it, including the reports of investigation, the testimony of all witnesses, the evidence presented by the individual, and the standards set forth herein. In considering the material before the Board, the members of the Board, as practical men of affairs, shall be guided by the same considerations that would guide them in making a sound decision in the administration of their own lives. In reaching its determination the Board shall consider the manner in which the witnesses have testified before the Board, their demeanor on the witness stand, the probability or likelihood of their testimony, their credibility, the authenticity and accuracy of documentary evidence, or the lack of evidence upon some material points in issue. If the individual is, or may be, handicapped by the non-disclosure to him of confidential information or by lack of opportunity to cross-examine confidential informants, the Board shall take that fact into consideration. The Board shall also consider other information available to the Commission, such as his past record with the atomic energy program, and the nature and sensitivity of the job he is or may be expected to perform. Possible impact of the loss of the individual's services upon the AEC program shall not be considered by the Board;

(b) The Board shall make specific findings as to whether each of the allegations contained in the notification letter is true or false and the significance which the Board attaches to such allegations. These findings shall be supported fully by a statement of reasons which constitute the basis for such findings;

(c) The recommendation of the Board shall be predicated upon its findings. If, after considering all the factors in the light of the criteria set forth in this part, the Board is of the opinion that it will not endanger the common defense and security to grant security clearance to the individual, it shall make a favorable recommendation; otherwise, it shall make an adverse recommendation;

(d) The recommendation of the Board shall be determined by a majority vote. In the event of a dissent from the majority, the recommendation of the minority member shall be made a matter of record together with a statement of the reasons leading to his conclusions. The recommendation of the Board shall be submitted to the Manager accompanied by a statement of the reasons leading to the Board's conclusions.

§ 4.29 New evidence. (a) In the event of the discovery of new evidence by the individual prior to final determination by the General Manager of the individual's eligibility for security clearance, such evidence shall be submitted by the individual or his representative to the Manager of Operations from whom he received his notification letter.

(b) The Manager of Operations shall review the application for the presentation of new evidence to ascertain its materiality and relevancy and further, that the individual or his representative is without fault in failing to present the evidence before. In the event it is determined that the new evidence should be received, the Manager of Operations shall:

(1) Refer the matter to the Personnel Security Board which had been appointed in the individual's case when the Manager of Operations has not yet forwarded his recommendation to the General Manager. The Personnel Security Board receiving the application for the presentation of new evidence shall determine the form in which it shall be received, whether by testimony before the Board, by deposition, or by affidavit;

(2) In those cases where the Manager of Operations has forwarded his recommendations to the General Manager, the application for presentation of new evidence shall be referred to the General Manager with appropriate comment and recommendations. In the event the General Manager determines that the new evidence should be received, he shall determine the form in which it shall be received, whether by testimony before a Personnel Security Board, by deposition, or by affidavit.

§ 4.30 Actions on the recommendations. (a) The recommendations of the Board and any dissent therefrom shall be written out, signed by all of the members of the Board, and, together with the record of the case, shall be transmitted with the least practicable delay to the Manager of Operations concerned;

(b) Upon receipt of the recommendation of the Board and the record of the case, the Manager shall forthwith review the entire record. In making his recommendation to grant or deny security clearance, the Manager shall be guided by the standards set forth herein, shall make specific findings as to whether each of the allegations contained in the notification letter is true or false, and shall set forth in writing his recommendation to the General Manager, through the Director, Division of Security. In those cases where denial of security clearance is recommended, the Manager of Operations shall include, in his recommendation, a statement concerning the effect which denial of security clearance would have upon the atomic energy program;

(c) The General Manager may return the case to the Manager for further proceedings by the Personnel Security Board with respect to specific matters designated by the General Manager;

(d) (1) In the event of a recommendation by the Manager for a denial of security clearance, the individual shall be immediately notified in writing of that fact by the Manager and shall be furnished a copy of the Manager's specific findings as to whether each of the allegations contained in the notification letter is true or false. This letter shall also notify the individual of his right to request a review of his case by the AEC Personnel Security Review Board and of his right to submit a brief in support of his contentions. The request for a review shall be submitted to the Manager within five days after the receipt of the notice. The brief shall be filed with the Manager not later than 20 days after receipt of such notice;

(2) Where the individual requests a review of the adverse recommendation, the Manager shall forthwith send the entire record of the proceedings, with all findings and recommendations, to the Personnel Security Review Board through the Director, Division of Security, AEC;

(3) In the event the individual fails to request a review by the AEC Personnel Security Review Board of an adverse recommendation within the prescribed time, the case shall be promptly referred to the General Manager through the Director, Division of Security, AEC, for disposition on the basis of existing record;

(e) (1) Where the Manager has made a recommendation favorable to the individual and the General Manager proposes to transmit the entire record to the Personnel Security Review Board for its recommendation, the General Manager shall immediately cause the individual to be notified of that fact and of those matters contained in the notification letter concerning which he desires the advice of the Personnel Security Review Board. He shall further inform the individual that he may submit a brief concerning such matters for the consideration of the Personnel Security Review Board. Such brief shall be filed not later than twenty days from the receipt of the notice by the individual. The brief shall be forwarded to the General Manager through the Director, Division of Security, AEC, for transmission to the Personnel Security Review Board;

(2) The General Manager shall submit the entire record to the AEC Personnel Security Review Board.

§ 4.31 Recommendations of the AEC Personnel Security Review Board. (a) The AEC Personnel Security Review Board shall make its deliberations upon the entire record, supplemented by such brief as the individual submits. The Personnel Security Review Board may request such additional briefs as it deems appropriate. In any case where the AEC Personnel Security Review Board determines that additional evidence or further proceedings are necessary, it may return the case to the General Manager with a recommendation that the case be remanded to the Manager of Operations for appropriate action;

(b) In its deliberations, the AEC Personnel Security Review Board shall make its findings and recommendations as to the eligibility of an individual for a security clearance on the entire record supplemented by additional testimony or briefs, as determined by the Board. When additional testimony is taken by the Personnel Security Review Board a verbatim transcript of such testimony shall be made part of the record;

(c) The Personnel Security Review Board shall not concern itself with the possible impact of the loss of the individual's services upon the AEC program;

(d) After its deliberations, the AEC Personnel Security Review Board shall make its recommendations in writing to the General Manager for his decision.

§ 4.32 Action by the General Manager. (a) The General Manager, on the basis of the entire record accompanied by all recommendations, shall then make a final determination whether security clearance shall be granted or denied;

(b) In making his determination as to whether clearance shall be granted or denied, the General Manager shall give due recognition to the favorable as well as the unfavorable information concerning the individual and shall take into account the value of the individual's services to the atomic energy program and the operational consequences of denial of clearance. In making his determination, the mature viewpoint and responsible judgment of Commission staff members, and of the contractor concerned, are available for consideration by the General Manager;

(c) As soon as practicable, the General Manager shall notify the Manager of Operations of his decision for transmittal to the individual.

§ 4.33 Reconsideration of cases. (a) Where, pursuant to the procedures set forth in §§ 4.20 to 4.33, inclusive, the General Manager has made a determination granting security clearance to an individual, the individual's eligibility for clearance shall be reconsidered only when, subsequent to the time of the prior hearing, there is new substantially derogatory information or a significant increase in the scope or sensitivity of the Restricted Data to which the individual has or will have access;

(b) Where, pursuant to these procedures, the General Manager has made a determination denying security clearance to an individual, the individual's eligibility for clearance may be reconsidered when there is a bona fide offer of employment requiring access to Restricted Data and either material and relevant new evidence, which the individual and his representative are without fault in failing to present before, or convincing evidence of reformation or rehabilitation. Requests for reconsideration shall be submitted in writing to the General Manager through the Manager of Operations having jurisdiction over the position for which clearance is required. Such requests shall be accompanied by an affidavit setting forth in detail the information referred to above. The General Manager shall cause the individual to be notified as to whether his eligibility for clearance will be reconsidered and, if so, the method by which such reconsideration will be accomplished;

(c) Where security clearance has been granted to an individual by a Manager of Operations without recourse to the procedures set forth in §§ 4.20 to 4.33, inclusive, the individual's eligibility for clearance shall be reconsidered only in a case where, subsequent to the granting of the security clearance, new substantially derogatory information has been received or there is a significant increase in the scope or sensitivity of the Restricted Data to which the individual has, or will have access, and in any other case only with the specific prior approval of the Director, Division of Security, AEC.

MISCELLANEOUS

§ 4.34 Washington area cases. In those cases which may arise involving individuals within the Washington Area of AEC operations, an Assistant General Manager designated by the General Manager shall discharge the functions and responsibilities assigned to Managers of Operations in these procedures.

§ 4.35 Modification of procedure. These procedures may be modified by the General Manager as experience and circumstances may make desirable.

Chapter I—Food and Drug Administration, Department of Health, Education, and Welfare

Subchapter B—Food and Food Products

PART 120—TOLERANCES AND EXEMPTIONS FROM TOLERANCES FOR PESTICIDE CHEMICALS IN OR ON RAW AGRICULTURAL COMMODITIES

CORRECTION OF ORDER CONCERNING TOLERANCES FOR RESIDUES OF DIELDRIN

The order concerning tolerances for residues of dieldrin, published in the FEDERAL REGISTER of April 17, 1956 (21 F. R. 2464), set tolerances permitting not more than 0.25 part per million of dieldrin on a number of commodities, including apples, pears, quinces, and cherries. These new tolerances for apples, pears, quinces and cherries were intended to supersede prior established tolerances that had been set at 0.1 part per million on the same fruits (21 CFR, 1955 Ed., 120.101), but the order setting the new tolerances did not specifically recite that the earlier tolerances for these fruits were repealed.

Now, therefore, by virtue of the authority vested in the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare by the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (sec. 408 (d) (2), 68 Stat. 512; 21 U. S. C. 346a (d) (2)) and delegated to the Commissioner of Food and Drugs by the Secretary (21 CFR 120.7 (g)): It is ordered, That the regulations for tolerances for pesticide chemicals in or on raw agricultural commodities (21 CFR Part 120) be corrected as follows:

1. From § 120.101 (e) (1) Apples, pears, and quinces the line "Dieldrin ------ 0.1 p. p. m." is deleted.

2. From § 120.101 (e) (6) Cherries the line "Dieldrin ------ 1 0.1 p. p. m." is deleted.

Notice and public procedure are not necessary prerequisites to the promulgation of this order, and I so find, since the corrections are made in order to show clearly that the new, higher tolerances supersede and replace the earlier established, lower tolerances for dieldrin on the fruits named.

This order shall be effective upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

TOLERANCES FOR RESIDUES OF MALATHION

S. C. 346a (d) (2)) and delegated to the Commissioner of Food and Drugs by the Secretary (21 CFR 120.7 (g)), the regulations for tolerances for pesticide chemicals in or on raw agricultural commodities (21 CFR Part 120) are amended as follows:

Section 120.111 Tolerances for residues of malathion (21 CFR, 1955 Edition, Part 120) is amended by adding in proper alphabetical order in the list of raw agricultural commodities, the following items: Grapefruit, lemons, limes, oranges, tangerines, tangelos, kumquats.

Any person who will be adversely affected by the foregoing order may, at any time prior to the thirtieth day from the effective date thereof, file with the Hearing Clerk, Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, Room 5440, 330 Independence Avenue SW., Washington 25, D. C., written objections thereto. Objections shall show wherein the person filing will be adversely affected by this order, specify with particularity the provisions of the order deemed objectionable and reasonable grounds for the objections, and request a public hearing upon the objections. S. C. 346a (d) (2)) and delegated to the Commissioner of Food and Drugs by the Secretary (21 CFR 120.7 (g)), the regulations for tolerances for pesticide chemicals in or on raw agricultural commodities (21 CFR Part 120) are amended by changing § 120.115 to read as follows:

(b) A tolerance of 7 parts per million is established for residues of zineb in or on mushrooms.

(c) A tolerance of 1 part per million is established for residues of zineb in or on wheat.

Any person who will be adversely affected by the foregoing order may, at any time prior to the thirtieth day from the effective date thereof, file with the Hearing Clerk, Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, Room 5440, 330 Independence Avenue SW., Washington 25, D. ### Chapter I—Interstate Commerce Commission

Subchapter B—Carriers by Motor Vehicle

PART 201—FORMS AND RECORDING OF PASSES

At a general session of the Interstate Commerce Commission held at its office in Washington, D. C., on the 29th day of February A. D. 1956.

The matter of records to be kept of passengers transported free or at reduced rates being under consideration pursuant to provisions of section 220 of Part II of the Interstate Commerce Act, as amended (49 Stat. 563, 54 Stat. 927, 49 U. S. C. 320); and,

It appearing that Regulations to Govern the Forms and Issuance of Passes by Common Carriers by Motor Vehicle, prescribed by an order entered October 19, 1936, as modified by an order entered November 13, 1936, are not in the form required for inclusion in the Code of Federal Regulations, and include certain requirements which are more restrictive than necessary for proper administration of Part II of the act; and,

It further appearing that the only changes in substance resulting from this order are permissive in nature, so that the public rule making procedure required by section 4 (a) of the Administrative Procedure Act is deemed to be unnecessary:

It is ordered, That the order of October 19, 1936, as subsequently modified, be and it is hereby vacated and set aside effective July 1, 1956, and that the regulations of continuing effect which were promulgated by that order with certain minor changes be, and they are hereby, reissued in codified form to be known as the Regulations to Govern the Forms and Recording of Passes by Common Carriers by Motor Vehicle—Issue of 1956; and,

It is further ordered, That with the cancelation of regulations so prescribed the title of Part 201 of Title 49 in the Code of Federal Regulations shall be changed to conform to the heading of this order and the regulations in that part shall be those hereinafter prescribed; and,

It is further ordered, That effective July 1, 1956, all common carriers of passengers by motor vehicle subject to provisions of the Interstate Commerce Act shall comply with the reissued regulations, which are attached hereto and made a part hereof, in all matters dealing with the forms of passes and the records to be kept of passengers transported free or at reduced rates; and:

It is further ordered, That a copy of this order with the regulations set forth below shall be served on each common carrier of passengers by motor vehicle subject to provisions of the act and on every receiver, trustee, executor, administrator, or assignee of any such carrier, and notice of this order shall be given to the general public by depositing a copy thereof with the regulations set forth below in the office of the Secretary of the Commission at Washington, D. C., and by filing it with the Director of the Division of the Federal Register.

By the Commission.

§ 201.01 Application of the regulations. The regulations in this part apply to all common carriers by motor vehicle designated in the order whether passes are issued or are honored for transportation wholly within one State or otherwise, and whether the operated mileage or termini of any such carrier be located entirely within the limits of one State or otherwise.

§ 201.1 Nonrevenue passenger service. All nonrevenue passenger service, whether transportation or other accommodations, except as otherwise provided in § 201.16, and §§ 201.18 and 201.19, furnished by common carriers by motor vehicle subject to the regulations in this part, shall be covered by passes as hereinafter prescribed. Carriers shall be prepared to furnish the Commission, when so required, a full report of all passes issued.

§ 201.2 General classes of passes. (a) Passes issued shall consist of not more than five general classes, viz:

(1) Annual or term passes for passage only.

(2) Annual or term passes for passage, including other accommodations.

(3) Trip passes for passage only.

(4) Trip passes for passage, including other accommodations.

(5) Commuter passes.

(b) (1) Annual passes are those good until the end of the calendar year in which issued without restriction as to the number of trips.

(2) Term passes are those good for a specified period of time other than a calendar year and without restriction as to the number of trips.

(3) Trip passes are those good for a specified period of time and restricted to a single trip or to one round trip.

(4) Commuter passes are those good for a specified period of time and restricted as to the number of trips. This form of pass need not be confined to suburban territory, but may be issued over any portion of a carrier's line.

(c) If the number of passes to be issued for accommodations other than passage is relatively small, carriers are permitted to indorse a pass of any class prepared for passage only so as to include such accommodations as are to be furnished. (See § 201.21 (a).)

§ 201.3 Officers issuing and requesting passes. Each carrier shall designate an officer in whom is reposed the authority for the issuance of passes, and for the requesting of passes over the lines of another carrier.

§ 201.4 Persons who may receive free transportation. The authority for the issuance of free transportation by common carriers by motor vehicle is contained in section 217 (b) of the Interstate Commerce Act by reference to provisions of section 1 (7), and section 22.

§ 201.5 Signature of issuing officer. Each pass must bear the signature of the designated issuing officer, which may be an autograph, a facsimile printed on the pass, or a signature impressed by a mechanical device or any other means. The carrier has the obligation to safeguard the authenticity of passes, so the carrier may also determine if this can be done more expeditiously than by autograph signatures. If a countersignature by a subordinate designated on the pass is required, such countersignature may also be affixed by any method acceptable to the issuing carrier.

§ 201.6 Numbering passes. All passes shall be consecutively numbered before or immediately upon receipt from the printer or stationer. No two passes of the same general class shall bear the same number without an indicative letter prefixed or suffixed. Unless all passes are numbered in one series, each general class adopted shall constitute a series of numbers and each subdivision of any general class adopted shall constitute a series of numbers with an indicative letter prefixed or suffixed.

§ 201.7 Record of pass stock. (a) A record of pass stock received and distributed must be kept by the officer ordering the pass stock. (See Form 4, § 201.27 (d).) Each of the different forms and series of passes received must be entered on separate sheets or pages and must be recorded and distributed in numerical order. On this same record must be entered all the pass stock destroyed. (For the periods of retention see regulations to govern the destruction of records.)

(b) Unissued pass stock must be filed in such manner as to be accessible and convenient for examination.

§ 201.8 Preparation of passes. (a) All passes must be filled out with a durable ink, either with pen or typewritter, or by printing, except that in case of emergency a trip pass may be filled out and countersigned by the use of indelible pencil.

(b) Each pass issued must bear upon its face the name of the person to be accorded free transportation, who must be of a class named in sections 1 and 22 of the Interstate Commerce Act as eligible to receive free transportation.

(c) A pass may include, in addition to the person named thereon, a specified number of unnamed persons of any class eligible to receive free transportation, the number and the class to which such persons belong being specified upon the pass, e. g.,

Pass John Smith and six employees.
Account Garage foreman and mechanics A. & B. Bus Line.

A pass for "John Smith and three children", is not a sufficient compliance with the provisions of this paragraph; it must be made so that the representation that they are children of the person named shall affirmatively appear; e. g.,

Pass John Smith, one son, and two daughters.
Account Driver, A. & B. Bus Line.

(d) The name of the person presenting the pass must appear on it. Passes issued for the transportation of more than one person so as to be used by such persons separately must name the person actually using the pass. For instance, a pass to be used by John Smith and his daughter, separately, or a pass to be used by William Brown and one driver separately, should read:

Pass John Smith and Miss Mary Smith.
Pass John Smith and daughter Mary.
Pass William Brown and Edgar Moore.

A pass issued to "John Smith and wife" or to "Mr. and Mrs. John Smith" is construed as if having the name of the wife appearing upon it and may be used by her in the absence of her husband.

§ 201.9 Account of issuance. Each pass must show, in accordance with the following, on what account it is issued:

(a) A pass for an officer or employee of the carrier issuing the pass must show the title or occupation of the person to whom it is issued; e. g.,

Pass John Smith.
Account Driver.

(b) A pass for a member of the family of an officer or employee of the carrier issuing the pass must show the name of such officer or employee, except as otherwise provided in paragraph (c) of this section, his title or occupation, and the relationship of the person to whom it is issued; e. g.,

Pass Miss Mary Smith.
Account Daughter of John Smith, driver.

(c) A pass for the wife of an officer or employee of the carrier issuing the pass, which shows the husband's Christian name, may omit, after "Account," the name of such officer or employee; e. g.,

Pass Mrs. John Smith.
Account Wife of driver.

(d) A pass for an officer or employee of a carrier other than the carrier issuing the pass must show the title or occupation of the person to whom the pass is issued and the name of the carrier by which employed; e. g.,

(e) A pass for a member of the family of an officer or employee of a carrier other than the carrier issuing the pass must show the name of such officer or employee, except as otherwise provided in paragraph (f) of this section, his title or occupation, the relationship of the person to whom the pass is issued, and the name of the carrier by which employed; e. g.,

Pass Miss Mary Smith.
Account Daughter of John Smith, driver A. & B. Bus Line.

(f) A pass for the wife of an officer or employee of a carrier other than the carrier issuing the pass, which shows the husband's Christian name, may omit, after "Account," the name of such officer or employee; e. g.,

Pass Mrs. George Brown.
Account Wife of clerk, A. & B. Bus Line.

(g) Every pass issued to a person other than an officer or employee of a common carrier or members of their families must state in the space provided for "Account" the reason for the issuance of the pass; e. g.,

§ 201.11 Requests for passes. (a) Passes shall be issued only upon written requests, except as otherwise provided in § 201.12, and in accordance with the forms hereinafter prescribed as applicable.

(b) All the information required to be shown on passes issued, as prescribed in §§ 201.8 to 201.10, inclusive, must be indicated on requests for passes. In addition to such information, requests must furnish information in accordance with the following:

(1) The address of the person for whom the pass is requested.

(2) If request be made for a pass for or on account of an officer or employee of a carrier other than the carrier by which such pass may be issued, it must contain a statement that the person for whom the pass is requested is not prohibited by law from receiving free transportation. (Forms 9 and 10, § 201.27 (i) and (j).)

(c) If request be made for a pass for a person other than an officer or employee, or the member of the family of an officer or employee, of a carrier, the request must give evidence, clearly set forth, or be accompanied by papers, showing the legality of the issuance of the pass requested. No form is prescribed for requests of this character.

§ 201.12 Passes without written requests. (a) Written requests for passes may be dispensed with in the following cases, provided the records of passes issued show the full information required, and in addition state upon whose authority the passes were issued and the reasons for dispensing with written requests:

(1) For passes issued to employees engaged in the office in which the passes are actually prepared.

(2) In cases of emergency requiring immediate use of pass and when there is insufficient time to procure written requests before issuance.

(b) Carriers may, at their option, permit their principal officers to furnish passes to officers and employees, and to the members of families of officers and employees, of other carriers subject to these regulations, who are not prohibited by law from using free transportation, without requiring written requests, provided:

(1) That acknowledgments, in accordance with Form 11 (§ 201.27 (k)) hereinafter prescribed, be secured from the persons to whom or on whose account the passes are issued, and provided further;

(2) That notices, in accordance with Form 12 (§ 201.27 (l)) hereinafter prescribed, be given the carriers on whose account the passes are issued, through the officers of such carriers ordinarily authorized to issue requests on other carriers for passes (see § 201.22 (b)), and provided further;

(3) That the records of the issuing carriers show upon whose authority the passes are issued.

(c) Notices to other carriers advising of the issuance of passes without written requests must be made in duplicate and the duplicates must be retained by the issuing carrier.

§ 201.13 Retention of pass requests. Requests for passes, also acknowledgments received and copies of notices retained for passes issued without requests, must be filed in the office in which are filed records of annual or term passes or the stubs or carbon copies of trip passes, and in such manner as to be accessible and convenient for examination. The numbers of the passes issued must be noted upon the faces of the requests.

§ 201.14 Signatures on pass requests. (a) Requests for passes for or on account of a carrier's own officers or employees must be made over the signature of the person to whom or on whose account the passes may be issued, or by a superior or ranking officer or employee.

(b) Requests for passes for or on account of officers or employees of a carrier subject to these regulations, other than the carrier issuing the pass, must be over the signature of the officer of the carrier designated to issue passes. If this signature is not an autograph, the method of affixing it must satisfy the carrier honoring the request that the request is by authority of the designated officer.

(c) Requests for passes for any persons not covered by paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section must be signed by the persons making such requests.

§ 201.15 Signatures of users of passes. (a) All passes must bear the signatures of the users, preferably in ink. On the back of each pass must appear a statement that the holder is not prohibited by law from receiving free transportation, and that the pass will be lawfully used. This statement may be shown among other conditions, if any, and must be subscribed to by the holder.

(b) A pass issued for a number of persons, but naming only one person, such as—

John Smith, garage foreman, and six employees of A. & B. Bus Line.
George Jones and two daughters.

need be signed only by the person whose name appears on the pass.

(c) A pass issued for a number of persons, the names of all appearing on the pass, such as—

must be signed by the users, whether the pass is used by one or by more than one of the persons named thereon; except that such pass when issued to the members of a family need be signed only by one of the persons using it.

§ 201.16 Tickets in lieu of passes. (a) Detectives and others engaged in similar work and, in cases of emergency, employees and others entitled to free transportation, may be furnished with regular passenger tickets or may be permitted to purchase tickets and have the amounts paid therefor afterwards refunded in whole or in part. In such cases the ticket agent's report of the tickets "without value," or "reduced fare," or the vouchers refunding amounts paid for the tickets, must be supported by the authority of the officer authorized to issue passes. Applications for refunds of fares paid or the authorities for such refunds must show the same information as is required to be shown on the requests for passes referred to in § 201.11 (b). Carriers must be prepared to furnish adequate evidence that the persons so designated were actually engaged in the service shown on the authorities.

(b) The use of a special form of free ticket, according to the holder certain privileges or accommodations, such as the use of limited buses, is prohibited. If such a form is desired, it must be issued in regular pass form.

§ 201.17 Record of free and reduced-rate tickets issued. A complete record of all tickets issued in lieu of passes, including tickets for which the fares have been refunded in whole or in part as well as those issued free or at reduced rates must be maintained by carriers and filed in the office of the officer authorizing such issuance or refund. This record must show the date; form and number of ticket; stations from and to; name and address or other designation of person to whom issued; account of issuance (in accordance with § 201.9); amount of fare; and name of officer authorizing the issuance of free ticket or refund of fare paid. Porters on buses.
Lecturers and guides on buses.
Stewards on buses.
Other employees engaged in the transportation or maintenance work of the carrier, requiring their transfer from one point to another in the performance of such duties; provided, that in lieu of passes such employees be supplied with checks, badges, uniforms, or other evidence which will establish their identity as bona fide employees entitled to receive passes.

(b) In cases of wrecks, epidemics, or other calamitous visitations, persons not prohibited by law from receiving free transportation may be accorded such transportation without passes. In such cases a general statement of the facts must be made by drivers and filed with reports of passes honored.

(c) Carriers are not required to issue passes for the free transportation wholly within any one municipality of their employees and others not prohibited by law from receiving free transportation; provided, that persons so transported are distinguishable by badges, cap emblems, or uniforms indicative of their service.

In space provided for "Accommodations, etc.," on the record of annual and term passes issued, must be shown all accommodations and services included on the pass.

(b) Annual and term passes issued must be recorded on sheets or cards prepared similiar to Forms 5 or 6 (§ 201.27 (e) and (f)).

(3) The numerical records or indexes must be kept separately by forms and series of passes; the alphabetical records or indexes may be kept either by forms and series of passes or in one complete alphabetical list for the entire issue.

(c) When the numbers of passes issued are shown in strict numerical order on requests received for annual and term passes, such requests may constitute the numerical index required in paragraph (b) of this section, provided that any numerical index so maintained shall be complete and shall contain not more than one series of numbers nor more than one form of pass.

(b) Notices received from other carriers advising of the issuance of passes under the provisions of § 201.12 (b) shall be filed in the office in which are filed copies of requests on other carriers for passes.

§ 201.23 Filing passes. All passes collected and passes spoiled or returned must be filed in such manner as to be readily accessible and convenient for examination.

§ 201.24 Reports of free transportation. Reports of persons receiving free transportation shall be made in accordance with the following provisions:

(a) Travel performed on transportation certificates or similar authorities issued in accordance with the laws of a State which require designated officers to be accorded free transportation while on journeys entirely within the limits of such State, must be reported in the same manner as travel performed on annual or term passes.

(c) Drivers or ticket collectors must make reports of annual and term passes honored, and of persons receiving free transportation without passes as provided in § 201.18 (b). If desired, such reports may be combined with drivers' reports of revenue passengers, provided the required information is shown.

(d) Trip passes collected shall in all cases be indorsed or punched so as to indicate the date and schedule number on which used, and in addition thereto:

§ 201.26 Pass and pass record forms. (a) Passes must be issued and records kept substantially in accordance with the forms hereinafter prescribed. Except as provided for elsewhere in these regulations the forms indicate the nature of the information required and the order in which it shall appear. If, however, there is insufficient space on the face of any pass to show all the information required, reference may be made to the back of pass, where it shall be shown.

(b) Carriers may include any additional matter in the pass forms or record forms, but such additional matter must not be permitted to impair the information required in the prescribed forms or to affect the order in which it is given.

[Docket No. AO 245-A2]

NAVEL ORANGES GROWN IN ARIZONA AND DESIGNATED PART OF CALIFORNIA

DECISION WITH RESPECT TO PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO AMENDED MARKETING AGREEMENT AND ORDER

Pursuant to the rules of practice and procedure, as amended, governing proceedings to formulate marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), a public hearing was held on January 27, 1956, at Los Angeles, California, after notice thereof published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (20 F. R. 9972), on proposed amendments to Marketing Agreement No. 117, as amended and Order No. 14 as amended (7 CFR Part 914), hereinafter referred to as the "marketing agreement" and "order," respectively, regulating the handling of navel oranges grown in Arizona and designated part of California, to be made effective pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (48 Stat. 31, as amended; 7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.; 68 Stat. 906, 1047).

On the basis of the evidence introduced at the hearing, and the record thereof, the Deputy Administrator, Agricultural Marketing Service, on April 12, 1956, filed with the Hearing Clerk, United States Department of Agriculture, his recommended decision in this proceeding. The notice of the filing of such recommended decision, affording opportunity to file written exceptions thereto, was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (F. R. Doc. 56-2959; 21 F. R. 2473). No exception to said recommended decision was filed.

The material issues, findings and conclusions, and the general findings of the recommended decision set forth in the FEDERAL REGISTER (F. R. Doc. 56-2959; 21 F. R. 2473) are hereby approved and adopted as the material issues, findings and conclusions, and general findings of this decision as if set forth in full herein.

Amendments to the marketing agreement and order. Annexed hereto and made a part hereof are two documents entitled, respectively, "Agreement Amending the Marketing Agreement, as Amended, Regulating the Handling of Navel Oranges Grown in Arizona and Designated Part of California" and "Order Amending the Order, as Amended, Regulating the Handling of Navel Oranges Grown in Arizona and Designated Part of California" which have been decided upon as the appropriate and detailed means of effecting the foregoing conclusions. The aforesaid amendments shall not become effective unless and until the requirements of § 900.14 of the aforesaid rules of practice and procedure governing proceedings to formulate marketing agreements and marketing orders have been met.

Determination of representative period. The period beginning November 1, 1954, and ending October 31, 1955, both dates inclusive, is hereby determined to be a representative period for ascertaining whether the issuance of the order amending the order, as amended, regulating the handling of navel oranges grown in Arizona and designated part of California, is approved or favored by producers who, during such period, have been engaged in the production of navel oranges within such area.

It is hereby ordered, That all of this decision, except the attached agreement amending the marketing agreement, be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER. The regulatory provisions of the said agreement amending the marketing agreement are identical with those contained in the attached order which will be published with this decision.

Dated: May 7, 1956.

[SEAL] EARL L. BUTZ,
Assistant Secretary.

Order[1] Amending the Order, as Amended, Regulating the Handling of Navel Oranges Grown in Arizona and Designated Part of California

§ 914.0 Findings and determinations. The findings and determinations hereinafter set forth are supplementary and in addition to the findings and determinations made in connection with the issuance of this order; and all of said previous findings and determinations are hereby ratified and affirmed except insofar as such findings and determinations may be in conflict with the findings and determinations set forth herein.

(a) Findings upon the basis of the hearing record. Pursuant to the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (48 Stat. 31, as amended; 7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.; 68 Stat. 906, 1047), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure effective thereunder (7 CFR Part 900), a public hearing was held on January 27, 1956, at Los Angeles, California, upon proposed amendments to Marketing Agreement No. 117, as amended, and Order No. 14, as amended (7 CFR Part 914) regulating the handling of navel oranges grown in Arizona and designated part of California. Upon the basis of the evidence introduced at such hearing and the record thereof, it is found that:

(1) The said order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, and all of the terms and conditions thereof, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act, including the establishment and maintenance of such orderly marketing conditions for navel oranges grown in Arizona and designated part of California as will provide, in the interests of producers and consumers, an orderly flow thereof to market throughout its normal marketing season to avoid unreasonable fluctuations in supplies and prices;

(2) The said order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, regulates the handling of navel oranges grown in the designated production area in the same manner as, and is applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial and commercial activity, specified in the marketing agreement upon which hearings have been held;

(3) The said order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, is limited in its application to the smallest regional production area that is practicable, consistently with carrying out the declared policy of the act; and the issuance of several orders applicable to subdivisions of such production area would not effectively carry out the declared policy of the act;

(4) The said order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, prescribes, so far as practicable, such different terms, applicable to different parts of the production area, as are necessary to give due recognition to differences in the production and marketing of such oranges; and

(5) All handling of navel oranges, as defined herein, is in the current of interstate or foreign commerce or directly burdens, obstructs, or affects such commerce.

It is, therefore, ordered, That, on and after the effective date hereof, the handling of navel oranges grown in Arizona and designated part of California shall be in conformity to, and in compliance with, the terms and conditions of the aforesaid order, as amended, and as hereby further amended as follows:

1. Delete the provisions of § 914.15 and substitute in lieu thereof the following:

§ 914.15 Carton. "Carton" means the standard container number 58 as defined in section 828.83 of the Agricultural Code of California, as amended, of a capacity of approximately 38½ pounds of oranges, or such other container and capacity as may be established by the committee with the approval of the Secretary, or the equivalent thereof.

2. Delete the provisions of § 914.17 and substitute in lieu thereof the following:

§ 914.17 Carload. "Carload" means a quantity of oranges equivalent to 924 cartons of oranges, or such other quantity of oranges as may be established by the committee with the approval of the Secretary.

3. Amend the provisions of § 914.21 by deleting therefrom the date "November 1" and substituting in lieu thereof the date "October 1."

4. Amend the provisions of § 914.31 by adding at the end of the section the following: "Whenever specifically authorized or approved by the committee, an alternate member shall be reimbursed for reasonable expenses necessarily incurred by him in attending committee meetings and shall receive compensation at the rate provided in this section, notwithstanding that the committee member for whom he serves as alternate also attends such meetings."

5. Amend the provisions of § 914.32 as follows:

a. Delete the first sentence thereof and substitute in lieu thereof the following: "The committee shall, as soon as practicable after the marketing of the crop is completed, prepare and mail an annual report to the Secretary and to each handler and grower of record."

b. Delete therefrom the words following (d) and substitute in lieu thereof the following: "notice of the time and place of an open meeting, to be held as soon as practicable after the mailing of the annual report, to review the whole record of the operations of this part."

6. Amend the provisions of paragraph (e) of § 914.53 Prorate bases by inserting the following as a part of the last sentence in such paragraph: "; and, in the event the change in control of oranges is occasioned by a bona fide transfer of the ownership of the real property on which such oranges were produced, the person gaining the control of such oranges shall have his quantity of oranges available for current shipment adjusted by adding thereto a quantity of oranges equal to that which is so deducted."

7. Amend the provisions of § 914.55 by deleting therefrom the first sentence and substituting in lieu thereof the following: "During any week for which the Secretary has fixed the total quantity of oranges which may be handled, any person who has received an allotment for such week, and whose total allotment is not loaned, or is not required for the repayment of an allotment loan or as a deduction for a prior overshipment, may handle in addition to his allotment an amount of such oranges equivalent to 10 percent of his allotment, or one carload, whichever is the greater."

8. Amend the provisions of § 914.57 by adding a new paragraph (e) as follows:

(e) No allotment may be loaned from one handler to another when such loan is brought about by the payment of a consideration.

9. Amend the provisions of § 914.64 by inserting the following immediately after the first sentence of such section: "When any such size regulation restricts the handling of a portion of a specified size, the quantity of such size that may be handled by a handler during a particular week shall be established as a percentage of (a) the weekly allotment issued to such handler when volume regulation is in effect, and (b) the total weekly volume handled by such handler when volume regulation is not in effect."

10. Insert the following new sentence immediately preceding the last sentence of § 914.52 Issuance of volume regulations: "Such regulation may be made effective, as authorized by the act, irrespective of whether the season average price for navel oranges is in excess of the parity price specified therefor in the act."

11. Amend the provisions of § 914.71 by deleting therefrom the word "box" and substituting in lieu thereof the word "carton."

12. Immediately preceding the closing of the parenthesis at the end of § 914.2 Act insert the following: "; 68 Stat. 906, 1047."

13. Amend the provisions of § 914.83 (c) (3) by deleting from the last sentence thereof the date "September 15" and substituting in lieu thereof the date "March 15."

On the basis of the evidence introduced at the hearing, and the record thereof, the Deputy Administrator, Agricultural Marketing Service, on April 12, 1956, filed with the Hearing Clerk, United States Department of Agriculture, his recommended decision in this proceeding. The notice of the filing of such recommended decision, affording oportunity to file written exceptions thereto, was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (F. R. Doc. 56–2957; 21 F. R. 2477). No exception to said recommended decision was filed.

The material issues, findings and conclusions, and the general findings of the recommended decision set forth in the FEDERAL REGISTER (F. R. Doc. 56–2957; 21 F. [Docket No. AO–160–A17]

MILK IN PHILADELPHIA, PA., MARKETING AREA

DECISION WITH RESPECT TO PROPOSED MARKETING AGREEMENT AND PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO ORDER, AS AMENDED, REGULATING HANDLING OF MILK IN PHILADELPHIA, PA., MARKETING AREA

Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure, as amended, governing proceedings to formulate marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), a public hearing was conducted in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, February 1–7, 1956, pursuant to a notice thereof which was issued on January 17, 1956 (21 F. R. 429) and January 25, 1956 (21 F. R. 647), upon a proposed marketing agreement and proposed amendments to the order, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, marketing area.

Upon the basis of the evidence introduced at the hearing and the record thereof, the Deputy Administrator, Agricultural Marketing Service, on April 5, 1956, filed with the Hearing Clerk, United States Department of Agriculture, his recommended decision and opportunity to file written exceptions thereto which was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on April 11, 1956 (21 F. R. 2333; F. R. Doc. 56–2753).

Rulings. Within the period reserved for filing exceptions, interested parties filed written exceptions to certain of the findings, conclusions and actions recommended by the Deputy Administrator. In arriving at the findings, conclusions, and regulatory provisions of this decision, each of such exceptions was carefully and fully considered in conjunction with the record evidence pertaining thereto. To the extent that the findings, conclusions, and actions decided upon herein are at variance with the exceptions, such exceptions are overruled.

Issues considered. The material issues considered at the hearing were:

1. A lower pricing for milk disposed of in specified Class II uses during the months of February through July, 1956.
2. A revision of the producer milk plant definition.
3. Revision of the supply-demand adjustment provision in the Class I pricing formula.
4. The establishment of standards for determining, in the case of a handler operating under more than one Federal order, the order under which his milk shall be classified and priced.
5. Reconsideration of the pricing applicable to milk sold for Class I uses outside the marketing area.
6. Revision of the classification and allocation provisions.
7. Other administrative changes.

During the course of the hearing both the Milk Distributors Association and Inter-State Milk Producers' Cooperative, Inc., requested that issues Nos. 1, 2, and 3 be handled on an emergency basis and that a recommended decision and opportunity to file written exceptions thereto with respect to these three issues be omitted. After a careful review of the record evidence, the Assistant Secretary concluded that the conditions which prompted the requested emergency handling were not such that due and timely execution of his functions imperatively and unavoidably required the omission of the recommended decision, and accordingly, on February 17, 1956, issued an interim decision (21 F. R. 1203; F. R. Doc. 56–1370) directing that a recommended decision be issued covering all issues considered at the hearing, to which interested parties might file written exceptions.

Findings and conclusions. Upon the evidence adduced at the hearing and the record evidence thereof, it is hereby found and concluded that:

1. Sub-Class II pricing. No provision should be made for sub-Class II pricing under the Philadelphia order during the 1956 flush production season. Under the present terms of the order all milk other than that disposed of for Class I uses is priced at the same level, on the basis of Philadelphia cream or New York 92-score butter prices and roller nonfat dry milk solid prices as published in "Producer's Price Current." The Milk Distributors Association of the Philadelphia Area, Inc., proposed that a sub-Class II price be provided during the months of February through July for all milk, skim milk and butterfat dumped, disposed of for animal feed or manufactured into butter, cheese (except cream or cottage cheese), evaporated milk, milk chocolate, nonfat dry milk solids, soup, candy or bakery products. This proposal was also supported by Inter-State Milk Producers' Cooperative.

In support of the proposal, proponents stressed the fact that a sub-Class II price, of one kind or another, has been provided under the order during the flush production season for the past seven years. In this connection the fact that a sub-Class II price has been provided previously under the Philadelphia order during the flush months of production does not in itself justify continuation of such pricing. The regular Class II price under the Philadelphia order is directly related to cream, butter and nonfat dry milk values and is intended to reflect the use value of milk disposed of for manufacturing purposes. A considerable quantity of producer milk is disposed of as fluid cream in all months of the year and since, at the same time, substantial quantities of outside cream find a market locally throughout the year it is apparent that a ready market for cream from producer milk is available at all times.

As previously indicated, the Class II price and the Class II butterfat differential are directly related to the open market cream price in the Philadelphia area. This pricing has accommodated the disposal of producer butterfat in excess of Class I needs during all months except those in which a special sub-Class II price has been in effect. The record provides no basis for concluding that butterfat cannot be equally well disposed of during the 1956 flush production months since both the Class II price and the Class II butterfat differential will continue to reflect accurately current market values for butterfat during this period.

The bulk of the Class II disposition other than in fluid cream, soft cheeses, condensed milk and skim milk and ice cream, for which no special pricing has been provided or is requested, is in nonfat dry milk solids, soup, candy and bakery products. The regular New York Class III price, which during the flush months has been virtually identical to the Philadelphia Class II price, has regularly accommodated marketing of New York producer milk in these products. A substantial portion of Order 61 producer milk in excess of Class I needs is regularly disposed of in the manufacture of nonfat dry milk solids throughout the year and except during those months when a sub-Class II price has been effective this milk has been handled at the regular Class II price. In both 1954 and 1955 roughly 75 percent of all milk subject to the special subclass price was disposed of in nonfat dry milk solids. There is no apparent reason why such milk should not return to producers a price which reflects the adjacent New York open market nonfat solids price. The remainder of the excess producer milk previously subject to the sub-Class II price has been disposed of in various outlets, primarily evaporated milk, soup, candy and bakery products. The midwestern condensery pay price and the regular Philadelphia Class II price were virtually the same when compared on an annual basis for the years 1954 and 1955 at a 3.5 percent butterfat test. While there were substantial variations by individual months it is significant that prices during the flush months of April, May and June were within a few cents of being identical. Consequently, the regular Class II price should accommodate the disposition of producer milk in evaporated milk. The utilization of producer milk in nonfat dry milk solids, cream, ice cream, evaporated and condensed milk, for which the regular Class II price is reasonable, should afford ample outlets for all excess producer milk. If there is a market for producer milk in candy, soup or bakery products the price for milk in these products should not be lower than its value when used in competing products.

Proponents suggest that a special pricing in the form of a butter-cheese adjustment is contained in both the Boston and New York Federal orders and this provides a precedent for a sub-Class II price under the Philadelphia order. In this connection it should be pointed out that these prices under the Boston and New York orders are provided in recognition of the fact that butter and cheese represent less attractive manufacturing outlets for milk and that available facilities for manufacturing butter and cheese are needed in these markets for full disposition of producer milk in excess of fluid needs. The record indicates that very little producer milk in the Philadelphia market is disposed of in butter and cheese and no need is revealed for the disposal of milk in these products.

Milk produced for the Philadelphia fluid market, but which is in excess of fluid needs, must of course, be disposed of in available manufacturing outlets. While proponents grant the alignment of the Class II price with the New York Class III price and the Pennsylvania Milk Control Commission Class II price they point out that under the Pennsylvania Milk Control Commission milk also moves under so-called "B–I" pricing and that the volumes of such milk are greatest during the flush season. The record, however, does not indicate that the volume of milk moving at this price is sufficient to disrupt seriously orderly marketing at Order 61 prices.

Milk production under normal conditions varies from season to season with the greatest production occurring in the spring months as cows are turned onto lush spring pastures. In developing his procurement policy, a handler must make a decision as to whether to operate with a full year-round supply of producer milk or whether it is to his advantage to look to outside sources for supplemental supplies during the short season in order to minimize his surplus problems during the flush. A handler who uses nonproducer milk to supplement his producer supplies may find that, when handling and transportation costs are added to procurement cost, the overall cost for such supplemental supplies exceeds the cost of local producer milk. The order grants no compensation to such handlers for his additional procurement costs in such instances. The handler who operates with a full year-round supply should likewise expect to assume some direct responsibility and risk in the disposition of his seasonal surplus. As to which way he wishes to operate his plant is clearly the choice of the handler.

While production estimates were offered to show that producer receipts under the Boston and New York orders are expected to run substantially in excess of comparable receipts last year, at least during the flush production months, it is not clear what application these figures have to the Philadelphia market. While there has been an increase in producer receipts under the Philadelphia order during the past year, the record indicates that the rate of such increase over the same month of the previous year was substantially reduced during the late months of 1955. Total producer receipts for the three months of October, November, and December were one and three-fourths million pounds greater than receipts during a similar period in 1954. At the same time Class I sales for these months of 1955 were more than eleven million pounds in excess of those for the corresponding months of 1954. Conversely, the volume of producer milk disposed of during these same months of 1955 in Class II was almost eight million pounds less than for the similar period in 1954. The record fails to show any change in this trend for the month of January 1956. Under the circumstances, unless there is a substantial change from normal in the seasonality of production the surplus disposal problem during the forthcoming flush cannot be of the same magnitude as in 1954 and 1955.

It is extremely unlikely that the volume of producer milk in excess of Class I needs of the market could reach a critical point in any of the following flush months of 1956 with the possible exception of May. While there is little question but that the volume of Class II milk in the month of May will be somewhat in excess of the maximum volume of Class II milk which the market has handled in prior months without a sub-Class II price of one kind or another it does not follow that the market cannot handle such excess. The record fails to substantiate that the market lacks access to manufacturing facilities which would permit the orderly disposition of surpluses at prices which reflect current market values of cream, butter, and nonfat dry milk solids.

The request for a sub-Class II price below the actual use value of milk for manufacturing purposes seems to be primarily a matter of agreement between producers and handlers. While proponents contended that such a pricing method is necessary for competitive reasons it is admitted that there is extremely close alignment of regular surplus prices among New York, Philadelphia and Pennsylvania State Milk Control Commission regulatory programs. Handlers and producers stated that a sub-Class II pricing provision is an inexpensive safety valve for producers. However, the establishment of a sub-Class II price for Philadelphia has far reaching effect on prices paid generally for milk throughout the region. New York order pool plants are immediately placed at a pricing disadvantage in relation to Philadelphia producer milk plants. Lower manufacturing milk values at Philadelphia plants forces more general use of the so-called Pennsylvania Milk Control Commission "B–I" pricing, thus depressing returns to producers at State regulated plants and, through the same process, to producers at unregulated plants. This type of pricing, while perhaps a matter of immediate convenience to both handlers and producer proponents, is not in the general public interest.

2. Revision of producer milk plant definition. The producer milk plant definition should be amended to include any supply plant from which milk shipped, during any of the months of February through September, to a pasteurizing or bottling plant is allocated to Class I during such month(s).

Under the present order provisions a supply plant does not qualify as a producer milk plant in any month of the February through September period in which no more than 25,000 pounds of its milk shipments to a producer milk plant are allocated to Class I.

The proposal in the notice of hearing would delete the 25,000 pound allocation allowance in the months of February through June only. When effort was made to examine the appropriateness of this allowance with respect to the months of July through September the hearing officer ruled that the notice did not permit such examination. He stated that the notice was directed to a consideration of time and not plants and any examination directed to months other than February to June was beyond the scope of the hearing. It is concluded that the hearing officer erred in his ruling in this matter, and further, that the evidence in the record is conclusive with respect to the need for including the entire February–September period.

Through the application of the 25,000 pound allocation allowance to a number of supply plants, a handler may secure his entire supply of milk for Class I use from unregulated sources. Certain handlers with insufficient producer milk to fill their Class I needs have been able to use very substantial quantities of unregulated and unpriced milk for Class I purposes. During the months from February through September 1955 as many as seven handlers and in no case less than three handlers have utilized such milk in Class I. During three of these months the volume of nonproducer milk utilized by such handlers was 1,500,000 pounds or more and in no month was it less than 300,000 pounds.

Producer proponents favored the elimination of the 25,000 pound allocation allowance during the months of February through June. They pointed out that in earlier years the order allowed handlers rather general use of unregulated, unpriced milk throughout the year. As supplies of local producer milk became more adequate the provisions of the order were changed in an effort to restrain the entry onto the market of an unreasonable amount of unpriced milk. The present 25,000 pound Class I allocation allowance was written into the order effective January 1, 1954. In rendering his decision in this matter (18 F. R. 8176, F. R. Doc. 53–10374) the Acting Secretary stated that during the months of February through September it would appear possible for handlers to assure themselves without great difficulty of regular producer milk, either by direct receipt or by purchase from other handlers.

The Philadelphia market has a more than adequate supply of producer milk to meet total fluid needs during the February–September period. In 1954 no less than 22 percent of producer receipts were allocated to Class II during any of the months of February through September and in 1955 this minimum was 23 percent. Certainly the order need not accommodate the use of milk from non-producer sources for fluid purposes at the same time that price relief is being requested to facilitate the disposition of burdensome surpluses. In fact, unpriced milk allocated to Class I during any month in which ample producer milk is available displaces regular producer milk in Class I and forces it into Class II. Producers should have assurance that their milk will not be displaced by unpriced milk in Class I uses. Under the recommended revision in definition, handlers who are presently using nonproducer milk during the months of February through September will have opportunity to bring their present source of supply under regulation. On the other hand, they may prefer to take on their own producers or to secure their necessary supply from other regulated handlers. In any event the market will have assurance that during such months no handler is operating at a price advantage through his ability to use unregulated milk. To the extent that handlers now using unregulated milk turn to other regulated handlers for their milk supply the surplus problem of the market will be alleviated.

Certain handlers opposed the proposal to delete the 25,000 pound Class I allocation allowance claiming that it would jeopardize their ability to continue to get milk from their present suppliers. It is intended by the deletion of the 25,000 pound Class I allocation allowance to require that handlers bring under full regulation their regular sources of supply or change to presently regulated sources of supply. Unless this is done not only are regular producers deprived of their fluid market, but regulated handlers are also subjected to unfair competition in their regular business in the marketing area.

The deletion of the 25,000 pound Class I allocation allowance raises some question as to the appropriateness of continuing the present 10-day shipping allowance during the months of October through January. While there is somewhat less producer milk available during these months than in other months of the year the record indicates no month in the last two years in which less than 18 percent of producer receipts were classified as Class II milk and only in the months of October and November, 1955 did this percentage fall below 21 percent.

With supply plants fully regulated during the balance of the year there is little likelihood that a handler would give up his regular supply in order to gain a possible short term advantage by use of unpriced milk during the short season when milk is generally in demand and prices are highest. During the short production months a handler must have ready access to supplemental supplies if needed. Accordingly, it is desirable that shipping privileges during this period be left rather liberal. While there is serious question as to the reasonableness of the present allocation procedure which permits the assignment of nonproducer milk on a pro rata basis during the months of October through January, this matter was not a consideration at this hearing and no change in the procedure is being made on the basis of this record.

3. Revision of the supply-demand adjuster in the Class I pricing formula. No change should be made at this time in the supply-demand adjustment feature of the Class I pricing formula. Under the present order provision this adjuster moves the Class I price for a calendar quarter upward or downward, as the case may be, whenever supply during the 12-month period ending with the second preceding month is less than 115 percent or more than 137 percent of Class I sales, respectively. In the computation of these percentages receipts at plants which were not producer milk plants during three consecutive months are specifically excluded. Producers proposed that this exemption be extended to five consecutive months on the premise that the elimination of the 25,000 pound Class I allocation allowance in the producer milk plant definition might bring additional milk under regulation and thereby bring the supply-demand adjuster into operation. They contend that the fact that a supply plant comes under regulation is no basis for concluding that all of its receipts are needed in the market. In this connection price must be recognized as the primary factor in adjusting supply to meet the demand of the market. If new plants are added to the market they naturally bring additional volumes of milk and when the supply exceeds demand beyond the limits of the percentage presently set forth in the order it must be presumed that some price adjustment is appropriate. The fact that the supply-demand adjuster is computed for a twelve-month period beginning with the second preceding month, the fact that it can become operative only at the beginning of a calendar quarter, and the fact that plants which have not been producer milk plants for three consecutive months are excluded in the computation, provide ample forewarning to the market of prospective changing supply-demand relation. Further encumbrances would merely tend to impede the intended action of this adjuster as a balancing mechanism.

4. Regulation of a plant doing business under more than one Federal order. The present order provisions should be amended to establish a specific criterion for determining, in the case of a plant doing business under more than one order of the Secretary, the order under which such plant should be regulated. The order presently contains no standards in this regard but merely exempts those plants which are regulated under another order. In this connection it is concluded that handlers who are directly involved, and who would be regulated, should, by referring to the order provisions, be able to ascertain under which order they would be regulated. Unless the respective orders are clear in this regard a handler may unknowingly place himself in financial jeopardy. It is not necessary to subject a plant to duplicate regulation. Neither should it be left to the market administrator(s) to make an unguided decision as to who shall be regulated, nor is it expedient that the Secretary make a separate decision as each individual situation arises.

It is concluded that in the event a Wilmington order is issued, any plant doing a Class I business in both the Philadelphia and the Wilmington, Delaware marketing areas, in all cases should be regulated under the Philadelphia order. Also, any plant which is a fully regulated plant under the New York order should be exempted from regulation under the Philadelphia order. In all other situations, a plant which meets the qualifications for a producer milk plant under this order, but which does a greater volume of its Class I business, under another Federal order, or in the case of a supply plant, supplies a greater volume of milk to a distributing plant(s) regulated by another order, should be exempted from regulation under this order if by such exemption it becomes a fully regulated plant under such other order. However, in order that the market administrator may be fully appraised of the continuing status of such a plant, the operator thereof, should, with respect to the total receipts and utilization or disposition of milk, skim milk and butterfat at the plant, make reports to the market administrator at such time and in such manner as the market administrator may require and allow verification of such reports by the market administrator.

Under the provisions of the New York order any plant which is a qualified pool plant is fully regulated under that order, irrespective of the business done in other areas. In order to assure that no plant will be subject to full regulation under both the New York and the Philadelphia orders it is necessary to exempt from regulation under this order any plant which is fully regulated under the New York order.

The Philadelphia-Wilmington relationship is somewhat unique and requires special consideration. In this connection official notice is taken of the final decision of the Acting Secretary on a proposed marketing order for the Wilmington marketing area issued on April 11, 1956 (21 F. R. 2478; F. R. Doc. 56–2941). While certain Philadelphia handlers distribute milk from their Philadelphia producer milk plants into the Wilmington marketing area, no Wilmington handlers have routes which extend into the Philadelphia marketing area. The proximity of the two markets, the pricing relationship that have existed, the manner in which Philadelphia handlers have extended their businesses, and the comparative sizes of the two markets, all point to Philadelphia as the primary market.

Philadelphia handlers have established their businesses in the Wilmington market under the existing Philadelphia prices and with an intermarket price relationship very similar to that which would prevail if the recommended Wilmington order were made effective. Notwithstanding the fact that general price alignment would prevail, the interrelationship of the geographic boundaries of the two milksheds suggests the possibility that if proportionate volumes of business were used as a standard, a Philadelphia handler might arrange his business so as to qualify his plant(s) for regulation under the Wilmington order and by so doing enjoy a substantial advantage in the Philadelphia market on the volume of his business done there. Such a situation would not be in the interest of orderly marketing and should not be permitted to develop.

5. Reconsideration of the pricing applicable to Class I milk sold outside the marketing area. The pricing provisions of the order should be revised to delete, except in the case of Class I milk disposed of in the New York marketing area, any special pricing on milk disposed of outside the Philadelphia marketing area. No change should be made in the basis of pricing presently provided for milk disposed of in the New York marketing area.

The order presently provides that for Class I milk disposed of outside the marketing area on wholesale or retail routes from which no milk is disposed of inside the marketing area, the applicable price payable to producers shall be, as ascertained by the market administrator, such price as is being paid to farmers for milk of equivalent use in such other markets where the milk is disposed of less the applicable transportation allowances in such outside market, but in no case more than 64 cents. If the market administrator is unable to ascertain such price the Class I price specified under the Philadelphia order applies. In the case of milk disposed of in another Federal milk marketing area, except New York, it is provided that the applicable price shall be the price established under such other order. For milk disposed of in the New York marketing area the price under the Philadelphia order is the New York Class IA price less any payment required to be made to the New York pool.

The market administrator testified that he is experiencing very substantial administrative difficulties in attempting to ascertain prices which farmers in other markets actually receive for milk of equivalent use. While an out-of-area price has been ascertained quite regularly for Pennsylvania Milk Control Commission's area IA and intermittently for New Jersey, the record indicates that such prices have been ascertained only on request, and only when the prices in such other areas were lower than the Philadelphia order price. The market administrator indicated that he has considerable reservation as to the accuracy of his past ascertainments, which in all cases have merely been the announced prices of the Pennsylvania Milk Control Commission or the New Jersey Office of Milk Industry, and he feels that any future ascertainments can only be made subsequent to the time that dairy farmers in the outside markets have actually been paid.

It is not clear why a price ascertainment has been made only during the period when outside prices have been lower than order prices. The order language makes no distinction here, nor does it suggest that ascertainment shall be only on request. Certainly any rationalization which required the ascertainment of prices in months when outside prices are lower than order prices would be equally applicable in establishing the need for such determination when outside prices were higher.

It is obvious that the order in its present form does not require, except in the case of milk disposed of in another Federal order market, that an ascertainment of price be made if the market administrator cannot satisfy himself of his ability to make such ascertainment. In this connection the market administrator has consistently refused to attempt price ascertainment in any totally unregulated area. Handlers in unregulated markets are not required to make any accounting of the disposition of their milk, and they purchase milk under varying types of buying plans and at variable prices. Hence, it would be virtually an impossible task to determine a price which the dairy farmers delivering to such handlers were paid for milk of equivalent use.

It is evident from the record that similar problems exist with reference to prices paid in State regulated areas. The State prices, as announced are for specified local areas and apply only to milk sold within such areas, whereas milk distributors operate across area boundaries and also in unregulated areas and accordingly are subject to, and pay, variable prices. The accounting and classification procedures employed by the States may, and do, differ from those under the Philadelphia order. All of these factors directly affect the ability of the market administrator to ascertain prices actually paid for milk of equivalent use, and certainly preclude such ascertainment until after dairy farmers have actually been paid.

While it may under certain conditions be possible to ascertain an average price subsequent to the time dairy farmers actually received payment, such ascertainment could only be made through a comprehensive analysis and audit of the records of a very substantial number of local individual handlers who are under no obligation to permit such review and audit or to supply accurate records of their business. Such analysis and audit, if permitted, could not be accomplished in sufficient time to provide a basis for fixing prices under the Philadelphia order for the current delivery period. Under the circumstances it is impractical to attempt continuing application of the present outside area pricing provision as it applies to unregulated and State regulated markets.

The imminence of a Federal marketing order in the Wilmington, Delaware, marketing area requires review of the out-of-area pricing provision as it applies to milk disposed of in another Federal marketing area. If the recommended Wilmington order is made effective without a change in the out-of-area pricing provision of the Philadelphia order, the price applicable to Philadelphia Class I milk sold into the Wilmington market immediately would be reduced by approximately 15 cents plus any location adjustment applicable under the terms of the Wilmington order.

The essentials of the classified pricing plan in effect in the Philadelphia order, and generally applicable to all orders issued by the Secretary, are to establish one level of price for milk which is sold as fluid milk or fluid milk products for fluid consumption and another lower price or prices for the necessary surplus of the market which is disposed of in lower valued manufactured products. It is intended that the price level effective under the Philadelphia order shall bring forth a supply adequate to meet the demands of the marketing area but not necessarily to fulfill the requirements of outside markets at prices different from the price established for milk sold in the marketing area. Producer milk sold for fluid uses outside the Philadelphia marketing area has the same characteristics of bulk and perishability, is produced under identical conditions and cost, and is subject to the same transportation cost of moving from the farm to the handlers' producer-milk plant, as is milk disposed of inside the marketing area. Different health and sanitation requirements in markets outside the marketing area might result in different costs of producing milk for those markets only, but would have no effect on the production cost of producer milk sold to Philadelphia handlers.

Reference was made on the record of the hearing to the I–C pricing provision of the New York order which provides a lower level of price for Class I milk sold in certain outside areas than the price for Class I milk disposed of in the marketing area. The pricing provisions of the New York order, of course, were not an issue at this hearing. While the I–C pricing provision under the New York order has long been a matter of controversy it must be recognized that the relationship existing between the New York market and surrounding local markets is unique and for this reason has required singular treatment. In recent years the scope of the application of the I–C pricing provision has been considerably restricted and it now applies only in Northern New Jersey and New York State. If recent proposals which have been made to the Secretary relative to the New York and New Jersey situation should be consummated there might be no further need for the I–C pricing provision under the New York order.

Producer prices in other federally regulated markets in which Philadelphia handlers may wish to sell may be either higher or lower than such prices in the Philadelphia market. In establishing the level of price in a Federal order market consideration is given to prices being paid for milk in competing adjacent markets. Under usual circumstances the variation in basic prices for milk of similar quality and use in various Federal markets reflect differences in transportation costs. These basic prices may be adjusted to reflect differences in seasonality of production and the local supply-demand situation. This general alignment of prices as between orders will tend to maintain equity and no further provision is necessary. In this connection the New York-Philadelphia situation must be handled as a specific exception.

Official notice is hereby taken of those parts of the final decision of the Secretary on proposed amendments to the Philadelphia order issued on April 10, 1952, (17 F. R. 3355, F. R. Doc. 52–4252) the notice of reopening of hearing and tentative findings and conclusions on proposed amendments to the Philadelphia order issued by the Assistant Administrator on December 18, 1952 (17 F. R. 11723, F. R. Doc. 52–13518) and the final decision of the Assistant Secretary issued on December 8, 1953 (18 F. R. 8176, F. R. Doc. 53–10374), dealing with the pricing of milk sold by Philadelphia handlers in the New York marketing area.

The present pricing scheme for milk sold into the New York marketing area was devised to prevent handlers, who might do a substantial business in the New York market and with only a casual association with the Philadelphia market, from using the Philadelphia order as a means of evading regulation and pooling under the New York order and thus depriving the New York pool and regular producers for that market of the value of the Class I sales made there. The reasoning which led to the adoption of the present procedure for pricing milk disposed of in the New York market is equally applicable at this time. The changes hereinbefore recommended in the producer milk plant definition may tend to increase the number of plants which do a fluid business in the two markets and hence, emphasizes the need for continuation of the present basis of pricing milk disposed of in the New York market.

The basic reasoning set forth in denying continuation of a different pricing for milk disposed of in another Federal marketing area is equally applicable in the case of sales into unregulated or State regulated areas. It is not intended that Federal regulation be susceptible of manipulation to permit the use of adjacent outside markets as a dumping ground for milk in excess of a market's needs. The fixing of a lower price for milk sold in other markets could have a depressing effect on the price paid farmers by competing unregulated distributors in such markets. Such action would tend to lower blended returns to producers in the Philadelphia market with the result that prices of milk sold within the regulated market might have to be raised to provide incentive for the production of a sufficient supply to fulfiill the market needs. In this connection, the local consumers should not be called upon to subsidize consumers in out-of-area markets.

For these reasons it is concluded that any special out-of-area pricing except that applying to sales into the New York market shall be discontinued.

Because of the impact which the present out-of-area pricing provision would have on the price of milk sold by Philadelphia handlers into the Wilmington market if an order were made effective for Wilmington, it is necessary that this amendment be made effective prior to, or concurrently with, the effective date of the Wilmington order. Accordingly, no order can be issued for Wilmington until this condition has been met.

6. Revision of the classification and allocation provisions. The present classification provisions should be rewritten to specify more clearly the products which are included in the respective classes of utilization and to provide that "ice milk mixes" shall be classified as a Class II product.

Under the present wording of the order it is not always possible to determine clearly the intended classification of specific products. It has been necessary, from time to time, for the market administrator to issue interpretive memoranda advising the industry of the manner in which various products are to be classified. The language of the classification provisions should be sufficiently clear that the continuing issuance of such interpretive memoranda is unnecessary. Except in the case of "ice milk mixes" it is not intended in revising the language that the classification of any product should be changed. While the present wording of the provision would leave some doubt as to whether eggnog, for example, could be classified as other than Class I, interpretive memoranda have placed it in Class II and the order has been so administered over a considerable period of time. The industry has raised no question of the propriety of such a classification. This product is made and sold by manufacturers doing no fluid milk business in the area. Its classification as Class I would certainly present substantial administrative problems by bringing under regulation a large number of additional handlers who are not fluid milk distributors and whose business in the area would be of insufficient consequence to represent a significant competitive factor.

Frozen mixes known locally as "ice milk mixes" which under the present classification provisions are included as a Class I product, should be made a Class II product. These "ice milk mixes," which have a relatively low fat, high solids content, have physical characteristics most similar to ice cream and sherbet which under the classification scheme are Class II products. They are manufactured much in the same manner as ice cream and are dispensed over the counter through stores and soda fountains much in the manner as, and in competition with ice cream. As initially manufactured, these products have none of the aspects of fluid products and the fact that they ultimately may be changed, (either with the addition of other ingredients or otherwise, by melting or beating) to a semi-solid state and consumed much as a thick milkshake should not affect their original classification as Class II.

The present order provisions are silent as to the treatment of receipts of condensed skim milk or nonfat dry milk solids which are disposed of in Class I products, either by reconstitution or for fortification. Through an interpretive memorandum issued on March 25, 1955 by the market administrator, accounting for such disposition has been on the basis of the skim milk equivalent of such condensed skim milk or powder. This is the basis of accounting which has been used since December 1, 1948 in the case of producer milk which is disposed of in such products which are in turn reused, either by reconstitution or for fortification, in Class I products. No change is proposed in this accounting; however, the order should set forth clearly the procedure which is actually followed.

The allocation provisions of the order should also be rewritten to provide more specific direction to the market administrator. Here, as in the case of classification, it has been necessary that the market administrator interpret the intent of the provision. The order presently sets forth no definite sequence of allocation. In this connection the sequence and manner in which milk is allocated is important to handlers since it may directly affect the handler's cost for producer milk. In like manner it is equally important to producers since producer returns are dependent on the classification resulting from allocation. Both handlers and producers, merely by review of the order language, should be able to ascertain the manner in which the allocation of milk to classes is made. Except in unusual circumstances it should not be necessary to rely on administrative interpretation. It is not intended in spelling out the allocation sequence, that any changes shall be made in the allocation as presently applied. The sequence of allocation as presently applied by the market administrator, was placed in the record. The sequence set forth in the proposed order language reflects this procedure.

7. Other administrative changes. The several order provisions should be made compatible with reference to the treatment to be accorded an individual who operates both a dairy farm and a fluid milk plant from which Class I milk is disposed of in the marketing area but who receives no milk from other dairy farmers. Under the present language of the order such an individual is included in both the producer and the handler definitions. Notwithstanding, under the application of provisions section, a producer-handler is specifically excepted from all terms of the order except for reporting and administrative assessment. In addition, the allocation provisions very specifically provide a different treatment for receipts of milk from a producer-handler than that given regular producer milk. While the order prescribes specific treatment for a producer-handler, there is no definition of such an individual. It is left to the market administrator to interpret the intended meaning.

Under these circumstances, the order as it has been administered, does not treat a producer-handler in the same manner as other producers. It is apparent that the market administrator has no responsibility under the order to enforce payment of minimum prices to a producer-handler. The application of the allocation procedure provided in the order results in the exemption from the pricing provisions of receipts from a producer-handler. While receipts of bulk milk and skim milk from a producer-handler may be allocated to classes in the same proportionate amounts as receipts from producers, the handler may elect to assign a greater proportion or all of such receipts to Class II. When such receipts are all assigned to Class II the handler would presumably return to the producer-handler not more than the Class II price.

While both handlers and producers raised numerous questions with reference to the operations of a producer-handler and the manner in which such an individual might be treated under a regulatory program, there was no supporting testimony for a treatment other than that which has prevailed under the administration of the order. Notwithstanding, the confusion which might exist because of conflicting order language, the treatment prescribed under the allocation provisions is controlling. Obviously, it was not intended that the producer-handler should enjoy the status of a regular producer. Otherwise there would have been no reason to prescribe a specific, and different treatment for such an individual under the allocation provisions.

The order should be amended to define specifically the type of operation to which the term "producer-handler" is intended to apply and the producer definition should be amended to exclude such an individual. While these changes will afford no different treatment of a producer-handler than that presently provided, they will provide greater specificity and compatibility in order language and thus facilitate order administration.

While there appear to be a number of additional changes which should be made in the language of the administrative provisions of the order to provide greater specificity and more categorical direction to the market administrator, these matters were not explored at this hearing and accordingly cannot be considered on the basis of the record.

General findings. (a) The proposed marketing agreement and the order as amended, and as hereby proposed to be further amended, and all of the terms and conditions thereof will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act;

(b) The proposed marketing agreement and the order as amended, and as hereby proposed to be further amended, regulates the handling of milk in the same manner as, and are applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial and commercial activity specified in a proposed marketing agreement and order upon which a hearing has been held; and

(c) The parity prices of milk as determined pursuant to section 2 of the act are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds, and other economic conditions which affect market supply of and demand for milk in the marketing area, and the minimum price specified in the proposed marketing agreement and the order as amended, and as hereby proposed to be further amended, are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk in the marketing area and be in the public interest.

Order of the Secretary Directing That a Referendum Be Conducted; Determination of Representative Period; and Designation of Agent To Conduct Such Referendum

Pursuant to section 8c (19) of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 608c (19)), it is hereby directed that a referendum be conducted among producers (as defined in the order, as amended, and as hereby proposed to be further amended, regulating the handling of milk in the Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, marketing area), who, during the determined representative period were engaged in the production of milk for sale in the marketing area specified in the aforesaid order, as amended, and as hereby proposed to be further amended, to determine whether such producers favor the issuance of the order, amending the order, as amended, which is a part of this decision.

The month of January 1956 is hereby designated to be the representative period for the conduct of such referendum.

L. S. Iverson is hereby designated agent of the Secretary to conduct such referendum in accordance with the procedure for the conduct of referenda to determine producer approval of milk marketing orders as published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on August 10, 1950 (15 F. R. 5177), such referendum to be completed on or before the 25th day from the date this referendum order is issued.

Marketing Agreement and Order. Annexed hereto and made a part hereof are two documents entitled respectively, "Marketing Agreement Regulating the Handling of Milk in the Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, Marketing Area," and "Order Amending the Order, as Amended, Regulating the Handling of Milk in the Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, Marketing Area," which have been decided upon as the detailed and appropriate means of effectuating the foregoing conclusions. These documents shall not become effective unless and until the requirements of § 900.14 of the rules of practice and procedure, as amended, governing proceedings to formulate marketing agreements and orders have been met.

It is hereby ordered, That all of this decision except the attached marketing agreement be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER. The regulatory provisions of the said marketing agreement are identical with those contained in the attached order amending the order, as amended, which will be published with this decision.

Issued at Washington, D. C., this 7th day of May 1956.

[SEAL] EARL L. BUTZ,
Assistant Secretary.

Order[1] Amending the Order, as Amended, Regulating the Handling of Milk in the Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, Marketing Area

Findings and determinations. The findings and determinations hereinafter set forth are supplementary and in addition to the findings and determinations previously made in connection with the issuance of the aforesaid order and of each of the previously issued amendments thereto; and all of said previous findings and determinations are hereby ratified and affirmed, except insofar as such findings and determinations may be in conflict with the findings and determinations set forth herein.

(a) Findings upon the basis of the hearing record. Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure, as amended, governing the formulation of marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), a public hearing was held upon a proposed marketing agreement and proposed amendments to the order, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, marketing area. Upon the basis of the evidence introduced at such hearing and the record thereof, it is found that:

(1) The said order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, and all of the terms and conditions thereof, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act;

(2) The parity prices of milk produced for sale in the said marketing area, as determined pursuant to section 2 of the act, are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds, and other economic conditions which affect market supply and demand for milk in the marketing area, and the minimum prices specified in the order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk, and be in the public interest; and

(3) The said order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, regulates the handling of milk in the same manner as and is applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial and commercial activity, specified in a marketing agreement upon which a hearing has been held.

Order relative to handling. It is therefore ordered that on and after the effective date hereof, the handling of milk in the Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, marketing area shall be in conformity to and in compliance with the terms and conditions of the aforesaid order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, and the aforesaid order is hereby further amended as follows:

1. Delete the language of § 961.5 and substitute therefor the following:

§ 961.5 Producer. "Producer" means any person, except a producer-handler, who produces milk which is received directly at a producer milk plant.

2. Delete § 961.6 (c) and substitute therefor the following:

(c) Any other plant from which milk is supplied to a pasteurizing or bottling plant described in paragraph (b) of this section: Provided, That any such other plant shall not be included in this definition during any month in which there is shipped from the plant only Class II milk as defined in § 961.31 or during any of the months of October, November, December, and January in which shipments, any part of which are allocated to Class I milk, are made from the plant on less than 11 days to such pasteurizing and bottling plant, or to a plant or plants supplying such pasteurizing or bottling plant.

3. Delete the entire last sentence of § 961.6.

4. Delete the language of § 961.8 and substitute therefor the following:

§ 961.8 Handler. "Handler" means any person wherever located or operating, who engages in the handling of milk which is disposed of in the marketing area as milk, or skim milk.

5. Add a new § 961.10 as follows:

§ 961.10 Producer-handler. "Producer-handler" means any person who operates as his own personal enterprises both a dairy farm and a producer milk plant from which Class I milk is disposed of in the marketing area, but who receives no milk from producers.

6. Delete §§ 961.30 and 961.31 and substitute therefor the following:

§ 961.30 Milk to be classified. All milk, skim milk, and cream which is received within the month by a handler, which is required to be reported pursuant to §§ 961.50 and 961.51 shall be classified by the market administrator pursuant to the provisions of §§ 961.31 through 961.34.

§ 961.31 Classes of utilization. Subject to the conditions set forth in §§ 961.32 and 961.33 the classes of utilization shall be as follows:

(a) Class I milk. Class I milk shall be all milk and skim milk (including the milk or skim milk equivalent of concentrated milk, and of dry whole milk, condensed skim milk and nonfat dry milk solids used in reconstituting or fortifying any Class I product) and butterfat disposed of in fluid form as milk, skim milk, buttermilk, milk drinks (plain or flavored) concentrated milk, or any mixture of milk, cream, or skim milk containing less than 18 percent butterfat (except sterilized products in hermetically sealed containers, ice cream mixes, ice milk mixes and eggnog) including such products which are:

(1) Disposed of to retail establishments which disposes of milk both for fluid and other uses, (2) contained in inventory variations of milk and milk products designated as Class I milk, or (3) not accounted for as Class II milk.

[1] This order shall not become effective unless and until the requirements of § 900.14 of the rules of practice and procedure, as amended, governing proceedings to formulate marketing agreements and orders have been met.

(b) Class II milk. Class II milk shall be all milk, skim milk and cream: (1) used to produce any product other than those designated as Class I milk pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section; (2) dumped or disposed of for livestock feed; (3) disposed of in bulk and used in soup, candy, bakery products or any other nondairy commercial food product; (4) contained in inventory variation of cream; and (5) accounted for as actual plant shrinkage not in excess of two percent of the total pounds of milk, skim milk and cream received by a handler at all of his producer milk plants.

7. Delete §§ 961.34 and 961.35 and substitute therefor the following:

§ 961.34 Allocation of milk, skim milk and butterfat classified. The market administrator shall determine the classification of producer milk received at the producer milk plant(s) of each handler as follows:

(a) The gross product pounds of milk and milk products classified shall be allocated in the following manner:

(1) If the total product pounds of all milk and milk products classified is less than the total product pounds of all milk and milk products received at the handlers producer milk plant(s) add to the product pounds of Class I and Class II milk the product pounds classified as plant shrinkage pursuant to § 961.31 (a) (3) and (b) (5);

(2) Subtract from the product pounds in Class II milk the product pounds in receipts from nonproducer milk plant(s) in the form of cream containing 18 percent or more butterfat and the milk or skim milk equivalent of such receipts of concentrated and dried milk or skim milk utilized in a reconstituted or fortified product: Provided, That if the product pounds of such receipts to be subtracted are greater than the product pounds in Class II milk, the balance shall be subtracted pro rata from the product pounds in the several price subdivisions of Class I milk;

(3) During the months of February through September, subtract from the remaining product pounds in Class II milk the product pounds of milk and skim milk received from a nonproducer milk plant(s): Provided, That if the product pounds of such receipts to be subtracted are greater than the remaining product pounds in Class II milk, the provisions hereof shall not apply and the plant(s) from which such milk and skim milk were received shall be designated a producer milk plant(s) pursuant to § 961.6 (c);

(4) During the months of February through September, subtract from the remaining product pounds of milk, in sequence, beginning with Class II milk, the product pounds of milk and skim milk received from plants subject to regulation under other Federal orders;

(5) During the months of October through January, subtract from the product pounds remaining in Class II milk, the product pounds of milk and skim milk in receipts from nonproducer milk plants and plants subject to regulation under other Federal orders: Provided, That if the product pounds of such receipts to be subtracted are greater than the remaining product pounds in Class II milk, the balance shall be subtracted from the remaining product pounds in the applicable price subdivision of Class I milk: And provided further, That a different allocation shall be made at the written request of the receiving handler if it does not result in a greater than pro rata allocation to Class I milk as computed pursuant to subparagraph (8) of this paragraph;

(6) Subtract from the product pounds remaining in Class II milk, the product pounds of milk and skim milk received in bulk from producer-handlers: Provided, That if the product pounds of such receipts to be subtracted are greater than the remaining product pounds in Class II milk, the balance shall be subtracted from the remaining product pounds in the applicable price subdivision of Class I milk: And provided further, That a different allocation shall be made at the written request of the receiving handler if it does not result in a greater than pro rata allocation to Class I milk as computed pursuant to subparagraph (8) of this paragraph;

(7) Subtract from the product pounds remaining in each class the product pounds of milk, skim milk and cream in receipts from producer milk plants of other handlers and assigned to such class pursuant to § 961.32: Provided, That if the product pounds of such receipts to be subtracted from Class II milk are greater than the remaining product pounds in such class, the balance shall be subtracted from the remaining product pounds in the applicable price subdivision of Class I milk;

(8) Subtract pro rata from the remaining product pounds in the several subdivisions of Class I milk and Class II milk, the product pounds of milk and skim milk received from nonproducer milk plants, and plants subject to regulation under other Federal orders, and in bulk from producer-handler, for which the handler has requested a different allocation than that provided in subparagraphs (5) and (6) of this paragraph: Provided, That a greater volume as determined by the handler may be subtracted from the remaining product pounds of Class II milk.

(b) Butterfat shall be allocated under the same procedure outlined for gross product pounds in paragraph (a) of this section.

(c) Divide the pounds of butterfat in each class or price subdivision by the hundredweight of product pounds in such class or price subdivision to determine the weighted average butterfat content of each class or price subdivision.

8. Delete the language of § 961.43 and substitute the following:

§ 961.43 Class I milk disposed of in the New York marketing area. The price to be paid by handlers for Class I milk disposed of in the New York metropolitan milk marketing area shall be the Class I–A price computed pursuant to the New York order less such payment as is required on such milk pursuant to the New York order.

9. Add a new § 961.61 to read as follows:

§ 961.61 Plants subject to other Federal orders. A plant specified in paragraphs (a), (b) or (c) of this section shall be exempted from regulation under this order except that the operator thereof shall, with respect to total receipts and utilization at such plant, make reports to the market administrator at such time and in such manner as the market administrator may require (in lieu of the reports required pursuant to §§ 961.50 through 961.54) and allow verification of such reports by the market administrator.

(a) Any distributing or supply plant which disposes of Class I milk in the marketing area but which is a fully regulated plant under the New York Federal order.

(b) Any other distributing plant which would be subject to the classification and pricing provisions of another order issued pursuant to the act (except the Wilmington, Delaware, marketing order), unless a greater volume of Class I milk is disposed of from such plant to retail or wholesale outlets (except producer milk plants) in the Philadelphia marketing area than in the marketing area regulated pursuant to such other order.

(c) Any other supply plant which would be subject to the classification and pricing provisions of another order issued pursuant to the act (except the Wilmington, Delaware, marketing order) unless such plant disposes of a greater volume of Class I milk to producer milk plants under the Philadelphia order than to plants distributing in the marketing area regulated pursuant to such other order.

10. In § 961.70 (a) change the reference "§ 961.35" to read "§ 961.34".

[ 47 CFR Parts 7, 8 ]

[Docket No. 11701; FCC 56–407]

STATIONS ON LAND AND ON SHIPBOARD IN MARITIME SERVICES

NOTICE OF PROPOSED RULE MAKING

In the matter of amendment of Parts 7 and 8 of the Commission's rules to make the frequency pair 2490 kc (coast) 2031.5 kc (ship) available on a 24-hour basis in the Miami, Florida, area and to make effective certain limitations on the use of the frequency pair 2514 kc (coast) 2118 kc (ship) in the same area. Docket No. 11701.

1. On February 10, 1954, the Commission adopted a Report and Order in Docket No. 10444 finalizing a frequency assignment plan for all areas and making the frequency pair 2490 kc (coast), 2031.5 kc (ship) available for assignment, effective March 15, 1954, on a "day only" basis in the Miami, Florida, area. The Commission's rules provide, however, that this frequency pair is to be made available for assignment in the maritime mobile service on a 24-hour basis after existing conflicting uses by other services are removed. The conflicting police assignments at Mineola, New York; Nassau County, New York; Jackson, Mississippi, and Fort Wayne, Indiana on 2490 kc have now been removed. In view of this, and the fact that the frequency 2031.5 kc is clear for 24-hour use, the frequency pair may now be made available for assignment on a 24-hour basis in the Miami, Florida, area.

2. Simultaneously with the availability of the frequency pair 2490 kc–2031.5 kc, the frequency pair 2514 kc (coast), 2118 kc (ship) will become subject to certain limitations now stated in the Commission's rules. Operation on this pair will be limited to "day only" from April 1 to December 15, annually. Such limitation will eliminate interference at night between Miami and the Great Lakes on the frequency 2514 kc, which is now available for assignment in both areas on a 24-hour basis. The frequency pair 2514 kc–2118 kc will be available in the Miami area on a 24-hour basis during the period of time when shipping activities on the Great Lakes are at a minimum, i. e., from December 15 to April 1, annually. The frequency 2514 kc is also subject to the condition that harmful interference not be caused to the service of any coast station located in the vicinity of Miami, Florida, to which the carrier frequency 2490 kc is assigned for transmission.

3. The proposed amendments are issued under the authority contained in section 303 (f) and (r) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended.

4. Any interested person who is of the opinion that the proposed amendments should not be adopted or should not be adopted in the form set forth herein, may file with the Commission on or before June 4, 1956, written data, views or briefs setting forth his comments. Comments in support of the proposed amendments may also be filed on or before the same date. Comments in reply to the original comments may be filed within ten days from the last day for filing said original data, views or briefs. The Commission will consider all such comments prior to taking final action in this matter.

5. In accordance with the provisions of § 1.764 of the Commission's rules, an original and fourteen copies of all statements, briefs, or comments filed shall be furnished the Commission.

Adopted: May 3, 1956.

Released: May 7, 1956.

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION,
[SEAL] WM. P. MASSING,
Acting Secretary.

[Docket No. 11582; FCC 56-400]

DALE R. CURTIS (KWIC)

MEMORANDUM OPINION AND ORDER DESIGNATING APPLICATION FOR HEARING ON STATED ISSUES

In re application of Dale R. Curtis (KWIC), Salt Lake City, Utah, Docket No. 11582, File No. BP-9925; for construction permit.

1. The Commission has before it for consideration a "Protest and Petition Of The United Broadcasting Company For Re-Hearing" filed on April 6, 1956, pursuant to sections 309 (c) and 405 of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, by The United Broadcasting Company, licensee of Station KVOG, Ogden, Utah (1490 kc, 250 w, Unl.) and directed to the Commission's action of March 7, 1956, in granting without hearing the above-captioned application of Dale R. Curtis for a construction permit for a new standard broadcast station (KWIC) to operate on 1470 kilocycles with a power of 1 kilowatt, daytime only, at Salt Lake City, Utah.[1]

2. The above-captioned application was granted after a determination had been made by the Commission that the proposed operation of Station KWIC would not cause objectionable interference to any existing stations. The sites of KVOG and KWIC appear to lie on a north-south line shown on Figure M-3 of the Commission's Standards as dividing areas with conductivities of 15 millimhos to the west and 4 millimhos to the east. In determining the absence of interference to KVOG from the proposed KWIC operation, measurements on file with the Commission for Stations KALL, Salt Lake City, Utah, and KLO, Ogden, Utah, were used insofar as practical, and conductivities as shown on Figure M-3, otherwise.

3. In support of its pleading, KVOG alleges that field intensity measurements which it has made [2] indicate a higher soil conductivity for the area in question than is shown in Figure M-3 of the Commission's Technical Standards; and that, as a result, the 2 and 25 mv/m contours of KVOG and KWIC will overlap, a condition which is prohibited by § 3.37 of the Commission's rules; [3] and that KWIC will cause objectionable interference, affecting 3,062 persons, within the 0.5 mv/m normally protected contour of KVOG. The field intensity measurements were made by KVOG on a radial from its transmitter directly toward Salt Lake City to establish the KVOG 0.5 mv/m contour; and on a radial from Station KSOP, Salt Lake City (1370 kc, 1 kw,), directly toward Ogden to ascertain the KWIC 0.5 mv/m contour. The measurements made from KSOP indicate a conductivity of 40 millimhos for a distance of approximately 25 miles and a lower conductivity thereafter. KVOG is located approximately 35.8 miles north of the authorized KWIC operation. On the basis of the KVOG measurements, the 2 mv/m contour of KWIC would enclose the 25 mv/m contour of KVOG, and the 15 mv/m contour of KWIC would overlap the 0.5 mv/m contour of KVOG. For these reasons, KVOG requests that the effective date of the KWIC grant be postponed; that the KWIC application be designated for hearing on issues of interference to KVOG; and that KVOG be made a party to said proceeding. KVOG has specified no issues on which it desires to present evidence at a hearing.

4. The Commission's study of the matter indicates that almost all of the claimed area of interference from KWIC to KVOG falls within the Salt Lake City urbanized area and would not be considered objectionable since KVOG does not furnish sufficient signal (2.0 mv/m) to this area for adequate service. Nevertheless, some interference is indicated to the present KVOG service area immediately east and west of Salt Lake City. Further, although the KVOG measurements do not clearly indicate that overlap of the 2 and 25 mv/m contours of KVOG and KWIC would obtain, a sufficient question of fact is raised with respect to such overlap to necessitate its being made an issue in the hearing provided for below.

5. In view of the fact that the protestant has alleged that Station KVOG will receive interference within its 0.5 mv/m normally protected contour from the proposed operation of KWIC and that overlap of the 2 and 25 mv/m contours of KVOG and KWIC may obtain; and that these allegations have not been controverted by KWIC, we find the protestant to be a "party in interest" within the meaning of section 309 (c) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended. In re Benton Broadcasting Service, 9 Pike and Fischer RR 93. We further find that the facts relied upon by the protestant have been specified with sufficient particularity to warrant designating the above-captioned application for hearing. Since the protestant has not specified issues, we are formulating issues designed to obtain information bearing on the matters raised by the protestant. In re T. E. Allen & Son, Inc., 9 Pike and Fischer RR 197. Moreover, we are adopting these issues. Therefore, the burden of proceeding with the introduction of evidence and the burden of proof on each issue shall be on Dale R. Curtis.

6. In view of the foregoing: It is ordered, That, insofar as the subject protest requests reconsideration of the Commission's action of March 7, 1956, it is granted to the extent provided for below; that pursuant to section 309 (c) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, effective immediately, the effective date of the grant of the above-entitled application is postponed pending a final determination by the Commission in the hearing described below; and that the above-captioned application is designated for hearing at the offices of the Commission in Washington, D. C. on the following issues:

(a) To determine the areas and populations which would receive primary service from the proposed operation of KWIC, and the availability of other primary service to such areas and populations.

(b) To determine whether the 2 and 25 mv/m contours of Station KVOG and the proposed operation of Station KWIC would overlap in contravention of § 3.37 of the Commission's rules.

(c) To determine whether the proposed operation of KWIC would involve objectionable interference with Station KVOG, Ogden, Utah, or any other existing stations, and, if so, the nature and extent thereof, the areas and populations affected thereby, and the availability of other primary service to such areas and populations.

(d) To determine, on the basis of the evidence adduced pursuant to the foregoing issues, whether the grant of the above-captioned application should be set aside.

It is further ordered, That the burden of proceeding with the introduction of evidence and the burden of proof on each of the above issues shall be on Dale R. Curtis;

It is further ordered, That The United Broadcasting Company, licensee of Station KVOG, Ogden, Utah, and the Chief, Broadcast Bureau, are made parties to the above-ordered hearing; and that

(a) The hearing shall commence at 10 a. m. on June 29, 1956, before an Examiner to be designated in a subsequent order.

(b) The parties to the proceeding herein shall have fifteen (15) days after the issuance of the Examiner's decision to file exceptions thereto and seven (7) days thereafter to file replies to any such exceptions.

(c) The parties intending to participate in the hearing herein shall file their appearances not later than May 21, 1956.

Adopted: May 3, 1956.

SAN JOAQUIN BROADCASTING CO. (KSTN)

MEMORANDUM OPINION AND ORDER DESIGNATING APPLICATION FOR HEARING ON STATED ISSUES

In re application of San Joaquin Broadcasting Company (KSTN), Stockton, California, Docket No. 11700, File No. BP-10208; for construction permit.

1. The Commission has before it for consideration a "Petition For Reconsideration of Grant of Application and Request For Hearing" filed on April 6, 1956, by KARM, The George Harm Station, licensee of Station KARM, Fresno, California (1430 kc, 5 kw, U, DA-1), pursuant to section 309 (c) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, directed to the Commission's action of March 8, 1956, in granting without a hearing the application of the San Joaquin Broadcasting Company for a construction permit to increase the daytime power of Station KSTN, Stockton, California.[1]

2. In the subject petition and supporting engineering affidavit, KARM contends that interference will be caused by the proposed KSTN operation within KARM's normally-protected daytime contour; that the area receiving the interference is approximately 60 miles long, including approximately 283 square miles with approximately 13,630 persons; that its normally-protected 0.5 mv/m contour extends a distance of approximately 69 miles toward Stockton; that based on the field intensity measurements contained in the KSTN Proof of Performance and on the computed values of radiation contained in the KSTN application, the 0.5 mv/m interference-producing contour of Station KSTN would extend a distance of approximately 50 miles toward Fresno; that the required separation to avoid objectionable overlap of the 0.5 mv/m contours is computed to be approximately 119 miles on a direct bearing between Fresno and Stockton; that the actual separation is 107 miles; and that, therefore, the proposed KSTN operation would cause interference to KARM. In these circumstances, KARM requests that the Commission

[1] In a letter dated April 25, 1956, legal counsel for KWIC stated the station was planning to take field measurements to ascertain the extent, if any, of the interference involved.

[2] These measurements were set forth in an engineering affidavit submitted with the KVOG pleading.

[3] Section 3.37 reads as follows: A license will not be granted for a station on a frequency of plus or minus 30 kc from that of another station if the area enclosed by the 25 mv/m groundwave contours of the two stations overlap, nor will a license be granted for the operation of a station on a frequency of plus or minus 20 kc or 10 kc from the frequency of another station if the area enclosed by the 25 mv/m groundwave contour of either one overlaps the area enclosed by the 2 mv/m groundwave contour of the other.

[1] In response to a request by legal counsel for the San Joaquin Broadcasting Company to extend the time within which to reply to the KARM protest, the Commission extended the time for filing such reply to April 25, 1956. By letter of April 25, 1956, legal counsel for the San Joaquin Broadcasting Company stated that the engineers for KSTN and KARM are of the opinion that it is possible to eliminate the interference that KARM alleges it will receive from the proposed KSTN operation by redesigning the directional array of the proposed operation of KSTN; and that the engineers for KSTN are now in the process of completing the same.

rescind its action in granting the subject KSTN application; that said application be designated for hearing; and that KARM be made a party to the proceeding.

3. The Commission's initial examination of the KSTN proposal, relative to the possibility of interference with KARM, indicated that the 0.5 mv/m contours of the proposed operation of Station KSTN and Station KARM were tangent. This finding was made on the basis of measurement data on file for KSTN and KARM along paths to the east and west of the interference area in question and the conductivity indicated by Figure M–3 for the path directly toward this area. The difference in determining the distance to the changeover from a conductivity of 8 to 15 millimhos per meter, as indicated by Figure M–3 of the Technical Standards, appears to be the reason for the difference in the Commission's initial determination and the petitioner's findings of some objectionable interference.

4. In view of the facts that the protestant is licensee of standard broadcast Station KARM, Fresno, California; that it has alleged that KARM will receive interference within its 0.5 mv/m normally protected contour from the proposed operation of KSTN; and that KSTN has not denied KARM's allegations of interference, we find the protestant to be a "party in interest" within the meaning of section 309 (c) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended. In re Benton Broadcasting Service, 9 Pike and Fischer RR 93. We further find that the facts, matters and things relied upon by the protestant have been specified with sufficient particularity to warrant designating the above-entitled application for hearing. We are adopting the issues specified by the protestant; and, in addition, we are including an issue designed to obtain information as to the areas and populations that would gain or lose primary service from the proposed KSTN operation. The burden of proceeding with the introduction of evidence and the burden of proof on each issue shall be on San Joaquin Broadcasting Company.

5. In view of the foregoing: It is ordered, That the subject Petition For Reconsideration is granted to the extent provided for below; and that, pursuant to section 309 (c) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, effective immediately, the effective date of the grant of the above-captioned application is postponed pending a final determination by the Commission in the hearing described below; and that the above-captioned application is designated for hearing at the offices of the Commission in Washington, D. C., upon the following issues:

(a) To determine the areas and populations that would gain or lose primary service from the proposed operation of Station KSTN and the availability of other primary service to such areas and populations.

(b) To determine whether the proposed operation of Station KSTN would involve objectionable interference with Station KARM, Fresno, California, or any other existing standard broadcasting station; and, if so, the nature and extent thereof, the areas and populations affected thereby and the availability of other primary services to such areas and populations.

(c) To determine whether in the light of the evidence adduced under the foregoing issues, a grant of the subject application would serve the public interest.

It is further ordered, That KARM, The George Harm Station, licensee of Station KARM, Fresno, California, and the Chief, Broadcast Bureau, are made parties to the above-ordered hearing; and that

(a) The hearing shall commence at 10:00 a. m. on June 29, 1956, before an Examiner to be designated in a subsequent order.

(b) The parties to the proceeding herein shall have fifteen (15) days after the issuance of the Examiner's decision to file exceptions thereto and seven (7) days thereafter to file replies to any such exceptions.

(c) The parties intending to participate in the hearing shall file their appearances not later than May 21, 1956.

In the matter of:

(1) Renewal of exemption of all United States passenger vessels of less than 100 gross tons, not subject to the radio provisions of the Safety Convention, from the radio provisions of Title III, Part II of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, when navigated on voyages in the open sea not more than 20 nautical miles from the nearest land in waters lying between: (a) Hog Island, Virginia and Fire Island Light, New York; or (b) Hillsboro Light and Triumph Reef Beacon, Florida; or (c) Naples, Florida and Brownsville, Texas; or (d) Point Conception, California and Point Descanso or the Coronado Islands, Mexico; or (e) Salt Point and Point Sur, California; and

(2) Renewal of exemption of all United States passenger vessels of a tonnage up to and including 15 gross tons, not subject to the radio provisions of the Safety Convention, from the radio provisions of Title III, Part II of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, when navigated on voyages in the open sea not more than 20 nautical miles from the nearest land.

The Commission having under consideration the above-captioned matters; and

It appearing that section 352 (b) (3) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, provides that the Commission may, if it considers that the route or the conditions of the voyage or other circumstances are such as to render a radio installation unreasonable or unnecessary for the purpose of Title III, Part II of the act, exempt from the radio provisions of Title III, Part II, passenger vessels of a tonnage of less than 100 gross tons not subject to the radio provisions of the Safety Convention; and

It further appearing that the Commission has heretofore granted and renewed exemption for specific periods to all United States passenger vessels of less than 100 gross tons, not subject to the radio provisions of the Safety Convention, when navigated not more than 20 nautical miles from the nearest land on voyages in the open sea in waters lying in the individual areas described in caption (1) above, and that the exemptions currently in force expire on May 13, 1956; and

It further appearing that the Commission has heretofore granted and renewed exemption for specific periods to all United States passenger vessels of a tonnage up to and including 15 gross tons, not subject to the radio provisions of the Safety Convention, when navigated not more than 20 nautical miles from the nearest land on voyages in the open sea and that the exemption currently in force expires on May 13, 1956; and

It further appearing that the passenger vessels described under captions (1) and (2) above, come within the class of vessels which may be granted exemption under section 352 (b) (3) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended; and

It further appearing that there is no information before the Commission tending to show that the routes, or the conditions of the voyages of any of the vessels in question have changed substantially since the ships were first granted exemption, or that they will change substantially during the period for which the instant exemptions would be renewed;

It is ordered, This 3d of May 1956, pursuant to section 352 (b) (3) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, that all United States passenger vessels of a tonnage of less than 100 gross tons, not subject to the radio provisions of the Safety Convention are EXEMPT from the radio provisions of Title III, Part II of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, for an additional period not to extend beyond May 13, 1957, when navigated on voyages in the open sea in waters lying between:

(a) Hog Island, Virginia, and Fire Island Light, New York; or

(b) Hillsboro Light and Triumph Reef Beacon, Florida; or

(c) Naples, Florida, and Brownsville, Texas; or

(d) Point Conception, California and Point Lescanso or the Coronado Islands, Mexico; or

(e) Salt Point and Point Sur, California;

Provided, That during the course of the voyages the vessels will be navigated not more than 20 nautical miles from the nearest land.

It is further ordered, This 3d day of May 1956, pursuant to section 352 (b) (3) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, that all United States passenger vessels of a tonnage up to and including 15 gross tons, not subject to the radio provisions of the Safety Convention, are exempt from the radio provisions of Title III, Part II of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, for an additional period not to extend beyond May 13, 1957: Provided, That during the course of the voyages the vessels will be navigated not more than 20 nautical miles from the nearest land.

It is further ordered, That these exemptions may be terminated at any time without hearing if, in the Commission's discretion, the need for such action arises.

Take notice that Hope Natural Gas Company, a West Virginia corporation with a principal place of business in Clarksburg, West Virginia, filed on September 20, 1955, an application pursuant to section 7 (b) of the Natural Gas Act for permission and approval to abandon its existing Turner Compressor Station located in Kanawha County, West Virginia, all as more fully represented in the application which is on file with the Commission, and open for public inspection.

The application recites that the Turner Station was last operated in August, 1955 to gather and compress natural gas produced in a nearby field, which was transmitted to its upstream Cornwell Compressor Station on its main line, but that the volume of gas available to the Turner Station has been depleted to the extent that it is no longer economical to operate the station. The Cornwell Station will be able to take over the service performed by the Turner Station. No abandonment or curtailment of service to any customer will result from the abandonment of the station. Original cost of the station constructed in 1936 is stated as being $54,304; and Applicant plans to return the two installed 180 HP compressors to its warehouse.

This matter is one that should be disposed of as promptly as possible under the applicable rules and regulations and to that end:

PACIFIC NORTHWEST PIPELINE CORP.

MAY 4, 1956.

Notice is hereby given that Pacific Northwest Pipeline Corporation (Company) has filed an application under section 310 (b) (1) (ii) of the Trust Indenture Act of 1939 for a finding by the Commission that trusteeship of The Chase Manhattan Bank under an Indenture dated as of March 1, 1955 (1955 Indenture) which was heretofore qualified under the act, and trusteeship by The Chase Manhattan Bank under a proposed indenture to be dated as of March 1, 1956 (1956 Indenture), not to be qualified under the act, is not so likely to involve a material conflict of interest as to make it necessary in the public interest or for the protection of investors to disqualify said Trustee from acting as such under the 1955 Indenture and the 1956 Indenture.

Section 310 (b) of the act, which is included in section 10.10 of the 1955 Indenture, provides in part that if an indenture trustee under an indenture qualified under the act has or shall acquire any conflicting interest (as defined in the section), it shall, within ninety days after ascertaining that it has such conflicting interest, either eliminate such conflicting interest or resign. Subsection (1) of this section provides, with certain exceptions stated therein, that a trustee is deemed to have a conflicting interest if it is trustee under more than one indenture of the same obligor. However, pursuant to clause (ii) of subsection (1), an issuer may sustain the burden of proving, on application to the Commission and after opportunity for hearing thereon, that trusteeship under a qualified indenture and another indenture is not so likely to involve a material conflict of interest as to make it necessary in the public interest or for the protection of investors to disqualify such trustee from acting as trustee under one of such indentures.

The company alleges that:

1. It proposes to issue $10,000,000 aggregate principal amount of 5.60 percent Interim Notes, due June 1, 1958, under the 1956 Indenture under which The Chase Manhattan Bank is named indenture trustee, and to sell the new notes to two institutional purchasers which will purchase the notes for investment and not with a view to distribution, as a result of which the 1956 Indenture will be exempt from qualification under the Trust Indenture Act of 1939.

2. It has outstanding $17,220,000 principal amount of its 5½ percent Interim Notes due June 1, 1957, issued under the 1955 Indenture dated as of March 1, 1955, under which The Chase Manhattan Bank is trustee.

3. The 1955 Indenture was qualified under the Trust Indenture Act of 1939.

4. The 1955 Indenture and the 1956 Indenture are wholly unsecured.

5. The 1955 Indenture provides for payment of the notes in cash or in shares of the company's $3.30 Series, Cumulative Preferred Stock. The 1956 Indenture provides for two series of notes; Series A will be payable in cash or in Class A Cumulative Preferred Stock, $5.60 Series; and Series B notes will be payable in cash or in Class B Cumulative Preferred Stock. The Series B notes and Class B Preferred Stock will also be convertible into and redeemable in shares of Common Stock of the Company. Failure to pay principal on other debt securities of the Company is made an event of default under the 1956 Indenture.

6. Except as to the foregoing and differences as to amounts, dates, interest rates, redemption prices and technical differences, most of the provisions of the two indentures are substantially alike.

7. Certain provisions in the 1956 Indenture conforming to the requirements of the Trust Indenture Act of 1939 will not become operative unless and until the indenture is qualified thereunder.

8. The differences between the 1955 Indenture and the 1956 Indenture are not likely to involve a conflict of interest in the trusteeship.

For a more detailed statement of the matters of fact and law asserted, all persons are referred to the application which is on file in the offices of the Commission at 425 Second Street NW., Washington, D. C.

Notice is further given that an order granting the application may be issued by the Commission at any time on or after May 21, 1956, unless prior thereto a hearing upon the application is ordered by the Commission, as provided in clause (ii) of section 310 (b) (1) of the Trust Indenture Act of 1939. Any interested person may, not later than May 18, 1956, in writing, submit to the Commission his views or any additional facts bearing upon this application or the desirability of a hearing thereon. Any such communication or request should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington 25, D. C., and should state briefly the nature of the interest of the person submitting such information or requesting a hearing, the reasons for such request, and the issues of fact and law raised by the application which he desires to controvert.

By the Commission.

UNION ELECTRIC COMPANY OF MISSOURI AND HEVI-DUTY ELECTRIC CO.

ORDER GRANTING AND PERMITTING TO BECOME EFFECTIVE AN APPLICATION AND DECLARATIONS REGARDING ISSUANCE AND DELIVERY BY SUBSIDIARY OF ADDITIONAL SHARES OF COMMON STOCK TO PARENT, DISTRIBUTION OF SUBSIDIARY'S COMMON STOCK TO COMMON STOCKHOLDERS OF PARENT, AND AMENDMENT OF ARTICLES OF INCORPORATION BY SUBSIDIARY

MAY 4, 1956.

Union Electric Company of Missouri ("Union Electric"), a registered holding company, and Hevi-Duty Electric Company ("Hevi-Duty"), a wholly owned non-utility subsidiary company of Union Electric, have filed an application and declarations and amendments thereto with this Commission pursuant to sections 6 (a) (1), 6 (a) (2), 7, 9 (a) (1), 10, 12 (c), and 12 (f) of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 ("act") and Rules U-42, U-43, and U-46 promulgated thereunder regarding certain proposed transactions.

The transactions hereinafter described are proposed to effect the disposition by Union Electric of its interest in Hevi-Duty in compliance with paragraph 2 of the order of this Commission dated October 31, 1952 (Holding Company Act Release No. 11530), as modified by order of this Commission dated August 10, 1955 (Holding Company Act Release No. 12963) extending the time for such compliance with respect to Hevi-Duty to August 10, 1956.

Union Electric now owns all of the authorized and outstanding common stock of Hevi-Duty, a Wisconsin corporation, consisting of 2,500 shares without par value, which were acquired by Union Electric in February 1955 from The North American Company ("North American") upon the liquidation and dissolution of North American pursuant to the plan approved by this Commission by the above-mentioned order of October 31, 1952. Hevi-Duty also has authorized and outstanding 2,500 shares of 6 percent cumulative preferred stock, of the par value of $100 per share, which have no voting rights except under special circumstances as set forth in its Articles of Incorporation, as amended. Such preferred stock is held by six stockholders and Union Electric does not own, directly or indirectly, any of such preferred stock.

It is proposed that the Articles of Incorporation of Hevi-Duty be amended to reclassify the 2,500 shares of its presently authorized and outstanding common stock without par value into 345,230 shares of common stock, of the par value of $5 per share; to increase the number of authorized shares of common stock as so reclassified to 1,000,000; and to provide for limited preemptive rights for the new common stock and for cumulative voting rights in the election of directors. Union Electric proposes to vote its holdings of 100 percent of the present common stock of Hevi-Duty in favor of such proposals. In connection with such reclassification, Hevi-Duty proposes to increase its common stock capital account from $50,000 to $1,726,150 (the aggregate par value of the 345,230 shares of its new common stock to be outstanding as a result of such reclassification) by the transfer to common stock capital account of $1,000,000 from capital surplus and $676,150 from earned surplus. Hevi-Duty, although it has no present plans for the issue of additional shares of its common stock, deems it advisable, at the time of such reclassification, to increase the authorized number of shares of its new common stock to provide for capital requirements in the future.

Union Electric proposes to acquire, in connection with such reclassification of Hevi-Duty common stock, the 345,230 shares of new Hevi-Duty common stock in exchange for and upon surrender of certificates representing the 2,500 shares of Hevi-Duty common stock presently owned by Union Electric, and to record such new common stock of Hevi-Duty at Union Electric's carrying value for the 2,500 surrendered shares of old common stock.

Union Electric proposes to distribute thereafter, on June 29, 1956, to its stockholders of record at the close of business on May 31, 1956, the shares of new common stock of Hevi-Duty at the rate of 1 share of common stock of Hevi-Duty for each 30 shares of Union Electric common stock held of record at that time.

No fractional share certificates or scrip will be issued in connection with such distribution. Each Union Electric stockholder of record who is entitled to a fractional interest in a share of new common stock of Hevi-Duty will receive a nontransferable Order Card, showing the amount of his fractional-share interest arising from the distribution, for use in electing either (a) to purchase the additional fractional-share interest required to make up one full share or (b) to sell his fractional-share interest. Prior to the distribution date, common stock of Hevi-Duty to cover the total amount of fractional-share interests will be transferred and deposited by Union Electric with J. P. Morgan & Co. Incorporated, which, as agent for the stockholders and for their individual accounts, will execute such purchase and sale orders, including the offsetting of such orders to the extent practicable. Such order cards will become void after August 10, 1956, and any shares held to cover fractional-share interests with respect to which such agent does not receive completed Order Cards from Union Electric stockholders before the close of business on August 10, 1956, will be sold by the agent for the account of such stockholders, and the proceeds distributed pro rata to them. Union Electric will bear all expenses of such services of J. P. Morgan & Co. Incorporated, as such agent.

On the basis of an analysis of the stock records of Union Electric as of February 29, 1956, it is estimated that approximately 329,100 shares of Hevi-Duty common stock will be distributed directly to Union Electric stockholders and that approximately 16,130 shares will be deposited with J. P. Morgan & Co. Incorporated, as agent, to cover fractional-share interests.

In connection with the proposed distribution, Union Electric proposes to charge to Capital Surplus an amount aggregating the total carrying value of its investment in Hevi-Duty (approximately $2,437,000), and to charge the expenses of such distribution to earned surplus.

It is proposed that an application will be made to list the common stock of Hevi-Duty on the American Stock Exchange, New York, N. Y., promptly after the distribution of such stock to the common stockholders of Union Electric.

It is also proposed that promptly after the distribution, the members of the Board of Directors of Hevi-Duty and Anchor Manufacturing Company ("Anchor"), Hevi-Duty's wholly owned subsidiary, who are also directors of Union Electric, will resign and the Boards of Hevi-Duty and Anchor will elect new directors to serve for the unexpired terms of the resigning directors. The Commission will be advised as to the identity of such new directors prior to their election.

It is expected that Union Electric's expenses, if any, in connection with the acquisition of the new common stock of Hevi-Duty in exchange for and on surrender of certificates representing the old common stock of Hevi-Duty will be nominal in amount.

It is estimated that the expenses to be incurred by Union Electric in connection with the proposed distribution to its stockholders will amount to approximately $49,000 as follows:

| Fees of distributing agent | $24,000 |
| Printing of order cards, communications to stockholders, including descriptive pamphlet on Hevi-Duty, and miscellaneous forms | 13,000 |
| Postage | 8,500 |
| Miscellaneous expenses, including stationery and supplies, traveling, telephone and telegraph charges, and other miscellaneous out-of-pocket expenses | 3,500 |
| Total | 49,000 |

It is estimated that expenses to be incurred by Hevi-Duty in connection with the proposed transactions, exclusive of counsel fees estimated at $400.00, will amount to approximately $32,860 as follows:

|---|---|
| Filing fees on reclassification and increase of its common stock | $4,960 |
| Printing of stock certificates | 4,200 |
| Fees of transfer agent and registrar on issue of stock certificates | 22,000 |
| Miscellaneous expenses, including stationery, supplies, traveling, telephone and telegraph charges and other miscellaneous out-of-pocket expenses | 1,700 |
| Total | 32,860 |

No State commission or Federal commission other than this Commission has jurisdiction over the proposed transactions.

Notice of said filing having been duly given in the manner prescribed by Rule U-23 and no hearing having been requested of or ordered by the Commission; and the Commission finding that the applicable provisions of the act and of the rules promulgated thereunder are satisfied, that the fees and expenses set forth above are not unreasonable, and that the application-declarations as amended should be granted and permitted to become effective:

It is ordered, Pursuant to Rule U-23 and the applicable provisions of said act, that said application and declarations as amended be, and the same hereby are, granted and permitted to become effective forthwith, subject to the terms and conditions prescribed in Rule U-24.

It is further ordered, That promptly after the distribution of the Hevi-Duty common stock to the stockholders of Union Electric, Hevi-Duty and Anchor shall submit to this Commission for its approval their definitive proposals with respect to the membership of their Boards of Directors.

It is further ordered and recited, That the proposed reclassification of the common stock (no par value) of Hevi-Duty and the exchange by Union Electric of 2,500 shares of such outstanding common stock of Hevi-Duty (represented by Certificate Nos. HC-2, HC-3, HC-8, HC-9, HC-10 and HC-11) for 345,230 shares of new common stock ($5 par value per share) of Hevi-Duty represented by Certificate C-1; the proposed disposition by Union Electric on June 29, 1956 of such 345,230 shares of new common stock of Hevi-Duty (out of or represented by Certificate No. C-1) to holders of common stock of Union Electric of record on May 31, 1956, either through the transfer and distribution of such shares directly to Union Electric's common stockholders or the transfer and deposit thereof with J. P. Morgan & Co. Incorporated, as Agent, to cover the fractional-share interests arising from such distribution; and the distribution by Union Electric to its common stockholders of Order Cards representing fractional-share interests in new common stock of Hevi-Duty; all as authorized or permitted by this order, are necessary or appropriate to the integration or simplification of the holding company system of which Union Electric is a member and are necessary or appropriate to effectuate the provisions of section 11 (b) of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 within the meaning of sections 1081 (f) and 4382 (b) (2) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954.

By the Commission.

PART 24—FORMAL EDUCATION REQUIREMENTS FOR APPOINTMENT TO CERTAIN SCIENTIFIC, TECHNICAL, AND PROFESSIONAL POSITIONS

METALLURGIST

Subparagraph (1) of § 24.36 (a) is revoked and § 24.133 is added to read as follows:

§ 24.133 Metallurgist, GS-1321-0 (all grades)—(a) Educational requirements. Applicants must have successfully completed one of the following:

(1) A full 4-year course in an accredited college or university leading to a bachelor's degree. This study must have included courses in metallurgical subjects consisting of lectures, recitations, and appropriate practical laboratory work totaling at least 20 semester hours.

(2) Courses in metallurgical subjects, in an accredited college or university consisting of lectures, recitations, and appropriate practical laboratory work totaling at least 20 semester hours; plus additional appropriate experience or education which, when combined with the 20 semester hours in metallurgical subjects, will total 4 years of education and experience and give the applicant a technical and professional knowledge comparable to that which would have been acquired through the successful completion of the 4-year college course described in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph.

In either subparagraph (1) or (2) of this paragraph, the courses must have included at least three of the following: (i) Physical metallurgy, (ii) metallurgy of iron and steel, (iii) metallurgy of nonferrous metals, (iv) metallography, (v) mineral dressing, (vi) electrometallurgy, (vii) process metallurgy. All of these courses must have been acceptable for credit toward the completion of a standard 4-year professional curriculum leading to a bachelor's degree in metallurgy or metallurgical engineering at an accredited college or university.

(b) Duties. Metallurgists will plan, direct, conduct or assist in conducting scientific investigative, developmental or fundamental research work in metallurgy; collect, examine and interpret metallurgical data; design, construct, install or operate metallurgical equipment. These duties require a working knowledge of the basic laws, concepts, techniques, and terminology of recovery or process metallurgy which includes extractive processes such as grinding of ores, sedimentation, roasting, smelting, flotation, leaching, crystallization, precipitation, and electrolysis of metallic salts and physical or adaptive metallurgy which includes adaptive processes such as casting, rolling, hammer forging, drawing, spinning, die-casting, welding, and heat treating. This work requires a knowledge of thermodynamics, stoichiometry, electrochemistry, mineralogy of ores, phase relationships in alloys, the effect of heat and forming processes on crystalline structure, X-ray analysis, microscopic metallography, and methods of testing ores, metals, and metal alloys.

(c) Knowledge and training requisite for performance of duties. The minimum amount of formalized training required for the successful performance of the duties described in paragraph (b) of this section consists of 20 semester hours of study in metallurgy which, being distributed among several principal branches of the field, represents essentially a basic fundamental body of metallurgical knowledge. In order that metallurgists may engage successfully in basic research or in other diverse phases of metallurgy represented in the professional metallurgist positions of the Federal Government, it is necessary that they be thoroughly and broadly trained. A knowledge of the principles and theories of metallurgy is indispensable in formulating new concepts, in interpreting experimental data, in establishing new processes, and in developing new products. Advances in metallurgy will be dependent upon the number of highly qualified and properly trained metallurgists who are competent to explore the field and are able to bring new scientific knowledge or established scientific concepts to bear on the problems met. The only available method by which metallurgists can be thoroughly and broadly trained to the level and extent required, is through a planned and directed course of study in an accredited college or university where competent instruction and guidance are available, where courses are arranged in a systematic, progressive schedule, where adequate scientific laboratories and libraries are provided and where progress in the acquisition of professional and scientific knowledge is competently evaluated.

(Sec. 6, 38 Stat. 721; 15 U. S. C. 46. Interprets or applies sec. 2, 38 Stat. 730, as amended; 15 U. S. C. 13) [Cease and desist order, Tetley Tea Company, Inc., New York, N. Y., Docket 6462, April 26, 1956]

This proceeding was heard by a hearing examiner on the complaint of the Commission—charging a corporation engaged in the interstate sale and distribution to grocery jobbers and retail customers, including retail chain stores, of its "Tetley" tea and tea bags, doing an annual business in excess of $11,000,000, with discriminating in price in violation of Sec. 2 (d) of the Clayton Act, as amended, through paying during the year 1955 $1,875 to the Food Fair Stores, Inc., of Philadelphia, and $250 to the Giant Food Shopping Center, Inc., of Washington, and also contracting to pay an additional $1,875 to the Food Fair Stores, Inc., as compensation for advertising or other service furnished in connection with their sale of respondent's products, while not making such compensation available on proportionally equal terms to competing customers—and an agreement between the parties providing for the entry of a consent order.

TITLE 18—CONSERVATION OF POWER

Chapter I—Federal Power Commission

[Docket No. R-152; Order 187]

PART 260—STATEMENTS AND REPORTS (SCHEDULES)

STATEMENT OF SALES AND REVENUES OF INDEPENDENT PRODUCERS FOR YEAR ENDING DECEMBER 31, 1955

In this proceeding the Commission has under consideration the amendment of section 260, entitled "Statements and Reports (Schedules)" of Subchapter G, Approved Forms, Natural Gas Act, by the addition of a new § 260.5 prescribing FPC Form No. 301, Independent Producers Report of Natural Gas Transactions for the Year ending December 31, 1955.

General public notice of this proposed rulemaking was given by publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER on March 13, 1956 (21 F. R. 1562), and mailing notices to interested parties, including State and Federal regulatory agencies.

In response to the notice letters were received from approximately 170 independent producers, of which about 100 objected to the issuance of the proposed rule. All such suggestions have been carefully considered and, to the extent deemed pertinent and desirable, have been adopted.

While it recognizes that the submission of the information to be required under the proposed rule will impose an added burden upon those affected, the Commission deems such information necessary to enable its staff to check the rate schedules that have been filed by independent producers pursuant to § 154.92 and § 154.94 of its regulations promulgated in its Order 174-B. The checks to be made by the staff will pertain to the accuracy of the interpretation made by staff members of the rates in such filed schedules and also the accuracy of the rate schedules themselves as compared to the rates being charged. In addition, such data may be used for the classification of independent producers in connection with any statistical information which may be required concerning the size of sales and revenues of those independent producers. The data will also make available information to aid the staff in developing its studies on field prices of gas.

The form prescribed herein embodies many of the suggestions made by the persons submitting comments in response to the notice and differs from the one originally proposed in the following respects:

(1) The closing date for filing the form has been extended from May 1 to June 30, 1956.

(2) Items 1 B and 1 C have been deleted. Thus no report as to intrastate sales is required.

(3) Instructions will be issued to the effect that reports be limited to the reporting party's "gross working interest" in the sale made under each of his filed rate schedules; and, as a corollary thereto.

(4) The filing party will be requested to advise (a) whether he is the operator with respect to each filed rate schedule and (b) the percentage of his gross working interest under each rate schedule.

This latter request will enable the Commission to classify producers so that it will be in a position to give further consideration to the still incompletely resolved question of the type of reports it may require to properly administer the rate provisions of the Natural Gas Act.

For the reasons set forth above the Commission finds:

The amendment hereinafter adopted including the form therein prescribed is necessary and appropriate to carry out the provisions of the Natural Gas Act.

The Commission, acting pursuant to authority granted by sections 10 and 16 of the Natural Gas Act (52 Stat. 826, 830; 15 U. S. C. 717i, 717o) orders:

(A) Part 260 of the Commission's regulations entitled "Statements and Reports (Schedules)" of Subchapter G, Approved Forms, Natural Gas Act (18 CFR Part 260) is amended by adding a new § 260.5 to read as follows:

§ 260.5 Form No. 301, Statement of sales and revenues of independent producers. (a) FPC Form No. 301, Independent Producers Report of Natural-Gas Transactions for the Year Ending December 31, 1955,[1] being a statement of sales of natural gas made during the calendar year 1955 under rate schedules filed with the Commission pursuant to §§ 154.92 and 154.94 of this chapter.

(b) Each independent producer as defined in § 154.91 of this chapter who had a rate schedule on file with the Commission on December 31, 1955 shall file with the Commission on or before June 30, 1956 two copies of such FPC Form No. 301.[2]

[ 21 CFR Part 130 ]

DRUGS EXEMPTED FROM PRESCRIPTION-DISPENSING REQUIREMENTS OF SECTION 503 (b) (1) (C) OF THE FEDERAL FOOD, DRUG, AND COSMETIC ACT

NOTICE OF PROPOSED RULE MAKING

Notice is given that the Commissioner of Food and Drugs, in accordance with the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (secs. 503 (b) (3), 505 (c), 701 (a); 65 Stat. 649, 52 Stat. 1052, 1055; 21 U. S. C. 353 (b) (3), 355 (c), 371 (a)) and the authority delegated to him by the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare (21 CFR, 1955 Ed., 1.108 (c)) hereby offers an opportunity to all interested persons to submit their views in writing to the Hearing Clerk, Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, Room 5440, 330 Independence Avenue SW., Washington 25, D. C., within 30 days from the date of publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER on the proposed amendments set forth below:

It is proposed to amend paragraph (a) of § 130.1 Exemption for certain drugs limited by new-drug applications to prescription sale in the following respects:

1. It is proposed to change paragraph (a) (7) to read as follows:

(7) Diamthazole dihydrochloride (2-dimethylamino - 6 - (β - diethylamino ethoxy)-benzothiazole dihydrochloride) preparations meeting all the following conditions:

(i) The diamthazole dihydrochloride is prepared with or without other drugs, in a dosage form suitable for use in self-medication by external application to the skin, and containing no drug limited to prescription sale under the provisions of section 503 (b) (1) of the act.

(ii) The diamthazole dihydrochloride and all other components of the preparation meet their professed standards of identity, strength, quality, and purity.

(iii) If the preparation is a new drug, an application pursuant to section 505 (b) of the act is effective for it.

(iv) The preparation contains not more than 5 percent of diamthazole dihydrochloride.

(v) The preparation is labeled with adequate directions for use only for adults and children 12 years of age and over in those conditions for which it may be safely used without medical supervision.

(vi) The label bears a conspicuous warning to keep out of the reach of children, and the labeling bears, in juxtaposition with the directions for use, clear warning statements against:

(a) Application to infants or children under 6 years of age, because serious reactions may occur.

(b) Application to children 6 to 12 years of age, except as directed by a physician.

(c) Contact with mucous membranes.

(d) Use in the event of irritation or failure to obtain prompt relief.

2. It is proposed to amend paragraph (a) by adding a new subparagraph (15) reading as follows:

(15) Dextromethorphan hydrobromide (dextro-3-methoxy-N-methylmorphinan hydrobromide) preparations meeting all the following conditions:

(i) The dextromethorphan hydrobromide is prepared with or without other drugs, in tablet or other dosage form suitable for oral use in self-medication, and containing no drug limited to prescription sale under the provisions of section 503 (b) (1) of the act.

(ii) The dextromethorphan hydrobromide and all other components of the preparation meet their professed standards of identity, strength, quality, and purity.

(iii) If the preparation is a new drug, an application pursuant to section 505 (b) of the act is effective for it.

(iv) The preparation contains not more than 15 milligrams of dextromethorphan hydrobromide per dosage unit, or if it is in liquid form not more than 3 milligrams of dectromethorphan hydrobromide per milliliter.

(v) The preparation is labeled with adequate directions for use in the temporary relief of cough due to minor conditions in which it is indicated.

(vi) The dosages recommended or suggested in the labeling do not exceed: For adults, 30 milligrams of dextromethorphan hydrobromide per dose or 120 milligrams of dextromethorphan hydrobromide per 24-hour period; for children 4 to 12 yeras of age, 15 milligrams per dose or 60 milligrams per 24-hour period; for children 2 to 4 years of age, 7.5 milligrams per dose or 30 milligrams per 24-hour period.

(vii) the label bears a conspicuous warning to keep the drug out of the reach of children and the labeling bears, in juxtaposition with the dosage recommendations;

(a) A clear warning statement against administration of the drug to children under 2 years of age, except as directed by a physician.

(b) Clear warning statements against use of the drug in the presence of high fever or if cough persists, since persistent cough as well as high fever may indicate the presence of a serious condition.

The proposed amendment will remove the drugs mentioned therein from the prescription-dispensing requirements of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (sec. 503 (b) (1) (C), 52 Stat. 1052, 65 Stat. 469; 21 U. S. C. 353 (b) (1) (C)). These drugs were previously limited by their new-drug applications to use under professional supervision because the scientific data establishing the toxic potential of the drugs and their intended use showed only that they were safe if used under professional supervision.

Pursuant to the regulations in § 1.108 (c) of this chapter (21 CFR 1.108 (c)), petitions have been submitted to remove the prescription restrictions from these drugs. Evidence now available through investigation and marketing experience shows that the drugs can be safely used by the laity in self-medication if they are used in accordance with the proposed labeling. The restriction to prescription sale is no longer necessary for the protection of the public health.

This action in removing the prior restriction limiting these drugs to prescription sale is taken under the authority of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (secs. 503 (b) (3), 505 (c), 52 Stat. 1052, 65 Stat. 649; 21 U. S. C. 353 (b) (3), 355 (c)), which provides for and requires the removal of such restrictions if they are not necessary for the protection of the public health.

(Sec. 701, 52 Stat. 1055; 21 U. S. C. 371. Interprets or applies secs. 503 (b) (3), 505 (c), 52 Stat. 1052, 65 Stat. 649; 21 U. S. C. 353 (b) (3), 355 (c))

It is further ordered, That the request of Isbrandtsen Co., Inc., that Agreement No. 7830–2, be disapproved, is hereby denied pending such hearing and the Board's decision thereon.

Pursuant to the above order, notice is hereby given that a public hearing will be held before an examiner of the Hearing Examiners' Office at a date and place to be announced later. [Docket No. 20]

MASSACHUSETTS INSTITUTE OF TECHNOLOGY

NOTICE OF ISSUANCE OF CONSTRUCTION PERMIT

Please take notice that the Atomic Energy Commission has issued the construction permit set forth below to the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. In accordance with the procedures set forth in the Commission's rules of practice (10 CFR Part 2), the Commission will direct the holding of a formal hearing upon timely receipt of a request therefor from the applicant or an intervenor.

Construction permit. The Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Cambridge, Massachusetts (hereinafter "MIT"), on February 20, 1956, filed its application for Class 104 license defined in § 50.21 of Part 50, "Licensing of Production and Utilization Facilities", 10 CFR, Chapter I, to construct and operate a nuclear reactor (hereinafter "the reactor").

The Atomic Energy Commission (hereinafter the "Commission") has found that:

A. The reactor will be a utilization facility as defined in the Commission's regulations contained in 10 CFR Part 50, "Licensing of Production and Utilization Facilities."

B. MIT proposes to utilize the reactor in medical therapy and in the conduct of research and development activities of the types specified in section 31 of the Atomic Energy Act of 1954.

C. MIT is financially qualified to construct and operate the reactor in accordance with the regulations contained in 10 CFR, Chapter I, to assume financial responsibility for the payment of Commission charges for special nuclear material and to undertake and carry out the proposed use of such material for a reasonable period of time.

D. MIT and ACF Industries, the contractor selected by MIT to design and construct said reactor, are technically qualified to design and construct the reactor.

E. MIT has submitted sufficient information to provide reasonable assurance that the reactor can be constructed and operated at the proposed location without undue risk to the health and safety of the public; and that additional information required to complete its application will be supplied. Such additional information includes:

a. A standard operating procedure, including start-up, routine and non-routine operation and shutdown;

b. A description of critical experiments to be performed, including procedures to be followed; and

c. A plan of action for disaster control in event of an accident or incident resulting in a radioactive hazard to the public.

Pursuant to the Atomic Energy Act of 1954 and 10 CFR, Part 50, "Licensing of Production and Utilization Facilities", the Commission hereby issues a construction permit to MIT to construct the reactor as a utilization facility. This permit shall be deemed to contain and be subject to the conditions specified in §§ 50.54 and 50.55 of said regulations; is subject to all applicable provisions of the Atomic Energy Act of 1954 and rules, regulations and orders of the Atomic Energy Commission now or hereafter in effect; and is subject to any additional conditions specified or incorporated below.

(1) The earliest date for the completion of the reactor is June 1, 1957. The latest date for completion of the reactor is June 1, 1959. The term "completion date" as used herein means the date on which construction of the reactor is completed except for the introduction of the fuel material.

(2) The site proposed for the location of the reactor is the location in Cambridge, Massachusetts, specified in report MIT-5007—"Final Hazards Summary Report to the Advisory Committee on Reactor Safeguards on a Research Reactor for the Massachusetts Institute of Technology."

(3) a. The reactor is a heavy-water cooled and moderated, heterogeneous research reactor designed for operation at power levels up to 1000 kilowatts, using enriched uranium as fuel. The reactor shall be constructed in accordance with design and performance specifications set forth in report MIT-5007.

b. Substitution of a single steel door in place of the truck air lock in the steel shell as discussed in MIT-5007 is approved; Provided, That:

Notice is hereby given that Delaware Power & Light Company ("Company"), a registered holding company and also a public utility company, has filed a declaration pursuant to the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 ("act"), designating sections 6, 7 and 12 (c) of the act and Rules U-42 and U-50 thereunder as applicable to the proposed transactions, which are summarized as follows:

The Company proposes to issue and sell, pursuant to the competitive bidding requirement of Rule U-50, 232,520 shares of its unissued Common Stock, par value $13.50 per share, and in addition to sell such shares as may be purchased for the purpose of stabilizing the price of the Common Stock.

Such stabilization, if commenced, will be terminated not later than the time fixed for the acceptance of a bid for the purchase of the unsubscribed stock. Shares acquired by the Company as a result of such stabilization will be included as part of the unsubscribed stock which will be sold to the underwriters.

Net proceeds from the sale of the Common Stock will be applied toward the cost of the construction program of the Company and its subsidiaries and the retirement of bank loans incurred prior to such sale.

A statement of the fees and expenses to be incurred by the Company in connection with the proposed transactions will be supplied by amendment.

The Company has also applied to the Public Service Commission of Delaware for approval of the issuance of the subscription warrants and shares as proposed.

(iii) Any tangerines grown in the State of Florida, which grade U. S. (2) It is hereby further found that it is impracticable and contrary to the public interest to give preliminary notice, engage in public rule-making procedure, and postpone the effective date of this section until 30 days after publication thereof in the FEDERAL REGISTER (60 Stat. 237; 5 U. S. C. 1001 et seq.) because the time intervening between the date when information upon which this section is based became available and the time when this section must become effective in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act is insufficient, and a reasonable time is permitted, under the circumstances, for preparation for such effective time; and good cause exists for making the provisions hereof effective as hereinafter set forth. (b) Order. (1) The quantity of lemons grown in the State of California or in the State of Arizona which may be handled during the period beginning at 12:01 a. m., P. s. t., May 13, 1956, and ending at 12:01 a. m., P. s. t., May 20, 1956, is hereby fixed as follows:

PART 962—FRESH PEACHES GROWN IN GEORGIA

SUSPENSION OF INSPECTION REQUIREMENT

§ 962.311 Peach Order 1—(a) Findings. (1) Pursuant to the marketing agreement, as amended, and Order No. 62, as amended (7 CFR Part 962; 20 F. R. 1635), regulating the handling of fresh peaches grown in the State of Georgia, effective under the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et. seq.) and upon the basis of the recommendation of the Industry Committee, established under the aforesaid amended marketing agreement and order, and upon other available information, it is hereby found that this order will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act with respect to shipments of fresh peaches grown in the State of Georgia.

(2) It is hereby further found that it is impracticable and contrary to the public interest to give preliminary notice, engage in public rule-making procedure, and postpone the effective date of this section until 30 days after publication thereof in the FEDERAL REGISTER (60 Stat. 237; 5 U. S. C. 1001 et seq.) in that the time intervening between the date when information upon which this section is based became available and the time when this section must become effective in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act is insufficient and this order relieves restrictions on the handling of fresh peaches grown in the State of Georgia.

(b) Order. During the period beginning at 12:01 a. m., e. d. s. t., May 15, 1956 and ending at 12:01 a. m., e. s. t., March 1, 1957.

Subchapter B—Prohibition of Imported Commodities

[Tomato Reg., Amdt. 5]

PART 1065—TOMATOES

IMPORT RESTRICTIONS

Pursuant to the authority vested in me under section 8e of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (48 Stat. 753, as amended; 7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.; 68 Stat. 906, 1047), paragraph (b) of § 1065.1 Tomato Regulation No. 1, as amended (20 F. R. 9817, 21 F. R. 832, 987, 2509, 3075), is hereby further amended so as to extend the regulations which are now in effect from May 13, 1956, through May 31, 1956.

To accomplish the aforementioned result, it is hereby ordered that subparagraphs (1) and (3) of paragraph (b) of § 1065.1 be deleted, that the numbering of existing § 1065.1 (b) (2) be changed to § 1065.1 (b) (1) and that the words at the beginning of said § 1065.1 (b) (1), as renumbered, reading "During the period from May 4, 1956, 3:01 p. m., e. d. t., through May 13, 1956" be changed to read "During the period from May 4, 1956, 3:01 p. m., e. d. t., through May 31, 1956."

Findings. It is hereby found that it is impracticable, unnecessary, and contrary to the public interest to give preliminary notice, engage in public rule making procedure, or to postpone the effective date of these amendments later than May 14, 1956, because: (a) The regulation involved is already in effect, and the only change being made is to continue such regulation in effect through May 31, 1956; (b) such change constitutes a relief from restrictions, in that otherwise more stringent regulations on imports would be in effect on and after May 14, 1956; (c) such relaxation will make these regulations conform with a recent relaxation in regard to the handling of tomatoes produced in Florida; and (d) such changes are mandatory pursuant to section 8e of the act in that the regulation of tomato imports in these respects must be the same or comparable to the regulation of the handling of tomatoes produced in Florida.

(Sec. 5, 49 Stat. 753, as amended, 7 U. S. C. 608c. Interprets or applies sec. 401, 68 Stat. 907; 7 U. S. C. 608e)

Done at Washington, D. C., this 10th day of May 1956, to become effective at 12:01 a. m., e. d. t., May 14, 1956.

(i) The offense was nonrecurring.

(ii) The offense was not a felony.

(iii) The offense did not involve moral turpitude.

[No. 19]

NAVIGATIONAL LIGHT WAIVERS FOR CERTAIN NAVAL VESSELS

All ships are warned that, if U. S. naval vessels are met on the high seas or on navigable waters of the United States during periods when navigational lights may be displayed, they may expect that certain navigational lights of some naval vessels may vary from the requirements of the Regulations for Preventing Collisions at Sea, 1948, 33 U. S. Code sections 144 to 147d, and rules applicable to the navigable waters of the United States, as to number, position, range of visibility or arc of visibility. These differences are necessitated by reasons of military function or special construction of the naval ships. An example is the aircraft carrier where the two white lights are in most instances on the island superstructure considerably displaced from the center or keel line of the vessel when viewed from ahead. Certain other naval vessels cannot comply with the horizontal separation requirements of the white lights, and the two white lights on even larger naval vessels, such as some battleships, will thus appear to be crowded together when viewed from a distance. Other naval vessels may also have unorthodox navigational light arrangements or characteristics when seen either underway or at anchor.

Naval vessels may also be expected to display certain other lights. These lights include, but are not limited to, different colored recognition light signals, landing lights on carriers, pulsating red lights to indicate speed to other naval ships, and green lights to indicate minesweeping operations. These lights may sometimes be shown in combination with navigational lights.

During peacetime naval maneuvers, naval ships, alone or in company, may also dispense with showing any lights, though efforts will be made to display lights on the approach of shipping.

33 U. S. Code, sections 143a and 360, provides that the requirements of the Regulations for Preventing Collisions at Sea, 1948, the Inland Rules, the Great Lakes Rules and the Western River Rules as to the number, position, range of visibility, or arc of visibility of lights required to be displayed by vessels shall not apply to any vessel of the Navy where the Secretary of the Navy shall find or certify that, by reason of special construction or purpose, it is not possible for such vessel or class of vessels to comply with the statutory provisions as to lights.

Waiver Certificate No. 15 published in the FEDERAL REGISTER, Volume 18, No. 250 on December 24, 1953, as amended by Waiver Certificates Nos. 16, 17, and 18, published in the FEDERAL REGISTER, Volume 19, No. 154 on August 10, 1954; Volume 20, No. 156, on August 11, 1955; and Volume 20, No. 213, on November 1, 1955, respectively, lists certain naval vessels unable to comply with certain requirements as to navigational lights. The instant waiver certificate further amends Waiver Certificate No. 15 by correcting certain data promulgated therein and by finding and certifying that additional naval vessels, designated by type and class, are unable to comply with these navigational light requirements by reason of special construction, and in the manner indicated by appropriate modification of the Tables of Waiver Certificate No. 15, as amended by Waiver Certificates Nos. 16 through 18, as follows:

Change as follows, under the column entitled "Vessel type and class":

(1) After "CA–68" add "except otherwise listed".

(2) Below "CA–68" add "CA–71, 73, 75, 130, 132, 133 and 135" and also add in succeeding columns "48", "74", "27", "48".

Change as follows, under the column entitled "Vessel type and class":

(1) Delete CVA–20 and the figures in the succeeding columns. (CVA–20 is a CVA–34 Class carrier and now carries the lights of her class.)

(2) After CVA–34 delete the words "except CVA–20".

(3) After CVA–41 change succeeding columns to "44", "62", "18", "25", "62", "3", "27".

(4) Below "CVA–41" add "CVA–43 only" and also add in succeeding columns "79", "96", "17", "26", "62", "4", "19".

(5) Add "CVHA–1" and also add in succeeding columns "42", "57", "15", "23", "45", "1", "28".

Add paragraph as follows:

(g) The 25-ton Submarine X–1 carries a 32-point masthead light, as she is not fitted with any other running light visible from astern.

The above navigational lights, as well as those listed in Waiver Certificate No. 15, are positioned approximately in accordance with the stated dimensions which may vary by at least several feet in certain instances.

The above modifications hereby become a part of Waiver Certificates Nos. 15, 16, 17, and 18 and shall have force and effect as if originally incorporated therein.

Dated at Washington, D. C., this 27th day of April A. D. 1956.

AMERICAN LOUISIANA PIPE LINE CO. ET AL.

ORDER RECONVENING HEARING

In the matters of American Louisiana Pipe Line Company, Docket No. G-2306; Texas Gas Transmission Corporation, Docket No. G-2311; Michigan Wisconsin

Pipe Line Company, Docket No. G–2327; Michigan Consolidated Gas Company, Docket No. G–2328; Lincoln Natural Gas Company, Inc., Docket No. G–9270; Illinois Power Company, Docket No. G–9293; City of Aledo, Illinois, Docket No. G–9620; Ohio Valley Gas Company, Docket No. G–9697.

By Opinion No. 291 and accompanying order issued May 7, 1956, in these proceedings, we authorized, among other things, the sale and delivery of natural gas by American Louisiana Pipe Line Company (American Louisiana) to Michigan Wisconsin Pipe Line Company (Michigan Wisconsin) and Michigan Consolidated Gas Company (Michigan Consolidated) in the volumes therein specified. Also in that opinion and order we found that, pending the completion of hearings on the requests by interveners and section 7 (a) applicants for service by American Louisiana gas to new markets, the public interest requires that the issue of finally authorizing sales to such parties should be reserved for future disposition subject to our further order. Consistent therewith, we provided for the reservation of volumes of gas to meet the reasonably-to-be-anticipated needs of such parties as disclosed by the record.

It is required by the public interest that hearings in these proceedings, which were recessed on February 15, 1956, at our direction, be resumed on less than 15 days' notice for the purpose of receiving further evidence respecting the requirements of the Cities of Lamoni and Bloomfield, Iowa; the City of Aledo, Illinois; the Paris Cooperative Gas Association; and the City of Olive Branch, Mississippi. Service to these parties would involve no competition with service proposed by Midwestern Gas Transmission Company or any other natural-gas company. Also the Presiding Examiner should take such additional evidence respecting noncompetitive service to new markets other than those specified above as he deems appropriate.

The Commission orders: The hearing in this proceeding shall reconvene on May 21, 1956, at 10:00 a. m., e. d. s. t., in a hearing room of the Federal Power Commission, 441 G Street NW., Washington, D. C., for the purposes hereinabove specified.

Issued: May 7, 1956.

By the Commission.

PENNSYLVANIA ELECTRIC CO.

ORDER GRANTING APPLICATION REGARDING ISSUANCE AND SALE OF PRINCIPAL AMOUNT OF FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS AND AGGREGATE PAR VALUE OF PREFERRED STOCK

MAY 8, 1956.

Pennsylvania Electric Company ("Penelec"), an indirect public utility subsidiary of General Public Utilities Corporation, a registered holding company, having heretofore filed an application, with amendments thereto, pursuant to section 6 (b) of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 ("act") and Rule U-50 promulgated thereunder in respect of the following proposed transactions:

Penelec proposes to issue and sell, for cash, pursuant to the competitive bidding provisions of Rule U-50, $12,500,000 principal amount of first mortgage bonds and 90,000 shares of preferred stock, with a par value of $100 per share. The interest rate on the bonds, which is to be a multiple of ⅛ of 1 percent and the price thereof to Penelec, which is to be not less than 100 percent nor more than 102.75 percent of principal amount, and the dividend rate on the preferred stock, which is to be a multiple of 1/20 of 1 percent, and the price thereof to Penelec, which is to be not less than $100 per share nor more than $102.75 per share, are to be fixed by the competitive bidding.

The First Mortgage Bonds, which are designated in the application as the 1986 Series Bonds, will be issued under the mortgage and deed of trust between Penelec and Bankers Trust Company, as Trustee, dated as of January 1, 1942, as heretofore amended and supplemented and as to be amended and supplemented by a further supplemental indenture to be dated as of May 1, 1956. The new Preferred Stock will constitute a further series of Penelec's preferred stock and will not vary in its terms from the outstanding shares of Penelec's preferred stock except as to dividend rate and redemption price.

Penelec proposes to apply the proceeds derived from the sale of these new securities as follows: (a) $10,000,000 will be applied to the prepayment of Penelec's 3¼ percent notes due December 31, 1957, issued under its credit agreement dated February 27, 1953; (b) $2,000,000 will be applied to the prepayment of the 3¼ percent bank loans of Northern Pennsylvania Power Company ("North Penn") due June 29, 1956, which are to be assumed by Penelec as a result of the merger of North Penn into Penelec; and (c) the balance will be applied to the cost of construction of property additions, to the repayment of bank loans effected by Penelec since December 31, 1955, in connection with the construction of property additions, or to the reimbursement of Penelec's treasury for expenditures therefrom in connection with the construction of property additions.

The filing states that Penelec's financing program for 1956 is designed to make approximately $25,500,000 available to Penelec during the year 1956 for construction purposes and in addition to reimburse Penelec's treasury to the extent of $4,000,000 for expenditures made therefrom for construction purposes prior to January 1, 1956 (which reimbursement will be used for general corporate purposes). It is further stated that of this amount approximately $9,500,000 will be provided from the sale of the 1986 Series Bonds and 90,000 shares of Preferred Stock, $6,000,000 is to be provided from the sale of additional common stock (the application-declaration for which has heretofore been granted and permitted effectiveness by the Commission (File No. 70–3464)), $1,500,000 will be provided from bank loans, and the balance, it is anticipated, will be provided from operations.

The filing, as amended, contains among other things, a copy of an order of the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission expressly authorizing the issuance and sale by Penelec of the above described securities.

It is estimated that fees and expenses applicable to these proposed transactions will be as follows:

|---|---|
| Securities and Exchange Commission filing fee | $2,233 |
| Federal issue tax | 23,650 |
| Fees of Commonwealth of Pennsylvania | 150 |

| Legal fees: | |
| Ballard, Spahr, Andrews & Ingersoll | 12,500 |

| Local counsel (34 attorneys in service area of Penelec) | 6,500 |
| Accounting fee—Lybrand, Ross Bros. & Montgomery | 3,000 |
| Indenture trustee, registrar, and transfer agent | 7,500 |
| Fees for recording supplemental indenture | 1,000 |
| Stock listing fee | 1,000 |
| Traveling expenses | 800 |
| Special printing and advertising | 550 |
| Signature company charges | 300 |
| Miscellaneous | 700 |
| Total | 105,383 |

Counsel for the successful bidders is Beckman & Bogue who have estimated their fee at $6,000 for the bond purchasers and $3,500 for the purchasers of the Preferred Stock with estimated applicable disbursements of $625 and $635, respectively. These fees and expenses are to be paid by the successful bidders.

Notice of the filing of this application having been given in the form prescribed by Rule U-23 of the Commission's rules and regulations and the Commission not having received a request for a hearing thereon and not having ordered such a hearing; the Commission finding in respect of the proposed transactions that the applicable provisions of the act and the rules thereunder have been satisfied and concluding that it is appropriate in the public interest and in the interest of investors and consumers that the application, as amended, should be granted and further concluding that the fees and expenses, if they do not exceed the amounts estimated, are not unreasonable;

It is ordered, That the amended application be, and hereby is, granted forthwith subject to the terms and provisions of Rule U-24 and Rule U-50.

PUBLIC SERVICE CO. OF OKLAHOMA

NOTICE OF FILING OF DECLARATION REGARDING ISSUANCE OF SHORT TERM NOTES TO BANKS

MAY 8, 1956.

Notice is hereby given that Public Service Company of Oklahoma ("Public Service"), a public-utility subsidiary of Central and South West Corporation, a registered holding company, has filed a declaration with this Commission pursuant to the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 ("act") and has designated sections 6 and 7 of the act as applicable to the proposed transactions.

All interested persons are referred to the declaration on file in the offices of the Commission for a statement of the transactions therein proposed, which are summarized as follows:

Public Service proposes to borrow at any time or from time to time on or after May 28, 1956, from each of seven named banks amounts not to exceed an agreed percentage of $12,000,000, provided that all such borrowings from all of said banks shall not exceed, in the aggregate, the sum of $12,000,000. Such borrowings will be made pursuant to a Loan Agreement dated April 26, 1956, between Public Service and said banks which provides, among other things, that such borrowings may be effected no later than July 1, 1957, or the maturity date of the notes evidencing the first borrowing thereunder, whichever is earlier, provided, however, that such first borrowing shall be made not later than August 1, 1956.

The borrowings are to be evidenced by promissory notes to be issued and delivered by Public Service from time to time in a principal amount equal to the amount of the borrowing made, to mature one year from the date of the first borrowing under said Loan Agreement, to bear interest from the dates thereof at the prime rate of interest in effect at The First National Bank of Chicago at the date each such borrowing is made, payable at maturity, and after maturity at the rate of 5 percent per annum, and to be subject to prepayment by Public Service at any time and from time to time without premium or penalty; all as provided in said Loan Agreement. Each borrowing and each prepayment shall be made in the ratio that the respective loans bear to the total loans to be made under the Loan Agreement and each borowing will be made in multiples of $500,000. No commitment or other fees will be paid in connection with the proposed borrowings.

The proceeds of such borrowings are required and will be used by the company to finance temporarily a portion of its 1956 construction expenditures, which are estimated at about $27,000,000, and such borrowings will be made from time to time as funds are required for the purpose during a period of not to exceed one year from the date of the first such borrowing.

It is contemplated that the notes proposed to be issued will be paid at or before maturity through the issuance and sale by Public Service of such securities as may be considered most appropriate in the light of market conditions existing at the time and as may be approved by the Commission to the extent required by the act.

The declaration states that no State commission and no Federal commission other than this Commission has jurisdiction over the proposed transactions.

Notice is further given that any person may, not later than May 24, 1956, at 5:30 p. m., e. d. s. t., request the Commission in writing that a hearing be held on such matter, stating the nature of his interest, the reasons for such request, and the issues of fact or law raised by said filing which he desires to controvert, or he may request that he be notified if the Commission should order a hearing thereon. Any such request should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington 25, D. C. At any time after said date, the declaration, as filed or as it may hereafter be amended, may be permitted to become effective as provided in Rule U-23 of the rules and regulations promulgated under the act, or the Commission may grant exemption from its rules as provided in Rules U-20 (a) and U-100 or take such other action as it may deem appropriate.

(5) By "a duly authorized representative of a claimant" is meant any person who has satisfied the Commission of his authority to act.

(6) The name or address of a beneficiary designated by an employee or annuitant will, during the life of the employee, or annuitant, be furnished only to the designator when request therefor is made in writing over the signature of the designator.

(7) Such information as may properly be disclosed to a claimant personally shall, in the event of his death, be disclosed upon proper request to the duly appointed representative of his estate, or to such person as may be designated by such representative, or to a duly designated beneficiary. Where no representative of the claimant's estate has been appointed, the claimant's next of kin shall be recognized as the representative of his estate.

(8) Where copies of documents or other records are desired by or in behalf of parties to a suit, whether in a court of the United States or in any other court, such copies shall be furnished to the court only, and on an order of the court or subpoena duces tecum, addressed to the President, U. S. Civil Service Commission, requesting the same.

(9) Where a process of a United States court or other court requires the production of documents or records contained in the retirement files of a claimant, such documents will be produced in the court out of which the process has issued. Where original records are produced, they must remain at all times in the custody of a representative of the Civil Service Commission, and if offered or received in evidence, permission should be obtained to substitute a copy so that the original record may remain intact in the file.

(10) The address of a claimant as shown by the Civil Service Commission records may be furnished to duly constituted police or court officials upon proper request or the submission of a certified copy either of the indictment returned against the claimant or of the warrant for his arrest.

(11) Disclosure of the amount of annuity or refund to any claimant may be made to any National, State, county, municipal, or other publicly recognized charitable or social-security administrative agency.

(12) Subject to the limitation regarding name or address of a beneficiary, all records or documents officially required by any department or other agency of the United States Government shall be furnished in response to a proper request, and Senators and Representatives of the United States in their capacity as Members of Congress of the United States shall be furnished for their official use with such records, documents, or other information as may be requested for such use.

(13) If the claimant gives his consent, the amount of annuity or refund paid to him, and the factors used in determining such payment, may be disclosed to any person who makes proper inquiry. An inquiry will be deemed proper if it is in writing and includes the name of the claimant and sufficient information to make positive identification of his records, except that the Commission may, in any case, waive the requirement that the inquiry be in writing. Upon receipt of a proper inquiry, the Commission will ask the claimant whether he consents to release of the information sought, and will then advise the inquirer of the decision of the claimant. A copy of any information released may be furnished to the claimant.

Such date for each county or areas within the county shall be far enough in advance of the date the harvesting of rice normally begins in the county to permit sufficient time to remeasure the farms in the county and issue marketing cards to eligible producers prior to harvest. Notice of 1956 Acreage of Rice on Form CSS–598 shall be mailed to the operator of each farm on which there is excess rice acreage at least 15 days prior to such established date: Provided, That if such notice is not mailed at least 15 days prior to such established date the producer shall have 15 days from the date the notice of 1956 acreage of rice is mailed to destroy or treat the excess rice acreage so that rice cannot be harvested therefrom. If a producer proves to the satisfaction of the county committee that he is unable to dispose of the excess rice acreage by the required date because of the physical condition of the rice acreage, an extension of time sufficient to afford a fair and reasonable opportunity for such disposal may be granted by the county committee provided the excess acreage is destroyed prior to the time the harvesting of rice begins on the farm. The acreage of rice as determined by the first inspection and as stated on Form CSS–598 shall be considered as "rice acreage" if the farm operator or his representative fails to notify the ASC county office by the date specified on Form CSS–598 of his intention to adjust the rice acreage to the farm allotment and pay the cost of remeasurement. The date specified on Form CSS–598 for notifying the county office of an intention to adjust shall coincide with the latest date on which the adjustment may be made.

The forms and instructions shall be approved by, and the instructions shall be issued by, the Deputy Administrator for Production Adjustment, Commodity Stabilization Service.

§ 730.753 Normal yields—(a) Farms for which normal yields will be determined. The Secretary, through the county committee, will determine a normal yield for each farm for which a farm marketing excess is determined for the 1956 crop and for each farm as required for the purposes of § 730.784 (h) and (i). Farm normal yields shall be determined and documented in a manner approved by the State committee and such determination shall be subject to examination and revision by or on behalf of the State Committee. Determinations of normal yields for individual farms shall also be recorded in the minutes of the county committee meeting during which such normal yields are established.

(b) Yields based on reliable records. Where reliable records of the actual average yield in pounds per acre for all of the 5 calendar years immediately preceding the calendar year for which the yield is determined are presented by the farmer or are available to the county committee, the normal yield per acre of rice for the farm shall be determined to be the average of such yields.

(c) Appraised yields. If for any year of such 5-year period records of the actual average yield are not available, or there was no actual yield, the normal yield in pounds per acre of rice for the farm shall be appraised by the county committee, taking into consideration the yields in years for which data are available, the county normal yield, if considered representative of the normal yield for the farm, the yields on farms in the same locality which are similar with respect to type of soil, availability of irrigation water, and farming practices associated with the production of rice, and abnormal weather conditions.

IDENTIFICATION AND MEASUREMENT OF FARMS

§ 730.754 Identification of farms. Each farm as operated for the 1956 crop of rice shall be identified by a farm serial number, assigned by the county committee, which shall not be changed, and all records pertaining to marketing quotas for the 1956 crop of rice shall be identified by the farm serial number.

§ 730.755 Measurement of farms. The county committee shall provide for the measurement of all farms in the county having a 1956 rice acreage allotment and any other farm in the county on which the committee has reason to believe there is rice which could be available for harvest in 1956, regardless of its intended use, for the purpose of ascertaining with respect to each of such farms the acreage of rice and whether such acreage is in excess of the farm rice acreage allotment for 1956. A farm will be considered as being located in the county in which is located the county ASC office from which the 1956 rice farm acreage allotment notice was sent to the operator and shall be retained in such status until the next crop year. Measurement shall be made under the general supervision of the county committee in accordance with the following provisions:

(a) Reporter. The measurement on the farm shall be made by an employee of the county committee who has been designated as a reporter and determined to be qualified to carry out the duties of a reporter by the county office manager. A reporter may be assisted in measurement of a farm by another reporter, community, county or State committeeman, State committee representative, any employee of the county ASC office when authorized by the county office manager, or by any employee of the Department when authorized by the Deputy Administrator for Production Adjustment, Commodity Stabilization Service. The reporter may request the operator or producer, or his representative, to designate all fields on the farm being utilized for growing rice and otherwise to assist in measuring the farm. If requested, the operator or producer, or his representative, shall so designate all fields being utilized for growing rice and may otherwise assist in measuring the farm. The reporter may utilize any such assistance from the operator or producer, or his representative.

(b) Assignment. The county office manager shall have the responsibility for assigning in writing the farms in the county to be measured by a reporter. Upon request of any interested producer the reporter shall obtain certification from the county office manager that the reporter is the county office representative appointed to determine the rice acreage on such producer's farm.

(c) Farm visit. A reporter shall visit each farm assigned to him for measurement and enter thereon if such entry will facilitate measurement. Upon request he will exhibit to the farm operator, producer, or owner, his assignment to measure the farm.

(d) Methods of measurement. Measurement may be made by identification of fields or parts of fields by use of a map, aerial photograph, or by means of a steel or metallic tape or chain, or rod and chain, or by use of a measuring wheel, when authorized by the Deputy Administrator for Production Adjustment, Commodity Stabilization Service, or by a combination of one or more of the foregoing methods. The measurement will be entered by the reporter on the Form CSS–578 and filed in the county ASC office. Computations of acreages shall be made by an employee in the county ASC office from the data so obtained and the use of a planimeter or rotometer in connection therewith is authorized.

(e) Measurement of rice acreage. (1) Upon his first visit to the farm for purposes of measurement the reporter assigned thereto shall measure all fields on the farm growing rice.

(2) All farms measured under the provisions of subparagraph (1) of this paragraph which from such measurement are found to have acreage on which rice is growing in excess of the 1956 farm rice acreage allotment shall be revisited by the reporter for the purpose of a second measurement after the period for adjusting excess acreage prior to harvest has expired, except that a revisit shall not be made to any such farm if the farm operator or his representative fails to notify the ASC county office by the dates specified on the notice of 1956 acreage of rice (Form CSS–598) of his intention to adjust the excess acreage on the farm and pay the costs of remeasurement. On this visit all acreage devoted to rice and which has not been adjusted prior to harvest so as not to qualify as rice acreage in accordance with these regulations shall be measured. In making such measurements, measurement data acquired on the first visit may be utilized.

(f) Water company measurements. Notwithstanding other provisions of this section, acreage measurements made by employees of water or irrigation companies to determine water charges may be used in lieu of or in connection with measurements by a reporter, subject to the following conditions: (1) The State and county committees determine that such measurements are accurate and meet the standards for measurements set out in the regulations in this subpart and applicable instructions for internal management issued by the Assistant Administrator for Production Adjustment, Commodity Stabilization Service; (2) a visual inspection is made by a representative of the State or county committee in order to ascertain that all rice acreage on the farm has been included; (3) a spot check of at least 10 per centum of the farms so measured is made; and (4) the water or irrigation company does not share in the 1956 rice crop on the farm.

(g) Prior measurements. Measurements made prior to the effective date of this section and in accordance with procedures then in effect may be utilized where pertinent for the purpose of ascertaining with respect to any farm the 1956 rice acreage and the rice acreage in excess of the 1956 farm rice acreage allotment.

§ 730.756 Reports and records of farm measurements. A record shall be kept in the ASC county office of the measurements made on all farms. There shall be filed with the ASC State office a written report setting forth for each farm for which a farm marketing excess is determined (a) the farm serial number, (b) the name of the operator, (c) name of each producer, (d) the total acreage in cultivation, (e) the farm acreage allotment, (f) the rice acreage, and (g) the farm marketing excess in pounds.

FARM MARKETING QUOTA AND FARM MARKETING EXCESS

§ 730.757 Marketing quotas in effect. Marketing quotas for the 1956 crop of rice shall be applicable in the continental United States. Such quotas shall be applicable to any rice of that crop notwithstanding that it may be available for market prior to the beginning of the marketing year or subsequent to the end of the marketing year.

§ 730.758 Farm marketing quota. The farm marketing quota for any farm for the 1956 crop of rice shall be that number of pounds of rice produced less the amount of the farm marketing excess for the farm.

§ 730.759 Farm marketing excess. The farm marketing excess for the 1956 crop of rice for any farm shall be the normal production of the rice acreage on the farm in excess of the farm acreage allotment therefor. The farm marketing excess for any crop shall not be larger than the amount by which the actual production of such crop of rice on the farm exceeds the normal production of the farm rice acreage allotment if the producer establishes such actual production to the satisfaction of the Secretary.

§ 730.760 Notice of farm marketing excess. Written notice of the farm marketing excess for a farm shall be mailed to the operator of each farm for which a farm marketing excess is determined. Notice so given shall constitute notice to each producer having an interest in the 1956 rice crop produced or to be produced on the farm. A copy of such notice shall also be mailed on the same day to each other rice producer on the farm as shown on ASC county records. Each notice shall contain a brief statement of the procedure whereby application for a review of the farm marketing quota, farm marketing excess, or any determination made in connection therewith may be had in accordance with section 363 of the act. A record of each notice containing the date of mailing the notice to the operator of the farm shall be kept among the permanent records in the ASC county office and upon request a copy thereof shall be furnished without charge to any person who as operator, landlord, tenant, or sharecropper is interested in the rice produced in 1956 on the farm for which the notice is given. Each notice shall be on a form MQ–93–Rice (1956) and shall contain the information necessary in each case to inform the producer as to the basis for the determinations set forth in the notice and the effect thereof.

§ 730.761 Farms for which proper notice of 1956 farm marketing quota and farm marketing excess of rice was not issued. Where, for any reason, proper notice of the farm marketing quota and farm marketing excess and of the producer's right to obtain a downward adjustment in the farm marketing excess for his farm on account of actual production, and of his right to store or deliver to the Secretary the farm marketing excess of rice established for the farm was not issued to the producer in sufficient time to allow him 30 days prior to the time in which he was required to make application for a downward adjustment, or to store or deliver to the Secretary the farm marketing excess, as prescribed by §§ 730.760, 730.762, 730.784, and 730.785, the producer shall be so notified by the county committee on Form MQ–93—Rice (1956) and the producer may, within 30 days from the date such notice is mailed to him apply to the county committee for a downward adjustment in the amount of the farm marketing excess and may, within 30 days from the date such notice is mailed store or deliver to the Secretary the farm marketing excess as provided in §§ 730.762, 730.784 and 730.785.

§ 730.762 Farm marketing excess adjustment—(a) Adjustment in the amount of the farm marketing excess. Any producer having an interest in the rice produced in 1956 on any farm for which there is a farm marketing excess may (1) within 60 days after the harvesting of rice is normally substantially completed in the county in which the farm is situated or within 30 days after a late notice of farm marketing quota and farm marketing excess is mailed as provided in § 730.761 apply to the county office for a downward adjustment in the amount of the farm marketing excess on the basis of the amount of rice produced in 1956 on the farm, or (2) apply to the county office at any time prior to the institution of court proceedings to collect the penalty for a determination that there was no farm marketing excess for the farm because the actual production on the farm was not in excess of the normal production of the acreage allotment. The date on which the harvesting of rice is normally substantially completed in the county shall be determined by the State committee taking into consideration recommendations which the county committee may make and, unless application for an adjustment in the farm marketing excess is made prior to the expiration of 60 calendar days next succeeding that date or within 30 days after a late notice of farm marketing quota and farm marketing excess is mailed as provided in § 730.761 or unless prior to the institution of court proceedings to collect the penalty with respect to the farm it is determined that there was no farm marketing excess for the farm, the farm marketing excess for any farm in the county as determined on the basis of the normal production of the excess rice acreage for the farm shall be final as to the producers on the farm. The county office shall keep a record of each application so made and the date thereof. The county committee shall establish a time and a place at which each application will be considered and shall notify the applicant of the time and place of the hearing. Insofar as practicable, applications shall be considered in the order in which made.

The dates on which the harvesting of rice is normally substantially completed in rice-producing counties as determined by the several State committees are as follows:

(b) Procedure in connection with an application for an adjustment in the farm marketing excess. (1) The county committee shall consider each application on the basis of facts known by or made available to it and on the basis of such evidence as may be presented to it by the applicant. The actual production on any farm shall be determined in view of the relevant facts, including the past production on the farm; the actual yields during the same year of other farms in the community; the actual and normal yields of other farms in the community which are similar with regard to farming practices followed, type of soil, and productivity; the harvesting, processing, and sales of the commodity produced on the farm; farming practices followed on the farm; and weather and other factors affecting the production of rice on the farm and in the locality in which the farm is situated. In the consideration of any application for an adjustment in the farm marketing excess, the producer shall have the burden of proof. The evidence presented by the applicant may be in the form of written statements or other documentary evidence, or of oral testimony in a hearing before the county committee during its consideration of the application. In order to expedite the consideration of applications, the county committee shall receive, in advance of the time fixed for consideration of the application, any written statement or documentary evidence offered by or on behalf of the applicant, and the application may be disposed of upon the basis of such statement or evidence, together with other information bearing on or establishing the facts which is available to the county committee, unless the applicant appears before the county committee at the time fixed for considering the application and requests a hearing for the purpose of offering documentary evidence or oral testimony in support of the application. Every such hearing shall be open to the public. The county committee shall make its determination in connection with each application not later than five calendar days next succeeding the day on which the consideration was concluded. The determination of the county committee shall be in writing and shall contain (i) a concise statement of the grounds upon which the applicant sought an adjustment in the amount of the farm marketing excess, (ii) a concise statement of the findings of the county committee as to the farm marketing quota and the farm marketing excess. A revised notice on Form MQ–93—Rice (1956) with a copy of the determination made as aforesaid shall be mailed to the operator of the farm and also to the applicant if he is not such operator, and to all other interested producers.

(2) The county committee determinations made in connection with application for adjustment in the farm marketing excess shall be subject to examination and revision by or on behalf of the State committee.

§ 730.763 Publication of the farm acreage allotments, marketing quotas, and marketing excess. A record of the farm acreage allotments, farm marketing quotas, and farm marketing excesses established for farms in the county shall be made and kept freely available for public inspection in the ASC county office.

§ 730.764 Marketing quotas not transferable. A farm marketing quota established for a farm may not be assigned or otherwise transferred in whole or in part to any other farm.

§ 730.765 Successors in interest. Any person who succeeds to the interest of a producer in a farm or in a rice crop produced on a farm for which a farm marketing quota and farm marketing excess were established shall, to the same extent as his predecessor, be entitled to all the rights and privileges incident to such marketing quota and marketing excess and be subject to the restrictions on the marketing of rice. However, no suit to collect an unpaid marketing quota penalty incurred by a producer by marketing excess rice prior to his death shall be brought against any successor to the deceased producer. If a successor in interest shall acquire from a deceased producer rice subject to lien for the penalty, no marketing card or marketing certificate shall be issued to permit the successor in interest to market the rice penalty free until the penalty has been satisfied.

§ 730.766 Review of quotas—(a) Right to review by review committee. Any producer who is dissatisfied with the farm acreage allotment, normal yield, farm marketing quota, farm marketing excess, or other determination for his farm in connection with marketing quotas may, within 15 calendar days after the notice thereof was mailed to him, apply in writing for a review by a review committee of such acreage allotment, normal yield, farm marketing quota, farm marketing excess or other determination in connection therewith: Provided, That if a review hearing has been held and determination made by a review committee with respect to the acreage allotment, normal yield, farm marketing quota, farm marketing excess, or other determination in connection therewith, no application by a producer for further review by a review committee with respect to such determination may be filed. Unless application for review is made within such period, the acreage allotment, normal yield, farm marketing quota, farm marketing excess, or other determination, as the case may be, shall be final as to the producers on the farm. Application for review and the review committee proceedings shall be in accordance with the review regulations (Form MQ–51) as issued by the Secretary (Part 711 of this chapter).

(b) Action by county committee prior to review hearing. If a producer has applied for review, the county committee should reconsider the case. In its consideration, the committee may hear the producer and other persons who have knowledge of the matters involved either informally or at a scheduled hearing. If the county committee determines that the producer is entitled in whole or in part to the relief sought in the review procedure, it shall notify the clerk of the review committee in writing of the nature of the relief which the county committee has determined can be granted. The clerk of the review committee shall promptly notify the producer in writing of the relief which the county committee has determined can be granted and that if he will withdraw his application for review in writing within 15 days of the mailing of the notice, the county committee will then grant the relief indicated and will so inform him by issuing and mailing a revised MQ–93—Rice. If the producer withdraws the application for review in accordance with the foregoing provisions, the county committee shall promptly issue and mail the properly revised form MQ–93—Rice. If the county committee determines that no relief can be granted the producer or if the producer fails to withdraw his application for review, in cases where the county committee indicates relief can be granted, the review hearing shall be scheduled in the usual manner.

(c) Court review. If the producer is dissatisfied with the determination of the review committee he may, within 15 days after notice of such determination is mailed to him by registered mail, institute proceedings against the review committee to have the determination of the review committee reviewed by a court in accordance with section 365 of the act.

MARKETING CARDS AND MARKETING CERTIFICATES

§ 730.767 Issuance of marketing cards—(a) Producers eligible to receive marketing cards. The operator and all other producers on a farm shall be eligible to receive a marketing card (MQ–76—Rice (1956)) if (1) no farm marketing excess is determined for the farm, (2) an amount equal to the penalty on the farm marketing excess has been received from the producer or any buyer as provided in § 730.779 or § 730.780, (3) the farm marketing excess is stored, as provided in § 730.784, or (4) the amount of the farm marketing excess has been delivered to the Secretary, as provided in § 730.785. Each marketing card shall be serially numbered and shall show the names of the State and county code number thereof and the serial number of the farm, the signature of the county office manager or his designee, the name and address of the producer to whom issued, and the counter-signature of the producer to whom the card is issued, or his duly authorized agent, or a statement by the county office manager or his designee giving an explanation of the reason for which the counter-signature cannot be made. The producers on a farm shall be ineligible to receive marketing cards if any producer on the farm owes any penalty on 1955 excess rice or if determination of the 1956 rice acreage is prevented by any producer on the farm.

(b) Multiple farm producers eligible to receive marketing cards. Any producer who is a rice producer on more than one farm in a county shall not be eligible to receive a marketing card for any such farm in the county until, in accordance with the provisions of paragraph (a) of this section, he is eligible to receive a marketing card for each of such farms. However, only one rice marketing card need be issued to a producer who has an interest in the rice crop on more than one farm in the county, provided (1) the farm serial numbers of all such farms are entered on the marketing card, (2) the producer is eligible to receive a marketing card on each farm in the county in which he has an interest in the rice crop, and (3) the producer's liability has not been reduced to a proportionate share on any such farm. The other producers on a farm for which the multiple farm producer would otherwise be eligible to receive a marketing card shall receive marketing cards with respect to the farm notwithstanding the ineligibility of the multiple farm producer. Where a producer is engaged in the production of rice in more than one (county) (in the same State or in two or more States), the regulations outlined in this section for issuing marketing cards for multiple farms in a county may be followed with respect to all such farms, wherever situated, if the county committees of the respective counties, or the State committee, determines that the procedure would be necessary to enforce the provisions of the act. The State committee may require any multiple farm producer to file with it a list of all farms on which he is engaged in the production of rice, together with any other information deemed necessary to enforce the act.

(c) Use of marketing cards. The serial number of the farm or farms for which a marketing card is issued shall be entered on the marketing card. A marketing card shall not be used to identify rice produced on any farm the serial number of which is not entered on the card. A marketing card shall not be used to market any rice which was not produced on a farm the serial number of which appears on the marketing card.

§ 730.768 Issuance of marketing certificates. The county office manager or his designee, shall upon request, issue a marketing certificate Form MQ–94—Rice, to any producer (a) who is eligible to receive a marketing card and who desires to market rice by telegraph, telephone, mail, or by any means or method other than directly to and in the presence of the buyer or transferee, (b) whose liability has been reduced to a proportionate share of the entire penalty and such liability discharged in accordance with the provisions of § 730.779 (c), or (c) who is ineligible to receive a marketing card solely because of penalties owed for 1955 excess rice. Each marketing certificate shall show (1) the name and address of the producer to whom issued, (2) the names of the State and county code number thereof and the serial number of the farm, (3) the serial number of the marketing card assigned to the producer for the farm, (4) the signature of the county office manager or his designee, (5) the name of the buyer or transferee, (6) the number of pounds of rice involved in the transaction, and (7) the signature of the producer. The original of the marketing certificate shall be issued to the producer for delivery to the buyer or transferee and the duplicate copy shall be retained in the ASC county office. A marketing certificate shall not be used to identify rice produced on any farm the serial number of which is not entered on the certificate.

§ 730.769 Lost, destroyed, or stolen marketing cards or marketing certificates—(a) Report of loss, destruction, or theft. In case a marketing card or marketing certificate delivered to a producer is lost, destroyed, or stolen, any person having knowledge thereof shall, insofar as he is able immediately notify the ASC county office of the following: (1) The name of the operator of the farm for which such marketing card or marketing certificate was issued; (2) the name of the producer to whom the marketing card or marketing certificate was issued, if someone other than the operator; (3) the serial number of the marketing card or marketing certificate; and (4) whether in his knowledge or judgment it was lost, destroyed, or stolen and by whom.

(b) Investigation and findings of county committee. The county committee shall make or cause to be made a thorough investigation of the circumstances of such loss, destruction, or theft. If the county committee finds, on the basis of its investigation, that such marketing card or marketing certificate was in fact lost, destroyed, or stolen, it shall cause to be cancelled such marketing card or marketing certificate and instruct the county office manager to give notice to the producer to whom the marketing card or marketing certificate was issued that it is void and of no effect. The notice to that effect shall be in writing, addressed to the producer at his last known address, and deposited in the United States mails. If the county committee also finds that there has been no collusion in connection therewith on the part of the producer to or for whom the marketing card or marketing certificate was issued, it shall cause to be issued to or for him a marketing card or marketing certificate to replace the lost, destroyed, or stolen marketing card or marketing certificate. Each marketing card or marketing certificate issued under this section shall bear across its face in bold letters the word "Duplicate". In case a marketing card or marketing certificate is cancelled, as provided in this section, the county office manager or his designee shall immediately notify the buyers, mill operators, or warehousemen who serve the county, or in the immediate vicinity, that the marketing card or marketing certificate is cancelled and of the issuance of any duplicate. Any person coming into possession of a cancelled marketing card or marketing certificate shall immediately return it to the ASC county office from which it was issued.

§ 730.770 Cancellation of marketing cards and marketing certificates issued in error. Any marketing card or marketing certificate erroneously issued shall, immediately upon discovery of the error, be cancelled by the county office manager. The producer to whom such marketing card or marketing certificate was issued shall be notified in the manner prescribed in § 730.769 (b) that the marketing card or marketing certificate is void and of no effect and that it shall be returned to the ASC county office. Upon the return of such marketing card or marketing certificate, the county office manager shall cause to be endorsed thereon the notation "Cancelled." In the event that such marketing card or marketing certificate is not returned immediately, the county office manager shall immediately notify the mill operators, warehousemen, and buyers who serve the county, or in the immediate vicinity, that the marketing card or marketing certificate is cancelled. A copy of each notice provided for in this section, containing a notation thereon of the date of mailing, shall be kept among the records of the ASC county office.

IDENTIFICATION OF RICE

§ 730.771 Time and manner of identification. Each producer of rice and each intermediate buyer shall, at the time he markets any rice, identify the rice to the buyer or transferee, in the manner hereinafter provided as being subject to or not subject to the penalty and the lien for the penalty.

§ 730.772 Identification by marketing card. A marketing card (MQ–76—Rice (1956)) shall, when presented to the buyer by the producer to whom it was issued, be evidence to the buyer that the rice for which the marketing card was issued may be purchased without the payment of any penalty by him and that such rice is not subject to the lien for the penalty.

§ 730.773 Identification by marketing certificate. A Marketing certificate (MQ–94—Rice) properly executed by the county office manager or his designee and the producer to whom it is issued, shall, when delivered to the buyer by the producer be evidence that the amount of rice shown thereon may be purchased without the payment of any penalty by him and that such rice is not subject to the lien for penalty.

§ 730.774 Identification by intermediate buyer's record and report. The original and copy of an intermediate buyer's record and report (MQ–95—Rice (1956)), properly executed by the first intermediate buyer and the producer of the rice and any subsequent buyer in the manner outlined in §§ 730.788 (d) and 730.789 shall be evidence to any buyer that the rice covered thereby is not subject to the lien for penalty and may be purchased by him without payment of any penalty in the event either (a) the MQ–95—Rice (1956) shows the serial number of the marketing card or marketing certificate by which the rice was identified and the signatures of the producer and intermediate buyer, or (b) the original MQ–95—Rice (1956) bears the endorsement "Penalty satisfied" and the signature and title of the treasurer of a county committee and the date thereof.

§ 730.775 Rice identified as subject to the penalty and lien for the penalty. All rice marketed by a producer or by an intermediate buyer which is not identified in the manner prescribed in § 730.772, § 730.773 or § 730.774 shall be taken by the buyer thereof as rice subject to penalty and the lien for the penalty and the buyer of such rice shall pay the penalty thereon at the rate prescribed in § 730.776.

PENALTY

§ 730.776 Rate of penalty. The rate of penalty shall be 50 percent of the parity price per pound of rice as of June 15, 1956. The rate of penalty in cents per pound will be published by amendment as soon as it can be determined.

§ 730.777 Lien for penalty. The entire amount of rice produced in 1956 on any farm for which a farm marketing excess is determined shall be subject to a lien in favor of the United States for the amount of the penalty until the producers on the farm, in accordance with §§ 730.784, 730.785, 730.779, or 730.780, store the farm marketing excess or deliver it to the Secretary or until the amount of the penalty is paid.

§ 730.778 Interest on unremitted penalty. The person liable for the payment or collection of the penalty shall be liable also for interest on the amount of penalty which is not remitted in accordance with § 730.779 (b) or § 730.780 (c), as the case may be, at the rate of 6 percent per annum from the final date for remitting the penalty until the date such penalty is remitted. The computation of interest on any penalty due shall be made beginning with the day following the final date for remitting the penalty.

§730.779 Payment of penalties by producers—(a) Producers liable for payment of penalties. Each producer having an interest in the rice produced in 1956 on any farm for which a farm marketing excess is determined shall be liable to pay the amount of the penalty on the farm marketing excess as provided in this section. The amount of the penalty which any producer shall pay shall nevertheless be reduced by the amount of the penalty which is paid by another producer or a buyer of rice produced on the farm.

(b) Time when penalties become due. The amount of the penalty on the farm marketing excess for any farm shall be remitted not later than 60 calendar days after the date on which the harvesting of rice is normally substantially completed in the county in which the farm is situated, as determined by the State committee or within 30 days after a late notice of farm marketing quota and farm marketing excess is mailed as provided for in § 730.762 (a): Provided, however, That the penalty on that amount of the farm marketing excess delivered to the Secretary pursuant to § 730.785 shall not be remitted: And provided further, That the penalty on that amount of the farm marketing excess which is stored pursuant to § 730.784 shall not be remitted until the time, and to the extent, of any depletion in the amount of rice so stored not authorized as provided in § 730.784 (g).

(c) Apportionment of the penalty. The county committee may, upon application of any producer made prior to the expiration of the time allowed for the remittance of the penalty on the farm marketing excess, determine his proportionate share of the penalty on the farm marketing excess if, pursuant to the application, the producer establishes the facts that he is unable to arrange with the other producers on the farm for the payment of the penalty on the entire farm marketing excess or for the disposition of the farm marketing excess in accordance with § 730.784 or § 730.785, that his share of the rice crop produced on the farm is marketed or disposed of by him separately, and that he exercises no control over the marketing or disposition of the shares of the other producers in the rice crop. The producer's proportionate share of the penalty on the farm marketing excess shall be that proportion of the entire penalty on the farm marketing excess which his share in the rice produced in 1956 on the farm bears to the total amount of rice produced in 1956 on the farm. When the producer pays his proportionate share of the penalty, or, in accordance with § 730.784 or § 730.785 stores or delivers to the Secretary the number of pounds required to postpone or avoid the payment of the penalty on his proportionate share, he shall not be liable for the remainder of the penalty on the farm marketing excess and he shall be entitled to receive marketing certificates issued in accordance with § 730.768 to be used by him only in the marketing of his proportionate share of the rice crop produced in 1956 on the farm.

§ 730.780 Payment of penalties by buyer—(a) Buyers liable for payment of penalties. Each person within the United States who buys from the producer any rice subject to the lien for the penalty shall be liable for and shall pay the penalty thereon. Rice shall be taken as subject to the lien for the penalty unless the producer presents to the buyer a marketing card (MQ–76—Rice (1956)) or a marketing certificate (MQ–94—Rice) as prescribed in §§ 730.772 and 730.773.

(b) Payment of penalties on account of the lien for the penalty. Each person within the United States who buys rice which is subject to the lien for the penalty shall pay the amount of the penalty on each pound thereof in satisfaction of the lien thereon. Rice purchased from any intermediate buyer shall be taken as subject to the lien for the penalty unless, at the time of sale, the intermediate buyer delivers to the purchaser the original and a copy of an intermediate buyer's record and report, MQ–95—Rice (1956), properly executed by the producer of the rice and the first intermediate buyer, which show (1) the serial number of marketing card or marketing certificate by which the rice covered thereby was identified when marketed, or (2) on the reverse side the statement "Penalty satisfied" and the signature and title of the treasurer of a county committee and the date thereof.

(c) Time when penalties become due. The penalty to be paid by any buyer pursuant to paragraph (a) or (b) of this section shall be due at the time the rice is purchased and shall be remitted not later than 15 calendar days thereafter.

(d) Manner of deducting penalties and issuance of receipts. The buyer may deduct from the price paid for any rice an amount equivalent to the amount of the penalty to be paid by the buyer pursuant to paragraph (a) or (b) of this section. Any buyer who deducts an amount equivalent to the penalty shall issue to the person from whom the rice was purchased a receipt for the amount so deducted which shall be, in the case of rice purchased from the producer by an intermediate buyer, on MQ–95—Rice (1956), and, in all other cases, on MQ–81—Rice (1956).

§ 730.781 Remittance of penalties to the treasurer of the county committee. The treasurer of any county committee, for and on behalf of the Secretary, shall receive the penalty. The penalty shall be remitted only in legal tender, or by check, draft, or money order drawn payable to the order of the Treasurer of the United States. All checks, drafts, and money orders tendered in payment of the penalty shall be received by the treasurer of the county committee subject to collection and payment at par. If the penalty is remitted by an intermediate buyer, the treasurer of the county committee shall show that the penalty is paid by entering on the reverse side of the original and first copy of the intermediate buyer's record and report, MQ–95—Rice (1956), the statement "Penalty satisfied" and his signature and title and the date thereof.

§ 730.782 Deposit of funds. All funds received by the treasurer of the county committee in connection with penalties for rice shall be scheduled and transmitted by him on the day received or not later than the next succeeding business day, to the State committee, which shall cause such funds to be deposited to the credit of a special deposit account with the Treasurer of the United States in the name of the Chief Disbursing Officer of the Treasury Department (referred to in this subpart as "special deposit account") to be held in escrow. In the event the funds so received are in the form of cash, the treasurer of the county committee shall deposit such funds in the ASC county committee bank account and issue a check in the amount thereof, payable to the order of the Treasurer of the United States. The treasurer of the county committee shall make and keep a record of each amount received by him, showing the name of the person who remitted the funds, the identification of the farm or farms in connection with which the funds were received, and the name of the person who marketed the rice in connection with which the funds were remitted.

§ 730.783 Refunds of money in excess of the penalty—(a) Determination of refunds. The county committee and the treasurer of the county committee upon their own motion or upon the request of any interested person shall review the amount of money received in connection with the penalty for any farm to determine for each producer the amount thereof, if any, which is in excess of the security required for stored excess rice or the penalty due. Any excess amount shall be refunded. Any refund shall be made only to persons who bore the burden of the payment and who have not been reimbursed therefor. The excess amount shall first be applied, insofar as the sum will permit, so as to make refunds to eligible persons other than producers and the reminder, if any, shall be applied so as to make refunds to the eligible producers. The amount to be refunded to each producer shall be either (1) the amount determined by apportioning the excess amount among the producers on the farm in the proportion that each contributed toward the payment, avoidance, or security of the penalty on the farm marketing excess or (2) the amount which is in excess of the security required for stored excess rice and the penalty due on that portion of the farm marketing excess for which the producer is separately liable. No refund shall be made to any buyer or transferee of any amount which he collected from the producer or another, deducted from the price or consideration paid for the rice or for which he was liable.

(b) Certification of refunds. The county office manager or the treasurer of the county committee shall notify the State committee of the amount which the county committee and its treasurer determine may be refunded to each person with respect to the farm, and the State committee shall cause to be certified to the Chief Disbursing Officer of the Treasury Department for payment such amounts as are approved by it. No refund of money shall be certified under this section unless the money has been remitted to the treasurer of the county committee and transmitted by him to the State committee.

§ 730.784 Stored farm marketing excess—(a) Amount of rice to be stored. The number of pounds of rice in connection with any farm which may be stored in order to postpone the payment of the penalty or with a view to avoiding such penalty shall be that portion of the farm marketing excess which has not been delivered to the Secretary or on which the penalty has not been paid. The amount of the farm marketing excess for the purpose of storage shall be the amount of the farm marketing excess as determined at the time of storage under § 730.759 or § 730.762, whichever is applicable.

(b) Stored excess rice. Stored excess rice shall be kept in a place adapted to the storage of rice. The rice so stored on the farm shall be subject to the condition that it may be inspected at any time by officers or employees of the United States Department of Agriculture or members, officers, or employees of the State or county committees. The rice stored shall be of the current crop and of a representative quality of all the rice produced on the farm; in the case of farm storage, excess rice of one crop shall not be replaced by rice of another crop.

(c) Deposit of warehouse receipts in escrow. The storage of rice in a warehouse in order to postpone the payment of the penalty or with a view to avoiding such penalty shall be effective when a warehouse receipt covering the amount of rice so stored is deposited with the treasurer of the county committee to be held in escrow. The warehouse receipt shall be a negotiable receipt or a non-negotiable receipt as to which the warehouseman is notified in writing by the owner of such receipt and the treasurer of the county committee that it is being so deposited in escrow and that delivery of the rice covered thereby is to be made under the terms of its deposit in escrow while such receipt remains so deposited. Any warehouse receipt so deposited shall be accepted only upon the condition that the producers by or for whom the rice is stored shall be and shall remain liable for all charges incident to the storage of the rice and that the county committee and the United States in no way be responsible for or pay any such charges. Whenever the penalty with respect to rice covered by warehouse receipt is paid or satisfied from any cause, the warehouse receipt shall be returned to the person who deposited it.

(d) Bond of indemnity. Farm storage of excess rice in order to postpone the payment of the penalty or with a view to avoiding such penalty shall also be effective when a good and sufficient bond of indemnity on a form prescribed for this purpose is executed and filed with the treasurer of the county committee in an amount not less than the amount of the penalty on that portion of the farm marketing excess so stored. Each bond given pursuant to this paragraph shall be executed as principal by the producer storing the rice and either (1) as sureties by two persons who are not producers on the farm each owning real property with an unencumbered value of double the principal sum of the bond, or (2) as surety by a corporate surety authorized to do business in the State in which the farm is situated and listed by the Secretary of the Treasury of the United States as an acceptable surety on bonds in favor of the United States. Each bond of indemnity shall be subject to the conditions that the penalty on the amount of rice stored shall be paid at the time, and to the extent, of any depletion of the amount stored which is not authorized under paragraph (g) of this section and that if at any time any producer on the farm prevents the inspection of any rice so stored the penalty on the entire amount stored shall be paid forthwith. Whenever the penalties secured by the bond of indemnity are paid or reduced from any cause, the treasurer of the county committee shall furnish the principal and the sureties with a written statement to that effect. A bond shall not otherwise be cancelled or released. The bond of indemnity provided for in this paragraph may be waived by the county committee, with the approval of the State committee, if the excess rice was produced by a State or State institution or other agency of a State or Federal agency: Provided, That as a condition of the waiver of the bond of indemnity the head of the State institution or other State agency or Federal agency shall agree in writing to comply with all other provisions of the regulations in §§ 730.750 to 730.799 with respect to the stored farm marketing excess.

(e) Deposit of funds in escrow. Farm storage of rice in order to postpone the payment of the penalty or with a view to avoiding such penalty shall also be effective when an amount of money not less than the penalty on that portion of the farm marketing excess so stored is deposited with the Treasurer of the United States to be held in escrow to secure the payment of such penalty. Such funds shall be received subject to collection and payment at par. Funds in escrow shall be subject to the condition that the penalty on the amount of rice stored shall be paid at the time, and to the extent, of any depletion of the amount stored which is not authorized under paragraph (g) of this section and that if at any time any producer on the farm prevents inspection of any rice so stored, the penalty on the entire amount stored shall be paid forthwith.

(f) Time of storage. Storage of rice in connection with any farm in order to postpone the payment of the penalty or with a view to avoiding such penalty shall not be effective unless the provisions of paragraphs (a) and (b), and (c), (d), or (e) of this section are complied with prior to the expiration of the period allowed, in accordance with § 730.779 (b), for the remittance of the penalty with respect to the farm marketing excess for the farm.

(g) Depletion of stored excess rice. The penalty on the amount of excess rice stored shall be paid by the producers on the farm at the time and to the extent of any depletion in the amount of rice stored except as provided in paragraphs (h) and (i) of this section and except to the extent of the following: (1) The amount by which the stored excess rice exceeds the farm marketing excess for the farm as determined in accordance with § 730.759 or § 730.762, (2) the amount by which the stored excess rice exceeds the amount of the farm marketing excess as determined by a review committee or as a result of a court review of the review committee, (3) the amount of any rice destroyed by fire, weather conditions, theft, or any other cause beyond the control of the producer, provided the producer shows beyond a reasonable doubt that the depletion resulted from such cause and not from his negligence nor from any affirmative act done or caused to be done by him, and (4) the amount of any rice delivered to the Secretary under the provisions of § 730.785.

(h) Underplanting the farm acreage allotment for a subsequent crop. Whenever the rice acreage on any farm for the 1957 or subsequent crop of rice is less than the farm acreage allotment therefor, the producers on the farm who stored excess rice in accordance with the foregoing provisions of this section shall, upon application made by them to the county committee, be entitled to remove from storage without penalty any rice so stored by them, whether produced in a prior year on the farm or another farm, to the extent of the number of acres by which the acreage planted to rice is less than the farm acreage allotment. The amount of rice which would otherwise be authorized to be removed from storage in connection with the farm under this paragraph shall be reduced to the extent that stored excess rice from any other crop is authorized to be removed from storage in connection with the farm. The amount of rice authorized to be removed from storage shall be apportioned among the several producers on the farm who have stored excess rice to the extent of their need therefor in accordance with their shares in the acreage which was or could have been planted to rice or in accordance with their agreement as to the apportionment to be made. A producer shall not be entitled to remove rice from storage under this paragraph in connection with any farm unless, at the time the determination is made under this paragraph, the rice is stored and owned by the producer and, at the end of the rice seeding season for the crop for the area in which the farm is situated, the producer is entitled to share in the rice crop which was or could have been planted on the farm. The acreage planted to rice for the purpose of this paragraph shall be the rice acreage on the farm.

(i) Producing a subsequent crop which is less than the normal production of the farm acreage allotment. Whenever in 1957 or any subsequent year the rice acreage does not exceed the farm acreage allotment and the actual production of rice on the farm is less than the normal production of the farm acreage allotment therefor, the producers on the farm who stored excess rice in accordance with the foregoing provisions of this section shall, upon application made by them to the ASC county office, be entitled to remove from storage, without penalty, any rice so stored by them, whether produced in the prior year on the farm or another farm, to the extent of the amount by which the normal production of the farm acreage allotment, less the normal production of the underplanted acreage for the farm which was or could have been determined under paragraph (h) of this section, exceeds the amount of rice produced on the farm in that year. The amount of rice which would otherwise be authorized to be removed from storage in connection with the farm under this paragraph shall be reduced to the extent that stored excess rice from any other crop is authorized to be removed from storage in connection with the farm. The amount of rice which is authorized to be removed from storage shall be apportioned among the several producers on the farm who have stored excess rice to the extent of their need therefor in accordance with their proportionate shares in the rice crop planted on the farm or in accordance with their agreement as to the apportionment to be made. The determination of the amount of rice produced on the farm shall be made in accordance with the marketing quota regulations applicable to the crop. A producer shall not be entitled to remove rice from storage under this paragraph for any farm unless, at the time the determination is made under this paragraph, the rice is stored and owned by the producer and, at the time of harvest, the producer is entitled to a share in the rice crop planted on the farm.

§ 730.785 Delivery of the farm marketing excess to the Secretary—(a) Amount of the rice to be delivered. The amount of rice delivered to the Secretary in order to avoid the payment of the penalty in connection with any farm shall not exceed the amount of the farm marketing excess as determined at the time of delivery, in accordance with § 730.759 or § 730.762, whichever is applicable.

(b) Conditions and methods of delivery. For and on behalf of the Secretary, the treasurer of the county committee for the county in which the farm for which the marketing excess is determined is situated shall accept the delivery of any rice tendered to avoid the payment of the penalty. The delivery of the rice for this purpose shall be effective only when the producers having an interest in the rice to be so delivered convey to the Secretary all right, title, and interest in and to the rice by executing a form provided for this purpose and (1) deliver the rice to a warehouse and tender to the treasurer of the county committee the warehouse receipts for the amount of the rice, or (2) where the producer shows to the satisfaction of the county office manager that it is impracticable to deliver the rice to a warehouse and receive a warehouse receipt therefor, deliver the rice at a point within the county or nearby and within such time or times as may be designated by the county office manager. None of the rice so delivered shall be returned to the producer. Insofar as practicable, the rice so delivered shall be delivered to the Commodity Credit Corporation of the United States Department of Agriculture, and any rice which it is impracticable to deliver to such Corporation shall be distributed to such one or more of the following classes of agencies or organizations as the State committee selects, which delivery the Secretary hereby determines will divert it from the normal channels of trade and commerce: Any Federal relief organization, the American Red Cross, State or county or municipal relief organization, Federal or State wildlife refuge project or any voluntary relief organization registered with the Advisory Committee on Voluntary Foreign Aid of the International Cooperation Administration for shipment for relief overseas.

(c) Time of delivery. Excess rice may be delivered to the Secretary at any time within 60 calendar days after the date on which the harvesting of rice is normally substantially completed in the county as determined by the State Committee in accordance with § 730.762 (a) or within 30 days after a late notice of farm marketing quota and farm marketing excess is mailed as provided for in § 730.761. Excess rice may be delivered to the Secretary after such period only if the excess rice was stored in accordance with the provisions of § 730.784 (a) through (f), and the rice has not gone out of condition through any fault of the producer.

§ 730.786 Refund of penalty erroneously, illegally, or wrongfully collected. Whenever, pursuant to a claim filed with the Secretary within two calendar years after payment to him of the penalty collected from any person, pursuant to the act, the Secretary finds that the penalty was erroneously, illegally, or wrongfully collected, and the claimant bore the burden of such penalty, he shall certify to the Secretary of the Treasury of the United States for payment to the claimant, in accordance with regulations prescribed by the Secretary of the Treasury of the United States, such amount as the claimant is entitled to receive as a refund of all or a portion of the penalty.

§ 730.787 Report of violations and court proceedings to collect penalty. It shall be the duty of the county office manager to report in writing to the State administrative officer each case of failure or refusal to pay the penalty or to remit the same as provided in §§ 730.779 through 730.781. It shall be the duty of the State administrative officer to report each such case in writing to the Office of the General Counsel of the United States Department of Agriculture with a view to the institution of proceedings by the United States Attorney for the appropriate district under the direction of the Attorney General of the United States, to collect the penalties, as provided in section 376 of the act.

RECORDS AND REPORTS

§ 730.788 Records to be kept and reports to be made by warehousemen, mill operators, or processors, and buyers other than intermediate buyers—(a) Necessity for records and reports. Each warehouseman, mill operator, or processor, and each buyer other than an intermediate buyer, who buys, acquires, or receives rice from the producer or intermediate buyer thereof shall, in conformity with section 373 (a) of the act, keep the records and make the reports prescribed by this section, which the Secretary hereby finds to be necessary to enable him to carry out with respect to rice the provisions of the act.

(b) Nature and availability of records. Each warehouseman, mill operator, or processor, and each buyer other than an intermediate buyer, shall keep, as part of or in addition to the records maintained by him in the conduct of his business, a record which shall show with respect to the rice purchased, acquired, or received by him from the producers or the intermediate buyers thereof the following information: (1) The name and address of the producer of the rice, (2) the date of the transaction, (3) the amount of the rice, (4) the serial number of the marketing card (MQ–76—Rice (1956)), or marketing certificate (MQ–94—Rice), or intermediate buyer's record and report (MQ–95—Rice (1956)), by which the rice was identified, or the report and penalty receipt (MQ–81—Rice (1956)), and (5) the amount of any lien for the penalty or of any penalty incurred in connection with the rice purchased, acquired, or received by him. The record so made and all business records of such persons required to keep such records shall be kept available for examination by the county office manager or any authorized representative of the State administrative officer or investigators and accountants (special agents) or other authorized representatives of the Director, Compliance and Investigation Division, Commodity Stabilization Service, U. S. Department of Agriculture, for two calendar years beyond the calendar year in which the marketing year ends. Such records shall include relevant books, papers, records, accounts, correspondence, contracts, documents and memoranda, but shall be examined only for the purpose of ascertaining the correctness of any report made or record kept pursuant to the regulations in this subpart, or of obtaining the information required to be furnished in any report pursuant to the regulations in this subpart but not so furnished. The county office manager shall furnish without cost blank copies of MQ–97—Rice which may be used for the purpose of keeping the record required under this section.

(c) Records and reports in connection with rice subject to penalty or the lien for the penalty. Each warehouseman, mill operator, or processor, and each buyer other than an intermediate buyer, who purchases any rice from the producer or intermediate buyer thereof which is not identified at the time the rice is purchased in the manner provided in §§ 730.772, 730.773, and 730.774, shall, with respect to each such transaction, execute the report and penalty receipt on MQ–81—Rice, (1956) and report to the treasurer of the county committee the following information: (1) The name and address of the producer or intermediate buyer from whom the rice was purchased or acquired, (2) the date of the transaction, (3) the amount of the rice, and (4) the amount of the penalty incurred in connection with the transaction, and whether an amount equivalent to the penalty was deducted from the price or consideration paid for the rice. Each record and report on MQ–81—Rice (1956) shall be executed in triplicate. The person who executes MQ–81—Rice (1956) shall retain one copy, give the original to the producer or intermediate buyer, as the case may be, which shall be the receipt to him for the amount of the penalty in connection with rice and mail or deliver the remaining copy to the treasurer of the county committee. It shall be presumed that rice was not identified by MQ–76—Rice (1956) as provided in § 730.772 or MQ–94—Rice as provided in § 730.773, or MQ–95—Rice (1956) as provided in § 730.774, if the serial number of the marketing card or marketing certificate or intermediate buyer's record and report does not appear on the records required to be kept pursuant to paragraph (b) of this section.

(d) Records and reports in connection with rice identified by intermediate buyer's records and reports. Whenever rice is identified by the intermediate buyer's record and report (MQ–95—Rice (1956)) executed in accordance with § 730.789 the warehouseman, mill operator, or processor, or the buyer other than an intermediate buyer, who purchases or acquires the rice covered thereby shall retain the first copy as a record of the transaction and forward the original to the treasurer of the county committee as a report on the transaction in every case where he purchases or acquires all or the remainder of the rice covered by the record and report. In all other cases, where the warehouseman, mill operator, or processor, or the buyer other than an intermediate buyer, purchases or acquires only a portion of the rice covered by the intermediate buyer's record and report, he shall make a record and report of the transaction by endorsing on the reverse side of both the original and first copy his name and signature, the amount of rice purchased or acquired, and the date of the transaction and return the forms so endorsed to the intermediate buyer to be delivered to the person who finally purchases or acquires the remainder of the rice.

(e) Records in connection with rice identified by marketing certificates. Whenever rice is identified by a marketing certificate (MQ–94—Rice), the warehouseman, mill operator, or processor, or the buyer other than an intermediate buyer, who purchases the rice so identified shall retain the marketing certificate as a record of the transaction.

(f) Time and place of submitting reports. Each report required by this section shall be submitted, not later than 15 calendar days next succeeding the day on which the rice was marketed to a warehouseman, mill operator, or processor, or a buyer other than an intermediate buyer, to the treasurer of the county committee for the county in which the rice was produced.

§ 730.789 Records to be kept and reports to be made by intermediate buyers—(a) Necessity for records and reports. Each intermediate buyer shall, in conformity with section 373 (a) of the act, keep the records and make the reports prescribed by this section, which the Secretary hereby finds to be necessary to enable him to carry out, with respect to rice, the provisions of the act.

(b) Form of record and report in connection with rice purchased or acquired from producers. Each intermediate buyer who purchases or acquires any rice from the producer thereof shall, with respect to each such transaction, keep a record and make a report on the intermediate buyer's record and report (MQ–95—Rice (1956)) of the following information: (1) The name and address of the producer from whom the rice was purchased or acquired, (2) the names of the county and State in which the rice was produced, (3) the date of the transaction, (4) the number of pounds of rice, and (5) the serial number of the marketing card or marketing certificate by which the producer identified the rice at the time it was marketed, or if the rice is not so identified, the amount of the penalty, and whether an amount equivalent to the penalty was collected or deducted from the price or consideration paid for the rice. The record and report shall be executed in quadruplicate and, after the entries described above are made, the intermediate buyer and producer shall certify to the correctness of the entries by signing the MQ–95—Rice (1956). One copy of the MQ–95—Rice (1956) so executed shall be retained by the producer as a record of the transaction and as a receipt for the amount equivalent to the penalty, if any, which was deducted from the price or consideration paid for the rice. One copy of MQ–95—Rice (1956) so executed shall be retained by the intermediate buyer as his record in connection with the transaction. Whenever rice is identified by a marketing certificate (MQ–94—Rice), the intermediate buyer shall attach the original of the marketing certificate to the first copy of MQ–95—Rice (1956) to be delivered to the warehouseman, mill operator, or processor, or buyer other than an intermediate buyer, who finally acquires the rice covered by MQ–95—Rice (1956) and marketing certificate (MQ–94—Rice). Whenever the intermediate buyer markets or delivers a portion of the rice covered by a single MQ–95—Rice (1956) to another and retains a portion of the rice, the intermediate buyer shall obtain from the person to whom the portion of the rice is marketed or delivered an endorsement on the reverse side of both the original and first copy of MQ–95—Rice (1956) showing the name and signature of the person, the number of pounds of rice marketed or delivered to him, and the date of the transaction.

(c) Manner of making reports. The intermediate buyer shall deliver the original and copy of the intermediate buyer's record and report MQ–95—Rice (1956) to the warehouseman, mill operator, or processor, or the buyer other than an intermediate buyer, to whom all of the remainder of the rice covered thereby is marketed. When rice is marketed or delivered by one intermediate buyer to another intermediate buyer, the original and first copy of MQ–95—Rice (1956) shall be transmitted by one intermediate buyer to another and the last intermediate buyer shall deliver them to the warehouseman, mill operator, or processor, or buyer other than an intermediate buyer. If all or the remainder of the rice is not marketed or delivered to a warehouseman, mill operator, or processor, or buyer other than an intermediate buyer, the last intermediate buyer shall within 15 days mail or deliver the original and first copy of the intermediate buyer's record and report to the treasurer of the county committee.

(d) Reports to the treasurer of the county committee. Each intermediate buyer shall, within 15 days after all Forms MQ–95—Rice (1956) contained in a book have been executed or on February 28, 1957, whichever is the earlier, mail or deliver to the treasurer of the county committee from whom the book was obtained the executed copies and unexecuted sets of Form MQ–95—Rice (1956) which were retained by him.

§ 730.790 Buyer's special reports. In the event that the county committee or State committee has reason to believe that any buyer has failed or refused to comply with this subpart, the buyer shall within 15 days after a written request therefor made by the county committee or State committee and deposited in the United States mails, registered and addressed to him at his last known address, make a report, verified as true and correct by affidavit, on MQ–97—Rice to such committee with respect to all rice purchased or acquired by him during the period of time as specified in the request. The report shall include the following information for each lot of rice purchased or acquired from the persons specified or during the period specified: (a) The name and address of the producer of the rice, (b) the date of the transaction, (c) the amount of the rice, (d) the serial number of the marketing card (MQ–76—Rice (1956)), marketing certificate (MQ–94—Rice), or intermediate buyer's record and report (MQ–95—Rice (1956)), or the report and penalty receipt (MQ–81—Rice (1956)), and (e) the amount of the lien for the penalty or the amount of penalty incurred in connection with the rice purchased or acquired.

§ 730.791 Penalty for failure or refusal to keep records and make reports. Any person required to keep the records or make the reports specified in § 730.788, § 730.789, or § 730.790 and who fails to keep any such record or make any such report or who makes any false report or keeps any false record shall, as provided in section 373 (a) of the act, be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and, upon conviction thereof, shall be subject to a fine of not more than $500 for each such offense.

§ 730.792 Records to be kept and reports to be made by producers. Each producer with respect to the 1956 rice crop shall keep the records and make the reports prescribed by this section, which the Secretary hereby finds to be necessary to enable him to carry out with respect to rice the provisions of the act. Upon written request of the county committee any producer shall, within 15 days from the date the request was mailed to him, file with the treasurer of the county committee for the county in which the farm is situated a farm operator's report on MQ–98—Rice (1956) showing for the farm the following information: (a) The total number of pounds of rice produced thereon in 1956, (b) the name and address of each buyer or transferee of any rice, (c) the amount of rice marketed to each buyer, (d) the amount equivalent to the penalty which was deducted from the price or consideration for the rice, (e) the amount of unmarketed rice of the 1956 crop on hand, and (f) rice acreage for 1956.

§ 730.793 Data to be kept confidential. Except as otherwise provided in this subpart, all data reported to or acquired by the Secretary pursuant to and in the manner provided in this subpart shall be kept confidential by all officers and employees of the United States Department of Agriculture, members of county committees, other local committees, and State committees, county agents, and officers and employees of such committees or county agent's offices, and shall not be disclosed to anyone not having an interest in or responsibility for any rice, farm, or transaction covered by the particular data, such as records, reports, forms, or other information, and only such data so reported and acquired as the Secretary deems relevant shall be disclosed by them to anyone not having such an interest or not being employed in the administration of the act and then only in a suit or administrative hearing under Title III of the act.

§ 730.794 Enforcement. It shall be the duty of the county office manager to report in writing to the State administrative officer forthwith each case of failure or refusal to make any report or keep any record as required by §§ 730.788 through 730.792 and to so report each case of making any false report or record. It shall be the duty of the State administrative officer to report each such case in writing, in quintuplicate to the Office of the General Counsel of the United States Department of Agriculture, with a view to the institution of proceedings by the United States Attorney for the appropriate district, under the direction of the Attorney General of the United States, to enforce the provisions of the act.

SPECIAL PROVISIONS AND EXEMPTIONS

§ 730.795 Farms on which the only acreage of rice is non-irrigated rice not in excess of 3 acres—(a) Conditions of exception. The farm marketing quota of rice for the 1956 crop shall not be applicable to any non-irrigated (dryland) farm on which the rice acreage for the 1956 crop is not in excess of 3 acres.

(b) Issuing marketing cards. The county office manager or his designee shall, for each farm to which the provisions of this section are applicable, issue marketing cards and marketing certificates to the producers on the farm in the manner and subject to the conditions specified in §§ 730.767 to 730.770 inclusive.

§ 730.796 Experimental rice farms—(a) Conditions of exemption. The penalty shall not apply to the marketing of any rice of the 1956 crop grown for experimental purposes only on land owned or leased by any publicly owned agricultural experiment station, and is produced at public expense by employees of the experiment station, or to rice produced for experimental purposes only by farmers pursuant to an agreement with a publicly owned experiment station whereby the experiment station bears the costs and risks incident to the production of the rice and the proceeds from the crop inure to the benefit of the experiment station: Provided, That such agreement is approved by the State committee prior to the planting of rice on the farm. The production of foundation, registered or certified seed rice will not be considered produced for experimental purposes only.

(b) Issuing marketing cards. The county office manager shall, upon the written application of a responsible executive officer of any publicly owned agricultural experiment station to which the exemption referred to in paragraph (a) of this section is applicable, issue a marketing card for the experiment station in the manner and subject to the conditions specified in §§ 730.767 to 730.770, inclusive.

§ 730.797 Wildlife refuge farms. The penalty shall not apply to the rice produced on any farm operated by any Federal or State wildlife refuge farm which is produced solely for wildlife feed and for seed for the production of wildlife feed on such wildlife refuge farm. No marketing card or marketing certificate shall be issued to any producer on any such farm except under the provisions of §§ 730.767, 730.768, and 730.795, but the exemption from penalty shall be granted by the county office manager upon the written application of the operator or responsible executive officer on any such farm stating that all the rice produced will be used solely for wildlife feed and for seed for the production of wildlife feed on such wildlife refuge farm.

§ 730.798 Erroneous notice of rice acreage allotment. In any case where through error in a county or State office the producer was officially notified in writing of a rice acreage allotment for the 1956 crop larger than the finally-approved acreage allotment and the State and county committees find that the producer acting solely on the information contained in the erroneous notice, planted an acreage to rice in excess of the finally-approved acreage allotment, the producer will not be considered to have exceeded the acreage allotment unless he planted an acreage in excess of the allotment shown on the erroneous notice. The farm marketing quota and the farm marketing excess for the farm under the foregoing circumstances will be based on the acreage allotment contained in the erroneous notice, and if the acreage planted to rice on the farm is adjusted to the allotment contained in the erroneous notice within the time limits for destruction of the excess acreage as provided in § 730.751 (u), the farm will not be considered to be overplanted. Before a producer can be said to have relied upon the erroneous notice, the circumstances must have been such that the producer had no cause to believe that the acreage allotment notice was in error; to determine this fact, the date of any corrected notice in relation to the time of planting; the size of the farm; the amount of rice customarily planted; and all other pertinent facts should be taken into consideration. If the county committee determines that the producer was justified in relying on the erroneous notice of rice acreage allotment for the farm, such determination shall be subject to review and approval by the State committee before the erroneous allotment is used by the county committee to determine the marketing quota and farm marketing excess for the farm.

§ 730.799 Redelegation of authority. Any authority delegated to the State committee by §§ 730.750 to 730.799 may be redelegated by the State committee.

Issued this 9th day of May 1956.

[SEAL] TRUE D. MORSE,
Acting Secretary of Agriculture.

TITLE 14—CIVIL AVIATION

Chapter I—Civil Aeronautics Board

Subchapter A—Civil Air Regulations

[Supps. 3, 6, 7, 14, 38]

PART 1—CERTIFICATION, IDENTIFICATION, AND MARKING OF AIRCRAFT AND RELATED PRODUCTS

PART 18—MAINTENANCE, REPAIR, AND ALTERATION OF AIRFRAMES, POWERPLANTS, PROPELLERS, AND APPLIANCES

PART 24—MECHANIC AND REPAIRMAN CERTIFICATES

PART 42—IRREGULAR AIR CARRIER AND OFF-ROUTE RULES

PART 43—GENERAL OPERATION RULES

PART 52—REPAIR STATION CERTIFICATES

ELIMINATION OF ANNUAL INSPECTION OF GENERAL AIRCRAFT

The purpose of these amendments is to implement regulations promulgated by the Civil Aeronautics Board, effective July 17, 1956, which simplify the present procedures for determining continued airworthiness of general aircraft and for returning such aircraft to service after major maintenance.

For a number of years, airworthiness determinations have been made by Civil Aeronautics Administration personnel or by designees under their supervision. The success of the designee program has provided the Administrator with definite assurance that there are in industry a sufficient number of qualified individuals of demonstrated ability who are capable of assuming responsibility for the continued airworthiness of general aircraft. The Civil Aeronautics Board has now transferred authority and responsibility for determining continued airworthiness to such individuals.

Hence, these amendments are designed to (1) establish a procedure for issuance of "inspection authorizations" for qualified certificated mechanics which will permit them to determine continued airworthiness of general aircraft and release such aircraft to service after major maintenance is accomplished, and (2) provide inspection procedures for 100-hour inspections and progressive inspections.

The Administrator will supervise continued airworthiness of general aircraft as necessary to assure compliance with the new established requirements of the Civil Air Regulations.

The proposed rules were published on October 5, 1955, in 20 F. R. 7380–7383. All interested persons have been afforded an opportunity to submit written views, data, or argument and consideration has been given all relevant data presented.

The following rules, policies, and interpretations are hereby adopted:

1. Section 1.64–1 of Part 1 is deleted.

2. Sections 1.75–1 and 1.76–1 through 1.76–4 are redesignated §§ 1.76–1 and 1.77–1 through 1.77–4 respectively; and a new § 1.75–1 is added to read as follows:

§ 1.75–1 Duration of experimental certificate (CAA policies which apply to § 1.75). (a) Experimental certificates will be issued to expire on a specific date, or will indicate a condition under which the certificate will automatically expire. The duration of the experimental certificate may vary from one flight to a limited number of operating hours, or days. In any case, the duration will not exceed one year.

(b) It is the policy of the CAA to do everything possible to encourage legitimate experimentation leading to improvement in aircraft whenever this may be done without endangering the lives of persons or property not involved in the experimentation. Since it is recognized that a certain amount of danger to the operator is inherent in all experimental flying, the certificates issued for experimental aircraft will contain specific operating conditions and limitations designed to protect the lives and property of persons not involved in the experimentation.

3. The following new sections are added to Part 18:

§ 18.12–1 Appropriately rated and certificated repair station (CAA interpretations which apply to § 18.12). An appropriately rated and certificated repair station is a repair station holding either Class Airframe or Limited Airframe ratings appropriate to the make and model of aircraft to be inspected.

§ 18.23–1 Aircraft maintenance records (CAA rules which apply to § 18.23)—(a) Periodic inspections. (1) The authorized mechanic, repair station, or aircraft manufacturer conducting a periodic inspection of an aircraft will complete the franked Form ACA–2350 entitled, "Aircraft Use and Inspection Report," in accordance with the instructions contained in appendix A,[1] and mail the form to the Aviation Safety District Office as soon as possible but not later than 48 hours following such inspection.

(2) In the event that a mechanic, repair station, or manufacturer conducting an inspection finds that an aircraft is unairworthy or does not conform with the applicable CAA aircraft specifications, airworthiness directives, or other approved data, the inspecting agency shall provide the aircraft owner or lessee with a signed and dated copy of a list of the discrepancies and forward a similar list with the Form ACA–2350 to the Aviation Safety District Office as soon as possible but not later than 48 hours following such inspection.

(b) Progressive inspections. (1) A mechanic, repair station, or manufacturer shall complete and mail the Aircraft Use and Inspection Report form to their local Aviation Safety District Office after the completion of the first complete inspection of an aircraft which is required at the commencement of a progressive inspection, as soon as possible but not later than 48 hours after such inspection. Thereafter, this form shall also be completed by the inspecting agency and submitted to the district office once each year during the month of January.

(2) When the progressive inspection system for a particular aircraft has been discontinued, the inspecting agency shall notify the local Aviation Safety District Office thereof by completing an Aircraft Use and Inspection Report form and adding the word "discontinued" (typed or written) over the box preceding "Progressive Inspection" and mailing such form to the district office as soon as possible but not later than 48 hours after the inspection is discontinued.

§ 18.30–18 Periodic and 100-hour inspections (CAA rules which apply to § 18.30 (c))—(a) General. The inspecting agency shall employ an inspection form as a checklist while performing a periodic or 100-hour inspection. Such form may be developed by the mechanic, repair station, or the manufacturer similar to the example given in appendix D,[2] or provide the scope and detail of the items of inspection set forth in subdivisions (i) through (xi) of subparagraph (1) of this paragraph.

(1) Inspection procedures. Prior to inspection, all necessary inspection plates, access doors, fairing and cowling shall be opened or removed and the aircraft and engine thoroughly cleaned to properly reveal the actual condition of the parts being inspected. Airworthiness of the aircraft shall be determined by thoroughly inspecting the pertinent items in subdivisions (i) through (xi) of this subparagraph in accordance with instructions contained in the aforementioned subdivisions, manufacturers' inspection procedures, supplemental service information, and standard inspection practices. The aircraft shall conform with CAA aircraft specifications, airworthiness directives, or other approved data before being checked as airworthy.

(i) Fuselage and hull group. The fuselage and/or hull shall be carefully inspected for general condition; fabric or skin for deterioration, distortion, other evidence of failure, and security of attachment of fittings. The various systems and components installed in this group shall be checked to assure that they are properly installed with no apparent defects and are operating satisfactorily. When applicable, the same general inspection procedures will apply to lighter-than-air craft and a determination made of the condition of the envelope, gas bags, ballast tanks, etc. Rotary-wing-type aircraft or other craft utilizing rotor drive shafts or other similar systems shall have the shafts inspected in accordance with the manufacturer's maintenance manual.

(ii) Cabin and cockpit group. The cabin and cockpit shall be checked for cleanliness and/or loose equipment which might foul the controls; seats and safety belts for condition and apparent defects; windows and windshields for deterioration or breakage; instruments for condition, mounting, marking, and, where practicable, proper operation; flight and engine controls for proper installation and operation; batteries for installation and proper charge; the various systems for installation, general condition, apparent and obvious defects and security of attachment. The above inspection procedure will also apply to the control car of lighter-than-air craft.

(iii) Engine and nacelle group. All necessary engine cowling shall be removed and a visual inspection shall be made of the entire engine section for evidence of excessive oil, fuel, or hydraulic leaks. Any and all leaks shall be traced to their origin so that they may be corrected. All studs and nuts shall be checked for tightness or obvious defects. The general internal condition of the engine shall be determined by checking cylinder compression, condition of screens and sump drain plugs for foreign material and metal particles. Cylinders with weak compression shall be removed and the internal condition and clearances checked for tolerances. The engine mount shall be inspected for cracks, tightness of mounting, and security of engine attachment to mount. The flexible vibration dampeners shall be examined to insure they are in good condition. The engine controls shall be examined for defects, proper travel, and safetying; lines for leaks; and hoses and clamps for condition and tightness. Exhaust stacks shall be checked for cracks or other defects and satisfactory attachments. Accessories shall be examined for apparent defects and security of mounting. The various systems shall be inspected for proper installation, general condition, defects, and attachment. Cowling shall be inspected for cracks or other defects. On rotary-wing-type aircraft the main rotor transmission gear box shall be inspected for obvious defects as outlined in the manufacturer's maintenance manual.

(iv) Landing gear group. The landing gear shall be examined for general condition and security of attachment of all units: Shock-absorbing devices shall be in good condition and oleo fluid level shall be proper height. All linkage, trusses, and members shall be inspected for evidence of undue or excessive wear, fatigue, distortion, and security of attachment. The retracting and locking mechanisms, when installed, shall be examined for satisfactory operation. Hydraulic lines shall be checked for leakage and electrical systems for chafing and proper operation of switches. The wheels shall be removed and examined for cracks or other defects, condition of bearings, tires for wear or cuts, and brakes for proper adjustment. If floats or skis are installed, they shall be inspected for security of attachment, general condition, and any obvious or apparent defects.

(v) Wing and center section group. The airworthiness of the wing and center section group shall be determined by thoroughly inspecting the complete assemblies for general condition, fabric or skin for deterioration, distortion, other evidence of failure, and for security of attachment. This inspection shall include the various systems installed which make up a complete wing assembly. Rotary-wing-type aircraft shall be inspected in accordance with the manufacturer's maintenance manual.

(vi) Empennage group. The complete empennage assemply shall be inspected for general condition; fabric or skin for deterioration, distortion, other evidences of failure, and for security of attachment. Components and systems which make up the complete assembly shall receive the same attention and it shall be determined that they are installed properly and operating satisfactorily. Lighter-than-air craft shall be inspected in the same manner. Helicopters shall have the tail rotors inspected in accordance with the manufacturer's maintenance manual.

(vii) Propeller group. All parts of the propeller shall be carefully examined for cracks, nicks, bends, or oil leakage, if hydraulically controlled. All bolts shall be properly torqued and safetied. The propeller anti-icing devices shall be checked for proper operation or obvious defects. The control mechanism shall operate satisfactorily, be securely mounted, and the controls shall operate through full range of travel.

(viii) Radio group. Radio and electronic equipment shall be inspected for installation and security of mounting. Wiring and conduits shall be checked for proper routing and security of mounting to prevent short-circuiting and to insure that there are no other obvious defects. Bonding and shielding will be determined to be properly installed and in good condition. All antennas shall be inspected for condition and security and, if installed, trailing antenna mechanism shall be inspected for proper operation.

(ix) Miscellaneous group. When installed, the miscellaneous items of equipment shall be inspected to determine that the component or assembly is installed in accordance with accepted standard practices, and that the items are operating satisfactorily.

(x) Operational check—preflight. Prior to releasing an aircraft as airworthy for operation the engine or engines shall be run up to determine satisfactory performance by the power output (static and idle r. p. m.), magneto drop, fuel and oil pressure, cylinder and oil temperatures in accordance with the manufacturer's recommendations.

(xi) Aircraft maintenance record entries—(a) Periodic or 100-hour inspections. Where the aircraft is found to be in an airworthy condition after a periodic or 100-hour inspection, the mechanic, repair station, or manufacturer releasing the aircraft to service shall enter the following notation, inserting the type of inspection (i. e., 100-hour or periodic) in the aircraft maintenance records over the mechanic's signature and certificate number, repair station's or manufacturer's name, signature of authorized personnel, certificate number, and include time in service, and date of inspection:

I certify that this aircraft has been inspected in accordance with a ---------- (Insert type) inspection and was determined to be in airworthy condition.

(b) Unairworthy aircraft. Where the aircraft is found unairworthy because of needed maintenance or repairs or is found not to meet the requirements of the applicable specifications, or airworthiness directives, or other approved data, such unairworthy items may be corrected by the inspecting mechanic, repair station, or manufacturer. In the event required maintenance is to be performed by a person other than the one who conducted the periodic inspection, the person making the periodic inspection shall provide the aircraft owner or lessee with a signed and dated copy of a list of the discrepancies and make the following statement in the aircraft maintenance records over the mechanic's signature and certificate number, the repair station's or manufacturer's name, signature of authorized personnel, certificate number, and include aircraft time in service and date of inspection:

I certify that this aircraft has been inspected in accordance with a periodic inspection and a list of the discrepancies and unairworthy items dated (date) has been provided for the aircraft owner or lessee.

The aircraft owner or his agent shall obtain a ferry flight authorization, in accordance with Part 1 of this subchapter, prior to ferrying an aircraft for the purpose of obtaining required maintenance or correcting discrepancies.

§ 18.30–19 Progressive inspection (CAA rules which apply to § 18.30 (c))—(a) General. The progressive inspection is designed to permit the increased utilization of an aircraft, particularly a multiengine type, by scheduling inspections through the use of a planned inspection schedule.

(b) Routine and detailed inspections. The inspection system will consist of a routine inspection which provides a visual examination or check of the aircraft and its components and systems insofar as practicable without disassembly, and a detailed inspection which will permit a thorough examination of the aircraft and its components and systems by such disassembly as necessary. Since the overhaul of a component or system includes a thorough examination, such overhaul will be considered to be a detailed inspection. The frequency and detail of both the routine and detailed inspections shall provide complete inspection of the aircraft within each 12 calendar months and be consistent with the manufacturer's recommendations, field service experience, and the type of operation in which the aircraft is engaged to insure that the aircraft and its components and systems are in an airworthy condition and conform with the applicable CAA aircraft specifications and airworthiness directives, or other approved data. Such inspections shall include, but not be limited to, the items specified in appendix D.[2]

(c) Inspection schedule. The frequency of both inspections shall be outlined in the form and manner specified in the example of progressive inspection schedule contained in appendix D [2] and shall specify the intervals when the inspection or overhauls will be performed, either in hours or days, as appropriate.

(d) Inspection procedures. A progressive inspection shall be conducted in accordance with the following procedures:

(1) The aircraft shall be inspected completely at the commencement of a progressive inspection. Thereafter, routine and detailed inspections shall be conducted at regular intervals in accordance with the inspection schedule. Normally, all inspection shall be conducted by the inspecting agency having responsibility for the progressive inspection of such aircraft. However, where an aircraft is en route when inspections become due, routine and detailed inspections may be performed by an appropriately rated and certificated mechanic, or repair station, or the manufacturer provided such inspections are conducted in accordance with the forms and procedures to be furnished by the inspecting facility which would otherwise conduct the inspection of the aircraft. Upon completion of the inspection, such inspection forms shall be returned to the inspecting agency furnishing the forms for their records. When an aircraft is no longer to be inspected in accordance with a progressive inspection, the first periodic will be due within 12 calendar months after the last complete inspection of the aircraft under the progressive. If passengers are carried for hire the 100-hour inspection will be due within 100 hours after such last complete inspection. A complete inspection of the aircraft, for the purpose of determining when the periodic and 100-hour inspections are due, will require a detailed inspection of the aircraft and all its components in accordance with the progressive inspection. For example, a routine inspection of the aircraft and a detailed inspection of several components will not be considered to be a complete inspection.

(e) Records. Upon the satisfactory completion of a routine or detailed inspection conducted in accordance with a progressive inspection system, the mechanic, repair station, or manufacturer conducting such inspection shall enter a brief description of the extent of the inspection accomplished and the following statement in the aircraft maintenance records, over the mechanic's signature and certificate number, the repair station's or manufacturer's name, signature of authorized personnel, certificate number, and include aircraft time in service, and date of inspection:

A routine inspection of ---------- (Identify whether ---------- and a detailed inspection of ---------- were performed in accordance with a progressive inspection and the aircraft is released to service. (Identify aircraft or components) (Identify components)

4. The following new sections are added to Part 24:

§ 24.43–1 Inspection authorization (CAA rules which apply to § 24.43)—(a) Qualifications. Authority to examine, inspect, and release aircraft for service in accordance with § 24.43 (a) will be granted to any certificated mechanic applying in accordance with paragraph (b) of this section who has the following additional qualifications:

(1) His airframe and powerplant ratings shall have been in effect continuously for a minimum of three years immediately preceding the date of application;

(2) He has been actively engaged in the inspection, maintenance, and repair of U. S. civil aircraft and engines for at least two years immediately preceding the date of application;

(3) He shall have a fixed base of operation at which he can be contacted in person or by telephone during a normal working week. The fixed base of operation does not necessarily have to be the location at which the applicant will exercise the inspection authority;

(4) He shall have available such equipment, facilities, and inspection data as are necessary for the competent and efficient inspection of airframes and powerplants to determine compliance with applicable Civil Air Regulations;

(5) He shall have a satisfactory record as a CAA Designated Aircraft Maintenance Inspector for at least one year immediately preceding the date of application, or

(6) He shall by examination satisfactorily demonstrate his knowledge and ability to conduct inspections in accordance with the prescribed safety standards for returning aircraft to service after major repairs and alterations performed in accordance with Part 18 of this subchapter and the inspections required by § 43.22 of this subchapter.

(b) Procedure for making application. A certificated mechanic meeting the qualification requirements of paragraph (a) (1) through (5) of this section who desires the authorization to perform the privileges of § 24.43, shall make application on Form ACA–2353, entitled, "Mechanic's Application for Inspection Authorization." [3] Applicants who only meet the requirements of paragraph (a) (1) through (4) of this section shall complete Form ACA–2353 and shall satisfactorily accomplish the examination required in paragraph (a) (6) of this section.[4] In the event an applicant fails the examination he may not apply for reexamination for 90 days.

(c) Inspection authorization. Applicants found qualified will be issued Form ACA–2354, entitled, "Inspection Authorization." This inspection authorization shall be kept readily available by the mechanic at all times when exercising the privileges of § 24.43 and shall be available for inspection by the aircraft owner, by the mechanic submitting the aircraft or the repair for approval, or by an authorized representative of the Administrator or the Civil Aeronautics Board. The holder of an inspection authorization shall not exercise the privileges of the authorization when he has changed his fixed base of operation until written notification thereof has been given to the Aviation Safety District Office in the area in which the new base is established.

(d) Duration of authorization. An inspection authorization shall expire on March 31 of each year.

(e) Procedure for renewal of authorization. The holder of an inspection Authorization, Form ACA–2354, may have the authorization extended until March 31 of the following year by:

(1) Presenting evidence, at an Aviation Safety meeting designated by the local Aviation Safety District Office during the month of March each year,[5] to show that the holder has been actively engaged in exercising the privileges of the inspection authorization during the preceding 12 months in at least one of the following capacities:

(i) Conducted at least one periodic inspection for each 90 days [6] the authorization has been in effect since issuance or last renewal, or

(ii) Inspected for return to service at least two repairs or alterations for each 90 days [6] the authorization has been in effect since issuance or last renewal, or

(iii) Supervised or conducted progressive inspections in accordance with the standards prescribed by the Administrator.

(2) Reapplying for the inspection authorization in accordance with the procedures set forth in paragraph (b) of this section.

§ 24.43–2 Prescribed standard (CAA interpretations which apply to § 24.43). The phrase "procedures and standards prescribed by the Administrator" means those procedures and standards set forth in § 18.30 of this subchapter.

5. Section 42.31–2 of Part 42 is deleted.

6. The following new section is added to Part 43:

§ 43.20–1 General (CAA policies which apply to § 43.20). (a) Primary responsibility for maintaining the aircraft in an airworthy condition is that of the aircraft owner or operator. The owner or operator must have the aircraft inspected, as required by § 43.22, and must maintain the airworthiness of the aircraft during the time between the required inspections by having any defects corrected or repaired in accordance with Part 18 of this subchapter during this interim. Various types of aircraft will require different degrees of maintenance. Factors such as kind of operation, climatic conditions, storage facilities, and age of the aircraft will influence the maintenance requirements. Experience has indicated that most aircraft will require some type of preventive maintenance every 25 hours or less, and minor maintenance at least every 100 hours. The owner or operator must also make sure that maintenance personnel have made appropriate entries in the aircraft and maintenance records to indicate that the aircraft has been released to service.

(b) The pilot, however, must assume responsibility for determining that an aircraft is in condition for safe flight or discontinuing the flight when unairworthy mechanical or structural conditions occur. In this connection, the pilot is expected to make a preflight inspection. The preflight inspection should include, but not be limited to, a visual inspection of the aircraft and its components for general condition and state of repair, a functional check of controls, powerplants, instruments, and a determination that sufficient fuel and oil are aboard for the proposed flight.

7. The following sections of Part 43 are revised to read:

§ 43.22–1 Inspections (CAA interpretations which apply to § 43.22)—(a) General. (1) An aircraft issued an airworthiness certificate containing an expiration date is permitted to operate in accordance with the provisions of § 43.22 prior to its revision, effective July 17, 1956. Upon expiration of such certificate the owner or lessee may apply for an airworthiness certificate of indefinite duration in accordance with Part 1 of this subchapter.

(2) The owner or lessee may at his option exchange an unexpired airworthiness certificate for an airworthiness certificate of indefinite duration by contacting a representative of the Administrator authorized to issue such certificates. Subsequent to exchanging the airworthiness certificate, the first periodic inspection would be required within 12 calendar months after the last annual inspection.

(3) In the event the owner or lessee elects to use the progressive inspection, an unexpired airworthiness certificate must be exchanged for a certificate of indefinite duration prior to commencing such inspection.

(b) Periodic and 100-hour inspections. Since the 100-hour and periodic inspections are defined as complete inspections of an aircraft, the periodic inspection will be accepted as a 100-hour inspection, also the 100-hour inspection will be accepted as a periodic when performed and approved for return to service by a person specified in § 18.12 of this subchapter.

§ 43.22–2 Progressive inspections (CAA rules which apply to § 43.22 (b)). (a) If a registered aircraft owner or lessee elects to use the progressive inspection he shall provide the following inspection personnel, inspection procedures manual, facilities, and technical information; and submit a statement to this effect to the local Aviation Safety District Office (see appendix A [1] for example) prior to using such inspection:

(1) The services of an authorized mechanic, an airframe repair station, or the manufacturer of the aircraft to supervise or conduct the progressive inspection.

(2) An inspection procedures manual which must be maintained in a current condition at all times. It shall be available to and in a form that is readily understood by pilot and maintenance personnel. It shall contain the following information in detail:

(i) An explanation of the progressive inspection outlining continuity of inspection responsibility including responsibility for submission of reports and maintenance of records and technical reference material.

(ii) An inspection schedule including instructions for exceeding an interval by not more than 10 hours while en route and for amending any interval on the basis of service experience.

(iii) Sample routine and detailed inspection forms, including instructions for their use.

(iv) Sample reports and records and instructions for their use.

(3) Sufficient housing and equipment for the necessary disassembly and proper inspection of the aircraft undergoing progressive inspection.

(4) Appropriate and current technical information for the aircraft undergoing progressive inspection shall be available to inspection personnel.

(b) Upon discontinuance of a progressive inspection the registered owner or lessee shall submit immediately to the local Aviation Safety District Office a written statement to this effect (see appendix A [1] for example).

§ 43.23–1 Aircraft and engine maintenance records (CAA rules which apply to § 43.23). The maintenance records prescribed in § 43.23 shall provide a

(a) Maintenance. The record of maintenance shall include the type and extent of maintenance, alterations, repair, overhaul, or inspection and reflect the time in service and date when completed.

(e) Record of major repairs and major alterations. Reference to repair and alteration Form ACA–337 by date or work order by number and approving agency is sufficient.

8. The following new section is added to Part 43:

§ 43.23–2 Maintenance of engine maintenance records (CAA interpretations which apply to § 43.23). A record of the previous operating time and history of all engines overhauled, repaired, or reassembled to standards other than those for rebuilt engines as defined in § 43.24–1 shall be retained in the engine maintenance records.

9. Sections 52.22–1 (f) and 52.41–2 of Part 52 are deleted.

[Docket 5913]

PART 13—DIGEST OF CEASE AND DESIST ORDERS

P. & D. MANUFACTURING CO. INC.

Subpart—Discriminating in price under section 2, Clayton Act, as amended—Price discrimination under 2 (a): § 13.715 Charges and price differentials; § 13.755 Pooling orders of chain stores and buying groups; § 13.770 Quantity rebates or discounts.

(Sec. 6, 38 Stat. 721; 15 U. S. C. 46. Interpret or apply sec. 2, 38 Stat. 730, as amended; 15 U. S. C. 13) [Cease and desist order, P. & D. Manufacturing Co., Inc., Long Island City, N. Y., Docket 5913, April 26, 1956]

This proceeding was heard by a hearing examiner on the complaint of Commission—charging a corporate manufacturer with principal office in Long Island City, N. Y., with discriminating in price between purchasers of like grade and quality in violation of subsection 2 (a), of the Clayton Act as amended through charging different jobbers varying discounts on purchases of its automotive products which resulted in eight different buying prices on sales of its ignition line and four different buying prices on sales of its fuel pump line—followed by respondent's motion for dismissal which was denied.

The hearing examiner becoming unavailable for further proceedings, by agreement of counsel there was substituted another hearing examiner who denied respondent's renewal of motion to dismiss and other motions to strike certain testimony.

Thereafter, except for two exhibits, respondent failed to introduce testimony or other evidence, and the hearing examiner issued his initial decision upholding the decision of counsel supporting the complaint, from which respondent appealed.

The Commission, in an opinion by Commissioner Anderson, from which Commissioner Mason dissented, upheld the hearing examiner, and on April 26, 1956, adopted as its own the findings, conclusion, and order contained in the initial decision.

Said order to cease and desist is as follows:

It is ordered, That the respondent P. & D. Manufacturing Co., Inc., and its officers, representatives, agents and employees, directly or through any corporate or other device, in connection with the sale for replacement of automotive products and supplies in commerce, as "commerce" is defined in the Clayton Act, do forthwith cease and desist from discriminating directly or indirectly in the price of said automotive products and supplies of like grade and quality:

1. By selling to any one purchaser at net prices higher than the net prices charged to any other purchaser who, in fact, competes with the purchaser paying the higher price, in the resale and distribution of respondent's products.

By "Final Order", report of compliance was required as follows:

It is ordered, That respondent P. & D. Manufacturing Co., Inc., shall, within sixty (60) days after service upon it of this order, file with the Commission a report in writing, setting forth in detail the manner and form in which it has complied with the order contained in said initial decision.

Issued: April 26, 1956.

(b) The maximum percentage of the total weight of the wool product, of any non-fibrous loading, filling, or adulterating matter;

(c) The name or registered identification number of the manufacturer of such wool product, or of one or more persons engaged in introducing such wool product into commerce, or in the offering for sale, sale, transportation, distribution, or delivery for shipment thereof in commerce, as "commerce" is defined in the Wool Products Labeling Act of 1939.

Provided, That nothing contained in this order shall be construed as limiting any applicable provisions of the Wool Products Labeling Act of 1939 or the rules and regulations promulgated thereunder.

By "Decision of the Commission", etc., report of compliance was required as follows:

It is ordered, That the respondents herein shall within sixty (60) days after service upon them of this order, file with the Commission a report in writing setting forth in detail the manner and form in which they have complied with the order to cease and desist.

Issued: May 1, 1956.

The headnote of Subchapter Q is amended to read as follows: "Subchapter Q—Individual Allotments, Leasing and Permitting of Trust, Restricted Indian and Other Lands for Farming, Farm Pasture, Business, and Other Purposes."

A new Part 170 is added to read as follows:

Sec.
170.1 Purpose.
170.2 Scope.
170.3 Size of allotments.
170.4 Description of allotments.
170.5 Method of selection.
170.6 Notice of allotment.
170.7 Priority of filing allotment selections on improved lands.
170.8 Priority of selecting remaining lands available for allotment.
170.9 Disposition of improvements.
170.10 Submittal of allotment schedule.
170.11 Special instructions.

AUTHORITY: §§ 170.1 to 170.11 issued under sec. 10, 64 Stat. 472.

§ 170.1 Purpose. These procedures and requirements will govern the preparation of allotment schedules containing the names and allotment selections of the unallotted members, hereinafter called members, of the Cabazon and Augustine Bands of Mission Indians of the Cabazon and Augustine Indian Reservations, respectively.

§ 170.2 Scope. These procedures and requirements shall apply to those Indians whose names appear on the official enrollment records of the Cabazon or Augustine Bands of Mission Indians as of June 30, 1949, approved by the Secretary of the Interior, who have not heretofore received allotments.

§ 170.3 Size of allotments. Each member shall be entitled to an allotment not to exceed 40 acres of land classed as irrigable or potentially irrigable by the Secretary of the Interior.

§ 170.4 Description of allotments. Each allotment selection must be described as a legal subdivision of a section based upon public land surveys made by the Department of the Interior and wherever possible must consist of a contiguous tract of land.

§ 170.5 Method of selection. The Area Director, Sacramento Area Office, or his representative, shall be available during the periods hereinafter specified at an office of the Bureau of Indian Affairs located in the proximity of the Cabazon and Augustine Reservations to assist the Indians in making allotment selections. A map of each reservation on which is shown the irrigable and potentially irrigable land, which may be alloted, is available in such office during regular business hours for use in making the allotment selections. Each eligible member shall select for his allotment land shown on the map. Priority of selection shall be by families in the order of their appearance at the designated office. If two or more applicants appear at the designated office simultaneously, the order of their priority shall be determined by drawing lots. Selections for minors shall be made by one of the parents, or by a legally appointed guardian. Eligible adult members who have been adjudged non compos mentis may have selections made for them by a legally appointed guardian. Members who are not able to appear personally and sign the required forms for their selection may in writing appoint a representative to make the allotment selection, provided the appointment is duly acknowledged before a notary public or other officer authorized to take acknowledgments. Failure of any eligible Indian to make an allotment selection within the period of 60 days from the date of "Notice of Allotment", as prescribed in § 170.6, shall constitute authority for the Area Director to make a selection for such member. Appropriate forms for making selections shall be furnished by the Area Director.

§ 170.6 Notice of allotment. The Area Director shall mail a copy of the regulations in this part, together with a letter entitled "Notice of Allotment" bearing the date of the day it is posted, by registered mail to each member eligible for an allotment to the member's last known address. The letter shall inform each eligible member of the place where and the period of time when allotment selections will be accepted. In addition copies of the regulations in this part, together with copies of the Area Director's letter, shall be posted at several conspicuous places on and in the vicinity of the respective reservations.

§ 170.7 Priority of filing allotment selections on improved lands. The land classified as "improved" will be so designated on the map used for allotting purposes. A priority in selecting this class of land for allotment is given to the members who own the improvements on the lands, provided such improvements were placed thereon prior to July 1, 1954. The owner of the improvements on the land shall file on such land for allotment selection within 15 days from the date of the "Notice of Allotment."

§ 170.8 Priority of selecting remaining lands available for allotment. Upon the expiration of the 15-day period prescribed in § 170.7 all members, except those who filed allotment selections under § 170.7, shall file their selections on the remaining improved and unimproved irrigable or potentially irrigable land available for allotment. Filings thus made will be honored in the order of their receipt at the alloting office. A period of 45 days will be allowed for the filing of these selections. Upon the expiration of this 45-day period, selections shall be made by the Area Director, as prescribed in § 170.5, for those members who have not filed their allotment selections.

§ 170.9 Disposition of improvements. Any member owning improvements on land selected properly by another member may remove, or otherwise dispose of the improvements, within a 60-day period from date of notification by the Area Director to such member, so to dispose of such improvements. If in any case the whereabouts of the owner of the improvements is not known, an additional reasonable period of time may be allowed by the Area Director in which the owner, or his duly appointed representative, may remove or dispose of such improvements.

§ 170.10 Submittal of allotment schedule. Upon the completion of the allotment selections, a certified allotment schedule for each reservation, containing the names and the legal descriptions of the selections of the members and other pertinent information, shall be prepared by the Area Director. Each allotment schedule shall be submitted for approval to the Secretary of the Interior, through the Commissioner of Indian Affairs, before the issuance of trust patents for each of the allotment selections described therein.

CLARENCE A. DAVIS,

PROPOSED RULE MAKING

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

Agricultural Marketing Service

[ 7 CFR Part 27 ]

AMERICAN EGYPTIAN COTTON

PROPOSED REVISION OF OFFICIAL GRADE STANDARDS

Notice is hereby given that the United States Department of Agriculture is considering a revision of the official cotton standards of the United States for the grade of American Egyptian cotton (7 CFR 27.251 through 27.260), pursuant to the authority contained in section 6 of the United States Cotton Standards Act as amended (42 Stat. 1518; 7 U. S. C. 56) and in section 4854 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 (68A Stat. 580; 26 U. S. C. 4854).

The grade standards now in effect for American Egyptian cotton (promulgated in 1951) were prepared from cotton of the Pima 32 and Amsak varieties. Practically all American Egyptian cotton now produced is of the Pima S-1 variety. The Department made a careful survey of the 1955-56 American Egyptian cotton crop which indicated a need for a revision of the grade standards to reflect the characteristics of the Pima S-1 variety. A working set of proposed revised standards was prepared from Pima S-1 cotton from the 1955-56 crop and was presented to producers, shippers, and consumers of American Egyptian cotton for suggestions.

The proposed revised standards consist of nine grades in physical form (boxes of samples) and one descriptive grade (Grade No. 10) covering cotton which is inferior in grade to Grade No. 9 cotton, and would supersede the present standards for grades of American Egyptian cotton which became effective August 1, 1952.

The Department proposes to make the revised standards effective July 1, 1957. The legislation under which the standards are issued provides that changes in the standards shall not become effective until at least one year after promulgation of the order making such changes.

A public meeting will be held on May 23, 1956, to discuss the proposed standards. The meeting will be at 10 a. m. in the classing laboratory, 6th floor of the Agricultural Annex, United States Department of Agriculture, 12th and C Sts., SW., Washington, D. C. The proposed revised standards will be on display at this meeting.

Any interested person may inspect the proposed standards and present data, views, or arguments concerning the proposed revision orally or in writing at the meeting. [Docket No. AO-71-A-31]

MILK IN NEW YORK METROPOLITAN MARKETING AREA

NOTICE OF HEARING ON PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO TENTATIVE MARKETING AGREEMENT AND TO ORDER, AS AMENDED

Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure, as amended, governing the formulation of marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), notice is hereby given of a public hearing to be held at the Belmont Plaza Hotel in New York City, beginning on May 21, 1956, at 10:00 a. m., e. d. s. t., for the purpose of receiving evidence with respect to the proposed amendment of provisions of the marketing agreement and of the order, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the New York metropolitan milk marketing area relating to (1) the pricing of Class I-A milk for the months of July, August, and September 1956, (2) the pricing of Class III milk, and (3) the fluid skim differential, including evidence with respect to the proposed amendments hereinafter set forth, or appropriate modifications thereof. These proposed amendments have not received the approval of the Secretary of Agriculture.

Proposed by the Dairymen's League Cooperative Association, Inc., Metropolitan Cooperative Milk Producers Bargaining Agency, Inc., and Mutual Federation of Independent Cooperatives, Inc.:

1. Substantially increase the Class I-A prices to offset the effect on the Class I-A prices of the inclusion in our pool of the surpluses of this and other markets and to recognize the cost-price squeeze now affecting producers.

2. Increase the Class III prices to such extent, in such manner and for such times as may appear from the evidence that is developed at the hearing to be sound and workable to insure the greatest possible returns to producers without endangering the market of any producers or unduly imposing surplus burdens on cooperative associations of producers.

3. Increase the fluid skim differential.

Proposed by Eastern Milk Producers Cooperative Association, Inc.:

4. Amend the provisions relative to the pricing of Class I-A milk by providing for a minimum price of $5.50 per hundredweight for July, August and September 1956.

5. Amend the provisions relative to the fluid skim differential by providing that the differential shall equal the difference between the Class I-A price and the Class III price.

6. Amend the provisions relative to pricing Class III milk as follows:

(a) Amend the present Class III formula by adding 20 cents per hundredweight for the months of September, October, November, and December, and by adding 10 cents per hundredweight for the months of January, February, March, July and August.

(b) Add an alternative price provision which shall base the Class III price on the midwest condensery price during the months of February through September and on the midwest condensery price plus 15 cents during the months of October through January. This provision shall be applicable if the price yielded thereby is higher than the price yielded by the present formula as amended by the preceding paragraph.

Proposed by the Farmers Union of the New York Milk Shed:

7. Delete §§ 927.40 (f) and 927.43 as presently written and provide in place thereof under § 927.40 (f) for three Class III subdivisions, designated and priced as follows:

Butter, for milk of this utilization the price in the delivery period shall be that paid farmers by creameries in the State of Wisconsin as announced by the Department of Agriculture of that State.

Cheese, for milk of this utilization the price in the delivery period shall be that paid farmers by cheese plants in the State of Wisconsin as announced by the Department of Agriculture of that State.

Other, the price for milk of such utilization shall be a simple average of the prices for the butter and cheese utilizations as determined above plus 14 cents.

Proposed by L. I. Milk Producers' Cooperative, Inc.:

8. The base price paid to producers for Class I-A milk at the 201-210 mile zone for 3.5 percent butterfat milk be $6.00 per hundredweight and be a uniform price throughout the year.

Proposed by Milk Dealers' Association of Metropolitan New York, Inc., and Sheffield Farms Company:

9. Amend the Class III formula (§ 927.40 (f)) to provide during the period of flush production, February to June, a flat deduction from the formula Class III price.

10. Amend § 927.43 Butter-cheese adjustment by deleting the words in the first proviso which precede the colon and which read as follows: "That the amount so credited shall be reduced one-cent per pound of butterfat for each one-tenth by which the ratio of 2.5 exceeds a ratio computed as follows:"

11. Amend § 927.44 Fluid skim differential as follows:

§ 927.44 Fluid skim differential. For skim milk derived from Class II or Class III milk which skim milk enters the marketing area in the form of milk, fluid skim milk, condensed skim milk, half and half, or cream, and there utilized or disposed of in the form of milk, fluid skim milk, or half and half, and for all other skim milk * * * which is not established to have been otherwise utilized or disposed of the handler shall pay a fluid skim differential * * *.

Proposed by Independent Milk Marketers, Inc.

12. Amend the first paragraph in § 927.40 (f) to read as follows: "For Class III milk, the price shall be the sum of the amounts computed pursuant to subparagraphs (1) and (2) of this paragraph minus 70 cents: Provided, That for the months of May and June an additional 10 cents shall be subtracted from such sum."

13. Amend § 927.40 (f) (2) to read as follows:

(2) Multiply by 7.8 the average, as computed by the market administrator, of the prices per pound of spray process nonfat dry milk solids, for human consumption in carlots, f. o. b. manufacturing plants in the Chicago area, as published by the United States Department of Agriculture for the period from the 26th day of the immediately preceding month through the 25th day of the current month.

Proposed by The New York State Cheese Manufacturers Association, Inc.:

14. Any proposed change in Federal Order No. 27, affecting the price of milk used in the manufacture of Cheddar cheese should be based on the Wisconsin Assembly price with reasonable allowances for manufacture.

Proposed by Dannon Milk Products, Inc.:

15. Section 927.44 Fluid skim differential be amended to eliminate in the first sentence the words "or cultured milk drinks" or that the words "except yogurt" be added after cultured milk drinks.

Copies of this notice of hearing, the said order, as amended, and the said tentative marketing agreement may be procured from the Market Administrator, 205 East 42d Street, New York 17,

New York, or from the Hearing Clerk, United States Department of Agriculture, Room 112, Administration Building, Washington 25, D. C., or may be there inspected.

Dated: May 10, 1956.

CIVIL AERONAUTICS BOARD

[ 14 CFR Part 241 ]

[Economic Regs. Draft Release 81]

UNIFORM SYSTEM OF ACCOUNTS AND REPORTS OF CERTIFICATED AIR CARRIERS

MANUAL TO BE MADE IMMEDIATELY EFFECTIVE

APRIL 30, 1956.

Notice is hereby given that the Civil Aeronautics Board has under consideration the amendment of various phases of the accounting requirements of the manual of accounts now contained in Part 241 of the Economic Regulations (14 CFR Part 241). This amendment incorporates into the uniform system now in effect certain important changes embodied in the system adopted by the Board concurrently herewith, and scheduled to become effective on January 1, 1957.

These new accounting requirements would be applicable to all Form 41 reports (pertaining to calendar or fiscal quarters) subsequent to the effective date of this regulation.

The principal features of the proposed regulation are explained in the Explanatory Statement set forth below, and the proposed revision of Part 241 is also set forth below.

This regulation is proposed under the authority of sections 205 (a), 407 (a) and 407 (d) of the Civil Aeronautics Act of 1938, as amended. (52 Stat. 984; 1000; 49 U. S. C. 425, 487).

Interested persons may participate in the making of the proposed rule by submitting such written data, views, or arguments as they may desire. Communications should be submitted in triplicate and addressed to the Secretary, Civil Aeronautics Board, Washington 25, D. C. All communications received on or before the thirtieth day following the date of publication of the proposed rule in the FEDERAL REGISTER will be considered by the Board before taking further action thereupon. Copies of such communications will be available for examination by interested persons in the Docket Section of the Board, Room 5412, Commerce Building, Washington, D. C.

By the Civil Aeronautics Board.

[SEAL] JOHN B. RUSSELL, Acting Secretary.

Expanatory statement. The first notice of proposed rule making relating to the revised uniform accounting and reporting system was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on July 9, 1954 (19 F. R. 4200) and circulated to the industry as Economic Regulations Draft Release No. 48, dated July 6, 1954. As a result of extensive discussions with representatives of the industry, numerous changes in the manual and reporting forms thus circulated were found appropriate. Consequently, a further notice of proposed rule making containing various modifications of the previously proposed regulations was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on September 22, 1955 (20 F. R. 7111), and circulated to the industry as Economic Regulations Draft Release No. 68-D, dated September 20, 1955. Oral argument, which had been requested by the industry, was held on November 9, 1955. These procedural steps left little time, before the beginning of the next calendar year, for completion of the major task of converting internal accounting procedures of various airline accounting departments to conform them to a drastically changed new system. For this reason, the Board decided to defer the effective date of the entire new system to January 1, 1957.

However, certain significant features of the new manual of accounts can be made effective immediately by integrating them with the existing system without imposing an undue burden. In the first place, only a relatively small number of items are being proposed for immediate implementation. In the second place, specific provisions prescribing expeditious methods of conversion have been incorporated in the proposed regulation. These provisions are substantially identical with those prescribed in the revised manual effective January 1, 1957.

The Board is mindful of the fact that a direction to retroactively reconstruct individual accounts to conform to new regulations might be burdensome to carriers who have already accounted for part or all of the results of a given quarter on the basis of different accounting regulations in effect throughout such a period. However, the particular items proposed to be made immediately effective here will not require a reconstruction of the underlying accounts.

These items are the reclassification of flight equipment spare parts inventories into the categories of rotables and expendables and prohibition of obsolescence reserves relating to expendables; the requirement that the cost of a full overhaul be included in the residual value of depreciable flight equipment; the requirement that reserves be established for all periodic aircraft maintenance operations and the classification of such reserves as valuation reserves. They have been selected for special treatment because they constitute significant improvements over the existing system which also have a major impact upon the accurate statement of the financial condition of certificated air carriers.

It appears desirable to explain, for the guidance of the industry, the precise operation of the effective date feature of the rule set forth below. During any quarterly reporting period following the date upon which this regulation becomes a legally binding requirement, a carrier will be obliged to follow the new accounting requirements. More specifically, the conversion provision of the proposed rule requires that adjustments of valuation reserves needed to conform with the instant revision are to be spread over current and subsequent accounting periods. It should be noted that the burden of conversion will not be increased by virtue of the fact that the proposed regulation makes certain features of the new manual effective in advance of the remaining provisions. Furthermore, these necessary adjustments are effectuated by charges against, or credits to, income of the accounting period when the revised system becomes effective or subsequent accounting periods and do not require a restatement of the accounts for prior accounting periods. Thus, this requirement is not retroactive in either a legal or practical sense. Comment is specifically invited with respect to alternative conversion methods.

Since the substance of the various specific provisions incorporated in the attached proposed rule have already been the subject of both written comment and oral argument submitted by the industry, further comment is invited only with respect to the new matter embodied in this notice of proposed rule making. Such new matter relates exclusively to the desirability and practicability of making the several items dealt with herein effective in advance of the remainder of the new uniform reporting and accounting system and the manner in which these items may reasonably be integrated with the other provisions of the presently effective system. The Board will not consider comments concerning the substantive aspects of any of these proposals.

It is proposed to revise Part 241 of the Economic Regulations (14 CFR Part 241) in the following respects:

1. By introducing a new section as follows:

§ 241.1-10 Depreciation and amortization. (a) Assets of a type possessing prolonged service lives significantly longer than one year which are generally repaired and reused shall be written off against operations through periodic depreciation or amortization charges from the date first placed in regular service and shall not be expensed when retired or acquired. Assets of a type which are recurrently expended and replaced, rather than repaired and reused, shall not be depreciated or amortized but shall be charged to expense as issued for use. Waiver of this prohibition may be made upon a factual demonstration of impending losses in material amount from flight equipment expendable parts obsolescence factors not effectively provided for otherwise. In such cases and where waiver is made from the general prohibition, the air carrier may accrue, through periodic expense charges, a reserve for anticipated losses from obsolescence of flight equipment expendable parts inventories which the air carrier anticipates will be on hand at the date of retirement of the equipment type to which related.

(b) Assets of a type which are subject to depreciation shall not be classified as current assets but shall be carried in property and equipment or other appropriate noncurrent asset account classifications. Assets of a type which are recurrently expended and replaced, including flight equipment expendable parts, shall be classified as current assets.

(c) Depreciation shall be calculated by the air carrier in such manner as will prevent the charging of either excessive or inadequate expense or the accumulation of excessive or inadequate reserves, and shall be based upon a study of the air carrier's history and experience or such engineering or other information as may be available with respect to prospective future conditions and without regard to depreciation accounting practices adopted for tax purposes. Undepreciable residual values shall be established for each class of property and equipment and shall represent the fair and reasonable estimate of the recoverable value as of the end of the service life over which the property is depreciated. Residual values shall reflect values which are dissipated by use but are normally restored to individual units of property through recurrent repairs and periodic maintenance operations, and shall include the estimated cost of periodic maintenance operations for which reserves are provided, which, if not reflected in such residual values, would produce duplicate charges to expense.

(d) Within 90 days after the effective date of this section each air carrier shall file a statement which shall clearly and completely describe for each category of property and equipment the bases upon which the respective residual values and service lives have been assigned. For each new type of property or equipment acquired subsequently such a statement shall be submitted within 90 days after the property or equipment has been placed in regular service. Where changing conditions make necessary a revision or adjustment in rates of depreciation or residual values, a supplementary statement shall be attached to CAB Form 41 filed for the period in which such revisions or adjustments are made which shall clearly and completely describe the bases upon which the residual values and service lives has been revised. Retroactive adjustments in depreciation rates are in general prohibited.

(e) (1) Any adjustments of reserves for depreciation, obsolescence of flight equipment expendable parts, uncollectible accounts or other valuations of assets, shall be applied to current and subsequent accounting periods by spreading any necessary adjustments over the remaining life of the asset to which applicable and shall not be applied retroactively.

(2) Adjustments, necessitated by the requirement of this system of accounts that undepreciable residual values shall reflect values restored by periodic maintenance operations, shall be effected by subdividing the accumulated depreciated reserve between that portion representing values restorable by periodic maintenance which shall be classified as maintenance reserve, and the remaining portion which shall be classified as depreciation reserve, unless this requirement is waived by the Civil Aeronautics Board.

(3) Any reserve accumulated for obsolescence of flight equipment spare parts and assemblies shall be divided between the portion applicable to flight equipment expendable parts and flight equipment rotable parts and recorded in the applicable reserve accounts. Unless otherwise waived by the Civil Aeronautics Board, no further accrual shall be made to the reserve for obsolescence of flight equipment expendable parts and any losses sustained upon the retirement of the parts to which related shall be charged against this reserve.

(4) Any provision of this system of accounts respecting the required reserves for depreciation, or other valuation of assets, shall be made applicable as at the effective date of this section to all assets then existing as well as to assets subsequently acquired against which the accrual of reserves would be appropriate.

2. By substituting a new § 241.1330 as follows:

§ 241.1330 Raw materials and miscellaneous supplies. (a) This account shall include the cost of unissued and unapplied materials and supplies held in stock such as unissued shop materials, expendable tools, stationery and office supplies, passenger service supplies, and restaurant and food service supplies. It shall also include the cost of flight equipment replacement parts of a type which ordinarily would be recurrently expended and replaced rather than repaired and reused. The cost of rotable parts and assemblies of material value which ordinarily are repaired and reused shall not be recorded in this account but in account 1608 Flight Equipment Rotable Parts and Assemblies. For purposes of identifying rotable parts and assemblies of insignificant unit value which may be included in this account, a reasonable maximum unit value limitation may be established.

(b) Materials and supplies, other than flight equipment expendable parts, held in small supply and purchased currently may be charged to appropriate expense accounts when purchased. Costs paid by the air carrier such as transportation charges and customs duties; excise, sales, use and other taxes; special insurance; and other charges applicable to the cost of materials and supplies shall be charged to this account when they can be definitely allocated to specific items or units of property. If such costs cannot be allocated, or if of minor significance in relation to the cost of property, the amounts thereof may be charged to account 1850 "Other Deferred Charges", and cleared either by a suitable "loading charge" as the parts are used or by current charges to appropriate expense or property accounts; Provided, That the method of application does not cause material distortion in operating expenses from one accounting period to another.

(c) This account shall include the cost of labor, materials, and outside services used in the process of manufacturing materials and supplies for stock. Reusable materials and supplies recovered in connection with the construction, maintenance, or retirement of property and equipment shall be included in this account at fair and reasonable values but in no case shall such values exceed original cost. Scrap and nonusable materials and supplies, expensed from this account and recovered, shall be included at net amounts realizable therefrom with contra credit to the expense accounts initially charged.

(d) A perpetual inventory of materials and supplies shall be maintained showing the unit cost and quantity on hand, and the inventory shall be verified by actual count at least annually.

Shortages, overages, deterioration, etc., shall be adjusted through the appropriate inventory adjustment accounts.

(e) A reserve for inventory adjustment or obsolescence applicable to items of property in this account is generally prohibited. Any losses sustained or gains realized upon the abandonment or other disposition of flight equipment expendable parts shall be taken up as capital gains or losses in the periods in which sustained or realized. (See account 2520 Other Valuation Reserves.)

(f) Items in this account shall be charged to appropriate expense accounts as issued for use. Profit and loss on sales of inventory items as a routine service to others shall be included in account 4111 Service Sales-Net and the materials and supplies sold, including flight equipment expendable repair parts, shall be removed from this account at full cost.

(g) Subaccounts shall be established within this account for the separate recording of each class or type of flight equipment expendable repair parts and miscellaneous materials and supplies.

3. By amending the definition of "Depreciated cost" in § 241.3–1 (b) (2) to read as follows:

(2) Depreciated cost is defined as the cost of property and equipment less the related reserves for depreciation and overhaul or other valuation reserves.

4. By amending the definition of "Residual value" in § 241.3–1 (b) (11) to read as follows:

(11) Residual value is defined as the predetermined portion of the cost of a unit of property or equipment excluded from depreciation. It shall represent a fair and reasonable estimate of recoverable value as of the end of the service life over which the property is depreciated. It shall reflect values which are dissipated by use but are normally restored to individual units of property through recurrent repairs and periodic maintenance operations, and shall include the estimated cost of periodic maintenance operations for which reserves are provided, which, if not reflected in such residual values, would produce duplicate charges to expense.

5. By appending the following sentence to subparagraph (1) of § 241.3–1 (c) (2) "In addition, upon performance of the initial periodic maintenance operations after acquisition of used aircraft, the costs incurred to restore that portion of the useful life which had expired through use prior to acquisition shall be included as an addition to the cost of used aircraft so that the cost thereof will reflect the cost of fully overhauled units."

6. By amending § 241.3–1 (c) (2) to read as follows:

(2) The costs of betterments, including labor and all other installation costs, shall be charged to the property and equipment accounts, except in cases where the amounts involved are not substantial or no material improvement results; the cost of parts and appurtenances removed, including labor and all other installation costs, and the reserves for depreciation and overhaul applicable thereto, shall be treated as for retired property and accounted for accordingly.

7. By amending § 241.3–1 (d) (1) to read as follows:

(1) In the event property or equipment is disposed of by sale, retirement, abandonment, dismantling, etc., the air carrier shall credit the account in which the property is carried with the cost thereof; charge the accrued depreciation and overhaul reserve account with the balance applicable to the retired property; and charge the cash proceeds of the sale or the value of salvaged material to the appropriate asset accounts. When the sale price or salvage value less the cost of dismantling differs from the depreciated cost of the property, such difference shall be recorded in account 7189, "Retirement of Property, Profits or Losses—Net."

8. By deleting the last sentence from § 241.1604, "Aircraft Radio Equipment."

9. By deleting the last sentence from § 241.1607, "Miscellaneous Flight Equipment."

10. By substituting a new § 241.1608 as follows:

§ 241.1608 Flight equipment rotable parts and assemblies. (a) This account shall include the total cost to the air carrier of all spare instruments, parts, appurtenances and sub-assemblies related to the primary components of flight equipment units provided for in accounts 1601 through 1607, inclusive. This account shall include all parts and assemblies of material value which are rotable in nature and may be reserviced or repaired and used repeatedly. Items of an expendable nature which generally may not be repaired and reused, shall not be recorded in this account but in account 1330 Raw Materials and Miscellaneous Supplies. Except for recurrent service sales, flight equipment parts recorded in this account shall be accounted for and depreciated in accordance with the instructions related to property and equipment generally and shall not be charged to operating expense as retired. Profit or loss on sales of parts as a routine service to others shall be included in account 4111 Service Sales—Net and parts sold shall be removed from this account at full cost irrespective of any reserve for depreciation which has been provided.

(b) Subaccounts shall be established within this account to separately record parts and assemblies applicable to aircraft, aircraft engines, and other flight equipment.

11. By deleting § 241.2410, "Reserve for Aircraft Overhaul."

12. By deleting § 241.2420, "Reserve for Engine Overhaul."

13. By deleting § 241.5–1 and inserting the following:

§ 241.5–1 Reserves for depreciation and maintenance. (a) This balance sheet classification shall include the accumulation of all provisions for losses occurring in property and equipment from use and obsolescence. For example, it shall include reserves for maintenance of property and equipment, and reserves for depreciation established to record current lessening in service value due to wear and tear from use and the action of time and the elements which are not replaced by current repairs, as well as losses in capacity for use or service occasioned by obsolescence, supersession, discoveries, change in popular demand, or the requirement of public authority. Residual values and rates for accrual of depreciation and maintenance shall be calculated to prevent charging excessive or inadequate expense or the accumulation of inadequate or excessive reserves.

(b) Depreciation shall be calculated from the date on which a building, structure or unit of property is placed in regular service and shall cease on the date such property is withdrawn from service by reason of sale, retirement, abandonment, or dismantling, or when the difference between the cost and residual value, shall have been charged to expense.

(c) Property not subject to depreciation shall include (1) land owned or held in perpetuity, (2) expenditures on uncompleted units of property and equipment during the process of construction or manufacture, (3) capitalized maintenance costs of leased flight equipment for which a reserve for periodic maintenance is accrued, and (4) items classified as current assets.

(d) All aircraft and aircraft engines shall be depreciated on a unit basis from the date the aircraft or aircraft engine is first placed in regular service by the air carrier.

(e) Group depreciation procedures may be applied to property and equipment of nominal value or not readily identifiable by units and which are classified into groups of items of approximately equal life expectancy.

(f) The residual value established for each aircraft and each aircraft engine shall reflect values which are dissipated by use but are normally restored to individual units of property through recurrent repairs and periodic maintenance operations and shall include the estimated cost of periodic maintenance operations for which reserves are provided, which, if not reflected in such residual value, would produce duplicate charges to expense.

(g) Rates of depreciation and undepreciable residual values applied to each class of depreciable property and equipment shall be calculated to distribute, on the basis of years of life, the estimated service value to operating expense accounts and other accounts, over the estimated service life of the property and equipment; provided, that hours of life may be used for depreciation of specific classes of flight equipment other than aircraft and aircraft engines upon waiver of years of life by the Civil Aeronautics Board following a factually supported demonstration that the service life of each such class of property corresponds more closely to hours of use than to calendar time.

(h) Adjustments in rates of depreciation occasioned by changing conditions shall be applied in accordance with general policies set forth in Section 1, Item 10 Depreciation and Amortization.

(i) Maintenance reserves shall be established by each air carrier for the cost of all periodic aircraft maintenance operations of material amount in such manner as will equitably apportion the total aircraft direct maintenance costs to the different accounting years on such bases as will effectively produce an appropriate matching of total aircraft maintenance costs with the operation of aircraft. At the option of the air carrier, maintenance reserves may also be established for aircraft engines. The purpose of such allocation is to prevent distortion of the operating and financial statements by reason of periodic peaks in maintenance costs in one accounting year which, in part, are properly applicable to operations performed in other accounting years. Waiver of the required reserves may be made by the Civil Aeronautics Board upon a factual demonstration that the expensing of such costs, as incurred, apportions the total direct maintenance costs between accounting years substantially in accordance with the use of aircraft.

Periodic aircraft maintenance reserves, required in order to prevent significant distortion of the financial statements, properly include all periodic direct maintenance expenses, whether related to periodic overhauls or to other aspects of periodic maintenance which, in aggregate, are sufficiently non recurrent as to result in an inequitable distribution of total maintenance costs as between different accounting periods.

The following practices shall be observed in accounting for periodic maintenance reserves:

(1) Provisions for periodic maintenance of both owned and leased flight equipment shall be charged, as appropriate, to account 70, "Reserve Provision—Aircraft Repairs" or, account 71, "Reserve Provision—Aircraft Engine Repairs", on the basis of rates of cost per hour flown in the air carrier's operations. The rates of accrual shall be established by each air carrier in accordance with its experienced cost per periodic maintenance operation with each type of equipment during the next previous representative accounting period and representative hours of use realized between equivalent periodic maintenance operations. The rate used for new equipment types may be based upon parallel experience adjusted to reflect such engineering or other information as may be available.

Each air carrier shall submit a statement detailing the plans upon which the accumulation of aircraft or aircraft engine reserves are based or revised as a supplement to CAB Form 41 for the period in which such reserves are established or revised. This statement shall set forth the rates by which the reserves are established and maintained or revised and shall include statistical data showing that the rates of accrual are fully and completely supported by the air carrier's experience and calculated to prevent accumulating excessive or deficient reserves. The rates set forth in such statement shall thenceforth be used by the air carrier unless it is notified by the Civil Aeronautics Board that the rates of accrual do not meet the requirements set forth herein.

(2) Accruals for maintenance of owned equipment shall be credited, in accordance with hours flown in the air carrier's operations, to account 2691, "Reserve for Maintenance—Aircraft" or, account 2692, "Reserve for Maintenance—Aircraft Engines", as appropriate, and concurrently charged to account 70, "Reserve Provision—Aircraft Repairs" or, account 71, "Reserve Provision—Aircraft Engine Repairs."

(3) Accruals for maintenance of leased equipment shall be credited, in accordance with hours flown in the air carrier's operations, to account 2170, "Other Current and Accrued Liabilities", up to an amount equivalent to that portion of the applicable maintenance cycle remaining unexpired at date of acquisition. Subsequent to the initial periodic maintenance operation performed by the air carrier, accrual of amounts equivalent to the portion of the applicable maintenance cycle remaining unexpired at date of acquisition shall be credited, in accordance with hours flown in the air carrier's operations, to account 2691, "Reserve for Maintenance—Aircraft" or, account 2692, "Reserve for Maintenance—Aircraft Engines", as appropriate, as an offset to such initial periodic maintenance which shall be charged to account 1609, "Improvements to Leased Flight Equipment", in amounts which represent a restoration of the maintenance cycle expired prior to acquisition by the air carrier. (See subparagraph (4) of this paragraph). Account 70, "Reserve Provision—Aircraft Repairs" or, 71, "Reserve Provision—Aircraft Engine Repairs", as appropriate, shall be concurrently charged, in accordance with hours flown in the air carrier's operations, with such accruals to maintenance liability or reserve accounts.

(4) The actual cost of periodic maintenance operations performed shall be generally charged directly to the applicable periodic maintenance reserve. In the case of equipment leased from others, that portion of the cost of each maintenance operation which represents a restoration of the maintenance cycle which remained unexpired at date of acquisition shall be charged against the maintenance liability account. That portion of the cost of the first periodic maintenance operation performed subsequent to acquisition of leased equipment or equipment purchased in used condition which represents a restoration of the maintenance cycle expired prior to acquisition, shall be charged to account 1609, "Improvements to Leased Flight Equipment" or other applicable property accounts. With the exception of that portion of the first periodic maintenance operation on leased or used equipment, discussed above, the cost of each periodic maintenance operation shall be simultaneously charged to the applicable objective expense accounts and credited, as appropriate, to account 70, "Reserve Provision—Aircraft Repairs" or, account 71, "Reserve Provision—Aircraft Engine Repairs", so that the total cost of maintenance is reflected in applicable appropriate objective expense accounts and total maintenance expense is equated in relation to operations performed between different accounting periods through the maintenance reserve provision accounts.

(5) Adjustments of accrued maintenance for differences between actual maintenance costs incurred and amounts accrued, or amounts accrued, and amounts exchanged in settlement of lease arrangements, shall be credited or charged to account 70, "Reserve Provision—Aircraft Repairs" or, account 71, "Reserve Provision—Aircraft Engine Repairs", as applicable.

(6) In balance sheet presentations the balances in the maintenance reserve accounts shall be combined with reserves for depreciation and shown as an offset to the corresponding asset classification.

(j) (1) Depreciation is defined as losses occurring in physical property, either temporary or permanent, suffered through current lessening in service value due to wear and tear from use and the action of time and the elements, which are not replaced by current repairs; also, the losses in capacity for use or service occasioned by obsolescence, supersession, discoveries, change in popular demand, or the requirements of public authority.

(2) Group basis is defined as a plan under which (i) depreciation is based upon the application of a single depreciation rate to the total book cost of all property included in a given depreciable property and equipment account or class, despite differences in service life of individual items of property and equipment, (ii) the full original cost, less any salvage realized, of an item of depreciable property or equipment retired is charged to the reserve for depreciation regardless of the age of the item, and (iii) no gain or loss is recognized on the retirement of individual items of property or equipment.

(3) Residual value is defined as the predetermined portion of the cost of a unit of property or equipment excluded from depreciation. It shall represent a fair and reasonable estimate of recoverable value as of the end of the service life over which the property is depreciated. It shall reflect values which are dissipated by use but are normally restored to individual units of property through recurrent repairs and periodic maintenance operations, and shall include the estimated cost of periodic maintenance operations for which reserves are provided, which, if not reflected in such residual values, would produce duplicate charges to expense.

(4) Service value to the carrier is defined as the difference between book cost and residual value.

14. By substituting the following for § 241.2520 (b):

(b) (1) A reserve for inventory adjustment or obsolescence is generally prohibited. However, in the event waiver of this prohibition is granted (see Section 1, Item 10), accruals shall be made to this account for estimated losses from obsolescence of flight equipment expendable parts which it is anticipated will be on hand at the date of retirement of the aircraft or aircraft engine type to which related. Where waiver is made to the general prohibition, accounting practices as set forth below shall be followed.

(2) The estimated loss shall be computed by estimating the inventory which will be on hand upon retirement of the aircraft or aircraft engine type to which related and deducting therefrom the estimated recoverable value. The estimated loss thus determined shall be accrued through equal annual charges to an appropriate sub-account under account 5977, "Depreciation—Other Flight Equipment". The reserve applicable to each class or type of expendable parts shall be recorded in separate subaccounts of this account.

(3) Expendable parts shall be charged to operating expenses as issued for use and shall not be charged to this account. Where changing conditions necessitate a revision or adjustment in rates of obsolescence accrual, such revision or adjustment shall be made applicable to current and subsequent accounting periods and shall not be applied retroactively to prior accounting periods. Following retirement of aircraft or aircraft engine types to which related, any balance remaining in this account shall be offset against related balances carried in account 1330, "Raw Materials and Miscellaneous Supplies" and the net cleared to account 7189, "Retirement of Property Profits or Losses—Net".

(4) A statement shall be filed with the Civil Aeronautics Board prior to the establishment or revision of reserves for obsolescence of flight equipment expendable parts which fully explains the bases of the estimated losses and the rates of accrual to the obsolescence reserves. No obsolescence reserves shall be established, revised or adjusted without the prior approval of the Civil Aeronautics Board.

(5) In balance sheet presentations, reserves for obsolescence of flight equipment expendable parts shall be offset against account 1330 Raw Materials and Miscellaneous Supplies.

15. By amending paragraphs (a), (b), and (c) of § 241.2600, "Reserve for Depreciation—Operating Property and Equipment", to read as follows:

§ 241.2600 Reserve for depreciation and maintenance-operating property and equipment. (a) This account shall include accrued depreciation and maintenance reserves relating to operating property and equipment used in transportation and incidental services.

(b) Entries shall be made to this account in accordance with Item 1, "Reserve for Depreciation and Maintenance" of this section.

(c) The reserve applicable to each classification of property included in account 1600, "Operating Property and Equipment", shall be recorded in the applicable accrued depreciation or maintenance reserve account.

16. By amending account 2608 in § 241.2600 to read as follows:

2608 Reserve for depreciation—flight equipment rotable parts and assemblies.

17. By inserting the following accounts in § 241.2600:

2691 Reserve for Maintenance—Aircraft.
2691 A Reserve for Maintenance—Owned Aircraft.
2691 B Reserve for Maintenance—Leased Aircraft.
2692 Reserve for Maintenance—Aircraft Engines.
2692 A Reserve for Maintenance—Owned Engines.
2692 B Reserve for Maintenance—Leased Engines.

18. By amending § 241.70 to read as follows:

§ 241.70 Reserve provision—aircraft repairs. This account shall include provisions to reserves for periodic maintenance of aircraft or for equalization of maintenance costs within the current accounting year. The direct costs actually expended in maintenance operations shall be charged as incurred to direct labor, materials and outside repairs accounts and concurrently credited to this account.

19. By amending § 241.71 to read as follows:

§ 241.71 Reserve provision—aircraft engine repairs. This account shall include provisions to reserves for periodic maintenance of aircraft engines or for equalization of maintenance costs within the current accounting year. The direct costs actually expended in maintenance operations shall be charged as incurred to direct labor, materials and outside repairs accounts and concurrently credited to this account.

20. By amending § 241.77, "Depreciation—Other Flight Equipment," to append to paragraph (a): "In the event of waiver by the Civil Aeronautics Board of the prohibition against accruals of reserves for obsolescence of flight equipment expendable parts, provisions for accruals to such reserves shall also be charged to this account. Amounts reserved through charges to this account shall be credited to account 2520, 'Other Valuation Reserves'."

21. By adding to the Account and Item List in § 241.77.

Expendable parts obsolescence provisions.

22. By amending § 241.7–1 to waive the requirement for filing schedule A–10 "Statement of Flight Equipment Spare Parts and Assemblies," for the year ending December 31, 1956.

23. By amending § 241.7–2 to append to the instructions for schedule A–6, columns 6 and 7, the following: "Balances in classification 2600, 'Reserve for Depreciation and Maintenance', shall be sub-divided as between reserves for depreciation and reserves for maintenance and separately reported in Column 7 on the appropriate line of this schedule."

[Economic Regs. Draft Release 82]

REVISED UNIFORM SYSTEM OF ACCOUNTS AND REPORTS FOR CERTIFICATED AIR CARRIERS

PRESCRIPTION OF DEPRECIATION ACCOUNTING PRACTICES

APRIL 30, 1956.

Notice is hereby given that the Civil Aeronautics Board has under consideration the amendment of the accounting and reporting requirements of Part 241 of the Economic Regulations (14 CFR Part 241). This proposed rule provides for direct prescription by the Board of air carrier depreciation practices and prescribes uniform specific depreciation rates for certain classes of aircraft and related engines. These proposed amendments would be incorporated into both the uniform system now in effect and the revised system which becomes effective on January 1, 1957.

The principal features of the proposed regulation are explained in the explanatory statement set forth below, and the proposed revisions to Part 241 are also set forth below.

This regulation is proposed under the authority of sections 205 (a), and 407 (a) and (d), of the Civil Aeronautics Act of 1938, as amended, (52 Stat. 984, 1000, 1004; 49 U. S. C. 425, 487, 496).

Interested persons may participate in the making of the proposed rule by submitting such written data, views, or arguments as they may desire. Communications should be submitted in triplicate and addressed to the Secretary, Civil Aeronautics Board, Washington 25, D. C. All communications received on or before the thirtieth day following the date of publication of the proposed rule in the FEDERAL REGISTER will be considered by the Board before taking further action thereupon. Copies of such communications will be available for examination by interested persons in the Docket Section of the Board, Room 5412, Commerce Building, Washington, D. C.

By the Civil Aeronautics Board.

[SEAL] JOHN B. RUSSELL,
Acting Secretary.

Explanatory statement. In common with other regulatory acts, the Civil Aeronautics Act of 1938 directs that the Board shall prescribe a system of accounts. The pertinent provisions are in section 407 (d) as follows:

The Authority (Board) shall prescribe the forms of any and all accounts, records, and memoranda to be kept by air carriers, including the accounts, records, and memoranda of the movement of traffic, as well as of the receipts and expenditures of money, and the length of time such accounts, records, and memoranda shall be preserved; and it shall be unlawful for air carriers to keep any accounts, records, or memoranda other than those prescribed or approved by the Authority (Board): Provided, That any air carrier may keep additional accounts, records, or memoranda if they do not impair the integrity of the accounts, records, or memoranda prescribed or approved by the Authority (Board) and do not constitute an undue financial burden on such air carrier.

Under this authority the Board has proceeded, since its establishment, to prescribe the uniform system of accounts required to be kept by all certificated air carriers. The controlling purpose of such a uniform system of accounts is to provide the Board with financial statements which fairly reflect the financial condition of the air carrier, on the one hand, and the operating results of the carrier for a given period of time, on the other hand. The purpose of the system of accounts, therefore, is not to prescribe uniform titles under which information is to be reported but to prescribe uniform practices which will provide, in general substance, comparable information in respect to each of the various carriers subject to the accounting regulations. Financial statements would, of course, be useless to the Board unless they fairly reflected the actual financial condition of the carriers and the actual operating results of the services performed for the period reported.

In the past, the Board has, in general, prescribed rates of depreciation as a part of its rate-making process. The depreciation rates so prescribed through the rate-making proceedings of the Board have generally been used by air carriers for accounting purposes. So long as the depreciation rates used by the various air carriers for accounting purposes fairly reflected the depreciation costs as determined in the rate proceedings, further prescription of these rates through accounting regulation would have served no useful purpose. Moreover, until recent years, the widespread dependence of the industry upon Federal subsidies necessitated the frequent review by the Board of the operating results of the carriers, including an appraisal of the reasonableness of charges to expense for depreciation on property and equipment which resulted in bringing the depreciation practices of the carriers under frequent review by the Board. However, with the emergence of a large part of the industry from dependence upon subsidy, the opportunity for such frequent review of the reasonableness of depreciation charges to expense by the Board no longer exists. Nevertheless, the need for reliable financial data from which to appraise the true financial condition and operating results of the various air carriers continues. It is, therefore, concluded that the regulatory control over depreciation rates with a view of controlling the reasonableness of depreciation charges to expense may now better be exercised by the Board through the accounting regulations than through the rate-making process.

The amount of depreciation charged to expense involves the substance of the accounts, the control over which is necessary to provide financial statements that produce a fair presentation of the carrier's financial condition and operating results for the periods reported to the Board. Insofar as the impact upon the carriers' financial condition and operating results is concerned, improper charges to expense for depreciation would undermine the integrity of the financial statements in exactly the same manner as inaccurate charges for salaries, rents and other operating expenses of the carriers. Depreciation is becoming an increasingly important operating expense for air carriers with the addition of new and more expensive aircraft equipment. Errors in the reporting of depreciation tend to accumulate over a period of years and are difficult to correct in the accounts of carriers once the inaccuracies have become rooted over an extended period of time. Improper reporting of depreciation expense will distort the accounts and financial statements of air carriers to such an extent that comparability will be seriously undermined or completely destroyed. Since the property and equipment on which depreciation is computed will continue in service over a period of years the distortion from misstatement of depreciation charges accumulates with the passage of time. Accordingly, the prescription of depreciation rates by the Board will prevent such comparative distortion and thus increase proportionately the relative reliability of the financial statements of certificated air carriers from the point of view of both the industry and the Board as well as the general public.

The Board believes that it has ample statutory authority to engage in the direct control of depreciation accounting practices. Section 407 (d) of the act grants the Board broad powers to control both the accounting methods used by air carriers and all specific entries in the books of accounts made pursuant to such methods. Moreover, the Supreme Court has sustained a requirement that all charges to operating expense accounts (including depreciation) be "just and reasonable" as a valid exercise of such general accounting powers. (AT&T Co. v. U. S. 229, U. S. 232 (1936).) Since the requirement that the straight-line method and prescribed depreciation rates be used relates only to the reasonableness of depreciation expense charges, it appears to be a proper exercise of such power.

Nor has the Board been persuaded by the various legal arguments presented by the industry in connection with the straight-line provision, formerly included in the revised manual, as originally circulated. These arguments are premised on the fact that Congress has specifically amended the enabling acts of various other federal agencies to expressly confer such power while failing to include a similar provision in the Civil Aeronautics Act. We have examined the various statutes involved, and their legislative histories, and concluded that they negate any inference that Congress intended to withhold such power from the Board.

The proposed rule set forth below requires all certificated air carriers to use the straight-line method in computing depreciation for all depreciable properties. The industry has urged that the Board should leave to the discretion of each individual carrier's management the choice of a proper method of spreading depreciation costs by years. However, the basic objective of the uniform system of accounts is to standardize accounting practices. Unless a single method is employed in all similar factual situations, the fundamental goal of readily comparable financial statements cannot be achieved. The ultimate objective of all depreciation accounting is to allocate the cost of property equitably over the period of its useful life. There are various generally accepted techniques for effecting such allocations. The straight-line method is one method which is commonly accepted throughout industry as producing reasonably equitable cost allocations. This method has been used historically by the Board for those properties for which depreciation charges have been determined in rate proceedings. Moreover, the air transport industry likewise has most commonly used straight-line depreciation of properties for which depreciation rates have not been so determined by the Board as well as for those properties for which depreciation rates have been so determined. It is recognized that support may exist in generally accepted accounting practice for other depreciation methods in tax administration, which is based upon various national interest objectives which override normal business considerations, or under circumstances in which it can be demonstrated that depreciation varies significantly between different annual periods. However, tax procedures are not necessarily geared to an accurate measure of year-to-year costs. In addition, there has been no factual demonstration to date that the second circumstance obtains with respect to properties of the air transport industry. As a matter of fact, experience to date would indicate that the magnitude of repairs and maintenance required to meet adequate safety standards largely eliminates wear and tear as the most significant elements in the depreciation of the major proportion of air carrier properties. Consequently, depreciation of such properties largely results from obsolescence factors rather than physical deterioration. It would seem most difficult to establish that the rate of obsolescence of air carrier properties diminishes with the passage of time as would be provided for under the typical alternative depreciation methods. Moreover, air carriers to date have been able to dispose of airframes and engines which have been largely or fully depreciated at a substantial profit. This circumstance attests to the continued serviceability and earning capacity of such equipment and largely negates any contention that such equipment has lost its value from use.

In the absence of positive control by the Civil Aeronautics Board of air carrier depreciation practices, the public interest is left unprotected against divergent management judgments which result in nonuniformity and inconsistency between carriers in recorded accounting facts. Moreover, in view of all the foregoing circumstances, it is concluded that regardless of the relative abstract merits in alternative depreciation techniques there is no justification in terms of the presently existing economics of air transport operations for a departure at this time from the straight-line depreciation method which to date has been commonly accepted by both the Board and the air transport industry as producing reasonably equitable results between different accounting periods.

The proposed regulation also prescribes uniform rates of depreciation for certain classes of flight equipment. No attempt has been made to prescribe such rates for various new types of equipment not yet in service on a large scale or for certain older types of unpressurized equipment which appear to be of diminishing importance because they are used on a relatively limited scale and are already largely depreciated.

The Board has long employed a seven year life and fifteen percent residual value for such flight equipment in its rate-making determinations. The industry has commonly adopted substantially equivalent depreciation rates for accounting purposes as well. Consequently, the proposed rule conforms the determinations of depreciation for accounting purposes to those which represent present rate policy and commonly existing industry practice. It is recognized, of course, that changing conditions may warrant future revisions of either the specific rates prescribed or the classes of property included. Such revisions can be made, from time to time, as may prove necessary upon petition of the air carrier or carriers concerned or upon the Board's own initiative. It is the Board's intention to utilize formal or informal hearing procedures and conferences as may be appropriate. Moreover, it is also recognized that occasional circumstances affecting a particular air carrier or class of air carriers may warrant the granting of a waiver from use of the prescribed uniform rate for certain classes of property.

Nor does it appear that the Board, which plainly enjoys necessary legal power to control the exact amount charged to depreciation under its general authority to supervise accounting entries, lacks the power to control such entries directly by advance prescription. Support for this conclusion may be found in the very fact that Congress has mandatorily directed several federal agencies to take such action under statutes granting them such supervisory powers. And, the specific direction requiring uniform entries by class of carriers is within the recognized purview of accounting rules and regulations. Indeed, generality of application and uniformity of prescription are the essential elements of the rule-making process. True enough, the uniformity established by a system of accounts is normally uniformity of principle rather than uniformity of entry. This circumstance merely reflects the absence of any uncertainty concerning the facts typically recorded by accounting entries such as the price paid for materials or labor. However, depreciation accounting involves a complicated determination of the extent of anual depreciation, entailing an exercise of judgment as well as a forecast of the future. Thus, effective supervision of the depreciation accounts of regulated companies calls for centralized control of such entries to insure substantive uniformity of result.

The Board also desires to advise the industry that it intends to exercise its statutory powers, as implemented by the revised manual, to review depreciation rates used by individual carriers for classes of equipment for which no uniform rate has been prescribed. However, in view of the various objections raised by the industry to any exercise of power by the Board over depreciation accounting the Board does not intend to exercise its power to establish precise depreciation rates until finalization of the instant rule.

1. It is proposed to revise Part 241 of the Economic Regulations (14 CFR Part 241) in the following respects:

a. By amending § 241.1–10 (c) and (d) to read as follows:

(c) The residual values and service lives to be used by air carriers in calculating depreciation shall be those which may be prescribed from time to time by the Civil Aeronautics Board (see § 241.22) except that where no rates previously have been prescribed the air carrier shall calculate depreciation in accordance with the instructions herein. Where changing conditions make necessary a revision or adjustment in rates of depreciation prescribed by the Civil Aeronautics Board, or when the prescribed rates fail to recognize the impact of peculiarities of particular operations upon depreciation factors, the air carrier may petition for waiver of such prescribed rates. In the event such waiver is made, the revised rates shall become effective only as approved and from such date as shall be prescribed by the Civil Aeronautics Board. In the event residual values and service lives have not been prescribed by the Civil Aeronautics Board, depreciation shall be calculated by the air carrier in such manner as will prevent the charging of either excessive or inadequate expense or the accumulation of excessive or inadequate reserves, and shall be based upon a study of the air carrier's history and experience and such engineering or other information as may be available with respect to prospective future conditions and without regard to depreciation accounting practices adopted for tax purposes. Undepreciable residual values shall be established for each class of property and equipment and shall represent the fair and reasonable estimate of the recoverable value as of the end of the service life over which the property is depreciated. Residual values shall reflect values which are dissipated by use but are normally restored to individual units of property through recurrent repairs and periodic maintenance operations, and shall include the estimated cost of periodic maintenance operations for which reserves are provided, which, if not reflected in such residual values, would produce duplicate charges to expense.

(d) Within 90 days after the effective date of this section, each air carrier shall file a statement which clearly and completely describes for each category of property and equipment the bases upon which the respective residual values and service lives have been assigned. For each new type of property or equipment acquired subsequently, such a statement shall be submitted within 90 days after the property or equipment has been placed in regular service. Where changing conditions make necessary a revision or adjustment in rates of depreciation or residual values, on categories of property or equipment for which rates of depreciation or residual values have not been prescribed by the Civil Aeronautics Board, a supplementary statement shall be attached to CAB Form 41 [1] filed for the period in which such revisions or adjustments are made which shall clearly and completely describe the bases upon which the residual values and service lives have been revised. Retroactive adjustments in depreciation rates are in general prohibited. The depreciation rates and residual values set forth in such statement shall thenceforth be used by the air carrier unless it is notified by the Civil Aeronautics Board that the service lives or residual values do not meet the requirements set forth herein.

b. By amending paragraph (g) of § 241.5–1 Reserves for depreciation and maintenance to read as follows:

(g) Rates of depreciation and undepreciable residual values applied to each class of depreciable property and equipment shall be calculated to distribute the estimated service value, under the straight-line method, in equal annual charges to operating expense accounts and other accounts over the estimated service life of the property and equipment; provided, that hours of life may be used for depreciation of specific classes of flight equipment other than aircraft and aircraft engines upon waiver of this requirement by the Civil Aeronautics Board following a factually supported demonstration that the service life of each such class of property corresponds more closely to hours of use than to calendar time.

c. By inserting § 241.22 Property and equipment depreciation rates, to read as follows:

§ 241.22 Property and equipment depreciation rates. For purposes of this system of accounts and reports, the following residual values and service lives are herewith prescribed:

(a) For each pressurized cabin aircraft, and each related aircraft engine, acquired subsequent to December 31, 1947, exclusive of Boeing B–377 aircraft and turbo-prop or jet propelled aircraft types: (1) An undepreciable residual value equivalent to 15 percent of book cost, plus the estimated one-time cost of each material periodic maintenance operation performed at intervals significantly longer than 12 months apart, and (2) a straight-line, seven year service life applied to the depreciable value.

2. It is also proposed to revise Part 241 of the Economic Regulations (14 CFR Part 241) which will become effective January 1, 1957, in the following respects:

a. By amending § 241.14 (c) and (d) to read as follows:

(c) The residual values and service lives to be used by air carriers in calculating depreciation shall be those which may be prescribed from time to time by the Civil Aeronautics Board (see § 241.35), except that where no rates previously have been prescribed, the air carrier shall calculate depreciation in accordance with the instructions herein. Where changing conditions make necessary a revision or adjustment in rates of depreciation prescribed by the Civil Aeronautics Board, or when the prescribed rates fail to recognize the impact of peculiarities of particular operations upon depreciation factors, the air carrier may petition for waiver of such prescribed rates. In the event such waiver is made, the revised rates shall become effective only as approved and from such date as shall be prescribed by the Civil Aeronautics Board. In the event residual values and service lives have not been prescribed by the Civil Aeronautics Board, depreciation shall be calculated by the air carrier in such manner as will prevent the charging of either excessive or inadequate expense or the accumulation of excessive or inadequate reserves, and shall be based upon a study of the air carrier's history and experience and such engineering or other information as may be available with respect to prospective future conditions and without regard to depreciation accounting practices adopted for tax purposes. Undepreciable residual values shall be established for each class of property and equipment and shall represent the fair and reasonable estimate of the recoverable value as of the end of the service life over which property is depreciated. Residual values shall reflect values which are dissipated by use but are normally restored to individual units of property through recurrent repairs and periodic maintenance operations, and shall include the estimated cost of periodic maintenance operations for which reserves are provided, which, if not reflected in such residual values, would produce duplicate charges to expense.

(d) Each air carrier shall file with the Civil Aeronautics Board on or before January 1, 1957, a statement which clearly and completely describes for each category of property and equipment the bases upon which the respective residual values and service lives have been assigned. For each new type of property or equipment acquired subsequently, such a statement shall be submitted within 90 days after the property or equipment has been placed in regular service. Where changing conditions make necessary a revision or adjustment in rates of depreciation or residual values, on categories of property or equipment for which rates of depreciation or residual values have not been prescribed by the Civil Aeronautics Board, a supplementary statement shall be attached to CAB Form 41 filed for the period in which such revisions or adjustments are made which shall clearly and completely describe the bases upon which the residual values and service lives have been revised. Retroactive adjustments in depreciation rates are in general prohibited. The depreciation rates and residual values set forth in such statement shall thenceforth be used by the air carrier unless it is notified by the Civil Aeronautics Board that the service lives or residual values do not meet the requirements set forth herein.

b. By amending § 241.5–4 (g) to read as follows:

(g) Rates of depreciation and undepreciable residual values applied to each class of depreciable property and equipment shall be calculated to distribute the estimated service value, under the straight-line method, in equal annual charges to operating expense accounts and other accounts, over the estimated service life of the property and equipment: Provided, That hours of life may be used for depreciation of specific classes of flight equipment other than airframes and aircraft engines upon waiver of this requirement by the Civil Aeronautics Board following a factually supported demonstration that the service life of each such class of property corresponds more closely to hours of use than to calendar time.

c. By inserting § 241.35, "Property and Equipment Depreciation Rates," to read as follows:

§ 241.35 Property and equipment depreciation rates. For purposes of this system of accounts and reports, the following residual values and service lives are herewith prescribed:

(a) For each pressurized cabin airframe, and each related aircraft engine, acquired subsequent to December 31, 1947, exclusive of Boeing B–377 aircraft and turbo-prop of jet propelled aircraft types: (1) An undepreciable residual value equivalent to 15 percent of book cost, plus the estimated one-time cost of each material periodic maintenance operation performed at intervals significantly longer than 12 months apart, and (2) a straight-line, seven year service life applied to the depreciable value.

The lands hereinafter described, so far as they are withdrawn and reserved for power purposes, are hereby restored to disposition under the public land laws, subject to the provisions of section 24 of the Federal Power Act of June 10, 1920 (41 Stat. 1075; 16 U. S. C. 818), as amended.

SIXTH PRINCIPAL MERIDIAN, COLORADO

T. 1 N., R. 79 W.,
Sec. 12: SW¼NW¼, NE¼SE¼.

The lands described consist of 80 acres of public land.

The State of Colorado has been afforded a period of 90 days beginning February 4, 1956, and ending May 6, 1956, in which to file applications for rights-of-way for public highways or as a source of material for construction and maintenance of such highways, in accordance with and subject to the provisions of section 24 of the Federal Power Act, as amended.

This restoration is made in furtherance of an exchange under section 8 of the act of June 28, 1934, as amended by section 3 of the act of June 26, 1936 (48 Stat. 1272; 49 Stat. 1976; 43 U. S. [P. & S. Docket No. 5]

PEORIA UNION STOCK YARDS CO.

NOTICE OF PETITION FOR MODIFICATION OF RATE ORDER

Pursuant to the provisions of the Packers and Stockyards Act, 1921, as amended (7 U. S. C. 181 et seq.), an order was issued in this rate proceeding on July 27, 1953 (12 A. D. 851), which, as modified and continued in effect by an order issued on July 18, 1955 (14 A. D. 566), authorizes the respondent to assess the current schedule of rates and charges to and including August 1, 1957.

On May 1, 1956, respondent filed a petition requesting authority to put into effect as soon as possible certain modifications of its current schedule and to continue assessing the current schedule as so modified to and including August 1, 1957.

The modifications of the current schedule of rates and charges (Tariff No. 11) proposed by respondent are limited to Item 4 of Section 1 of such schedule, the present and proposed provisions of which are as follows:

PRESENT

Item 4. Charges will be collected on all livestock consigned to local packers and others at the following rate in cents per head.

NOTE: If weighed, full yardage as shown in Item 1 will apply.

|---|---|
| Cattle | 35 |
| Calves | 19 |
| Hogs | 12 |
| Sheep | 9 |

PROPOSED

Item 4. Charges will be collected on all livestock consigned to local packers and others at the following rate in cents per head.

|---|---|
| Cattle | 50 |
| Calves | 25 |
| Sheep | 13 |

In view of the fact that most of the livestock described in item 4 of section 1 of the current schedule are weighed, full yardage rates apply to them instead of the rates shown in such item which are about one-half the full rates. Under the proposed new item 4 of section 1 all such livestock may be weighed and be charged for at the proposed new yardage rates which are about 70 percent of the full yardage rates. Accordingly, the effect of the modifications, if authorized, will be to increase the yardage rates on only such of the livestock described as are not being weighed at present, to produce less revenue for the respondent, and to reduce the cost of marketing livestock except as noted above. It appears that this public notice should be given of the filing of the petition and its contents in order that all interested persons may have an opportunity to indicate a desire to be heard in the matter.

All interested persons who desire to be heard in the matter shall notify the Hearing Clerk, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington 25, D. C., within 15 days after the publication of this notice.

Done at Washington, D. C., this 9th day of May 1956.

PART 3—DEBT SETTLEMENT

AMENDMENT TO REGULATIONS

In Part 3, Title 7, Code of Federal Regulations, §§ 3.3 (b), 3.5 and 3.6 are amended as hereinafter set forth.

1. Section 3.3 (b), Title 7, Code of Federal Regulations (10 F. R. 807, as redesignated in 13 F. R. 6903), is amended to add a new subparagraph (5) to provide additional cancellation authority without the debtor's application, and to read as follows:

§ 3.3 Settlement of indebtedness. * * *
(b) Indebtedness may also be canceled without application when any one of the following circumstances is found:

(1) The amount of said indebtedness, including interest, is less than $10; such efforts of collection have been made as are warranted under the circumstances, and the cost of collection or of continued maintenance of accounts is deemed greater than the amount of the indebtedness;

(2) The debtor is deceased and there is no reasonable prospect of recovering from his estate;

(3) The debtor's whereabouts has remained unknown for two years and there is no reasonable prospect of obtaining collection; heads of agencies designated in § 3.5 will prescribe procedures which will assure that cancellations on this ground will be made only after a diligent effort has been made to locate the debtor, including such contact with other agencies of the Department or otherwise as the amount of the indebtedness and the circumstances warrant;

(4) The debtor has been discharged of the indebtedness in any proceeding under "An act to establish a uniform system of bankruptcy throughout the United States."

(5) It is impossible or impracticable for legal or other reasons to obtain the debtor's application but all of the findings required by paragraph (a) of this section are made.

2. Section 3.5, Title 7, Code of Federal Regulations (13 F. R. 6903), is amended to provide for delegation of debt settlement authority to State Administrative Officers of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation State offices, and to read as follows:

§ 3.5 Delegations of authority. The heads of any administration or other agency having jurisdiction over any of the acts or programs listed in § 3.10 (including those of Commodity Credit Corporation and Federal Crop Insurance Corporation) are hereby authorized, within their respective jurisdictions, to exercise any or all of the functions prescribed by this part. The head of each of such agencies may delegate and authorize the redelegation of any of the functions vested in him by this part: Provided, That the determination of any settlement shall not be delegated beyond the head of the highest field office having jurisdiction, except that in the case of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation State Offices, such authority may also be delegated to the State Administrative Officers and except that in the case of the Farmers Home Administration, such authority may also be delegated to Assistant State Directors and Chiefs, Production Loan Operations, in State offices of that administration.

3. Section 3.6, Title 7, Code of Federal Regulations (10 F. R. 807, as redesignated in 13 F. R. 6903), is amended to provide optional authority for the Office of Budget and Finance to prescribe or approve debt settlement forms, and to read as follows:

§ 3.6 Forms and records. The Office of Budget and Finance may prescribe or approve forms for applications for settlement of indebtedness under this part; and shall require each agency to establish records to insure the immediate availability of necessary information of operations under this part.

Each agency shall furnish to the Office of Budget and Finance a report of operations under this part quarterly, or for such other periods as the Director of Finance may designate.

(Sec. 1, 58 Stat. 836; 12 U. S. C. 1150)

PART 301—DOMESTIC QUARANTINE NOTICES

SUBPART—MEDITERRANEAN FRUIT FLY

MEDITERRANEAN FRUIT FLY QUARANTINE AND REGULATIONS

On May 1, 1956, there was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (21 F. R. 2843) notices of public hearing and of proposed rule making concerning issuance of a notice of quarantine and supplemental regulations to quarantine the State of Florida because of the Mediterranean fruit fly and to provide means whereby areas within the State may be regulated and host material may be inspected and treated or otherwise made eligible for interstate movement from such regulated areas.

After public hearing and due consideration of all relevant matters presented pursuant to the notices, and under the authority of sections 8 and 9 of the Plant Quarantine Act of 1912, as amended (7 U. S. C. 161, 162) and section 3 of the Insect Pest Act of 1905 (7 U. S. C. 143), it has been determined that it is necessary to quarantine the State of Florida to prevent the spread of the Mediterranean fruit fly, a dangerous insect infestation, not heretofore widely prevalent or distributed within and throughout the United States, and the notice of quarantine and supplemental regulations are hereby issued to appear, in a new subpart under the heading "Mediterranean fruit fly," in 7 CFR Part 301, as follows:

QUARANTINE

Sec.
301.78 Notice of quarantine.

REGULATIONS

301.78–1 Definitions.
301.78–2 Designation of regulated areas.
301.78–3 Regulated articles.
301.78–4 Conditions governing movement of regulated articles.
301.78–5 Conditions governing the issuance of certificates and limited permits.
301.78–6 Assembly of articles for inspection.
301.78–7 Cancellation of certificates or limited permits.
301.78–8 Inspection and disposition.
301.78–9 Shipments for scientific purposes.
301.78–10 Nonliability of Department.

QUARANTINE

§ 301.78 Notice of quarantine. Under the authority conferred by section 8 of the Plant Quarantine Act of August 20, 1912, as amended (7 U. S. C. 161), and after the public hearing required thereby, the State of Florida is hereby quarantined to prevent the spread of infestation of the Mediterranean fruit fly, a dangerous insect notoriously injurious to fruits and vegetables and not heretofore widely prevalent or distributed within and throughout the United States, and under the authority conferred by the Plant Quarantine Act and the Insect Pest Act of March 3, 1905 (7 U. S. C. 141 et seq.), regulations are hereinafter prescribed governing the movement of the Mediterranean fruit fly and carriers thereof. Hereafter the following shall not be shipped, offered for shipment to a common carrier, received for transportation or transported by a common carrier, or carried, transported, moved, or allowed to be moved from said quarantined State into or through any other State, Territory, or District of the United States in manner or method or under conditions other than those prescribed in the regulations supplemental hereto, as from time to time amended: (a) Live Mediterranean fruit flies in any stage of development; (b) fruits and vegetables, and other garden and orchard products of all kinds; (c) sand, soil, earth, peat, compost, and manure; and (d) fruit-picking equipment; trucks, wagons, cars, aircraft, boats, and other means of conveyance and containers which have been or are being used in conveying fruits or vegetables; other products and articles, including nursery stock, which have been associated with the production of, or commerce in, fruits and vegetables, or have been or are contaminated with sand, soil, earth, peat, compost, or manure; and, unlimited by the foregoing, any other products and articles of any character whatsoever; when it is determined in accordance with the regulations supplemental hereto that they present a hazard of spread of the Mediterranean fruit fly. However, the requirements of this quarantine and of the regulations supplemental hereto, except as otherwise provided in such regulations, are hereby limited to the areas in the quarantined State which may be designated as regulated areas as provided in such regulations, as long as, in the judgment of the Administrator of the Agricultural Research Service, the enforcement of said regulations as to such regulated areas will be adequate to prevent the spread of the Mediterranean fruit fly, except that such limitation is further conditioned upon the State's providing for and enforcing control of the movement within such State of the regulated articles under the same conditions as those which apply to their interstate movement under the provisions of currently existing Federal quarantine regulations, and upon its enforcing such control and sanitation measures with respect to such areas or portions thereof as, in the judgment of said Administrator, shall be deemed adequate to prevent the spread therefrom within such State of the said insect infestation. Moreover, whenever the Chief of the Plant Pest Control Branch shall find that facts exist as to the pest risk involved in the movement of one or more of the products or articles to which the regulations supplemental hereto apply, except live Mediterranean fruit flies in any stage of development, making it safe to modify, by making less stringent, the requirements contained in such supplemental regulations, he shall set forth and publish such finding in administrative instructions, specifying the manner in which the applicable regulations should be made less stringent, whereupon such modification shall become effective for such period and for such regulated area or portion thereof and for such products or articles as shall be specified in said administrative instructions, and every reasonable effort shall be made to give publicity to such administrative instructions throughout the affected areas.

REGULATIONS

§ 301.78–1 Definitions. For the purpose of the regulations in this subpart the following terms shall be construed, respectively, to mean:

(a) Mediterranean fruit fly. The insect known as the Mediterranean fruit fly (Ceratitis capitata Wied.), in any stage of development.

(b) Infestation. The presence of the Mediterranean fruit fly.

(c) Regulated areas. The counties, precincts, cities, and other minor civil divisions, or parts thereof, designated in administrative instructions under § 301.78–2 as regulated areas.

(d) Regulated articles. Mediterranean fruit flies and other products and articles regulated under this subpart.

(e) Inspector. An inspector of the United States Department of Agriculture.

(f) "Moved" ("movement," "move"). Shipped, offered for shipment to a common carrier, received for transportation or transported by a common carrier, or carried, transported, moved, or allowed to be moved, interstate, directly or indirectly. "Movement" and "move" shall be construed accordingly.

(g) Certificate. A valid document evidencing compliance with the requirements of this subpart.

(h) Limited permit. A valid document authorizing the movement of regulated articles to a restricted destination for limited handling, utilization, or processing.

(i) Dealer-carrier agreement. A document constituting an agreement to comply with stipulated quarantine conditions, executed by persons or firms engaged in purchasing, handling, processing, utilizing, or moving regulated articles.

(j) Interstate. From one State, Territory, or District of the United States into or through another.

(k) Administrative instructions. Published documents, relating to the enforcement of the provisions in this subpart, issued under authority of such provisions by the Chief of the Plant Pest Control Branch, Agricultural Research Service.

§ 301.78–2 Designation of regulated areas. The Chief of the Plant Pest Control Branch shall, from time to time, in administrative instructions promulgated by him, list the counties, cities, precincts, and other minor civil divisions, or parts thereof, in the quarantined State, in which infestation of the Mediterranean fruit fly has been determined to exist, or in which it has been determined such infestation is likely to exist, or which it is deemed necessary to regulate because of their proximity to infestation or their inseparability for quarantine enforcement purposes from infested localities, and shall designate such counties, precincts, and other civil divisions, or parts thereof, as constituting the regulated areas. Any civil division, or part thereof, so designated shall continue in a regulated status until the Chief of the Plant Pest Control Branch shall have determined that adequate eradication measures have been practiced for a sufficient length of time to eradicate the Mediterranean fruit fly therein and that regulation of such area is not otherwise necessary under this section, and shall have issued administrative instructions revoking the designation of such civil division, or part thereof, as a regulated area.

§ 301.78–3 Regulated articles—(a) Mediterranean fruit flies; removal prohibited, exception. The removal from any State or Territory to any other State or Territory or the District of Columbia, or from said District to any State or Territory, of live Mediterranean fruit flies, except for scientific purposes, is prohibited by the Insect Pest Act (7 U. S. C. 141). Provisions for the removal of live Mediterranean fruit flies, for scientific purposes, are set forth in § 301.78–9.

(b) Other regulated articles; movement regulated. Unless exempted by administrative instructions issued by the Chief of the Plant Pest Control Branch, the movement from any regulated area of any of the following is permitted only under the conditions provided in the regulations in this subpart: Fruits and vegetables, and other garden and orchard products of all kinds; sand, soil, earth, peat, compost, and manure; and products and articles determined by an inspector to present a hazard of spread of the Mediterranean fruit fly under § 301.78–4 (b).

§ 301.78–4 Conditions governing movement of regulated articles—(a) Garden and orchard products; sand, soil, etc. (1) Fruits and vegetables, and other garden and orchard products of all kinds; and sand, soil, earth, peat, compost, and manure; which originate in a regulated area, may be moved from any regulated area into or through any point outside thereof if a certificate or limited permit has been issued therefor in compliance with § 301.78–5 and if the applicable requirements of subparagraphs (2) and (3) of this paragraph are also met.

(2) Every container of regulated articles designated in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph, or, if there is no container, the articles themselves, shall be plainly marked with the name and address of the consignor and the name and address of the consignee, when offered for shipment under said subparagraph, and shall have securely attached to the outside thereof the certificate or limited permit covering the shipment, except that in the case of less-than-carlot freight or express shipments a certificate or limited permit attached to one of the containers and another certificate or limited permit attached to the waybill will be sufficient; in the case of carlot freight or express shipments, either in containers or in bulk, a certificate or limited permit attached to the waybill will be sufficient; and in the case of shipments by road vehicle, the certificate or limited permit shall accompany the shipment and shall be surrendered to the consignee upon delivery of the shipment.

(3) Subsequent to certification as provided in § 301.78–5, regulated articles designated in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph must be loaded, handled, and shipped only under such protection and safeguards against infestation as are required by the inspector.

(4) Regulated articles of kinds designated in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph, which originate outside any regulated area and are moving through or are being reshipped from any regulated area, may be moved from any regulated area without compliance with the provisions of subparagraphs (1), (2), or (3) of this paragraph when the point of origin is clearly indicated, when the identity has been maintained, and when the articles have been safeguarded against infestation while in the regulated area in a manner satisfactory to an inspector. Otherwise such regulated articles shall be subject to all of the requirements of subparagraphs (1), (2), and (3) of this paragraph.

(b) Products and articles determined to present hazards. When it is determined by an inspector that a hazard of spread of the Mediterranean fruit fly is presented by any fruit-picking equipment; any trucks, wagons, cars, aircraft, boats, other means of conveyance or containers which have been or are being used in conveying fruits or vegetables; other products or articles, including nursery stock, which have been associated with the production of, or commerce in, fruits or vegetables, or have been or are contaminated with sand, soil, earth, peat, compost, or manure; or, unlimited by the foregoing, any other products or articles of any character whatsoever, such equipment, means of conveyance, containers, products or articles may be moved from any regulated area into or through any point outside thereof after they have been thoroughly cleaned, disinfested, or otherwise treated under the observation of an inspector and in accordance with methods selected by him from administratively authorized procedures known to be effective under the conditions in which applied, or they may be so moved under limited permit. Notice of the application of such requirements to particular means of conveyance, containers, and other products and articles under this paragraph shall be given to the person in charge thereof.

§ 301.78–5 Conditions governing the issuance of certificates and limited permits—(a) Certificates. Certificates may be issued for the movement from a regulated area of the regulated articles designated in § 301.78–4 (a) under any one of the following conditions:

(1) When, in the judgment of the inspector, they have not been exposed to infestation.

(2) When they have been examined by an inspector and found to be free of infestation.

(3) When they have been treated under the observation of an inspector and in accordance with methods selected by him from administratively authorized procedures known to be effective under the conditions in which applied.

(b) Limited permits. Limited permits may be issued by the inspector for the movement from a regulated area of noncertified regulated articles designated in § 301.78–4 (a) or (b) to specified destinations for limited handling, utilization, or processing. Persons shipping, transporting, or receiving such articles may be required by the inspector to enter into written agreements with the Plant Pest Control Branch to maintain such safeguards against the establishment and spread of infestation and to comply with such conditions as to the maintenance of identity, handling, or subsequent movement of such articles and to the cleaning or treatment of trucks, wagons, cars, aircraft, boats, and other means of conveyance and containers used in transportation of such articles as may be required by the inspector.

(c) Dealer-carrier agreement. As a condition of issuance of certificates or permits for the movement of regulated articles, any person or firm engaged in purchasing, assembling, exchanging, processing, or carrying such regulated articles originating or stored in regulated areas, may be required to sign a dealer-carrier agreement stipulating that he will carry out any and all conditions, treatments, precautions, and sanitary measures which are deemed necessary by the inspector, including segregation and maintenance of identity, under supervision of the inspector, of all regulated articles.

§ 301.78–6 Assembly of articles for inspection. Persons intending to move any of the regulated articles under § 301.78–4 (a) shall make application for inspection as far in advance as possible, shall so handle such articles as to safeguard them from infestation and shall assemble them at such points and in such manner as the inspector shall designate to facilitate inspection.

§ 301.78–7 Cancellation of certificates or limited permits. Certificates or limited permits for any regulated articles issued under the regulations in this subpart may be withdrawn or canceled and further certificates or permits for such articles may be refused by the inspector whenever he determines that the further use of such certificates or permits might result in the spread of the Mediterranean fruit fly.

§ 301.78–8 Inspection and disposition. Any truck, wagon, car, aircraft, boat, or other means of conveyance, or container, which is moving interstate and which an inspector has probable cause to believe carries or contains any Mediterranean fruit fly or other regulated article the movement of which is prohibited or restricted by the quarantine or regulations in this subpart shall be subject to inspection by the inspector. When regulated articles are found to be moving or to have been moved in violation of the provisions in this subpart, the inspector may seize, destroy, or otherwise dispose of such articles as he deems necessary to eliminate the danger of spread of the Mediterranean fruit fly.

§ 301.78–9 Shipments for scientific purposes. Live Mediterranean fruit flies may be removed from any State or Territory into any other State or Territory or the District of Columbia, or from said District into any State or Territory, and other articles subject to the requirements of the regulations in this subpart may be moved from any regulated area, for experimental or other scientific purposes, on such conditions and under such safeguards as may be required by the Chief of the Plant Pest Control Branch. The container or, if there is none, the article itself shall bear, securely attached to the outside thereof, an identifying tag from the Plant Pest Control Branch.

§ 301.78–10 Nonliability of Department. The United States Department of Agriculture disclaims liability for any cost incident to inspection or treatment required under the provisions in this subpart, other than for the services of the inspector.

The foregoing quarantine and regulations shall be effective on and after May 16, 1956.

The purpose of the quarantine and supplemental regulations is to prevent the spread of the Mediterranean fruit fly from Florida, where it is known to occur, to other parts of the United States. The supplemental regulations provide methods whereby host material may be inspected and treated or otherwise made eligible for interstate movement from regulated areas. The regulations also govern the interstate movement of live Mediterannean fruit flies for scientific purposes.

Since the State of Florida prohibits the growing of cotton in the areas which it is intended to regulate, the references to "cotton bolls and seed cotton" that appeared in the quarantine and regulations as published in the notice of proposed rule making have been deleted. A provision has also been newly introduced providing for a dealer-carrier agreement.

The Chief of the Plant Pest Control Branch will supplement these regulations by issuing administrative instructions listing the counties, precincts, cities, and other minor civil divisions, or parts thereof, in the quarantined State in which infestation of the Mediterranean fruit fly has been determined to exist, or in which it has been determined such infestation is likely to exist, or which it is deemed necessary to regulate because of their proximity to infestation or their inseparability for quarantine enforcement purposes from infested localities, and designating such localities as regulated areas.

In order to be of maximum protection to the public the foregoing quarantine and regulations should be made effective as soon as possible. Therefore under section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act (5 U. S. C. 1003) it is found upon good cause that further notice of rule making with respect to the dealer-carrier agreement provisions would be impracticable and contrary to the public interest and good cause is found for making the document effective less than 30 days after publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

(Sec. 3, 33 Stat. 1270; secs. 8 and 9, 37 Stat. 318, as amended; 7 U. S. C. 143, 161, 162)

PART 301—DOMESTIC QUARANTINE NOTICES

ADMINISTRATIVE INSTRUCTIONS EXEMPTING CERTAIN ARTICLES FROM SPECIFIC REQUIREMENTS

Pursuant to the authority conferred on him by the fourth sentence of the Mediterranean fruit fly quarantine (Notice of Quarantine No. 78, 7 CFR § 301.78 [1]), under sections 8 and 9 of the Plant Quarantine Act of 1912 (7 U. S. C. 161, 162), the Chief of the Plant Pest Control Branch hereby issues administrative instructions exempting certain regulated articles from the requirements of §§ 301.78–4 and 301.78–5 of the regulations supplemental to the said notice of quarantine (7 CFR 301.78–4, 301.78–5 [1]), such administrative instructions to appear as § 301.78a in Title 7, Code of Federal Regulations, as follows:

§ 301.78a Administrative instructions exempting certain articles from specified requirements. It has been found that facts exist as to the pest risk involved in the movement of the following regulated articles under the regulations in this subpart which make it safe to make less stringent the requirements of the regulations with respect to the movement of such articles from any regulated area, as hereinafter provided. The following articles are hereby exempt from the requirements of §§ 301.78–4 and 301.78–5:

(a) Fruits. (1) Coconuts.
(2) Lemons, when picked green and commercially packed.
(3) Sour limes, when picked green and commercially packed.
(4) Strawberries, blackberries, and dewberries.
(5) Watermelons.
(b) Vegetables. (1) Beans.
(2) Celery, when free from soil.
(3) Gourds.
(4) Chili and Cayenne peppers (not including bell peppers).
(5) Pumpkins.
(6) Green tomatoes, when commercially packed.
(7) Squash.

These instructions shall become effective May 16, 1956.

The foregoing administrative instructions relieve restrictions by permitting the movement of certain articles without a certificate or limited permit under the Mediterranean fruit fly quarantine and regulations. It has been determined that such movement will not result in the spread of the Mediterranean fruit fly and that the restrictions provided by the quarantine and regulations upon such movement are unnecessary. In order to be of maximum benefit to affected shippers, the instructions relieving such restrictions should be made effective as soon as possible. Therefore, under section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act (5 U. S. C. 1003) it is found upon good cause that notice and other public rule making procedure with respect to the instructions are impracticable and unnecessary.

Since the instructions relieve restrictions, they are within the exception in section 4 (c) of the Administrative Procedure Act and may properly be made effective less than 30 days after their publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

(Sec. 9, 37 Stat. 318; 7 U. S. C. 162. Interprets or applies sec. 8, 37 Stat. 318, as amended; 7 U. S. C. 161)

PART 301—DOMESTIC QUARANTINE NOTICES

ADMINISTRATIVE INSTRUCTIONS DESIGNATING CERTAIN LOCALITIES AS REGULATED AREAS

Pursuant to § 301.78–2 of the regulations supplemental to the Mediterranean Fruit Fly Quarantine (7 CFR 301.78–2 [1]), under sections 8 and 9 of the Plant Quarantine Act of 1912 as amended (7 U. S. C. 161, 162), the Chief of the Plant Pest Control Branch hereby issues administrative instructions to appear in a new subpart, under the heading "Mediterranean fruit fly," in Title 7, Chapter III, Part 301, of the Code of Federal Regulations, as follows:

§ 301.78–2a Administrative instructions designating regulated areas under the Mediterranean fruit fly quarantine and regulations. Infestations of the Mediterranean fruit fly have been determined to exist in the civil divisions, and parts thereof, listed below, or it has been determined that such infestation is likely to exist therein, or it is deemed necessary to regulate such civil divisions and parts thereof because of their proximity to infestation or their inseparability for quarantine purposes from infested localities. Accordingly, such civil divisions, and parts thereof, are hereby designated as Mediterranean fruit fly regulated areas within the meaning of the provisions in this subpart:

Florida: The counties of Broward and Dade.

These administrative instructions shall become effective May 16, 1956.

These instructions list the counties regulated under the Mediterranean fruit fly notice of quarantine and supplemental regulations and supplement such regulations. The notice of quarantine and regulations and the instructions must be made concurrently effective in order to carry out the purposes of the quarantine and regulations. Accordingly, under section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act (5 U. S. C. 1003), it is found upon good cause that notice and other public procedure with respect to the foregoing instructions are impracticable and contrary to the public interest and good cause is found for making the effective date thereof less than 30 days after publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

(Sec. 9, 37 Stat. 318; 7 U. S. C. 162. Interprets or applies sec. 8, 37 Stat. 318, as amended; 7 U. S. C. 161)

728.701 Basis and purpose.
728.702 National marketing quota for wheat for the 1957–58 marketing year.
728.703 1957 national acreage allotment for wheat.

AUTHORITY: §§ 728.701 to 728.703 issued under sec. 375, 52 Stat. 66, as amended; 7 U. S. C. 1375. Interpret or apply secs. 301, 333, 335, 52 Stat. 38, as amended; 7 U. S. C. 1301, 1333, 1335.

§ 728.701 Basis and purpose. (a) The regulations contained in §§ 728.701 to 728.703 are issued to proclaim the national marketing quota for wheat for the marketing year beginning July 1, 1957, and the 1957 national acreage allotment for wheat.

(b) Section 335 of the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, as amended, provides that whenever in any calendar year the Secretary of Agriculture determines (1) that the total supply of wheat for the marketing year beginning in such calendar year will exceed the normal supply for such marketing year by more than 20 per centum, or (2) that the total supply of wheat for the marketing year ending in such calendar year is not less than the normal supply for such marketing year and that the average farm price for wheat for three consecutive months of such marketing year did not exceed 66 per centum of parity, the Secretary shall, not later than May 15 of such calendar year, proclaim such fact and a national marketing quota shall be in effect with respect to the marketing of wheat during the marketing year beginning July 1 of the next succeeding calendar year.

(c) Section 333 of the act, as amended, provides that the national acreage allotment for any crop of wheat shall be that acreage which the Secretary determines will, on the basis of the national average yield of wheat, produce an amount thereof adequate, together with the estimated carry-over at the beginning of the marketing year for such crop and imports, to make available a supply for such marketing year equal to a normal year's domestic consumption and exports plus 30 per centum thereof, but such national acreage allotment cannot be less than 55 million acres.

(d) The findings and determinations by the Secretary contained in §§ 728.702 and 728.703 have been made on the basis of the latest available statistics of the Federal Government, and after due consideration of data, views, and recommendations received from wheat producers and others as provided in the notice (20 F. R. 10062) given in accordance with the Administrative Procedure Act (5 U. S. C. 1003).

(e) Since the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, as amended, requires the holding of a referendum of wheat producers who will be subject to the marketing quotas proclaimed on the 1957 crop not later than July 24, 1956, to determine whether such producers favor such marketing quotas and requires, insofar as practicable, the mailing of notices of farm acreage allotments to farm operators prior to the date of the referendum, it is hereby found that the proclamations contained herein shall become effective upon filing with the Director, Division of Federal Register.

§ 728.702 National marketing quota for wheat for the 1957–58 marketing year. The total supply of wheat for the 1956–57 marketing year is determined to be 1,954 million bushels. The normal supply of wheat for such marketing years is determined to be 1,140 million bushels. This total supply exceeds the normal supply by more than 20 per centum. Therefore, a national marketing quota shall be in effect with respect to the marketing of wheat during the 1957–58 marketing year.

§ 728.703 1957 National acreage allotment for wheat. The estimated carryover of wheat for the marketing year beginning July 1, 1957, is 1,045 million bushels. A normal year's domestic consumption and exports of wheat plus 30 per centum thereof is 1,241 million bushels. Imports of wheat during the marketing year beginning July 1, 1957, are estimated to be 3 million bushels. The national average yield of wheat is 15.6 bushels per acre. The national acreage allotment computed for the 1957 crop is 12,371,795 acres. Since this amount is less than the minimum provided for by law, the national acreage allotment for the 1957 crop of wheat shall be 55 million acres.

Issued at Washington, D. C., this 14th day of May 1956.

Chapter IX—Agricultural Marketing Service (Marketing Agreements and Orders), Department of Agriculture

[945.301 Amdt. 8]

PART 945—TOMATOES GROWN IN FLORIDA

LIMITATION OF SHIPMENTS

Findings. (a) Pursuant to Marketing Agreement No. 125 and Order No. 45 (7 CFR Part 945; 20 F. R. 7357), regulating the handling of tomatoes grown in Florida, effective under the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (48 Stat. 31, as amended; 7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.; 68 Stat. 906, 1047), and upon the basis of the recommendation and information submitted by the Florida Tomato Committee, established pursuant to said marketing agreement and order, and upon other available information, it is hereby found that the amendment to the limitation of shipments, as hereinafter provided, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

(b) It is hereby found that it is impracticable, unnecessary, and contrary to the public interest to give preliminary notice, engage in public rule making procedure, and postpone the effective date of this amendment later than May 16, 1956. The only change in the existing regulation which will be effective by this amendment is to include an additional container under maximum net weight regulation. Growers' prices are adversely affected by over packing, i. e., increasing the net weight of tomatoes per container in excess of customary or normal net contents, especially during periods of declining and low prices. Orderly marketing will be promoted by including this additional container under the maximum net weight requirement for containers specified in this regulation. The time intervening between the date (May 10, 1956) when information upon which this amendment is based became available and the time (May 16, 1956) when this amendment must become effective in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act is insufficient to permit the taking of the aforementioned actions. Compliance with this amendment will not require special preparation on the part of handlers which cannot be completed by May 16, 1956, and reasonable time is permitted, under the circumstances, for such preparation. Information regarding the committee's recommendation, which is herein adopted was made available to producers and handlers in the production area when such recommendation was made to this Department.

Order, as amended. The provisions of § 945.301 (b) (3), as amended (21 F. R. 2408, 2746), are hereby further amended for the period May 16 through May 31, 1956, as follows:

(3) No person shall handle for shipment outside the production area any tomatoes packed in the following containers unless the net weight of such tomatoes in each such container does not exceed the maximum net weight set forth for each such container:

(f) Immediately after its formation the committee shall inform the Commission of the identity of the members thereof, the names and addresses of the companies or concerns represented by such members, and shall supply the Commission with information showing that the membership of the committee is fairly representative of the industry. Changes in composition of the committee shall be reported to the Commission as soon as they may occur.

TITLE 32—NATIONAL DEFENSE

Chapter I—Office of the Secretary of Defense

Subchapter A—Armed Services Procurement Regulations

[Amdt. 12]

MISCELLANEOUS AMENDMENTS

The following amendments are made to this subchapter:

PART 1—GENERAL PROVISIONS

SUBPART B—DEFINITIONS OF TERMS

Section 1.201–1 has been amended by addition of the cross reference to 41 CFR 201.101 in paragraph (a) (2) thereof. Section 1.201–9, as revised, reads as follows:

§ 1.201–9 Sources of supplies. (a) The term "sources of supplies" shall include only (1) manufacturers, (2) construction contractors, and (3) regular dealers in the supplies to be procured. A "regular dealer" shall be deemed to be any one of the following:

(i) A person or firm who owns, operates, or maintains a store, warehouse, or other establishment in which the materials, supplies, articles, or equipment of the general character described by the specifications and required under the contract are bought, kept in stock, and sold to the public in the usual course of business;

(ii) In the case of supplies of particular kinds (lumber and timber products, coal, machine tools, raw cotton, petroleum, green coffee, or hay, grain, feed, and straw), a person or firm satisfying the requirements of Article 101 (b) of the Regulations of the Secretary of Labor (41 CFR 201.101) under the Walsh-Healey Public Contracts Act (41 U. S. C. 35), as amended from time to time.

The definitions in this paragraph shall not apply to contracts for supplies no part of which will be manufactured or furnished within the geographic limits of the continental United States, Alaska, Hawaii, Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands, or the District of Columbia.

(b) A manufacturer, construction contractor, or regular dealer may bid, negotiate, and contract through an authorized agent: Provided, That the agency is disclosed, and the agent acts and contracts in the name of his principal. In this connection, see the clause entitled "Covenant Against Contingent Fees" set forth in §7.103–20 of this subchapter and the procedures prescribed for obtaining information concerning contingent or other fees, as set forth in Subpart E of this part.

PART 3—PROCUREMENT BY NEGOTIATION

SUBPART B—CIRCUMSTANCES PERMITTING NEGOTIATION

In Revision No. 10, § 3.201 was amended so as to restrict the use of section 2 (c) (1) of the Armed Services Procurement Act of 1947. Generally, the amended section represented a return to virtual peace-time methods of procurement. An exception was made in those cases and programs designated by the Secretaries of the military departments. Section 3.201 is further revised to revoke the authority of the Secretaries to authorize the use of section 2 (c) (1) under circumstances other than those set forth in Part 3. Other editorial changes have been made. Attention is invited to current wording of § 3.201–2 (b) which makes mandatory the citation of section 2 (c) (1) in the four instances therein set forth, including negotiated procurement of research and development work for $100,000 or less.

§ 3.201 National emergency.

§ 3.201–1 Authorization. Pursuant to the authority of section 2 (c) (1) of the act, purchases and contracts may be negotiated without formal advertising if—

• • • determined to be necessary in the public interest during the period of a national emergency declared by the President or by the Congress.

§ 3.201–2 Application. (a) This authority shall be used only to the extent determined by the Assistant Secretary of Defense (Supply and Logistics) to be necessary in the public interest, and then only in accordance with Departmental procedures consistent with § 3.201.

(b) With respect to procurements initiated on or after January 1, 1956, and for the duration of the national emergency declared pursuant to Presidential Proclamation 2914, dated December 16, 1950, the Assistant Secretary of Defense (Supply and Logistics) has determined that the following procurements only shall be made pursuant to the authority of section 2 (c) (1) of the act:

(1) Procurements made pursuant to labor surplus and disaster area programs. Set asides shall be negotiated in accordance with procedures set forth in § 3.219.

(2) Procurements made in keeping with the small business programs. Set asides shall be negotiated in accordance with procedures set forth in DOD Directive 4100.9, dated November 14, 1955, Subject: Relationship with The Small Business Administration.

(3) Nonperishable subsistence (pending resolution of the recommendation on this subject contained in the report of the Commission on Organization of the Executive Branch of the Government, subject "Food and Clothing").

(4) Procurements for research and development for $100,000 or less.

(c) Except as authorized in paragraph (b) of this section, procurements may be negotiated only when authorized by subsections (2) through (17) of section 2 (c), and section 2 (e) of the act (§§ 3.202 through 3.218) and § 3.219; determinations and findings shall be made in accordance with section 7 of the act (Subpart C of this part); and the appropriate authority shall be cited in each contract.

PART 5—INTERDEPARTMENTAL PROCUREMENT

SUBPART A—PROCUREMENT UNDER FEDERAL SUPPLY SCHEDULE CONTRACTS

A new § 5.103–3 has been added. In a letter dated January 10, 1956, the Administrator, General Services, has agreed generally that unilateral action will not be taken by G. S. A. in respect to Federal Supply Schedules which are mandatory upon the Department of Defense. Section 5.103—3 sets forth the details of this agreement and indicates procedure for initiating changes in the Schedules.

§ 5.103–3 Establishment or revision of Federal Supply Schedules mandatory upon Department of Defense—(a) Policy. The Administrator of General Services has agreed that the concurrence of the Office of the Secretary of Defense will be obtained prior to establishing a Federal Supply Schedule which is mandatory upon the Department of Defense or prior to adding or removing any items from Federal Supply Schedules which are mandatory upon the Department of Defense or making any other changes in such Schedules affecting their use by Department of Defense in meeting its supply requirements. However, deletion of an item from a Federal Supply Schedule will not require Office of the Secretary of Defense concurrence when the reports of sales for that item amount to less than $1,000 per year except where—

(1) The item is a part or accessory incidental to a basic item;

(2) The item is a component of a unit assembly;

(3) The item has a demonstrated need to fill out a range of colors, sizes or other characteristics; or

(4) The item involves a contract for services.

(b) Procedures. Requests for the establishment of or a change in a Federal Supply Schedule mandatory on elements of the Department of Defense shall be forwarded through channels to the Office of the Assistant Secretary of Defense (Supply and Logistics). Such proposals normally shall be forwarded in sufficient time to provide three months for consideration by all interested elements of the Department of Defense and General Services Administration prior to the desired effective date. In the event action on such proposals is desired in a shorter period of time, a minimum of thirty-five days for consideration should be anticipated. These proposals will be distributed to the representatives of the Military Departments and General Services Administration engaged in the Federal Supply Schedule review program, as appropriate, for comment or concurrence. Any questions will be jointly considered before final action is taken. If the Department of Defense and General Services Administration representatives cannot reach agreement on a question raised regarding proposals involving Federal Supply Schedules mandatory upon the Department of Defense, the question will be forwarded to the Assistant Secretary of Defense (Supply and Logistics) for consideration, and, if appropriate, for a statement of the Department of Defense position to the Administrator of General Services.

PART 7—CONTRACT CLAUSES AND FORMS

SUBPART A—CLAUSES FOR FIXED-PRICE SUPPLY CONTRACTS

1. Section 7.104–12 has been revised so as to clarify responsibilities of signatories to the Security Agreement (DD Form 441) and representatives of the Government. Other editorial changes have been made to reflect current classifications. Section 7.104–12, as revised, reads as follows:

§ 7.104–12 Military security requirements. Insert the following clause in all contracts which are classified by a Department as "Confidential," including "Confidential—Modified Handling Authorized," or higher and in any other contracts the performance of which will require access to such classified information or material, except that this clause shall not be used in contracts performed outside the continental United States, its territories and possessions. In those cases where the situation so warrants because of the nature of the item, or conditions under which it is to be produced, the contract shall provide and establish by a separate contract provision such additional security safeguards as may be required for the protection of that item.

MILITARY SECURITY REQUIREMENTS

(a) The provisions of this clause shall apply to the extent that this contract involves access to information classified "Confidential" including "Confidential—Modified Handling Authorized" or higher.

(b) The Government shall notify the Contractor of the security classification of this contract and the elements thereof, and of any subsequent revisions in such security classification, by the use of a Security Requirements Check List (DD Forms 254 and 254–1).

(c) To the extent the Government has indicated as of the date of this contract or thereafter indicates security classification under this contract as provided in paragraph (b) above, the Contractor shall safeguard all classified elements of this contract and shall provide and maintain a system of security controls within its own organization in accordance with the requirements of:

(i) The Security Agreement (DD Form 441), including the Department of Defense Industrial Security Manual for Safeguarding Classified Information (Part 66) as in effect on date of this contract, and any modification to the Security Agreement for the purpose of adapting the Manual to the Contractor's business; and

(ii) Any amendments to said Manual made after the date of this contract, notice of which has been furnished to the Contractor by the Security Office of the Military Department having security cognizance over the facility.

(d) Representatives of the Military Department having security cognizance over the facility and representatives of the contracting Military Department shall have the right to inspect at reasonable intervals the procedures, methods, and facilities utilized by the Contractor in complying with the security requirements under this contract. Should the Government, through these representatives, determine that the Contractor is not complying with the security requirements of this contract the Contractor shall be informed in writing by the Security Office of the cognizant Military Department of the proper action to be taken in order to effect compliance with such requirements.

(e) If subsequent to the date of this contract, the security classifications or security requirements under this contract are changed by the Government as provided in this clause and the security costs under this contract are thereby increased or decreased, the contract price shall be subject to an equitable adjustment by reason of such increased or decreased costs. Any equitable adjustment shall be accomplished in the same manner as if such changes were directed under the "Changes" clause in this contract.

(f) The Contractor agrees to insert, in all subcontracts hereunder which involve access to classified information, provisions which shall conform substantially to the language of this clause, including this paragraph (f) but excluding the last sentence of paragraph (e) of this clause.

(g) The Contractor also agrees that it shall determine that any subcontractor proposed by it for the furnishing of supplies and services which will involve access to classified information in the Contractor's custody has been granted an appropriate facility security clearance, which is still in effect, prior to being accorded access to such classified information.

2. Section 7.204–12 has been revised so as to clarify responsibilities of signatories to the Security Agreement (DD Form 441) and representatives of the Government. Other editorial changes have been made to reflect current classifications. Section 7.204–12, as revised, reads as follows:

§ 7.204–12 Military Security Requirements. In accordance with the requirements of § 7.104–12, insert the contract clause set forth in said section, deleting paragraphs (e) and (f) therefrom and substituting therefor the following paragraphs (e) and (f):

(e) If, subsequent to the date of this contract, the security classifications or security requirements under this contract are changed by the Government as provided in this clause, and if such change causes an increase or decrease in the estimated cost of performance of this contract, the estimated cost and fixed fee shall, to the extent appropriate, be subject to an equitable adjustment. Any such equitable adjustment shall be accomplished in the manner set forth in the "Changes" clause in this contract.

(f) The Contractor agrees to insert, in all subcontracts hereunder which involve access to classified information, provisions which shall conform substantially to the language of this clause, including this paragraph (f) but excluding paragraph (e) of this clause. The Contractor may insert in any such subcontract, and any such subcontract entered into thereunder may contain, in lieu of paragraph (e) of this clause, provisions which permit equitable adjustments to be made in the subcontract price or in the estimated cost and fixed fee of the subcontract (as appropriate to the type of subcontract involved) on account of changes in security classifications or requirements made under the provisions of this clause subsequent to the date of the subcontract involved.

Attention is directed to the fact that the scope and rates of these taxes, as set forth in this subpart, are subject to change from time to time by amendments to the Internal Revenue Code and Treasury regulations.

§ 11.101 Retailer's excise taxes. Chapter 31 of the Internal Revenue Code (which supersedes Chs. 9A, 19 and 20, I. R. C. 1939), as implemented by Treasury Regulations 51 and 119, imposes retailers' excise taxes upon various types of supplies, enumerated in §§ 11.101–1 to 11.101–5, sold at retail. The tax is not imposed on sales for resale. The sale of taxable supplies to the Government for use or consumption is a taxable retail sale. In general, the tax attaches at the time title passes from the seller and is based on the sales price. A lease of supplies is treated as a sale for the purpose of these taxes, in which event the tax is measured by the rental payments. The sale (or rental) price:

(a) Excludes the retailers excise tax itself, whether or not separately stated

(b) Excludes, if separately stated, any retail sales tax imposed by any State, Territory, or political subdivision thereof, or the District of Columbia, irrespective of whether liability for such tax is imposed on the vendor or vendee;

(c) Includes any charges for packaging or packaging materials; and

(d) Excludes all other service charges such as for transportation, delivery, insurance, and installation.

If after the tax has been paid, the sale price is adjusted for any reason, such as by discount, rebate, allowance, or return of containers, the tax should be adjusted by credit or refund.

§ 11.101–1 Jewelry and related items. A tax of 10 percent of the sale price is imposed upon the following supplies sold at retail: All articles commonly or commercially known as jewelry, whether real or imitation; pearls, precious and semiprecious stones, and imitations thereof; articles made of, ornamented, mounted, or fitted with precious metals or imitations thereof; watches, clocks, cases and movements for watches and clocks, which includes all time measuring devices except watches designed especially for use by the blind; gold, goldplated, silver, or sterling flatware or hollow ware and silver-plated hollow ware (which excludes silver-plated flatware); opera glasses; lorgnettes; and marine glasses, field glasses, binoculars and similar instruments, except those which, because of their size or weight, are ordinarily mounted on tripods or other bases. The tax does not apply to any articles used for religious purposes; to surgical and dental instruments; to frames or mountings for eyeglasses; to fountain pens, mechanical pencils, or smokers' pipes if the only parts of such articles which consist of precious metals are essential parts not used for ornamentation; or to buttons, insignia, and any other devices prescribed for use with the uniforms of the Armed Forces. If the manufacturers' excise tax has been imposed on a pen, mechanical pencil, or cigarette lighter, which is further processed so as to make it subject to the retailers' excise tax on jewelry, the retailer, in computing the retailers' excise tax due on the sale, is entitled to a credit or refund in the amount of the manufacturers' excise tax paid on the article.

§ 11.101–2 Furs. A tax of 10 percent of the sales price is imposed upon the following supplies sold at retail: Articles made of fur on the hide or pelt, and articles of which such fur is the component of chief value—that is, its value is more than three times that of the next most valuable component. The tax is not imposed upon the sale of raw fur. If fur on the hide or pelt is supplied to a dresser or dyer of fur skins or a manufacturer or repairer of fur articles, who produces a taxable article for the use of the supplier of the fur, the transaction is deemed to be a sale at retail and is subject to the tax.

§ 11.101–3 Toilet preparations. A tax of 10 percent of the sales price is imposed upon the following supplies sold at retail: Perfume, essences, extracts, toilet waters, cosmetics, petroleum jellies, hair oils, pomades, hair dressings, hair restoratives, hair dyes, aromatic cachous, toilet powders, and any other similar substance, article, or preparation by whatsoever name known which are used or applied, or intended to be used or applied for toilet purposes, but not including any article intended to be used or applied only in the care of babies.

§ 11.101–4 Luggage and handbags. A tax of 10 percent of the sales price is imposed upon the following supplies (including fittings or accessories sold therewith) sold at retail: Trunks; valises, traveling bags; suitcases; satchels; overnight bags; hat boxes for use by travelers; beach and bathing suit bags; brief cases made of leather or imitation leather; salesmen's sample and display cases; purses, handbags, pocketbooks; wallets; billfolds; card, pass, and key cases; toilet cases; and any other cases, bags, and kits, without regard to size, shape, construction, or material, for use in carrying toilet articles or wearing apparel.

§ 11.101–5 Special fuels. (a) A tax of 2 cents per gallon through March 31, 1956, and 1½ cents per gallon thereafter, is imposed upon certain fuels, other than those taxable as gasoline under section 4081 of the Internal Revenue Code (see § 11.102–3) as follows:

(1) Diesel fuel—any liquid—

(i) Sold by any person to an owner, lessee, or other operator of a diesel-powered highway vehicle, for use as a fuel in such vehicle, or

(ii) Used by any person as a fuel in a diesel-powered highway vehicle unless there was a taxable sale of such liquid under subdivision (i) of this subparagraph; and

(2) Special motor fuels—benzol, benzene, naphtha, liquid petroleum gas or any other liquid (other than kerosene, gas oil, fuel oil, or a product taxable under subparagraph (1) of this paragraph—

(i) Sold by any person to an owner, lessee, or other operator of a motor vehicle, motorboat, or airplane for use as a fuel for the propulsion of such motor vehicle, motorboat, or airplane; or

(ii) Used by any person as a fuel for the propulsion of a motor vehicle, motorboat, or airplane unless there was a taxable sale of such liquid under subdivision (i) of this subparagraph.

(b) If fuel upon which this tax has been paid is not used as a fuel in a diesel-powered highway vehicle or to propel a motor vehicle, motorboat, or airplane, the retailer is entitled to a credit or refund for the tax paid, if such retailer has not included the tax in the sales price or otherwise collected the tax from the purchaser, has repaid the tax to the purchaser, or has the purchaser's written consent to take the credit or refund. When it is economically advantageous to do so, this credit or refund shall be utilized in accordance with Departmental procedures.

(c) If the manufacturers' excise tax on gasoline (see § 11.102–3) has been paid on any material used in the production of a special motor fuel taxable under paragraph (a) (2) of this section, the manufacturer of the gasoline is entitled to a refund or credit of such tax, subject to the conditions stated in paragraph (b) of this section. The contract price for special motor fuels purchased by any Department shall not include an amount for any manufacturers' excise tax on gasoline that was used in the production of the special motor fuel.

§ 11.102 Manufacturers' excise taxes. Chapter 32 of the Internal Revenue Code (which supersedes Ch. 29, I. R. C. 1939) as implemented by Treasury Regulations 44 and 46, imposes manufacturers' excise taxes upon various types of supplies, enumerated in §§ 11.102–1 to 11.102–14, sold by a manufacturer, producer, or importer. In general, the tax attaches at the time title passes from the manufacturer and is based on the sale price. A lease of supplies is treated as a sale for the purpose of these taxes, in which event the tax is measured by the rental payments even though such payments exceed the price or fair value of the supply (with the exception of a special rule which applies to the rental of trailers suitable for use with passenger automobiles, permitted by section 4216 (d), I. R. C.). The sale (or rental) price excludes the tax itself and all service charges connected with the sale, such as transportation, delivery, insurance, or installation charges, except charges for packaging and packaging materials, which are included. If after the tax has been paid, the sale price is adjusted for any reason, such as by discount, rebate, allowance, or return of containers, the tax shall be adjusted by credit or refund, except where the administrative cost would make tax adjustment uneconomical. Supplies subject to the retailers' excise tax on jewelry (see § 11,101–1) are not subject to the manufacturers' excise taxes.

§ 11.102–1 Motor vehicles. (a) A tax at the indicated rates is imposed upon the following supplies (including parts and accessories sold therewith) sold by a manufacturer, producer, or importer:

(1) Chassis and bodies of trucks, buses, truck and bus trailers and semitrailers, and tractors of the kind chiefly used for highway transportation in combination with a trailer or semitrailer—8 percent through March 31, 1956, and 5 percent thereafter; except that this tax does not apply to equipment designed for off-the-road use, such as self-propelled construction equipment and equipment designed for use at mines, factories, railroad stations, and farms;

(2) Chassis and bodies of automobiles, and trailers (other than house trailers) suitable for use with passenger automobiles—10 percent through March 31, 1956, and 7 percent thereafter; and

(3) Parts or accessories, which are defined to include any article—

(i) The primary use of which is to improve, repair, replace, or serve as a component part of a motor vehicle;

(ii) Designed to be attached to or used in connection with a motor vehicle or to add to its utility or ornamentation; or

(iii) The primary use of which is in connection with a motor vehicle whether or not essential to its operation or use.

Spark plugs, storage batteries, leaf springs, coils, timers, and tire chains, which are suitable for use on or in connection with, or as component parts of, a taxable motor vehicle are treated as parts or accessories whether or not primarily adapted for such use. The tax on parts or accessories does not apply to any article sold for use (or for a single resale for use) as material in the manufacture of, or as a component part of, any article, whether or not such article is subject to a manufacturers' excise tax. If, after August 31, 1955, a manufacturer uses a tax-paid part or accessory as material in the manufacture of, or as a component part of, any article, such manufacturer is entitled to a credit or refund of the tax paid on the part or accessory. The contract price of supplies purchased by any Department shall not include an amount for the manufacturers' excise tax on automobile parts or accessories purchased for use, or after August 31, 1955, used in the manufacture of any article.

(b) The tax on automotive parts or accessories does not apply to tires, inner tubes, and automobile radio and television receivers. If a manufacturer of motor vehicles sells these articles in connection with the sale of a taxable motor vehicle, he may take a credit against the motor vehicle tax in the amount of the motor vehicle tax rate applied to his purchase price of the tires, inner tubes, and automobile radio and television receivers. The contract price for supplies purchased by any Department shall not include an amount for the manufacturers' excise tax on motor vehicles or automotive parts or accessories to the extent that these credits are available.

§ 11.102–2 Tires and tubes. (a) A tax at the indicated rates is imposed upon the following supplies, made wholly or in part of rubber, including synthetic and substitute rubber, sold by a manufacturer, producer, or importer:

(1) Tires, which include pneumatic and solid tires, casings, hoops, strips and bands of all kinds, which are designed to fit the wheel on any type of vehicle that is capable of transporting a person or burden—5 cents a pound on total weight, excluding metal rims or rim bases, but including any other material or fastening device that forms a part of the tire: except that the tax does not apply to tires which are more than 20 inches in diameter and not more than 1¾ inches in cross-section, if such tires are of all-

rubber construction without fabric or metal reinforcement, nor does it apply to tires of extruded tiring with an internal wire fastening agent; and

(2) Inner tubes, which include any type of air container for pneumatic tires—9 cents a pound on total weight, including air valves and stems.

(b) The exemption for sales for further manufacture does not apply to taxable tires and tubes. However, if tax-paid tires and tubes are sold in connection with the sale by a manufacturer of a taxable motor vehicle, a credit against the tax on the motor vehicle is allowed to the extent of the motor vehicle tax rate applied to the manufacturer's purchase price on the tires and tubes (see § 11.102–1 (b)).

§ 11.102–3 Gasoline. A tax of 2 cents per gallon through March 31, 1956, and 1½ cents per gallon thereafter, is imposed on gasoline sold by a producer or importer. Gasoline means all products commonly or commercially known as gasoline, including casinghead and natural gasoline, but excluding kerosene gas oil, or fuel oil, and also excluding any product taxable as a special motor fuel under section 4041 of the Internal Revenue Code (see § 11.101–5). The tax does not apply to the sale of gasoline to a producer, which is defined to include a refiner, compounder, blender, or dealer who sells gasoline exclusively to producers of gasoline.

§ 11.102–4 Lubricating oils. (a) A tax at the indicated rates is imposed upon the following classes of lubricating oils sold, other than to another manufacturer or producer for resale, by a manufacturer or producer (but not upon oil sold by an importer):

(1) Cutting oils, which means oils sold for use in cutting and machining operations, including forging, drawings, rolling, shearing, punching, and stamping on metals—3 cents per gallon; and

(2) Other lubricating oils, which means all oils, regardless of origin, which are sold as lubricating oil or are suitable for use as a lubricant, not including products commonly known as grease—6 cents per gallon. Certain products, other than those commonly known as grease, are not considered to be lubricating oils, and accordingly are not subject to the tax. These include petrolatum, and fatty oils of vegetable, animal, fish, and marine origin which in their natural state are not sold as lubricating oils.

(b) An exemption is available for lubricating oils sold by a manufacturer directly to a purchaser who uses the oil for nonlubricating purposes. In applying this exemption, oils can be grouped into two classes:

(1) Oils which are exempted if the manufacturer obtains an exemption certificate from the purchaser in the form prescribed by the Treasury regulations; and

(2) Oils which are exempted without an exemption certificate. Oils of the second class include crude neatsfoot oil; electrical transformer insulating oil; white oil; and lubricating oils which are packaged in sealed containers of one gallon or less, labeled and sold for nonlubricating purposes. With the exception of oils which are packaged in sealed containers of one gallon or less, labeled and sold for nonlubricating purposes, oils of neither class may be sold tax-free to dealers for resale even though it is known that the oil will be used for nonlubricating purposes. If, however, oil upon which a tax has been paid is used for nonlubricating purposes, the manufacturer is entitled to a credit or refund, irrespective of whether the oil was sold directly to the consumer by the manufacturer or was sold through a dealer. A credit or refund is also allowed when a lubricating oil upon which the 6-cent per gallon tax has been paid is used as a cutting oil taxable at 3 cents per gallon. When it is economically advantageous to do so, the exemption, credit, or refund for oil sold for use or used for nonlubricating purposes, and the credit or refund for lubricating oil used as cutting oil shall be utilized in accordance with Departmental procedures.

§ 11.102–5 Refrigeration equipment. A tax at the indicated rates is imposed upon the following supplies (including parts or accessories sold therewith) sold by a manufacturer, producer, or importer:

(a) Household type refrigerators, which include units not exceeding 14 cubic feet net storage space for single or multiple cabinet installations having, or designed for use with, a mechanical refrigerating unit operated by electricity, gas, kerosene, or gasoline; household type units for the quick freezing or frozen storage of foods operated by electricity, gas, kerosene, or gasoline—10 percent;

(b) Refrigerator components, which means cabinets, compressors, condensors, condensing units, evaporators, expansion units, absorbers, and controls for, or suitable for use as parts of or with, taxable household type refrigerators or quick freeze units, except when sold as a component part or accessory with the sale of complete refrigerators, refrigerating or cooling apparatus, or quick freeze units—5 percent. Exemption from the tax is available on the sale of a refrigerator component for use (or for a single resale for use) as material in the manufacture of, or as a component part of, any article, whether or not such article is subject to a manufacturers' excise tax. If, after August 31, 1955, a manufacturer uses a tax-paid refrigerator component in the manufacture of, or as a component part of, any article, such manufacturer is entitled to a credit or refund of the tax paid on the refrigerator component. The contract price for supplies purchased by any Department shall not include an amount for the manufacturers' excise tax on refrigerator components purchased for use, or after August 31, 1955, used in the manufacture of any article; and

(c) Self-contained air-conditioning units—10 percent.

§ 11.102–6 Electric, gas, and oil appliances. A tax of 5 percent is imposed upon the following household supplies (including parts or accessories sold therewith), whether or not used domestically, sold by a manufacturer, producer, or importer: Electric, gas, or oil water heaters; electric, gas, and oil appliances of the type used for cooking, warming, or keeping warm food or beverages for consumption on the premises; electric flatirons, air heaters (not including furnaces), immersion heaters, blankets, sheets and spreads, mixers, whippers, and juicers, belt-driven fans, exhaust blowers, door chimes, dehumidifiers, dishwashers, floor polishers and waxers, food choppers and grinders, hedge trimmers, ice cream freezers, mangles, pants pressers, and garbage disposal units; electric and gas clothes driers; and power lawn mowers. The tax is also imposed upon electric direct motor driven fans and air circulators not of the industrial type.

§ 11.102–7 Electric light bulbs. A tax of 10 percent is imposed upon electric light bulbs and tubes, not subject to any other manufacturers' exercise tax, sold by a manufacturer, producer, or importer.

§ 11.102–8 Radio and television receiving sets, phonographs and records, musical instruments. A tax of 10 percent is imposed upon the following supplies (including, except as to musical instruments, parts or accessories sold therewith) sold by a manufacturer, producer, or importer:

(a) Radio and television receiving sets, automobile radio and television receiving sets, phonographs, and combinations of any of the foregoing, if such articles are of the entertainment type. The contract price of any of these supplies, not of the entertainment type, delivered to any Department after August 31, 1955, shall not include any amount for the manufacturers' excise tax, irrespective of the date of the contract, if the contract price is subject to adjustment for changes in the contractor's Federal excise tax burden. The exemption for sales to manufacturers does not apply to automobile radio and television receivers; however, if tax-paid receivers are sold in connection with the sale by a manufacturer of a taxable motor vehicle, a credit against the tax on the motor vehicle is allowed to the extent of the motor vehicle tax rate applied to the manufacturer's purchase price on the receiver (see § 11.102–1 (b); and

(b) Radio and television components, which means chassis, cabinets, tubes, speakers, amplifiers, power supply units, antennae of the built-in type, and phonograph mechanisms, which are suitable for use on or in connection with, or as a component part of any taxable radio and television receiver or phonograph; and phonograph records. The tax on radio and television components and phonograph records applies irrespective of whether or not they are of an entertainment type. Exemption from the tax is available as to components—

(1) Sold for use as material in the manufacture of, or as a component of, an article subject to a manufacturers' excise tax; or

(2) Sold for use or actually used after August 31, 1955, as material in the manufacture of, or as a component part of, any article, whether or not such article is subject to a manufacturers' excise tax.

A manufacturer using a tax-paid component within the scope of any of the above exemptions, is entitled to a credit or refund of the tax paid on the component. The contract price for supplies purchased by any Department shall not include an amount for the manufacturers' excise tax on radio and television components from which any of these exemptions, credits, or refunds are available to the manufacturer.

§ 11.102–9 Sporting goods. A tax of 10 percent is imposed upon certain types of sporting equipment (including parts or accessories sold therewith) sold by a manufacturer, producer, or importer.

§ 11.102–10 Photographic equipment. A tax at the indicated rates is imposed upon the following supplies (including parts or accessories sold therewith) sold by a manufacturer, producer, or importer:

(a) Cameras, not including X-ray cameras or cameras weighing more than four pounds exclusive of lens and accessories—10 percent;

(b) Camera lenses, not including still camera lenses having a focal length of more than 120 millimeters or motion picture camera lenses having a focal length of more than 30 millimeters—10 percent. Exemption from the tax is available as to camera lenses—

(1) Sold for use as material in the manufacture of, or as a component part of, an article subject to a manufacturers' excise tax; or

(2) Sold for use or actually used after August 31, 1955, as material in the manufacture of, or as a component part of any article, whether or not such article is subject to a manufacturer's excise tax.

A manufacturer, using a tax-paid camera lens within the scope of any of the above exemptions, is entitled to a credit or refund of any tax paid on the lens. The contract price for supplies purchased by any Department shall not include amounts for the manufacturers' excise tax on camera lenses from which any of these exemptions, credits, or refunds are available to the manufacturer;

(c) unexposed photographic film in rolls, including motion picture film—10 percent. This tax does not apply to X-ray film; unperforated microfilm; film more than 150 feet in length; or film more than 25 feet in length and more than 30 millimeters in width. A person who acquires unexposed film in a form not subject to tax and thereafter sells such unexposed film in form and dimensions subject to tax is treated as a manufacturer of the film so sold by him. The manufacturer of unexposed motion picture films is entitled to a credit or refund (but not an exemption) for film used or resold for use in making newsreel motion picture films covering current news events for immediate relcase for public exhibition; and

(d) electric motion or still picture projectors of the household type—5 percent.

§ 11.102–11 Firearms, shells, and cartridges. Although a tax is imposed upon pistols and revolvers at the rate of 10 percent, and other firearms, shells, and cartridges at the rate of 11 percent, sold by a manufacturer, producer, or importer, it does not attach to the sale or transfer to such articles purchased with funds appropriated for the Military Departments. In addition to this manufacturers' excise tax, Chapter 53A of the Internal Revenue Code (which supersedes Ch. 25, I. R. C. 1939) imposes a transfer tax and a tax on the manufacture of machine guns and certain other firearms; except that transfer to, or manufacture for, the United States is specifically exempted from these taxes.

§ 11.102–12 Business machines. A tax of 10 percent is imposed upon a wide variety of business machines (including parts or accessories sold therewith), not including cash registers of the type used in registering over-the-counter retail sales, sold by a manufacturer, producer, or importer.

§ 11.102–13 Pens, mechanical pencils, and lighters. A tax of 10 percent is imposed upon fountain and ball point pens, mechanical pencils, and mechanical lighters for cigarettes, cigars, and pipes, sold by a manufacturer, producer, or importer; except that this tax does not apply if the article also is subject to the retailers' excise tax on jewelry imposed by section 4001 of the Internal Revenue Code. If the manufacturers' excise tax has been paid, but the article is further processed so as to subject it to the retailers' excise tax, the retailer (but not the manufacturer who originally paid the tax) is entitled to a credit to the extent of the manufacturers' excise tax paid on the article. (See § 11.101–1).

§ 11.102–14 Matches. A tax of 2 cents per 1,000, not to exceed 10 percent of the price for which sold, is imposed upon matches sold by a manufacturer, producer, or importer, except that the rate is 5½ cents per 1,000 for fancy wooden matches or matches having a stained, dyed, or colored stick or stem, whether packed in boxes or in bulk.

§ 11.103 Excise taxes on facilities and services. Chapter 33 of the Internal Revenue Code (which supersedes Ch. 30, I. R. C. 1939), implemented by Treasury Regulations 42 and 113, imposes excise taxes on certain facilities and services, including communications, and transportation of persons, property, and oil by pipeline. In general, the tax is based on the amount paid for the service, and is imposed upon the person paying for the service, except that the tax on the transportation of oil by pipeline is imposed on the person supplying the transportation.

§ 11.103–1 Communications. A tax is imposed on amounts paid for the following facilities and services at the rates hereinafter indicated; except that only one payment of tax is required on long distance telephone or telegraph service, notwithstanding that lines or stations of more than one person are used in the transmission:

(a) Local telephone service, which means any telephone service not otherwise taxable, excluding amounts paid for the installation of instruments, wires, poles, switchboards, apparatus, and equipment—10 percent;

(b) Long distance telephone service, which means any telephone or radio telephone message or conversation for which the toll charge exceeds 24 cents and for which the charge is paid within the United States—10 percent.

(c) Telegraph service, which means a telegraph, cable, or radio dispatch or message for which the charge is paid within the United States—10 percent;

(d) Leased wire, teletypewriter or talking circuit special service, not including any service used exclusively in rendering a service taxable as wire and equipment service under paragraph (e) of this section—10 percent. This tax applies irrespective of whether the wires or services are within a local exchange area; and

(e) Wire and equipment service, which includes stock quotation and information services, burglar or fire alarm services, and all other similar services—8 percent. This tax applies irrespective of whether the wires or services are within a local exchange area.

§ 11.103–2 Transportation of persons. (a) A tax of 10 percent is imposed upon amounts paid for the transportation of persons by rail, motor vehicle, water, or air, including charges for seating or sleeping accommodations in connection with such transportation, as follows:

(1) On amounts paid within the United States for transportation within or without the United States; and

(2) On amounts paid outside the United States for transportation which begins and ends in the United States. The tax does not apply to transportation any part of which is outside the northern portion of the Western Hemisphere, except as to that part of such transportation that is from one port or station in the United States, Canada (not including Newfoundland), or Mexico to another port or station within the United States, Canada (not including Newfoundland), or Mexico.

(b) The tax does not apply to—

(1) Any separable and itemized charges other than those for transportation of a person, such as for an automobile, baggage, meals, hotel accommodations, insurance, and the like;

(2) Charges incident to the charter of a conveyance for the transportation of persons, such as for parking, icing, sanitation, layover, movement of equipment in deadhead service, dockage, and the like; or

(3) Charges for transportation by motor vehicles having a seating capacity of less than 10 persons and not operated on an established line.

§ 11.103–3 Transportation of property. (a) A tax of 3 percent (4 cents per short ton on coal, including lignite, coal dust, coke briquettes) is imposed upon amounts paid to a person engaged in the business of transporting property for hire by rail, motor vehicle, water, or air. The tax applies to—

(1) Amounts paid within or without the United States for transportation from one point in the United States to another; and

(2) Amounts paid within the United States for that portion within the United States of transportation from a point outside to a point within the United States.

(b) The tax does not apply to the transportation of property in the course of exportation or shipment to a possession of the United States (see § 11.201), nor to an uninterrupted shipment moving through the United States from one foreign point to another. If any such shipment is interrupted in the United States for any purpose of the shipper rather than a fault of transportation, it is treated as two shipments, one to and the other from the point of interruption, of which the former may be taxable in whole or in part according to the rules stated above. If the tax is expressly excluded from the contract (or subcontract) price and an exemption certificate prescribed by the Treasury Regulations is filed with the carrier, the tax is inapplicable to shipments for export under a commercial bill of lading consigned to an officer of a Military Department at a port of exportation. When it is economically advantageous to do so, this exemption shall be utilized in accordance with Departmental procedures.

(c) For the taxability of exported domestic shipments under a Government bill of lading, see § 11.202 (c).

(d) The amount subject to tax includes—

(1) Any charges for services incident to the transportation movement, such as loading, unloading, blocking, staking, elevation, transfer in transit, ventilation, refrigeration, icing, storage, demurrage, lighterage, trimming of cargo in vessels, wharfage, and handling, feeding, and watering of livestock; and

(2) Separate and itemized charges for baggage transported in connection with the transportation of persons, including incidental charges for excess weight or value, storage, transfer, special delivery, and the like.

The tax applies to all forms of transportation, local or otherwise, including drayage, towing, ferrying, and switching; however, it does not apply to the transportation of earth, rock, or other material excavated within the boundaries of, and in the course of, a construction project and transported to any place within, or adjacent to, the boundaries of such project, nor does it apply to the transportation of coal from the mine to a preparation plant. No amount paid for the transportion of property is subject to tax if and to the extent that a tax on such transportation previously has been paid. An amount paid for the transportation of coal, coke, or briquettes is not taxable if there has been a previous taxable transportation of the coal or coal dust from which the coke or briquettes were made.

§ 11.103–4 Transportation of oil by pipeline. A tax of 4½ percent is imposed upon the amount paid for the transportation by pipeline of crude petroleum and liquid products thereof. In contrast with the other excise taxes on facilities and services, the legal incidence of this tax is upon the person furnishing such transportation. If no charge is made for the transportation, or if the charge made is less than a fair charge (unless such charge results from an arm's length transaction), the tax is based on the fair charge for such transportation.

11.204 Supplies for vessels and airplanes.
11.205 Other exemptions.
11.206 Tax exemption forms.

AUTHORITY: §§ 11.200 to 11.206 issued under sec. 1, 54 Stat. 712, as amended, sec. 201, 55 Stat. 839, 62 Stat. 20, sec. 638, 66 Stat. 537; 50 U. S. C. App. 1171, 611, 41 U. S. C. 151–162, E. O. 9001, 6 F. R. 6787, E. O. 9296, 8 F. R. 1429; 3 CFR, 1943 Cum. Supp.

§ 11.200 Scope of subpart. This subpart sets forth the applicability and scope of general exemptions, credits, and refunds from the Federal excise taxes outlined in Subpart A of this part, and the policy governing when such exemptions, credits, and refunds are to be claimed. Particular exemptions restricted to a single tax are set forth in Subpart A of this part in the discussion of each tax.

§ 11.201 Supplies for exportation or shipment to a possession. Exemption is available from the retailers' and manufacturers' excise taxes on sales of supplies for export, or for shipment to a possession of the United States (which excludes the Territories of Alaska and Hawaii, but includes the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, Panama Canal Zone, Virgin Islands, Guam, American Samoa, Wake Island, and Midway Islands). Although not based on an exemption but upon the limited scope of the tax, the transportation tax on property is not imposed on shipments for export or to a possession of the United States (see § 11.103–3).

§ 11.201–1 Retailers' excise taxes. Pursuant to section 4056 of the Internal Revenue Code (which supersedes sec. 2406, I. R. C. 1939) and applicable Treasury regulations, exemption is available from the retailers' excise taxes on sales of supplies for export, or for shipment to a possession of the United States. This exemption shall be obtained only when—

(a) The purchase is substantial;

(b) Exportation or shipment to a possession is intended to follow not more than 6 months after title passes to the Government; and

(c) In accordance with Departmental procedures.

This exemption shall be obtained by purchasing on a tax-exclusive basis and furnishing the required proof of exportation or shipment to a possession.

§ 11.201–2 Manufacturers' excise taxes. Pursuant to section 4225 of the Internal Revenue Code (which supersedes secs. 3449 and 2705, I. R. C. 1939) and applicable Treasury regulations, exemption is available from the manufacturers' excise taxes on sales of supplies for export, or for shipment to a possession of the United States. This exemption shall be obtained only when—

(a) The purchase is substantial;

(b) Exportation or shipment to a possession is intended to follow not more than 6 months after title passes to the Government; and

(c) In accordance with Departmental procedures.

This exemption is limited to sales by a manufacturer, and is not applicable to sales for export or shipment to a possession from the stock of a person who was not the manufacturer, producer, or importer. This exemption shall be obtained by procurement on a tax-exclusive basis and furnishing the required proof of exportation or shipment to a possession.

§ 11.202 Supplies and services for the exclusive use of the United States. By virtue of action taken by the Secretary of the Treasury, pursuant to section 4293 of the Internal Revenue Code, exemption is available, and shall be obtained from the following Federal excise taxes to the extent indicated:

(a) Tax on communication services and facilities (see § 11.103–1) furnished directly to the United States (as distinguished from being furnished to a Government contractor) and paid for directly by the Government, which exemption is obtained without any exemption certificate;

(b) Tax on transportation of persons (see § 11.103–2) for transportation furnished the United States upon a Government transportation request, which exemption is obtainable by use of such transportation request; and

(c) Tax on transportation of property (see § 11.103–3) for transportation to or from the Government on a Government bill of lading, which exemption is obtainable by use of such bill of lading. This exemption applies to shipments on commercial bills of lading which are converted to Government bills of lading at destination.

§ 11.203 Supplies sold for further manufacture. (a) Pursuant to section 4220 of the Internal Revenue Code (which supersedes sec. 3442, I. R. C. 1939) and applicable Treasury regulations, supplies (other than tires, inner tubes, and automobile radios and television receivers) are exempt from manufacturers' excise taxes if sold for use by the vendee in the manufacture of, or as a component part of, another article; or for resale by the vendee for such further manufacture by his vendee, if the article is resold in due course. In applying this exemption, there are two classes of supplies:

(1) Automobile parts or accessories, refrigerator components, radio or television components, and camera lenses, the sale of which is exempt irrespective of whether or not the article to be manufactured is subject to a manufacturers' excise tax. The manufacturer is entitled to a credit or refund for the amount of the tax paid on such parts, accessories, components, or lenses if this exemption has not been utilized and if such parts, accessories, components, or lenses upon which a manufacturers' excise tax has been paid, are used in the manufacture of, or as a component part of, any article (whether or not taxable); and

(2) All other articles (other than tires, inner tubes, automobile radio and television receivers) subject to a manufacturers' excise tax, the sale of which is exempt only if the article to be manufactured is subject to a manufacturers' excise tax. The manufacturer is entitled to a credit or refund of the amount of tax paid on any such article used for further manufacture if this exemption has not been utilized and if such article, upon which a manufacturers' excise tax has been paid, is used in the manufacture of, or as a component of, another article upon which a manufacturers' excise tax is subsequently paid, or which subsequently is sold tax-free as a sale for further manufacture pursuant to section 4220 of the Internal Revenue Code.

(b) These exemptions, credits, and refunds under paragraph (a) (1) and (2) of this section are obtainable by the manufacturer without any action by the Contracting Officer. The contract price for supplies purchased by any Department shall not include an amount for any manufacturers' excise tax from which these exemptions, credits, or refunds are available.

§ 11.204 Supplies for vessels and airplanes. Pursuant to section 4222 of the Internal Revenue Code (which supersedes secs. 3451 and 2456, I. R. C. 1939) and applicable Treasury regulations, exemption is available from the manufacturers' excise taxes, and from the retailers' excise tax on special motor fuels imposed by section 4041 (b) of the Internal Revenue Code (see § 11.101–5) on sales of supplies for use as sea stores, fuel supplies, ships' stores, or legitimate equipment necessary for the navigation, propulsion, and upkeep of vessels of war or military aircraft, including guided missiles and pilotless aircraft, owned or chartered by the United States. If supplies upon which a tax has been paid are sold for any of the exempt uses enumerated above, the manufacturer is entitled to a credit or refund of the tax paid, irrespective of whether the supplies are sold directly to the consumer by the manufacturer or are sold through a dealer. When it is economically advantageous to do so, this exemption, credit, or refund shall be utilized, by purchase on a tax-exclusive basis and execution of the required exemption certificate, in accordance with Departmental procedures.

§ 11.205 Other exemptions. If any Department purchases supplies or services subject to Federal excise taxes, other than those contained in Chapters 31, 32, 33B, and 33C of the Internal Revenue Code and outlined in Subpart A of this part, such Department shall prescribe rules to govern the utilization of any exemptions from such taxes.

§ 11.206 Tax exemption forms. Standard Government exemption forms acceptable to the Internal Revenue Service shall be used in accordance with Departmental procedures (see § 16.804 of this subchapter).

SUBPART D—CONTRACT CLAUSES

The caption and minor changes have been made to § 11.402 as follows:

§ 11.402 Cost-reimbursement type contracts. No specific tax clause is required in any cost-reimbursement type contract. In all such contracts the problem of Federal, State, and local taxes (which presents solely a question of allowability of costs in connection with the performance of cost-reimbursement type contracts) is covered in the contract clause set forth in § 7.203–4 of this subchapter and is treated in Part 15 of this subchapter.

Chapter XI—National Guard and State Guard, Department of the Army

PART 1101—NATIONAL GUARD REGULATIONS

PROMOTION OF OFFICERS

Section 1101.4 is revised to read as follows:

§ 1101.4 Promotion—(a) General. (1) The promotion of National Guard officers is the function of the proper State authorities. As in original appointments, an officer promoted by State authorities to a high grade has a State status in the higher grade under which he can function. However, an officer will not be eligible for promotion as a Reserve commissioned officer of the Army in the higher grade until he has been extended Federal recognition as provided in § 1101.3.

(2) Promotion will be based on efficiency, length of service in grade, demonstrated command and staff ability at the appropriate level, and will be effected only when an appropriate vacancy exists in the applicable TOE or table of organization of the unit.

(3) To be eligible for promotion an officer must be in an active status.

(b) Promotion service. "Promotion service" means the aggregate of the following:

(1) Any period an officer has held or is credited with having held a permanent appointment in his current grade in the Army while in active status or on the active list of the Regular Army. Like service in any of the other Armed Forces of the United States may also be credited provided the officer's duty or assignment in the other Armed Force required similar qualifications to those of his present grade and branch. Such cases, however, will be referred to the Chief, National Guard Bureau, for determination. An officer may, for the purpose of this section, be credited with having held a permanent appointment in his current grade from the promotion eligibility date shown on the instrument of promotion.

(2) For an officer who was on active duty prior to September 3, 1945, any period served on active duty in the Army prior to January 1, 1949 in a temporary grade equal to or higher than his current grade. Like service in any of the Armed Forces of the United States may also be credited as indicated in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph.

(3) Any period of "constructive credit" which is in excess of the minimum years of service required for the grade in which initially appointed in a special branch.

(c) Requirements for promotion. To be eligible for promotion, an officer must meet the requirements of both minimum years of promotion service and military education.

(1) Minimum years of promotion service. (i) Promotion may be upon completion of the following years of promotion service:

(a) Except as provided in subdivision (ii) of this subparagraph, a second lieutenant may be federally recognized in the next higher grade until he has three years of promotion service. A second lieutenant must be promoted to first lieutenant by or on the date he completes three years of promotion service, or be eliminated.

(b) An officer, other than an adjutant general of a State, Territory, or the District of Columbia, in a grade above second lieutenant may not be examined for Federal recognition in the next higher grade until he has the following minimum years of promotion service:

| Grade: | Minimum years of promotion service |
|---|---|
| First lieutenant | 2 |
| Captain | 4 |
| Major | 4 |
| Lieutenant colonel | 3 |
| Colonel | 2 |
| Brigadier general | 2 |

(ii) As an exception to the above, an officer in the grade of second lieutenant or first lieutenant who has served creditably in a position vacancy of a captain for 12 months may be examined for Federal recognition in the next higher grade provided he is otherwise qualified. An officer may be promoted only once under this exception.

(2) Minimum educational requirements. The following minimum educational requirements will be a prerequisite for promotion above the grade of first lieutenant:

(i) To general officer. Except for State adjutants general, the successful completion or receipt of constructive credit for either one of the regular or associate courses or the special associate course (Division) of the Command and General Staff College, or successful completion of the USAR school, Command and General Staff Course (Division), or successful completion of a course of instruction at a higher level military service school. Waiver of this requirement may, until January 1, 1958, be recommended in the case of outstanding and especially qualified officers who have demonstrated their ability by the actual performance of duties in positions of general officer grade.

(ii) To colonel of a combat branch. The successful completion of an appropriate course of the Command and General Staff College, or a local branch thereof.

(iii) To field grades (other than to colonel of a combat branch). Successful completion of the regular or associate advanced course of the appropriate branch service school, at local branch thereof, or a higher school.

(iv) To company grade. Successful completion of the regular or associate basic course of the appropriate branch service school, or a higher course.

(v) To any grade. To any grade, except general officer, in lieu of the requirements in subdivisions (ii), (iii) and (iv) of this subparagraph.

(a) Successful completion of the Army Extension Course applicable to the branch and new grade.

(b) Officers who complete, or have completed, a minimum of 1 year of active military service in grade, and whose efficiency report for that period reflects a satisfactory manner of duty performance, may be considered to have met the military educational requirements for promotion to the next higher grade (up to and including colonel) than the grade held during the period of active military service, provided that the promotion is in the same branch as that in which the active military service was performed.

(c) A candidate for promotion in the Medical Corps, Dental Corps, Judge Advocate General's Corps, and Chaplains may be considered to have satisfied the military educational requirements for promotion to the next higher grade when the Federal recognition examining board determines that he has acquired professional knowledge and experience adequate to the next higher grade through the pursuit of his profession in which the work performed closely parallels his prescribed military duties.

(d) Evidence of having satisfactorily performed either of the following, on his branch, while on active military service:

(1) Performance in the higher grade, or

(2) Performance of the duties of the higher grade, while actually assigned to the higher position for a minimum of six months.

(vi) All promotions. Professional qualifications for the grade in which promoted shall be evidenced, as an added requirement, by satisfactory performance of military duties in the grade from which promoted as reflected by periodic efficiency reports and recommendations of the appropriate commanders in the chain of command.

(3) Minimum ages. The minimum ages as prescribed in § 1101.3 will apply for promotion of officers.

(d) Promotion upon release from active duty. Notwithstanding the provisions of paragraph (c) of this section, an officer upon release from active duty will be eligible for promotion to the highest temporary grade in which he served satisfactorily on active duty.

TITLE 46—SHIPPING

Chapter I—Coast Guard, Department of the Treasury

Subchapter O—Regulations Applicable to Certain Vessels During Emergency

PART 154—WAIVERS OF NAVIGATION AND VESSEL INSPECTION LAWS AND REGULATIONS [1]

VESSELS OPERATED BY PACIFIC MICRONESIAN LINES, INC.

The Secretary of Defense in a letter to the Secretary of the Treasury dated April 23, 1956, recommended a general waiver of navigation and vessel inspection laws of the United States as follows:

Each year since 1951, the Secretary of Defense has recommended waiver of the vessel inspection laws of the United States for certain vessels operating in the waters of the Trust Territory. This is to recommend a limited waiver similar to the one recommended last year.

In the interest of national defense it is recommended that the provisions of the vessel inspection laws relating to licensed and unlicensed personnel, passengers quarters, crews quarters, life-saving equipment and the number of passengers allowed to be carried on freight vessels be waived for the period July 1, 1956, to June 30, 1957, for vessels which are or will be operated by the Pacific Micronesian Lines, Inc., for the Department of the Interior in Trust Territory waters.

Section 1 of the act of December 27, 1950 (64 Stat. 1120; 46 U. S. C., note preceding 1), states in part as follows:

That the head of each department or agency responsible for the administration of the navigation and vessel-inspection laws is directed to waive compliance with such laws upon the request of the Secretary of Defense to the extent deemed necessary in the interest of national defense by the Secretary of Defense. • • •

The purpose for the following waiver order designated § 154.35, as well as 33 CFR 19.35, is to waive the navigation and vessel inspection laws and regulations issued pursuant thereto which are administered by the United States Coast Guard as requested by the Secretary of Defense and to publish this waiver in the FEDERAL REGISTER. It is hereby found that compliance with the Administrative Procedure Act respecting notice of proposed rule making, public rule making procedure thereon, and effective date requirements thereof is impracticable and contrary to the public interest.

By virtue of the authority vested in me as Commandant, United States Coast Guard, by an order of the Acting Secretary of the Treasury dated January 23, 1951, identified as CGFR 51–1, and published in the FEDERAL REGISTER dated January 26, 1951 (16 F. R. 731), the following waiver order is promulgated and shall be in effect to and including June 30, 1957, unless sooner terminated by proper authority, and § 154.35 is revised as follows:

§ 154.35 Department of the Interior vessels operated by Pacific Micronesian Lines, Inc. Pursuant to the recommendation of the Secretary of Defense in a letter dated April 23, 1956, made under the provisions of section 1 of the act of December 27, 1950 (64 Stat. 1120; 46 U. S. C., note prec. 1), I hereby waive in the interest of national defense compliance with the provisions of the navigation and vessel inspection laws relating to licensed and unlicensed personnel, passenger quarters, crew quarters, lifesaving equipment, and the number of passengers allowed to be carried on freight vessels, administered by the United States Coast Guard, as well as the regulations issued thereunder and published in 33 CFR Chapter I or in this chapter, to the extent necessary to permit the operation of vessels of the Department of the Interior and now operated by Pacific Micronesian Lines, Inc., or other vessels which may be used as substitutes for such vessels, in the Trust Territory of the Pacific Islands, as well as between the Trust Territory of the Pacific Islands and all the ports of the United States, including its territories and possessions, and foreign ports. This waiver order shall be in effect from July 1, 1956, to and including June 30, 1957, unless sooner terminated by proper authority.

PART 2—FREQUENCY ALLOCATIONS AND RADIO TREATY MATTERS; GENERAL RULES AND REGULATIONS

FIELD INTENSITY MEASUREMENTS OF SPURIOUS RADIATIONS; CHANGE IN DATE OF REPORT

In the matter of amendment of Part 2 of the Commission's rules to establish a program for the certification of equipment acceptable for licensing.

1. The Commission has under consideration a petition filed by the Radio-Electronics - Television Manufacturers Association (RETMA) for amendment of § 2.524 (d) (2) of its rules to change the effective date contained therein from May 15, 1956, to December 1, 1956. This paragraph of the rules requires field intensity measurements of spurious radiations to be furnished with requests for type acceptance of transmitters.

2. The RETMA states that tests have been made to determine the degree of correlation of spurious radiation measurements by various manufacturers and the Commission's Laboratory on a certain transmitter. Although the tests have not yet produced the desired correlation, the opinion is expressed by RETMA that the testing techniques can be refined so that transmitter radiation will be a measurable quantity. The RETMA proposes a program for further tests designed to attain this objective within the next six months.

3. It is considered that the petition presents an adequate showing of need for further postponement of the effective date contained in § 2.524 (d) (2) until December 1, 1956, and such postponement is being adopted herein by amendment of that section.

4. Since the amendment in question relates solely to a change in the effective date of a provision of the rules which would otherwise become effective May 15, 1956, Notice of Proposed Rule Making pursuant to section 4 (a) of the Administrative Procedure Act would be both impracticable and contrary to the public interest. Moreover, since the effect of the amendment is to relieve for a six month period a restriction otherwise imposed upon persons seeking type acceptance of various types of equipment covered in these proceedings, it may be effective immediately under section 4 (c) of the Administrative Procedure Act.

6. In view of the foregoing considerations and pursuant to the authority contained in sections 4 (i), 301 and 303 of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, it is ordered That, effective May 14, 1956, Part 2 of the Commission's rules and regulations is amended as follows:

Section 2.524 (d) (2) is amended by changing the date specified therein from May 15, 1956, to December 1, 1956.

(Sec. 4, 48 Stat. 1066, as amended; 47 U. S. C. 154. Interprets or applies secs. 301, 303, 48 Stat. 1081, 1082; 47 U. S. C. 301, 303)

Adopted: May 9, 1956.

Released: May 11, 1956.

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION,
[SEAL] MARY JANE MORRIS,
Secretary.

INDUSTRIAL RADIOLOCATION SERVICE

In the matter of amendment of § 11.610 of the rules governing the Industrial Radiolocation Service.

At a session of the Federal Communications Commission held at its offices, Washington, D. C., on the 9th day of May 1956;

The Commission having under consideration the question of the license term for stations authorized under the provisions of Subpart M of Part 11 Industrial Radiolocation Services;

It appearing that under the rules all outstanding authorizations for the operation of stations in the Industrial Radiolocation Service will expire on July 1, 1956; and that there is no provision for the licensing of stations in this service beyond that termination date;

It further appearing that the various radiolocation methods may be susceptible of further development; that new methods may yet be devised; and that the various regulatory requirements which would be incorporated into the rules are, as yet, not all known; and that it is, therefore, desirable, pending review of the entire matter by the Commission, to continue the developmental status of the Industrial Radiolocation Service beyond July 1, 1956.

It further appearing that general notice of proposed rule making is not required in this matter under section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act because this amendment merely provides for a continuation of an existing developmental licensing policy without any substantive change therein, and that for the same reason the amendment may become effective immediately;

It is ordered, Pursuant to the authority contained in section 4 (i) and 307 (d) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, that effective immediately, § 11.610 is amended as follows:

§ 11.610 License term. (a) The license for each station authorized to operate on frequencies below 1800 kc in this service will expire on July 1st of the calendar year following the year in which action is taken on the license application.

(b) The license for each station authorized to operate on frequencies above 1800 kc in this service will expire one year from the date of final action on the license application.

(Sec. 4, 48 Stat. 1066, as amended, 47 U. S. C. 154. Interprets or applies sec. 307, 48 Stat. 1083; 47 U. S. C. 307)

Released: May 11, 1956.

(3) 5 percent for containers in which the cranberries fail to meet the requirements of fairly uniform in color.

OFF-GRADE

§ 51.2777 Off-grade. "Off-grade" consists of cranberries which fail to meet the requirements of the foregoing grade.

DEFINITIONS

§ 51.2778 Similar varietal characteristics. "Similar varietal characteristics" means that the cranberries in the container are similar in color and shape.

§ 51.2781 Damage. "Damage" means any defect which materially affects the appearance, or the edible or shipping quality of the individual cranberry or the general appearance of the cranberries in the container.

(a) Cranberries shall be considered damaged by foreign material when the appearance of the cranberries in the container is materially affected.

(b) Cranberries shall be considered damaged by moisture when the cranberries in the container are wet from moisture caused by crushed, leaking or decayed berries or from rain or flooding. Cranberries which are moist from condensation such as that caused by removing cranberries from a refrigerator car or cold storage to a warmer location shall not be considered as damaged by moisture.

(c) Any one of the following defects, or any combination of defects the seriousness of which exceeds the maximum allowed for any one defect, shall be considered as damage:

(1) Bruises which materially affect the appearance of the individual cranberry;

(2) Scarring when the appearance of the individual cranberry is materially affected by scars, or when the aggregate area of scars exceeds the area of a circle ¼ inch in diameter on a cranberry $^{18}/_{32}$ of an inch in diameter. Smaller cranberries shall have lesser areas of scars and larger cranberries may have greater areas: Provided, That no scars shall be permitted which affect the appearance to a greater extent than the area permitted on a cranberry $^{18}/_{32}$ of an inch in diameter; and,

§ 51.2782 Fairly well colored. "Fairly well colored" means that 75 percent of the surface of the individual cranberry, in the aggregate, shows pink or red color characteristic of the variety.

§ 51.2783 Fairly uniform in color. "Fairly uniform in color" means that the berries in the individual containers do not show sufficient variation in color to materially affect the general appearance of the berries.

§ 51.2784 Diameter. "Diameter" means the greatest dimension measured at right angles to a line from stem to blossom end of the berry.

LEARNERS IN APPAREL INDUSTRY

NOTICE OF HEARING

Pursuant to section 14 of the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938 (52 Stat. 1060, as amended; 29 U. S. C. 201 et seq.), the Administrator has heretofore issued regulations providing for the employment of learners in the apparel industry at wages lower than the minimum wage applicable under section 6 of the act.

A petition has been received from the House Dress Institute requesting the transfer of the manufacture of house dresses from the women's apparel Division (29 CFR 522.21 (a)) of the industry to the single pants, shirts, and allied garments division (29 CFR 522.21 (b)) of the industry. This change would lower the minimum wage for learners in the manufacture of house dresses from 80 cents per hour to 75 cents per hour for the first 320 hours, and from 85 cents per hour to 80 cents per hour for the next 160 hours.

Accordingly, pursuant to authority under section 14 of the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938 (52 Stat. 1060, as amended; 29 U. S. C. 201 et seq.), and in accordance with section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act (60 Stat. 237) and 29 CFR 522.12, notice is hereby given that interested persons will be given an opportunity to submit oral and written data, views, and arguments before Harry Weiss, an authorized representative of the Administrator, in Conference Room C, Interdepartmental Auditorium, United States Department of Labor Building, Fourteenth Street and Constitution Avenue, Washington, D. C., at 10 a. m., e. d. s. t., on June 5, 1956, on the question of what provision, if any, for the employment of learners at wages lower than $1.00 per hour in the manufacture of house dresses is necessary in order to prevent curtailment of opportunities for employment.

NOTICE OF HEARING

Pursuant to section 14 of the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938 (52 Stat. 1060, as amended; 29 U. S. C. 201 et seq.), the Administrator has heretofore issued regulations providing for the employment of learners in the apparel industry at wages lower than the minimum wage applicable under section 6 of the act.

A petition has been received from the Clothing Manufacturers Association of the U. S. A. requesting the transfer of the manufacture of men's and boys' separate trousers from the single pants, shirts, and allied garments division (29 CFR 522.21 (b)) of the apparel industry, which provides minimum rates of 75 cents per hour for the first 320 hours and 80 cents per hour for the next 160 hours, to the men's and boys' clothing industry, for which learner certificates are issued pursuant to the general learner regulations (29 CFR 522.1 through 522.12). The standards currently being observed by the Administrator of the Wage and Hour Division in issuing certificates for the employment of learners at subminimum rates in the men's and boys' clothing industry provide for comparable learner periods and occupations, but require the payment of 85 cents per hour for the first 280 hours, and 90 cents per hour for the next 200 hours.

Accordingly, pursuant to authority under section 14 of the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938 (52 Stat. 1060, as amended; 29 U. S. NOTICE OF HEARING

Pursuant to section 14 of the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938 (52 Stat. 1060, as amended; 29 U. S. C. 201 et seq.), the Administrator has heretofore issued regulations providing for the employment of learners in the knitted wear industry at wages lower than the minimum wage applicable under section 6 of the act.

A petition has been received from the Shirt Institute and the National Association of Shirt, Pajama, and Sport Wear Manufacturers requesting the transfer of the manufacture of men's and boys' underwear made of woven fabric from the knitted wear industry (29 CFR 522.31 (d)), to the single pants, shirts, and allied garments division (29 CFR 522.21 (b)) of the apparel industry. This change would, (1) lower the minimum wage for learners in the manufacture of men's and boys' underwear made of woven fabric from 85 cents per hour to 75 cents per hour for a 320-hour period and allow a minimum rate of 80 cents per hour for the next 160 hours in the occupations of machine stitching and final pressing, (2) allow learners to be employed in the occupations of "all other pressing" and "all other machine operating (except cutting)" at the minimum rate of 75 cents per hour for 160 hours, (3) allow learners to be employed in the occupation of "final inspection of assembled garments" at the minimum rate of 80 cents per hour for 160 hours, and (4) increase the number of learners that an employer may be authorized to employ by any special certificate issued to meet normal labor turnover from 5 percent to 10 percent of the total number of productive factory workers in the plant.

[ 47 CFR Part 2 ]

[Docket No. 11709; FCC 56-407]

FIXED SERVICE UTILIZING TROPOSPHERIC SCATTER TECHNIQUES

NOTICE OF PROPOSED RULE MAKING

1. Notice of proposed rule making is hereby given in the above entitled matter.

2. The Commission has had under consideration the questions: (A) To what extent will tropospheric scatter techniques be utilized in the fixed service? and (B) Is the operation of tropospheric scatter fixed stations compatible with the operation of conventional fixed stations in frequency bands allocated to the fixed service above 940 Mc?

3. At the present time, the Table of Frequency Allocations in Part 2 of the Commission's rules does not preclude the assignment of frequencies to fixed stations utilizing tropospheric scatter techniques. Nevertheless it should be pointed out that the several bands above 890 Mc which are allocated to the fixed service were so allocated with only conventional microwave systems in mind. These allocations were basically determined after lengthy hearings in Docket 6651 and have been in force since May 1945. Although several changes in allocations have been made since that time, with one exception, those changes envisaged use of these bands by conventional system. The one exception, is the case of the band 716–890 Mc which has been allocated to the international fixed public service on a temporary and on a geographically limited basis.

4. With current advances in the state of the art, primarily the development of high power radio transmitting tubes and low noise figure receiving tubes, there appears to be a great deal of interest in the development and use of tropospheric scatter techniques. At the present time this interest appears to be directed primarily to experimental systems both in this country and abroad and the Commission is of the opinion that it is now timely to take into consideration the possible effect on spectrum utilization that may accompany the institution of operational circuits. There is no question but what the technique may prove to be economical and feasible with respect to short-haul international fixed circuits and there appears to be a great number of applications where the techniques might possibly be useful for the domestic fixed service perhaps in some instances, replacing or supplementing conventional systems.

5. It appears that sufficient experimental data should now be in the hands of communications industry, future users and research organizations to enable a determination to be made as to the following points:

A. Can or should tropospheric scatter fixed circuits share with conventional fixed circuits in the various fixed bands above 940 Mc? What are the various factors leading up to this answer?

If such sharing is not feasible, what criteria should be used in sub-allocating one or more fixed bands for use by tropospheric scatter systems?

B. What is the extent of anticipated use of tropospheric circuits in:

(1) Domestic fixed applications?

(2) International fixed applications?

C. What is the state of the art with respect to tropospheric scatter technique, tubes, equipment and technical limitations, power required, recommended emissions, etc.?

D. What information can be supplied upon which the Commission may be able to make an evaluation as to the relative spectrum utilization efficiency of tropospheric scatter propagation systems as compared with conventional line of sight systems?

6. Prior to taking any action in the matter of rules governing the assignment of frequencies to fixed stations utilizing tropospheric scatter techniques, the Commission wishes comments and data from all interested persons with respect to the above questions. The Commission will consider all such comments, information and data prior to making any proposal to amend its rules relating to the assignment of frequencies to fixed stations utilizing these techniques.

7. This proposal is issued pursuant to the authority of sections 303 (c), (f) and (r) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended.

8. Any interested person may file with the Commission on or before July 1, 1956, written data, views or arguments setting forth his comments. Comments in reply to the original comments may be filed on or before July 20, 1956.

9. In accordance with the provisions of § 1.764 of the Commission's rules and regulations, an original and 14 copies of all statements, brief or comments filed shall be furnished the Commission.

In the matter of amendment of Parts 7 and 8 of the Commission's rules to make the frequency 2482 kc (coast)—2430 kc (ship) available conditionally on a 24-hour basis in the Seattle, Washington area; Docket No. 11617.

1. On December 29, 1954, the Commission adopted an order amending Parts 7 and 8 of its rules which made the frequency pair 2482 kc (coast)—2430 kc (ship) available for assignment in the Seattle, Washington area, effective February 2, 1955. Since only partial clearance of the frequency pair for that purpose had been effected at that time, the frequencies were limited to "day only" use. On January 25, 1956, after clearance of the conflicting police radio assignments on 2430 kc, the Commission adopted a Notice of Proposed Rule Making in the instant Docket which proposed to make this frequency pair available for use in the Seattle area on a 24-hour basis, subject to the temporary (until May 1, 1957) condition that no harmful interference would be caused, by the nighttime use of these frequencies at Seattle, to Alaskan stations operating on these frequencies in the public fixed and maritime mobile services under Part 14 of the Commission's rules.

2. Certain fixed, coast and ship stations throughout the entire area of Alaska, subject to Part 14, are now licensed to transmit on 2482 kc and 2430 kc with limited power. They will be permitted to continue operation on these frequencies until May 1, 1957. Thereafter, use of these frequencies in Alaska must conform to a zone allocation, including daily and seasonal time limitations in certain zones. Under the zone allocation, it was intended that probability of interference would be minimized between use of these two frequencies in Alaska and in the vicinity of Seattle.

3. Comments in response to the Commission's proposal in the instant docket were filed by the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company and the Alaska Salmon Industry, Inc. The comments of Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company were in full support of the Commission's proposal. The Alaska Salmon Industry, Inc. objected to the Commission's proposal on the grounds that the 24-hour use of the frequencies 2482 kc and 2430 kc at Seattle could be expected to cause harmful interference to Alaskan communications, and requested that the proposed 24-hour use of 2430 kc and 2482 kc be postponed until such time as the Commission allocates replacement frequencies to Alaska stations for the two frequencies in question. Alaska Salmon Industry, Inc., believed, on the basis of its past operating experience in Alaska, that harmful interference to Alaska communications on these frequencies would (at least during the fishing season—April 1 to October 1) be received beginning at approximately 7:00 p. m. Alaska Standard Time (9:00 p. m. P. s. t.). Alaska Salmon Industry, Inc., also stated "that the loss of the effective use of these two frequencies during the very important evening and nighttime hours of the summer months (fishing season April 1 to October 1) will further compound the present crowded frequency situation in Alaska * * *". Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company filed comments, replying to the Alaska Salmon Industry, Inc., in which Pacific conceded that there is a probability of interference to Alaskan stations from the Seattle coast station if the Seattle station operates on 2482 kc after 9:00 p. m., P. s. t., during the Alaskan commercial fishing season—April 1 to October 1.

4. In view of the comments received and a further study of the problem, the Commission believes that it may be appropriate and desirable to establish further daily, seasonal and area limitations so as to minimize the probability of interference between these two areas, consistent with the reasonable and practicable use of the frequencies 2430 kc and 2482 kc by stations in each area, not only for the interim period which expires May 1, 1957, but also to continue in effect after the expiration of such period. The Commission, therefore, proposes to amend Parts 7 and 8 of its rules as set forth below.

5. In proposing these limitations, the Commission realizes that future actual operating experience may indicate the desirability of revision. Such experience may show either that the operating hours should be expanded or, conversely, that harmful interference not anticipated at this time by the Commission may actually occur and that, as a consequence, some further limitation in operating hours would be appropriate.

6. In summary, the Commission recognizes the need for use of these frequencies in both geographic areas and believes that the type of regulatory conditions now proposed will serve as a basis for a practicable and compatible shared use of these frequencies between the two areas involved.

7. Any interested person who is of the opinion that the proposed amendments should not be adopted or should not be adopted in the form set forth herein, may file with the Commission on or before June 25, 1956, written data, views or briefs setting forth his comments. Comments in support of the proposed amendments may also be filed on or before the same date. Comments in reply to the original comments may be filed within ten days from the last day for filing said original data, views or briefs. The Commission will consider all such comments prior to taking final action in this matter.

8. The proposed amendment is issued under the authority contained in section 303 (f) and (r) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended.

9. In accordance with the provisions of § 1.764 of the Commission's rules, an original and fourteen copies of all statements, briefs or comments filed shall be furnished the Commission.

Adopted: May 9, 1956.

Released: May 11, 1956.

NOTICE OF REFERENDUM FOR MARKETING QUOTAS 1957-58

The Secretary of Agriculture has duly proclaimed pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, as amended, a national marketing quota for wheat for the marketing year beginning July 1, 1957. Said Act requires the Secretary to conduct a referendum between the date of said proclamation and July 25, 1956, of farmers who will be subject to such quota in order to determine whether such farmers favor or oppose such quota. Since the only purpose of this notice is to fix the date of holding such referendum as required by said act and it is desirable to give as much advance notice as possible for the convenience of the voters and to facilitate preparations for holding the referendum, it is hereby found that notice and public procedure thereon are impracticable, unnecessary and contrary to the public interest. Vaughn, Docket No. G-8902; Sunray Oil Corporation, Docket No. G-8960; Cotton Valley Operators Committee, Docket No. G-9086; Woodley Petroleum Company, Docket No. G-9772.

During the course of the hearings in the above dockets, Kathleen O'Boyle Trust No. 2 presented a statement on the record requesting an order of the Commission consolidating the proceedings In the Matter of Kathleen O'Boyle Trust No. 2, Docket No. G-8617, with the above-designated proceedings. The request was made upon the ground that there is only a small amount of money involved in the increase proposed in Docket No. G-8617, and that an endeavor is made to avoid a separate proceeding by indicating that Kathleen O'Boyle Trust No. 2 might adopt in whole or in part much of the testimony presented in the consolidated proceeding. In addition, Kathleen O'Boyle Trust No. 2 filed a written request with the Secretary of the Commission requesting consolidation.

Kathleen O'Boyle Trust No. 2 waived notice of the hearing provided by the rules. All proposed rates in these consolidated proceedings pertain to the sales of gas from the Cotton Valley Field, Louisiana, to Louisiana Nevada Transit Company.

The Commission finds: It is appropriate in the administration of the Natural Gas Act that the proceedings In the Matter of the Kathleen O'Boyle Trust No. 2, Docket No. G-8617, be consolidated for hearing and determination with the above-designated dockets.

The Commission orders: The proceedings In the Matter of the Kathleen O'Boyle Trust No. 2, Docket No. G-8617, be and they hereby are consolidated with the above-designated dockets for hearing and determination in the proceedings now in progress.

Issued: May 10, 1956.

By the Commission.

[Docket No. G-8634]

AMERADA PETROLEUM CORP.

ORDER VACATING ORDER SUSPENDING PROPOSED CHANGES IN RATES, REJECTING RATE FILINGS, AND TERMINATING PROCEEDINGS

Amerada Petroleum Corporation (Applicant), by letter dated April 3, 1956, requested the Commission to reject rate filings tendered by it on February 28, 1955, and to rescind orders issued March 22, 1955, and March 29, 1956, in this proceeding suspending the rate filings and fixing the hearing upon such filings to commence on June 4, 1956, respectively.

On February 28, 1955, Applicant tendered for filing Supplements Nos. 2, 3, and 4 to its FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 24, consisting of a proposed increase in rate of 1 cent per Mcf—from 7.5 cents to 8.5 cents per Mcf—for the sale of residue natural gas from the Edmond Gasoline Plant, West Edmond Field, Oklahoma, to Cities Service Gas Company (Cities Service), subject to the jurisdiction of the Commission. By order issued March 22, 1955, the Commission suspended and deferred the use of the above-designated supplements until May 1, 1955, and until such further time as such supplements might be made effective in the manner prescribed by the Natural Gas Act. Applicant has not filed any motion to make the proposed rate changes effective, subject to refund, as it is permitted to do under the provisions of the Natural Gas Act.

By order issued March 29, 1956, the Commission consolidated the proceeding concerning the lawfulness of the rate filings proposed by Applicant and thirteen other proceedings with the proceeding in Docket No. G-8549, and fixed June 4, 1956, as the date for commencement of hearing in the consolidated proceedings. All of the proceedings involve sales of gas in interstate commerce to Cities Service of residue gas from gasoline plants in Edmond Field.

In support of its April 3, 1956, request, Applicant states that it is not a signatory party to the basic contract under which residue natural gas from the Edmond Gasoline Plant is sold to Cities Service and which provided for the proposed changes in rates. It appears that Applicant's sale of residue natural gas from the Edmond plant to Cities Service is made pursuant to the terms of a contract dated July 5, 1945, as amended, between Phillips Petroleum Company (Phillips) and Continental Oil Company (Continental), sellers, and Cities Service, buyer. The basic contract is on file with the Commission as Phillips' FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 68 and Continental's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 91. Included in the proceedings consolidated with Docket No. G-8549 is the proceeding upon the lawfulness of changes in rates proposed by Continental, as reflected by Supplement No. 10 to Continental's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 91 (Docket No. G-8625).

Applicant further states that its FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 24 was intended to cover the sales of residue natural gas from the Hunton and Trindle gasoline plants in Edmond Field to Cities Service, and that Applicant is a signatory to the basic contract covering the sales of natural gas from the latter two plants. It appears that such contract, however, does not have any provision for an increase in rates above the current 7.5 cents per Mcf. Under these circumstances, Applicant states it has made an improper filing.

The Commission finds:

(1) Applicant is not a signatory to the basic contract involving the sale of residue natural gas from the Edmond Gasoline Plant to Cities Service.

(2) The public interest, therefore, does not require and there is no substantial basis of justification for the purportedly duplicate rate filings of Applicant inasmuch as the basic contract involving Continental and Cities Service is the subject of inquiry in the proceedings consolidated with Docket No. G-8549, and accordingly, under the circumstances of this case, Applicant's Supplements Nos. 2, 3, and 4 to its FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 24 should be rejected as improper filings.

(3) The order of the Commission issued March 22, 1955, suspending the proposed changes in rates tendered by Applicant on February 28, 1955, should be vacated, and the proceeding thereon should be terminated.

The Commission orders:

(A) Amerada Petroleum Corporation's Supplements Nos. 2, 3, and 4 to its FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 24 be and they are hereby rejected.

(B) The order of the Commission issued March 22, 1955, suspending the proposed changes in rates reflected in Amerada Petroleum Corporation's Supplements Nos. 2, 3, and 4 to its FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 24 as tendered for filing on February 28, 1955, be and it is hereby vacated.

(C) The proceeding upon the lawfulness of Amerada Petroleum Corporation's Supplements Nos. 2, 3, and 4 to its FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 24 as tendered for filing on February 28, 1955, be, and it is hereby terminated.

Issued: May 10, 1956.

SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION

[File No. 70-3470]

UNION ELECTRIC CO. OF MISSOURI

ORDER GRANTING APPLICATION REGARDING ISSUANCE OF SHORT TERM NOTES

MAY 10, 1956.

Union Electric Company of Missouri ("Union"), a registered holding company, having filed with this Commission an application, pursuant to the first and second sentences of section 6 (b) of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 ("act"), regarding the following proposed transactions:

As of March 31, 1956, Union had outstanding $10,300,000 of promissory notes, of a maturity of nine months or less from date of issue, all maturing on September 14, 1956, and bearing interest at the rate of 3½ percent per annum, the prime rate at the date of issue thereof. Said notes were issued pursuant to the exemptive provisions contained in the first and second sentences of section 6 (b) of the act. It is stated that the maximum amount which Union may presently issue under such exemptive provisions is $16,944,942, or 5 per centum of the aggregate of the principal amount of Union's long term debt, the par value of its common stock and the fair market value at the dates of issue of its preferred stock without par value.

It is further stated that Union contemplates permanent financing prior to September 14, 1956, through the issue and sale of from $35,000,000 to $40,000,000 principal amount of additional First Mortgage Bonds to obtain funds for the repayment of its promissory notes and for continuation of its construction program, but that economic conditions may make it advisable to consummate such financing in July or August or the early part of September 1956, rather than during the months of May and June.

The application further states that the estimated cash requirement of Union from external sources during the months April to September 1956, both inclusive, is $18,500,000 and that Union has made informal arrangements with the present holders of its short term notes and with another financial institution for additional borrowings, without any commitment fees, as required by Union from time to time, to be evidenced by promissory notes to be dated as of the date of each particular borrowing, to mature on September 14, 1956, to bear interest at the prime rate effective at the particular time of borrowing, and to be prepayable prior to maturity without premium.

Accordingly, Union requests the Commission to enlarge the percentage which Union may borrow, pursuant to the first and second sentences of section 6 (b) of the act, from 5 percent to 8 percent, such increase to remain in effect until September 14, 1956, or such earlier date upon which Union shall have consummated its permanent financing referred to above.

It appearing that no State commission and no Federal regulatory agency, other than this Commission, has jurisdiction over the proposed issue and sale of securities; and that no fees, commissions or expenses, other than nominal expenses, are to be incurred or paid in connection with the proposed transactions; and

Due notice of the filing of the application having been given in the manner prescribed by Rule U-23 promulgated under the act, and no hearing having been requested of or ordered by the Commission; and the Commission finding that the applicable provisions of the act and of the rules promulgated thereunder are satisfied, and deeming it appropriate in the public interest and in the interest of investors and consumers that the application be granted forthwith:

It is ordered, Pursuant to Rule U-23 and the applicable provisions of the act, that the application be, and it hereby is granted forthwith, subject to the conditions specified in Rule U-24.

MILWAUKEE GAS LIGHT CO. AND AMERICAN NATURAL GAS CO.

NOTICE OF FILING REGARDING PROPOSAL BY SUBSIDIARY TO ISSUE AND SELL FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS AND COMMON STOCK

MAY 10, 1956.

Notice is hereby given that Milwaukee Gas Light Company ("Milwaukee"), a public-utility company, and its parent, American Natural Gas Company ("American Natural"), a registered holding company, have filed with this Commission, pursuant to the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 ("act"), a joint application-declaration regarding a proposal by Milwaukee to issue and sell $13,000,000 principal amount of first mortgage bonds and 416,667 shares of $12 par value common stock. Applicants-declarants designate sections 6 (b), 9, 10, 12 (f) of the act and Rule U-50 thereunder as applicable to the proposed transactions.

All interested persons are referred to the joint application-declaration on file in the offices of the Commission for a statement of the transactions therein proposed, and which are summarized as follows:

Milwaukee proposes to issue and sell, subject to the competitive bidding requirements of Rule U-50, $13,000,000 principal amount of its First Mortgage Bonds, __ percent Series due June 1, 1981. The interest rate (which shall be a multiple of ⅛ of 1 percent) and the price, exclusive of accrued interest, to be paid to Milwaukee for the bonds (which shall be not less than 100 percent nor more than 102¾ percent of the principal amount) will be determined by competitive bidding. The bonds will be issued under and secured by the company's outstanding Mortgage and Deed of Trust, dated November 1, 1950, as heretofore supplemented and as to be further supplemented by a Second Supplemental Indenture to be dated June 1, 1956. The bonds will be issued against the deposit of $13,000,000 of cash with the Trustee. Approximately $8,500,000 of such proceeds will be withdrawn promptly by the certification of unbonded net property additions, and the remainder of approximately $4,500,000 will be similarly withdrawn from time to time as additional unbonded net property additions become available in the course of the large scale expansion program upon which Milwaukee is engaged.

Pursuant to an amendment of its Articles of Incorporation, effective April 24, 1956, Milwaukee proposes to increase the number of shares of its authorized $12 par value common stock from 2,000,000 to 2,500,000. Milwaukee also proposes to issue and sell to American Natural, and American Natural proposes to acquire, 416,667 additional shares of Milwaukee's authorized but unissued $12 par value common stock for a cash consideration of $5,000,004.

Milwaukee, pursuant to authorization heretofore given (Holding Company Act Release No. 12954, July 29, 1955), has borrowed, under the Credit Agreement approved, $10,500,000 evidenced by 3 percent notes maturing August 1, 1956. Further borrowings under the Credit Agreement are not expected to be made. All borrowings thereunder are to be repaid concurrently with the issue and sale of the bonds, and the Credit Agreement is to be terminated.

Milwaukee represents that the Public Service Commission of Wisconsin is the only State commission having jurisdiction over the proposed issuance and sale of bonds and stock, and that no Federal commission, other than this Commission, has jurisdiction over the issuance and sale of these securities. It is also stated that an application has been filed with the Wisconsin commission, and that an order of such commission will be submitted as an amendment to the application-declaration. Milwaukee requests that the order of this Commission become effective upon its issuance.

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than May 25, 1956, at 5:30 p. m., e. d. s. t., request in writing that a hearing be held on such matters, stating the nature of his interest, and the issues of fact or law raised by the application-declaration which he desires to controvert, or he may request that he be notified if the Commission orders a hearing thereon. Any such request should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington 25, D. C. At any time after said date the application-declaration as filed or as it may be amended, may be granted and permitted to become effective as provided in Rule U-23 of the rules and regulations promulgated under the act or the Commission may grant exemption from its rules as provided in Rule U-20 (a) and U-100 or take such other action as it may deem appropriate.

WISCONSIN FUND, INC.

NOTICE OF FILING OF APPLICATION FOR ORDER EXEMPTING PURCHASE OF SECURITIES FROM AFFILIATES DURING EXISTENCE OF UNDERWRITING SYNDICATE

MAY 10, 1956.

Notice is hereby given that Wisconsin Fund, Inc. ("Wisconsin"), a registered open-end, diversified investment company, has filed an application pursuant to sections 10 (f) and 17 (b) of the Investment Company Act of 1940 ("act") for an order of the Commission exempting from the provisions of sections 10 (f) and 17 (a) the purchase by Wisconsin of not to exceed 2,500 shares of Cumulative Preferred Stock of Anderson Prichard Oil Corporation ("Preferred Stock") during the existence of the underwriting syndicate mentioned below.

The application states that The Milwaukee Company ("Milwaukee") and Glore, Forgan & Co. ("Glore, Forgan") are members of a syndicate which has underwritten the public offering of 200,000 shares of the Preferred Stock at an initial public offering price of $50.50 per share, which is the price to be paid by Wisconsin. The Preferred Stock has a par value of $50 per share, is entitled to cumulative dividends at a rate of 4¼ percent annually, and is convertible on or before May 31, 1966, into common stock at a price of $37.50 per share. Edgar, Ricker & Co. ("Edgar, Ricker"), the investment adviser and manager of Wisconsin, is a wholly owned subsidiary of Milwaukee. Glore, Forgan, through a contract with Edgar, Ricker also acts as investment adviser to Wisconsin. By definition under the act, Edgar, Ricker and Glore, Forgan are affiliated persons of Wisconsin, and Milwaukee and Edgar, Ricker are affiliated persons of each other.

Section 10 (f) of the act provides, among other things, that no registered investment company shall knowingly purchase or otherwise acquire, during the existence of any underwriting or selling syndicate, any security (except a security of which such company is the issuer) a principal underwriter of which is an investment adviser of such registered company or is a person of which any such investment adviser is an affiliated person. The Commission may exempt a transaction from this prohibition if and to the extent that such exemption is consistent with the protection of investors. Section 17 (a) of the act, among other things, prohibits an affiliated person of a registered investment company, or any affiliated person of such a person, from selling to such registered investment company any securities or property, subject to certain exceptions not pertinent here. The Commission upon application pursuant to section 17 (b) may grant an exemption from the prohibitions of section 17 (a) if it finds that the terms of the proposed transaction, including the consideration to be paid or received, are reasonable and fair and do not involve overreaching on the part of any person concerned, that the proposed transaction is consistent with the policy of the registered investment company concerned, as recited in its registration statement and reports filed under the act, and is consistent with the general purposes of the act.

It is Wisconsin's policy to invest its funds largely in common stocks, with investments in bonds and preferred stocks made, however, whenever and to the extent deemed advisable. The application states that the decision to purchase the preferred stock was made by Wisconsin's Investment Committee, which has five members, only one of whom is connected with Milwaukee and none of whom has any connection with Glore, Forgan. The Committee, it is stated, deemed the purchase of the preferred stock desirable because of the high quality of the stock, the attractive yield of 4.21 percent considering the conversion privilege, and the right to convert into common stock at $37.50 per share as compared with the existing market price of $34.25 per share of common stock.

The 2,500 shares of Preferred Stock purchased by Wisconsin represent 1.25 percent of the total offering and have a total value at the initial offering price equalling 1.19 percent of Wisconsin's total net assets of $10,644,941 at December 31, 1955. The offering of the Preferred Stock was made on April 24, 1956, and the application states that the entire issue was oversubscribed and that as high as $52.50 per share was bid for the stock.

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than May 24, 1956, at 5:30 p. m., submit to the Commission in writing any facts bearing upon the desirability of a hearing on the matter and may request that a hearing be held, such request stating the nature of his interest, the reasons for such request and the issues, if any, of fact or law proposed to be controverted, or he may request that he be notified if the Commission should order a hearing thereon. Any such communication or request should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington 25, D. C. At any time after said date, the application may be granted as provided in Rule N-5 of the rules and regulations promulgated under the act.

By the Commission.

(4) Satisfactory service required for deferment from induction for active training and service, under provisions of clause (C), paragraph (2), subsection 6 (c) of 62 Stat. 604, 50 U. S. C. App. 451, of individuals who enlist in organized units of the Reserve prior to attaining age 18½ years.

(6) Failure to perform satisfactory service, in connection with revocation of commissions of graduates of ROTC or other officers' training programs who have undergone six months of active duty for training, under provisions of paragraph (1), subsection 6 (d) of 62 Stat. 604, 50 U. S. C. App. 451.

(7) Satisfactory participation with respect to the identification of an "organized unit" as defined in subsection 16 (h) of 62 Stat. 604, 50 U. S. C. App. 451.

(c) Provide guidance to the Secretaries of the military departments in their determination of:

(1) Satisfactory service for deferment from induction for active training and service, under provisions of section 262 of 66 Stat. 481, 10 U. S. C. 1a, of individuals who enlist for eight years in the Reserve.

(2) Satisfactory service for deferment from induction for active training and service, under provisions of paragraph (2) of subsection 6 (d) of 62 Stat. 604, 50 U. S. C. App. 451, of individuals enlisted in the Reserve who thereafter are commissioned upon graduation from an Officers' Candidate School.

(3) Failure to perform satisfactory service, in connection with the revocation of commissions of Officers' Candidate School graduates, under provisions of paragraph (2) of subsection 6 (d) of 62 Stat. 604, 50 U. S. C. App. 451.

(d) Standardize procedures for the employment of compliance measures.

§ 45.2 Applicability. The provisions of this part are applicable to all military departments in their implementation of the provisions of law cited in § 45.1.

§ 45.3 Reserve participation. (a) Each individual inducted, enlisted or appointed in any armed force of the United States on and after August 10, 1955, who becomes a member of the Ready Reserve, other than by virtue of becoming a member of the National Guard of the United States or the Air National Guard of the United States, is required by subsection 208 (f) of 66 Stat. 481, 10 U. S. C. 1a, during his statutory period in the Ready Reserve, to participate in "not less than 48 scheduled drills or training periods * * * and not more than 17 days of active duty for training during each year, or * * * annually not more than 30 days of active duty for training," except as specifically provided by regulations prescribed by the Secretary of Defense. Failure to perform such training duty satisfactorily in any year renders such an individual liable to be ordered without his consent to perform additional active duty for training for not more than 45 days. For the purpose of administering subsection 208 (f) of 66 Stat. 481, 10 U. S. C. 1a, the terms "enlisted" or "appointed" refer to initial entry into an armed force through enlistment or appointment.

(b) Within the general policy that the number of drills and amount of annual training prescribed will be the minimum required to maintain the proficiency of the unit and the skill of the individual, the following exceptions are authorized for individuals subject to the training requirements of subsection 208 (f) of 66 Stat. 481, 10 U. S. C. 1a:

(1) An individual who has performed not less than two years of active training and service may be placed in Training Category G (no training), as defined in Department of Defense Directive No. 1215.6, subject: Uniform Training Categories and Pay Groups Within the Reserve Forces, dated March 5, 1956, when the Secretary of the military department concerned determines that because of the mobilization requirements of the service concerned, the degree of skill acquired by the individual, or the civilian occupation of the individual, no training requirement exists.

(2) An individual in any training category other than Category G, as defined in Department of Defense Directive No. 1215.6, subject: Uniform Training Categories and Pay Groups Within the Reserve Forces, dated March 5, 1956, by reason of assignment to a unit, need not be required to participate in training additional to that prescribed for such training category. In assigning an individual to a particular training category, consideration may be given to personal circumstances to the degree that it is consistent with military requirements.

(3) An individual while participating in any officers' training program under provisions of paragraphs (1) and (2) of subsection 6 (d) of 62 Stat. 604, 50 U. S. C. App. 451, will not be required to participate in training additional to such officers' training program.

(4) Commissioned officer students of medicine or dentistry and practicing physicians or dentists may be permitted to participate to whatever lesser extent is considered by the military department concerned to be necessary to maintain military proficiency.

(c) Criteria established by the Secretaries of the military departments for determining satisfactory performance of training duty by individuals subject to the provisions of subsection 208 (f) of 66 Stat. 481, 10 U. S. C. 1a, may include consideration of manner of performance of such training duty, but may not permit more than 10 per cent unexcused absence from scheduled drills or training periods. Failure to attend scheduled drills or training periods or annual active duty for training as the result of sickness, injury or emergency or other circumstances beyond the control of the individual, may be excused. For individuals subject to revocation of commission under provisions of paragraph (1), subsection 6 (d) of 62 Stat. 604, 50 U. S. C. App. 451, criteria for performance of satisfactory service shall be the same as that prescribed above for those subject to provisions of subsection 208 (f), 66 Stat. 481, 10 U. S. C. 1a. In the interest of uniformity, the same criteria should apply to individuals subject to revocation of commission under paragraph (2), subsection 6 (d) of 62 Stat. 604, 50 U. S. C. App. 451.

(d) Individuals exempt under provisions of paragraph (1), subsection 6 (c) of 62 Stat. 604, 50 U. S. C. App. 451, may continue to be so exempt by participation in the training program of an organized unit, as defined in subsection 16 (h) of 62 Stat. 604, 50 U. S. C. App. 451, in Training Categories A, B, C, or E, as defined in Department of Defense Directive 1215.6, subject: Uniform Training Categories and Pay Groups Within the Reserve Forces, dated March 5, 1956, in the degree of participation stated in paragraph (c) of this section.

(e) Individuals in order to continue in a draft-deferred status under the provisions of paragraph (2), subsection 4 (c) and paragraph (1), subsection 6 (d) of 62 Stat. 604, 50 U. S. C. App. 451, shall be required to meet the standards of satisfactory performance of training duty set forth in paragraph (c) of this section, or, as appropriate, participate satisfactorily in an officers' training program as provided in paragraph (b) (3) of this section. However, membership of such individuals in the Standby Reserve as a result of the screening process prescribed in Part 53 of this subchapter will constitute satisfactory performance of service for continued deferment. In the interest of uniformity, standards for continued deferment under section 262 of 66 Stat. 481, 10 U. S. C. 1a, and paragraph (2) subsection 6 (d) of 62 Stat. 604, 50 U. S. C. App. 451, should be the same as those prescribed in this paragraph.

(f) Individuals in order to continue in a draft-deferred status under provisions of clause (C), paragraph (2), subsection 6 (c) of 62 Stat. 604, 50 U. S. C. App. 451, shall be required to meet the standards of satisfactory performance of training duty set forth in paragraph (c) of this section, or participate satisfactorily in an officers' training program as provided in paragraph (b) (3) of this section.

§ 45.4 Compliance measure. Individuals subject to the participation requirements of subsection 208 (f) of 66 Stat. 481, 10 U. S. C. 1a, except those enlisted in the Reserve under provisions of clause (C), paragraph (2), subsection 6 (c) of 62 Stat. 604, 50 U. S. C. App. 451, may for failure to perform training duty satisfactorily as defined above, be ordered to active duty for training for not more than 45 days. A member who fails to comply with orders to perform such active duty for training becomes liable to disciplinary action under the Uniform Code of Military Justice.

§ 45.5 Cancellation of draft deferment. (a) Except for an individual enlisted under the provisions of clause (C), paragraph (2), of subsection 6 (c) of 62 Stat. 604, 50 U. S. C. App. 451, no individual enlisted in the Reserve in a draft-deferred status should be certified to the Selective Service System for induction for two years active training and service unless application of the 45-day compliance measure has failed to induce satisfactory performance of training duty. No such individual will be so certified, however, until he has registered with Selective Service.

(b) The following individuals shall be reported to the local Selective Service Board for induction:

(1) Subject to considerations set forth in paragraph (a) of this section, persons enlisted in the Reserve under provisions of clause (C), paragraph (2), subsection 6 (c), of 62 Stat. 604, 50 U. S. C. App. 451, and section 262 of 66 Stat. 481, 10 U. S. C. 1a, who fail to serve satisfactorily.

(2) Individuals, who have been appointed as Reserve officers under subsection 6 (d) of 62 Stat. 604, 50 U. S. C. App. 451, and have not been required to perform active training and service, who fail to perform satisfactory service.

§ 45.6 Revocation of Commission. Revocation of commission under the provisions of subsection 6 (d) of 62 Stat. 604, 50 U. S. C. App. 451, will be effected only after the individual concerned has been certified to Selective Service as provided in § 45.5 (b) (2).

53.2 Policy.
53.3 Regulations for screening the Ready Reserve.
53.4 Ministerial students.
53.5 Persons who become liable for induction if screened into the Standby Reserve.
53.6 Reservists transferred to Standby Reserve.
53.7 Reports to the Secretary of Defense.

AUTHORITY: §§ 53.1 to 53.7 issued under R. S. 161; 5 U. S. C. 22. Interpret or apply 62 Stat. 604, 66 Stat. 481; 50 U. S. C. App. 451, 10 U. S. C. 1a.

§ 53.1 Purpose. The purpose of this part is to provide the Services with policy and regulations for screening the Ready Reserve.

§ 53.2 Policy. (a) Each Service shall continuously screen its Ready Reserve in peacetime in order to provide a Ready Reserve composed of individuals (1) who meet Service standards of mental, moral, professional and physical fitness, and possess the required military qualifications in the various ranks, grades, ratings and specialties and (2) who are immediately available for military service during a national emergency without seriously impairing production and research vital to the national military effort, or activities necessary to the maintenance of the national health, safety or interest, or without creating extreme personal or community hardship.

(b) In selecting members of the Ready Reserve to be transferred to the Standby Reserve who are otherwise equally eligible for transfer under the criteria established in this part, the Service concerned shall accord preference for transfer in the following order: (1) Those who have participated in combat; and (2) those with the least remaining obligated service in the Ready Reserve.

§ 53.3 Regulations for screening the Ready Reserve. Screening of the Ready Reserve shall be in accordance with the provisions of Executive Order 10651 and the following implementing instructions. Citations refer to specific paragraphs in the Executive Order. Persons who enter the Ready Reserve under the provisions of section 263 (a) and 263 (b) of the Armed Forces Reserve Act of 1952, as amended, shall not be eligible for transfer to the Standby Reserve under the provisions of paragraphs 4, 5, and 6 of the Executive Order.

(a) Reference paragraph 2 (a) of Execcutive Order 10651; fulfilled Ready Reserve obligation. Members of the Ready Reserve who have completed their ready reserve obligation will be transferred to the Standby Reserve as provided for by Department of Defense Directive 1205.6, (Part 52 of this suchapter) [1] dated January 16, 1956, "Assignment to and Transfer between Reserve Categories, and Discharge from Reserve Status."

(b) Reference paragraph 3 of Executive Order 10615; extreme hardship. Positive action shall be taken to insure that all Ready Reservists are informed of the provisions of paragraph 3 of the Executive Order and the following implementing instructions relative to hardship:

(1) Extreme personal hardship. An individual desiring transfer from the Ready Reserve to the Standby Reserve must establish by documentary evidence that his dependents would, by his call to active duty in an emergency, suffer extreme hardship greater than that which dependents of other Reservists can be expected to experience from the Reservist's order to active duty. In order to insure a uniform standard, the criteria established by the Services should conform generally with current Selective Service regulations on extreme hardship deferment (see § 1622.30 (b) and (c) (1) of this title). In those cases where the reservist is registered with Selective Service, documentary evidence may include a recommendation by the State Director of Selective Service of the State in which the registrant's Local Board is located. Requests for consideration under this paragraph must be initiated by the Reservist or by his dependents.

(2) Extreme community hardship. An individual desiring transfer from the Ready Reserve to the Standby Reserve must establish by documentary evidence that his withdrawal from the community in a national emergency would have a substantial adverse effect on the health, safety or welfare of the community. In those cases where the reservist is registered with Selective Service, documentary evidence may include a recommendation by the State Director of Selective Srevice of the State in which the registrant's Local Board is located. Requests for consideration under this paragraph must be initiated by the Reservist.

(c) Reference paragraph 4 of Executive Order 10651; critical military skills and critical civilian occupations—(1) Critical military skills. (i) A critical military skill is one appearing on the List of Critical Military Skills for Use in Screening the Ready Reserve, published by the Department of Defense.[2] This list is subject to periodic revision.

(ii) The criteria used in establishing the List of Critical Military Skills are as follows:

(a) The military skill must be indispensable to the success of the Ready Reserve mobilization mission.

(b) A long period of mobilization-accelerated training (at least 6 months) must be needed to develop the degree of skill required.

(c) An appreciable shortage of available personnel with the skill exists or is anticipated.

(iii) The Department of Defense list will be revised from time to time by the Assistant Secretary of Defense (Manpower, Personnel and Reserve), as necessitated by changes in the military missions and manpower requirements of the Services.

(iv) To the maximum extent possible, Services will utilize overages in critical military skills in one geographical area to meet the requirements for such skills in other areas.

(2) Critical civilian occupations. (i) The Department of Labor has issued a List of Critical Civilian Occupations for Screening the Ready Reserve. This list was developed by an Interagency Committee on which the Department of Defense is represented, and is subject to periodic revision.

(ii) To the extent that such assistance may be needed, authority is granted the Services to request the technical advice of the Department of Labor's affiliated State Employment Service Offices in classifying the civilian occupations of particular individual Reservists, other than Farm Operators and Assistants. There are some 1,700 full-time and 2,100 part-time Employment Service Offices located in communities throughout the country. The County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committees of the Department of Agriculture may be used in a similar manner with respect to Farm Operators and Assistants. These committees, which exist in all agricultural counties in the country, generally have their headquarters in the county seats.

(3) Utilization of volunteers with critical civilian occupations. A Ready Reservist with a critical civilian occupation in excess of requirements in the Ready Reserve who has been selected for transfer to the Standby Reserve in accordance with paragraphs 4 and 7 of the Executive Order, and who then volunteers to remain in the Ready Reserve, under the provisions of Department of Defense Directive 1205.6 (Part 52 of this subchapter) dated January 16, 1956, "Assignment to and Transfer between Reserve Categories, and Discharge from Reserve Status", shall be given a military assignment utilizing his critical civilian occupation. If no military requirement exists for his critical civilian occupation and he possesses another critical military skill, he shall be utilized in that skill. If no requirement exists for him in a critical civilian occupation or in a critical military skill, he shall be utilized, insofar as possible, in a related military assignment.

(d) Reference paragraph 5 of Executive Order 10651, apprentices and students. Ready Reservists who are apprentices or students shall be transferred to the Standby Reserve in accordance with the following regulations except that no person shall be transferred under this part who (1) has not had active training and service, (2) possesses a critical military skill, or (3) volunteers to remain in the Ready Reserve and executes a written agreement to remain in such Reserve for a minimum period of one year, as provided in Department of Defense Directive 1205.6, dated January 16, 1956, "Assignment to and Transfer between Reserve Categories, and Discharge from Reserve Status."

(1) Apprentices. Ready Reservists who are undergoing apprenticeship training in critical civilian occupations appearing in Department of Labor List of Critical Occupations for Screening the Ready Reserve, in such numbers as are in excess for such occupations, and who meet the standards and requirements described in Appendix A below shall be transferred to the Standby Reserve. At such time as the Reservist ceases to qualify for consideration as an apprentice under the regulations in this part, he should be considered for transfer to the Ready Reserve.

(2) Students. Ready Reservists who are students in colleges or universities pursuing studies that will qualify them for critical civilian occupations appearing in Department of Labor List of Critical Occupations for Screening the Ready Reserve and who meet the standards and requirements described in Appendix B below shall be transferred to the Standby Reserve. Excluded from consideration are those students enrolled or enlisted in programs leading to appointment to commissioned rank. At such time as the Reservist ceases to qualify for consideration as a student under the regulations in this part, he should be considered for transfer to the Ready Reserve.

§ 53.4 Ministerial students. Any Ready Reservist who is preparing for the ministry in a recognized theological or divinity school shall be transferred to the Standby Reserve unless he executes a written agreement to remain in the Ready Reserve for a minimum of one year, as provided in Department of Defense Directive 1205.6, dated January 16, 1956, "Assignment to and Transfer between Reserve Categories, and Discharge from Reserve Status."

§ 53.5 Persons who become liable for induction if screened into the Standby Reserve. Certain individuals covered by section 6 (b) (2) and individuals covered by section 6 (c) (1) of the Universal Military, Training and Service Act are exempt from induction so long as they serve satisfactorily as members of organized units of the reserve. Similarly, persons covered by section 6 (c) (2) are deferred so long as they continue to serve satisfactorily as members of organized units of the reserve. Therefore, persons in these groups within the ages of Selective Service liability cannot be screened into the Standby Reserve without losing such exempt or deferred classification. Such persons who meet the criteria for transfer into the Standby Reserve shall be informed of the above facts and given ample opportunity to volunteer to remain in the Ready Reserve, if they are qualified.

§ 53.6 Reservists transferred to Standby Reserve. Separate instructions govern the administrative actions involved in the transfer of individuals to the Standby Reserve. These instructions include the procedures which Selective Service and the Military Departments follow when Ready Reservists are transferred to the Standby Reserve. They also describe the type of information which will have to be forwarded by the Military Departments to Selective Service upon such transfer.

§ 53.7 Reports to the Secretary of Defense. (a) In order that the Secretary of Defense may review progress of the screening of the Ready Reserve, and report to the President as required by paragraph 10 of Executive Order 10651 quarterly reports of the status of the initial screening operations will be required of each Service. The first quarterly report will be submitted on or before July 31, 1956, covering the period ending June 30, 1956. Annual status reports on the continuing screening operation will be required after January 1, 1958.

(b) In these reports, the following data will be provided for each critical civilian occupation:

(1) Service requirements for occupation.

(2) Current Service strength in occupation.

(3) If there are excesses in strength over requirements:

(i) The number actually transferred to the Standby Reserve.

(ii) The number not transferred because the possessors have other critical military skills.

(iii) The number of volunteers not transferred who are being used in non-critical military skills.

A Department of Defense Directive, to be published, will govern submission of such reports to the Secretry of Defense under assigned Report Control Symbol.

Effective date. This part is effective as of this date.

Secretary of Defense.

MAY 3, 1956.

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION

[Docket No. 11582; FCC 56-424]

DALE R. CURTIS (KWIC)

MEMORANDUM OPINION AND ORDER DESIGNATING APPLICATION FOR HEARING ON STATED ISSUES

In re application of Dale R. Curtis (KWIC), Salt Lake City, Utah, Docket No. 11582, File No. BP-9925; for construction permit for standard broadcast station.

The Commission has before it for consideration a "Protest and Petition For Reconsideration," filed on April 9, 1956, by the Utah Broadcasting and Television Company[1] licensee[2] of Station KLUB, Salt Lake City, pursuant to sections 309 (c) and 405 of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, and directed to the Commission's action of March 7, 1956, granting without hearing the above-captioned application of Dale R. Curtis[3] for a construction permit for a new standard broadcast station to operate on 1470 kilocycles with a power of 1 kilowatt, daytime only, at Salt Lake City, Utah.[4]

2. Utah Broadcasting and Television Company (hereinafter referred to as KLUB) claims standing as a party in interest within the meaning of sections 309 (c) and 405 of the act on the grounds that it is licensee of Station KLUB, Salt Lake City, Utah, where Station KWIC will operate; that the two stations will be in direct competition for advertising revenue; and that KLUB will be economically injured "by a reduction of the amount of advertising dollars available to it by reason of the operation of the proposed Curtis station (KWIC)."

3. In support of its pleading, KLUB alleges that image interference in radio receiving sets having an IF frequency within plus or minus 10 kilocycles of 450 kilocycles would result to KLUB from the operation of KWIC because of the relationship between 570 kilocycles (KLUB frequency), 1470 kilocycles (KWIC frequency), and the intermediate frequency of 455 kilocycles "utilized in most broadcast receivers." KLUB contends that image interference "would occur in broadcast receivers in automobiles" and "would be of particularly serious consequence to the potential listeners of Station KLUB in the 1 v/m and 250 mv/m contours of [KWIC]" because of the location of the KWIC transmitter site "in the intensely developed business and residential portion known as the 'Sugar House Section' of Salt Lake City, Utah, • • • an area adjacent to an intersection traversed by as many as 97,000 automobiles a day." It is claimed by KLUB that this image interference would constitute a modification of its license and that KLUB is entitled to a hearing to show why the subject application should not be granted.

4. KLUB has specified the following issues on which it desires an opportunity at a hearing to present evidence:

(a) To determine whether the operation of the station proposed by Dale R. Curtis on the 1470 kilocycles frequency at Salt Lake City, Utah and the present operation of Station KLUB, Salt Lake City, Utah on the frequency of 570 kilocycles may bear such a relation to the intermediate frequency of standard broadcast receivers as to cause image interference to the reception of Station KLUB in its normally protected daytime contour, and particularly in the area of Salt Lake City,

(b) To determine whether such image interference contravenes the provisions of section 3.128 (x) of the Commission's rules and should be taken into consideration in the allocation of the proposed station of Dale R. Curtis to operate on the frequency of 1470 kilocycles at Salt Lake City, Utah,

(c) To determine whether a frequency other than 1470 kilocycles is available for allocation for a standard broadcast station with power of not less than 500 watts, daytime only, at Salt Lake City, Utah, and if so why such facilities should not be specified instead of 1470 kilocycles, and

(d) To determine whether, in the light of evidence adduced on the foregoing issues, the public interest, convenience, and necessity would be served by a grant of the application of Dale R. Curtis for a construction permit for a standard broadcast station to operate on 1470 kilocycles with power of 1,000 watts, daytime, at Salt Lake City, Utah.

5. KLUB requests that the KWIC application for construction permit be designated for hearing on the issues specified in paragraph 4, supra; that the burden of proof on each issue be placed on KWIC; that KLUB be made a party to the proceeding; that the effective date of the KWIC grant be postponed until after a hearing thereon; that KLUB be afforded oral argument before the Commission on all issues specified by KLUB but not included in any order of designation; and that KWIC be ordered to show cause why it should not specify another frequency. In the alternative, KLUB requests that the KWIC construction permit be modified to include a condition that the permittee be required to satisfy all legitimate complaints of image interference occurring from the operation of KWIC within the normally protected contour of KLUB.

6. In view of the fact that the protestant has alleged that it is licensee of Station KLUB, Salt Lake City, Utah, where Station KWIC will operate; that the two stations will be in direct competition for advertising revenue; and that KLUB will be economically injured "by a reduction of the amount of advertising dollars available to it [except] by reason of the operation of the proposed Curtis station [KWIC]", we find the protestant to be a party in interest within the meaning of sections 309 (c) and 405 of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended.[5] In re Federal Communications Commission v. Sanders Brothers Radio Station, 309 U. S. 470 (9 Pike and Fischer RR 2008). In re T. E. Allen and Sons, Inc., 9 Pike and Fischer RR 197. We find further that the protestant has specified with particularity the facts relied upon so as to warrant designating the above-captioned application for hearing on issues (a) and (b) as specified by protestant. Issues (a) and (b) relate to image interference. However, we are not adopting these two isssues because as stated in § 3.182 (x) of the rules, "the Commission, in general, will not take [image interference] into consideration in allocation problems • • • since [image interference] can usually be rectified by readjustment of the intermediate frequency of [affected] receivers."[6] Issue (c) seeks to determine the availability of a frequency other than 1470 kilocycles for possible assignment to the grantee. It is our opinion that such an issue is not relevant to the basic question here involved of whether the grant of the application in issue was in the public interest. However, we will afford the protestant an opportunity at an oral argument to demonstrate the materiality of such an issue. Further, it should be pointed out that in making the above findings, and by including the issues set forth below, we do not determine or imply that any or all of these issues, even if the facts with respect thereto are as alleged by the protestant, are such that they could result in a determination that the instant grant was improper, contrary to the public interest, or should be set aside. Accordingly, said issues are not being adopted by the Commission and the burden of proof thereon, both in proving the facts alleged and in demonstrating their materiality and relevancy will be on the protestant.

7. In view of the foregoing: It is ordered, That the subject Protest And Petition For Reconsideration is granted to the extent provided for below; and, in all other respects, is denied; that the request for postponement of the effective date of the grant of the above-captioned application is dismissed as moot; and that, pursuant to section 309 (c) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, the above-captioned application is designated for hearing and consolidated with the hearing thereon referenced in paragraph 1, supra (see footnote 3 thereto); and

It is further ordered, That our hereinabove identified Memorandum Opinion and Order of May 3, 1956 is amended by making the protestant herein, the Utah Broadcasting and Television Company, a party to the said proceeding; by deleting Issue (d) therein; and adding the following issues:

(d) To determine whether the operation of the station proposed by Dale R. Curtis on the 1470 kilocycles frequency at Salt Lake City, Utah, and the present operation of Station KLUB, Salt Lake City, Utah, on the frequency of 570 kilocycles may bear such a relation to the intermediate frequency of standard broadcast receivers as to cause image interference to the reception of Station KLUB in its normally protected daytime contour, and particularly in the area of Salt Lake City.

(e) To determine whether such image interference contravenes the provisions of § 3.182 (x) of the Commission's rules and should be taken into consideration in the allocation of the proposed station of Dale R. Curtis to operate on the frequency of 1470 kilocycles at Salt Lake City, Utah,

(f) To determine whether, in the light of evidence adduced on the foregoing issues, the public interest, convenience, and necessity would be served by a grant of the application of Dale R. Curtis for a construction permit for a standard broadcast station to operate on 1470 kilocycles with a power of 1,000 watts, daytime, at Salt Lake City, Utah.

It is further ordered, That the burden of proceeding with the introduction of evidence and the burden of proof on Issues (d) and (e) is placed on the Utah Broadcasting and Television Company.

It is further ordered, That at an Oral Argument before the Commission en banc, to be held at a time and place to be designated in a subsequent order, protestant present argument to support his request that the following issue be included in the evidentiary hearing in this proceeding:

To determine whether a frequency other than 1470 kilocycles is available for allocation for a standard broadcast station with a power of not less than 500 watts, daytime only, at Salt Lake City, Utah, and if so, why such facilities should not be specified instead of 1470 kilocycles.

SOUTHERN OREGON BROADCASTING CO. (KUIN)

ORDER DESIGNATING APPLICATION FOR HEARING ON STATED ISSUES

In re application of Southern Oregon Broadcasting Company (KUIN), Grants Pass, Oregon, Docket No. 11699, File No. BP-10099; for construction permit.

At a session of the Federal Communications Commission held at its offices in Washington, D. C., on the 9th day of May 1956;

The Commission having under consideration the above-captioned application of the Southern Oregon Broadcasting Company for a construction permit to change the frequency of Station KUIN, Grants Pass, Oregon, from 1340 kilocycles to 1480 kilocycles and to increase power from 250 watts to one kilowatt, unlimited time; and

It appearing that the applicant is legally, technically and otherwise qualified, except as may appear from the issues specified below, to operate Station KUIN as proposed, but that the proposed operation may cause interference to Stations KYOS, Merced, California (1420 kc, 5 kw, DA-N, U) and KWIZ, Santa Ana, California (1480 kc, 1 kw, DA-1, U); and

It further appearing that, pursuant to section 309 (b) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, the subject applicant was advised by letter dated March 28, 1956, of the aforementioned deficiencies and that the Commission was unable to conclude that a grant of the application would be in the public interest; and

It further appearing that Stations KWIZ and KYOS in letters dated April 13 and 20, 1956, respectively, expressed an intention of appearing at a hearing; and

It further appearing that a timely reply was received from the applicant; and

It further appearing that the Commission, after consideration of the above, is of the opinion that a hearing is necessary;

[1] A partnership of Frank C. Carman, Grant R. Wrathall, Edna O. Powers, Edna O. Powers, Guardian of Sharon Lee Powers, and Continental Bank and Trust Company, Administrator of the Estate of David G. Smith, deceased.

[2] On April 25, 1956, the Commission granted an application for assignment of license from the Utah Broadcasting and Television Company to Frank C. Carman, tr/as KLUB Broadcasting Company, File No. BAL-2281. The assignment has not been consummated.

[3] In a Memorandum Opinion and Order adopted on May 3, 1956, the Commission granted a section 309 (c) protest by The United Broadcasting Company, licensee of Station KVOG, Ogden, Utah, to the above grant, and designated the KWIC application for hearing; postponed the effective date of the grant until after the hearing has been held; and made The United Broadcasting Company a party to the proceeding.

[4] Legal counsel for KWIC stated, in a letter dated April 27, 1956, that no formal reply to the subject protest would be made since an application for modification of permit to specify a different frequency would be filed.

[5] "The term 'party in interest,' as set forth in section 309 and 'person aggrieved or whose interests are adversely affected,' as set forth in section 405, are synonymous." In re Clarksville Broadcasting Co., 10 Pike and Fischer RR 1274, 1276.

[6] Section 3.182 (x) of the Commission's rules provides, in pertinent part, that: "In selecting a frequency, consideration should be given to the fact that occasionally the frequency assignment of two stations in the same area may bear such a relation to the intermediate frequency of some broadcast receivers as to cause so-called 'image' interference. However, since this can usually be rectified by readjustment of the intermediate frequency of such receivers, the Commission in general will not take this kind of interference into consideration in allocation problems."

It is ordered, That, pursuant to section 309 (b) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, the said application is designated for hearing, at a time and place to be specified in a subsequent order, upon the following issues:

1. To determine the areas and populations which may be expected to gain or lose primary service from the operation of Station KUIN as proposed, and the availability of other primary service to such areas and populations.

2. To determine whether the proposed operation would cause interference to Stations KYOS, Merced, California, and KWIZ, Santa Ana, California, or any other existing standard broadcast station, and, if so, the nature and extent thereof, the areas and populations affected thereby, and the availability of other primary service to such areas and populations.

3. To determine whether, in the light of the evidence adduced pursuant to the foregoing issues, a grant of the above-captioned application would be in the public interest.

It is further ordered, That KYOS, Inc., and The Voice of the Orange Empire, Inc., Ltd., licensees of Station KYOS and KWIZ, respectively, are made parties to the proceeding.

PROCLAMATION 3136

PRAYER FOR PEACE, MEMORIAL DAY, 1956

BY THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

A PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS mankind throughout the ages has constantly sought for an enduring peace founded on mercy and justice; and

WHEREAS we are humbly aware that only through divine guidance can we find the course which we should follow to achieve permanent peace, and the strength and courage to pursue that course patiently and unceasingly until the goal is attained; and

WHEREAS it is eminently fitting that on May 30, Memorial Day, an anniversary devoted to the memory of our heroic dead who gave their lives in the cause of peace, we should turn to Almighty God in concerted prayer for wisdom in our striving for harmony among the nations of the world; and

WHEREAS in evidence of our longing for such harmony, the Congress provided, in a joint resolution approved May 11, 1950, that Memorial Day should thenceforth be observed as a day of Nationwide prayer for permanent peace:

NOW, THEREFORE, I, DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER, President of the United States of America, do hereby call upon the people of this Nation to observe Memorial Day, May 30, 1956, as a day on which all of us, in our churches, in our homes, and in our hearts, may beseech God to guide our steps into the paths leading to permanent peace; and I designate the hour beginning in each locality at eleven o'clock in the morning as a period in which we may unite in humble petition for His help in reaching that goal.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Seal of the United States of America to be affixed.

DONE at the City of Washington this 15th day of May in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred and fifty-six, and of the Independence of the United States of America the one hundred and eightieth.

[SEAL]

DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER

By the President:

JOHN FOSTER DULLES,
Secretary of State.

(Sec. 6, 38 Stat. 721; 15 U. S. C. 46. Interpret or apply sec. 5, 38 Stat. 719, as amended; 15 U. S. C. 45) [Cease and desist order, Hayr Chemical Co., Inc. (Newark, N. J.), et al., Docket 6157, April 24, 1956]

In the Matter of Hayr Chemical Co., Inc., a Corporation, and Phillip Kalech, Dr. Joseph Caspe, Nathan Kalech and Myrtle L. Larsen, Individually; Louis F. Herman, Individually and Trading as Louis F. Herman Advertising Agency; and Eugene Kesselman, Individually

This proceeding was heard by a hearing examiner on the complaint of the Commission—charging a corporation and its officers, engaged in the interstate sale and distribution from their place of business in Newark, N. J., of a drug and cosmetic preparation designated "Hayr Application for the Scalp and Hair", with disseminating advertisements in newspapers and magazines which represented falsely that the plugging of hair follicles with foreign matter was a cause of diminished hair growth, excessive hair loss, baldness, and dandruff, and that removal of such foreign matter by the use of said "Hayr" preparation would correct such conditions and cause hair to grow on bald or partially bald heads—respondents' answer, testimony and other evidence, and proposed findings and conclusions submitted by counsel.

Upon this basis, the hearing examiner made his initial decision including order to cease and desist, which, by order of April 30, 1956, became, on April 24, 1956, the decision of the Commission.

Said order to cease and desist is as follows:

It is ordered, That the respondents Hayr Chemical Co., Inc., a corporation, and its officers, and the individual respondents Dr. Joseph Caspe, Nathan Kalech and Myrtle L. Larsen, and their respective representatives, agents and employees, directly or through any corporate or other device in connection with the offering for sale, sale or distribution of a drug and cosmetic preparation designated "Hayr Application for the Scalp and Hair," or any other preparation of substantially similar composition or possessing substantially similar properties, whether sold under the same name or under any other name, do forthwith cease and desist from:

1. Disseminating or causing to be disseminated any advertisement by means of the United States mails or by any means in commerce, as "commerce" is defined in the Federal Trade Commission Act, which advertisement represents, directly or by implication:

(a) That the plugging of hair follicles with foreign matter is a cause of diminished hair growth, excessive hair loss or baldness.

(b) That the removal of foreign matter from the hair follicles by the use of respondents' preparation will correct a cause of diminished hair growth, excessive hair loss or baldness.

(c) That the removal of foreign matter from the hair follicles by the use of respondents' preparation will increase hair growth, prevent excessive hair loss or baldness.

(d) That the use of respondents' preparation as directed or otherwise will cause hair to grow on bald or partially bald heads.

(e) That the use of respondents' preparation has any effect upon dandruff other than the temporary removal of dandruff scales.

2. Disseminating or causing to be disseminated, by any means, for the purpose of inducing or which is likely to induce, directly or indirectly, the purchase of said preparation in commerce, as "commerce" is defined in the Federal Trade Commission Act, any advertisement which contains any of the representations prohibited in Paragraph 1 of this order.

It is further ordered, That the complaint be, and it hereby is, dismissed as to respondents Phillip Kalech, Louis F. Herman and Eugene Kesselman.

By "Decision of the Commission", etc., report of compliance was required as follows:

It is further ordered, That the respondents shall, within sixty (60) days after service upon them of this order, file with the Commission a report in writing setting forth in detail the manner and form in which they have complied with the order contained in said decision.

Issued: April 30, 1956.

By the Commission.

In the Matter of International Motels, Inc., a Corporation, and Lewis I. Heater, Reedy O. Bouldin, Frank E. Weeks, and Albert I. Mayberry, Individually and as Officers of Said Corporation

This proceeding was heard by a hearing examiner on the complaint of the Commission—charging a corporation and its officers, engaged in selling a correspondence course designed to prepare students for work as motel managers, with principal place of business in Millbrae, Calif., with making false claims in advertising in newspapers, etc., and by statements of sales persons concerning opportunities, earnings, demand for graduates, branch offices in other cities, connection with prominent motels and resorts, operation of many motels, and international nature, among other things—and an agreement between the parties providing for the entry of a consent order.

(k) That only selected persons are qualified and accepted for enrollment in respondents' course of instruction.

(l) That persons completing respondents' course of instruction or those who have employed them endorse respondents' course of instruction.

(m) That leading motels acclaim respondents' course of instruction, or the quality and capability of their graduates.

2. Using the word "International", or any other word of similar import or meaning as a part of the corporate respondent's name; or otherwise representing, directly or by implication, that said respondent corporation constitutes an international organization or business.

By "Decision of the Commission", etc., report of compliance was required as follows:

In the Matter of Forrest A. Jones, an Individual Doing Business as Oregon Hearing Center, and as California Hearing Center, and as Western Hearing Center, and Forrest A. Jones and John A. Holm, Individuals and Copartners Doing Business as Washington Hearing Center

This proceeding was heard by a hearing examiner on the complaint of the Commission charging two individuals, one doing business in Portland, Oreg., and San Francisco, and both operating as partners in Seattle, Wash., with using "bait" advertising and with advertising their several types of hearing aids falsely in newspapers and circulars and by radio broadcasts, as, variously, complete hearing aids, fitting any ear, invisible, approved by the American Medical Association and its affiliated medical councils, recent inventions, developed at their own laboratory, enabling deaf persons to "hear everything" and better than with competitors' products—and an agreement between the parties providing for the entry of a consent order.

On this basis, the hearing examiner made his initial decision and order to cease and desist, which, by order of April 27, 1956, became, on April 28, 1956, the decision of the Commission.

Said order to cease and desist is as follows:

It is ordered, That respondent Forrest A. Jones, an individual doing business as Oregon Hearing Center, California Hearing Center, Western Hearing Center, or under any other trade name or names, and respondents Forrest A. Jones and John A. Holm, as individuals or as copartners trading as Washington Hearing Center or under any other trade name or names, and respondents' representatives, agents or employees, directly or through any corporate or other device, in connection with the offering for sale, sale and distribution of hearing aids and of other devices represented to be hearing aids, do cease and desist from directly or indirectly:

1. Disseminating or causing to be disseminated by means of the United States Mails or by any other means in commerce, as "commerce" is defined in the Federal Trade Commission Act, any advertisement which represents directly or by implication that:

(a) The canal ear phone receivers offered for sale are:

(1) Complete hearing aids or will, in themselves, provide hearing to persons suffering from hearing loss;

(2) Are transistor-powered aids;

(3) Are invisible;

(4) Will fit any ear;

(5) Have the approval of the American Medical Association, or of any medical councils affiliated therewith, when such is contrary to the fact.

(b) The bone conduction type of hearing aids offered for sale by respondents are a recent invention, are invisible, or that they will enable persons suffering from hearing loss to hear as well as normal-hearing persons.

(c) The non-powered ear canal inserts advertised or offered for sale by respondents, whether designated "Hear-Mold", "True-Ear", "Ear-Aid", or by any other name or names, or any device of similar design, construction, or properties:

(1) Provide a natural way to better hearing;

(2) Were developed at respondents' laboratory;

(3) Will be of any benefit to persons suffering from deafness or hearing loss except in instances when deafness or hearing loss is caused by collapse or partial collapse of the ear canal and unless such advertisements disclose that such causes are infrequent.

(d) The air conduction hearing aids offered for sale will enable persons suffering from hearing loss:

(1) To hear everything;

(2) To hear farther, or more naturally than they would by using competitive brands of hearing aids.

2. Disseminating or causing to be disseminated by any means for the purpose of inducing or which is likely to induce, directly or indirectly, the purchase of any such devices in commerce, as "commerce" is defined in the Federal Trade Commission Act, any advertisement which contains any of the representations prohibited in Paragraph 1 above.

It is further ordered, That respondent Forrest A. Jones, an individual doing business as Oregon Hearing Center, California Hearing Center, Western Hearing Center, or under any other trade name or names, and respondents Forrest A. Jones and John A. Holm, as individuals or as copartners trading as Washington Hearing Center, or under any other trade name or names, and respondents' representatives, agents, and employees, directly or through any corporate or other device, in connection with the offering for sale, sale and distribution of hearing aids and accessories in commerce, as "commerce" is defined in the Federal Trade Commission Act, do forthwith cease and desist from representing, directly or by implication, that hearing aids and accessories are offered for sale when such offer is not a bona fide offer to sell the merchandise so offered.

By "Decision of the Commission," etc., report of compliance was required as follows:

It is ordered, That the respondents herein shall within sixty (60) days after service upon them of this order, file with the Commission a report in writing setting forth in detail the manner and form in which they have complied with the order to cease and desist.

VAISEY-BRISTOL SHOE CO., INC., ET AL.

Subpart—Advertising falsely or misleadingly: § 13.170 Qualities or properties of product or service.

(Sec. 6, 38 Stat. 721; 15 U. S. C. 46. Interprets or applies sec. 5, 38 Stat. 719, as amended; 15 U. S. C. 45) [Cease and desist order, Vaisey-Bristol Shoe Company, Inc. (Monett, Mo.), et al., Docket 6493, May 2, 1956]

In the Matter of Vaisey-Bristol Shoe Company, Inc., a Corporation, and Sam Vaisey and Joe McCaffery, Individually and as Officers of Vaisey-Bristol Shoe Company, Inc., and Storm Advertising Company, Inc., a Corporation, and Morry Storm, Individually and as an Officer of Storm Advertising Company, Inc.

This proceeding was heard by a hearing examiner on the complaint of the Commission—charging a corporate manufacturer of "Jumping Jack" juvenile shoes and its advertising agency with advertising falsely in newspapers, magazines, catalogs, and labels on cartons, etc., and by radio broadcasts, that the wearing of said shoes would guide little feet through the formative years and into proper walking habits, assure that the feet would grow straight and strong and develop normally, cause the arch and toes to stay strong and healthy, help bones and muscles to grow straight and strong, promote better health habits, prevent foot defects, help youngsters walk straighter, improve and promote the health of the feet and the general health; and incorporated therapeutic and corrective devices and health features—and an agreement between the parties providing for the entry of a consent order.

On this basis, the hearing examiner made his initial decision and order to cease and desist which, on May 2, 1956, became the decision of the Commission.

Said order to cease and desist is as follows:

It is ordered, That the respondent Vaisey-Bristol Shoe Company, Inc., a corporation, its officers and respondents Samuel B. Vaisey (otherwise known as Sam Vaisey), and Joseph A. McCaffrey (otherwise known as Joe McCaffery), individually and as officers of respondent Vaisey-Bristol Shoe Company, Inc., and Storm Advertising Company, Inc., a corporation, its officers and Morry Storm, individually and as an officer of respondent Storm Advertising Company, Inc., their representatives, agents and employees, directly or through any corporate or other device, in connection with the offering for sale, sale or distribution in commerce, as "commerce" is defined in the Federal Trade Commission Act, of respondents' shoes designated "Jumping-Jacks," or any other shoes of similar construction, irrespective of the designation applied thereto, do forthwith cease and desist from:

1. Representing, directly or by implication, that the wearing of respondents' said shoes:

(a) Will guide the feet through the formative years or into proper walking habits, or will have any significant beneficial effect on walking habits;

(b) Will assure that the feet grow straight or strong or develop normally, or will have any significant beneficial effect on the growth or development of the feet;

(c) Will cause the arch or toes to stay strong or healthy;

(d) Will help bones or muscles to grow straight or strong;

(e) Will promote better health habits;

(f) Will prevent foot defects;

(g) Will help youngsters walk straighter;

(h) Will improve or promote the health of the feet or the general health.

2. Using the word "health" or any other word or term of similar meaning, alone or in combination with any other word or words, to designate, describe or refer to respondents' shoes in such manner as to import or imply that respondents' shoes incorporate therapeutic or corrective devices or contain health features.

By "Decision of the Commission", etc., report of compliance was required as follows:

It is ordered, That the respondents herein shall, within sixty (60) days after service upon them of this order, file with the Commission a report in writing setting forth in detail the manner and form in which they have complied with the order to cease and desist.

Issued: May 2, 1956.

Chapter I—Bureau of Customs, Department of the Treasury

[T. D. 54087]

PART 24—CUSTOMS FINANCIAL AND ACCOUNTING PROCEDURES

ASSESSMENT AND COLLECTION OF CERTAIN CUSTOMS FEES

In order to assist the owner of a registered patent in obtaining data upon which to file a complaint under section 337 of the Tariff Act of 1930 (19 U. S. C. 1337), charging unfair methods of competition and unfair acts in the importation of merchandise infringing his patent, the Bureau of Customs, upon request of an owner of a patent, will furnish the names and addresses of importers of merchandise believed to infringe his patent. To cover the expense to the Government of compiling such information which is obtained solely for the benefit of the patent holder, a fee of $100 shall be charged for checking importations against a registered patent during a period of 60 days and for furnishing the names and addresses of importers importing merchandise which appears to infringe such patent.

Accordingly, § 24.12 (a) of the Customs regulations is amended by adding a new subparagraph (3) reading as follows:

(3) A customs fee of $100 shall be collected for each application for the furnishing, for a period of 60 days, the names and addresses of importers of articles appearing to infringe a registered patent. The proprietor will deliver the export stamps and Forms 1701, with the attached Forms 1440, to the storekeeper-gauger, who will verify the data on the stamps and affix his signature, or facsimile thereof, enter the serial numbers of the stamps on Forms 1701, and return the stamps to the proprietor.

§ 253.47 Release of alcohol. After the containers have been properly marked and stamped and, in the case of tank cars and tank trucks, sealed with Government cap seals, the storekeeper-gauger will, after the proprietor has noted the serial numbers of the cap seals, if any, on Form 1440, approve the proprietor's application on such form to withdraw the containers and will release the alcohol for shipment to the foreign-trade zone named in the application, Form 1701. Upon removal of the alcohol the storekeeper-gauger will execute the report of removal on Form 1701.

§ 253.48 Delivery to zone. Alcohol may be delivered directly to a zone by the exporter in vehicles owned or controlled by him, or to a carrier holding permit under Part 182 of this title to transport tax-free alcohol, for transportation to a zone. Where delivery is made to a carrier for transportation to a zone, the proprietor shall procure a copy of the bill of lading, if any, covering such transportation and deliver it to the storekeeper-gauger.

§ 253.49 Disposition of forms. When the alcohol has been withdrawn, the storekeeper-gauger will forward immediately one copy of the Form 1701, with Form 1440 attached, and a copy of the bill of lading, if any, to the assistant regional commissioner of the region in which the plant or warehouse is located. He will mail two copies of the forms to the customs officer in charge at the foreign-trade zone, except that in the case of transfers in tank trucks, he will mail one copy of each form to such customs officer and enclose the other copies in a sealed envelope addressed to such customs officer and give the same to the driver of the tank truck for delivery to him. The storekeeper-gauger will deliver the remaining copies of the forms to the proprietor for filing.

§ 253.50 Deposit in foreign-trade zone. Upon receipt at the foreign-trade zone, the containers of alcohol shall be inspected by a customs officer, who shall make such inspection or gauge as is necessary to establish that the shipment corresponds with the description thereof on the Form 1701 and accompanying gauge report Form 1440. The customs officer shall examine the contents of such containers as are found broken, damaged, or tampered with, or which he suspects do not contain the spirits originally packaged therein, and shall make a special report thereon. The customs officer shall note on his report any deficiency in quantity or discrepancy between the merchandise inspected or gauged and that described in the entry. Containers bearing evidence of loss may be deposited in the zone, unless the circumstances indicate fraud, as distinguished from losses by leakage, minor pilferage or theft in transit. In the event there is evidence of fraud the collector of customs will detain the alcohol and report the facts immediately to the assistant regional commissioner of the region in which the zone is located, who will cause immediate investigation to be made and will take such action as the facts may warrant. Where alcohol is so detained, it shall be deemed not to have been deposited in the zone, and customs officers will hold in abeyance the processing of Form 1701 and Zone Form D until the detained alcohol will have been released in accordance with § 253.55. Where the inspection or gauge discloses no loss, or where a loss is disclosed by such inspection or gauge and there is no evidence to indicate fraud, the officer shall execute his certificate of inspection on Form 1701, reporting thereon any discrepancy found, giving the serial numbers of the packages or cases, or the railroad tank car number, or the tank truck number and the State license number of the tank truck (if the tank truck is of the trailer type, the license number of the trailer will be shown), the original contents in proof gallons, and the nature and extent of any losses or discrepancies. The officer shall cut out that portion of each of the export stamps extending from the top to the bottom and embracing the entire width between the borders thereof and attach them to one copy of the Form 1701, and shall then forward both copies of Form 1701 with attachments to the collector of customs. The collector of customs will execute his certificate of deposit on Form 1701 and forward one copy of the form with Forms 1440 and 696, if any, and the cut-out portions of the stamps to the assistant regional commissioner who approved the permit. The remaining copy of the Form 1701, with attachments, if any, will be retained by the collector of customs.

§ 253.53 Filing of claims. When the exporter has received a notice of loss from the assistant regional commissioner and has been notified that the filing of a claim is required, he shall, within 30 days from the date of the notification, submit a claim for remission of the tax on the alcohol lost. Such claim shall be made on letter-size paper (original only) showing the name and address of the claimant, and setting forth the following information:

(a) The serial numbers of the packages or cases, or the railroad tank car number, or the tank truck number and the State license number of the tank truck (if the tank truck is of the trailer type, the license number of the trailer will be shown);

(b) The quantity of alcohol lost from each container and the total quantity of alcohol covered by the claim;

(c) The total amount of tax for which the claim is filed;

(d) The date, penal sum, and form number of the bond under which withdrawal and shipment were made;

(e) The name, registry number and location of the industrial alcohol plant or warehouse from which the alcohol was withdrawn;

(f) The date of the loss, if known, and the cause and nature thereof, together with all of the known facts related thereto;

(g) Whether the alleged loss occurred without any fraud or negligence on the part of the exporter, owner, carrier, or their agents or employees, and whether claim has been made or is contemplated against such persons on account of such loss; and

(h) Whether the alcohol lost is covered by valid claim of insurance in excess of the market value thereof, exclusive of the tax. If the alcohol is insured, the statement will show the market value of the alcohol per proof gallon, the amount and date of each and every policy of insurance, the name and location of the company by which each and every policy was issued, the name and address of the bona fide owner of the alcohol and, to the best of the affiant's knowledge, whether any other person or party is indemnified against the payment of the tax sought to be remitted. The claim shall be signed by the exporter or his authorized agent and immediately above the signature there will appear the following statement: "I declare under the penalties of perjury that this cliam has been examined by me and to the best of my knowledge and belief is a true and correct claim." The assistant regional commissioner may require such further evidence as is deemed necessary.

§ 253.54 Action by assistant regional commissioner. Where large losses in transit are reported, the assistant regional commissioner will cause immediate investigation to be made. When a claim for remission of tax is received, the assistant regional commissioner will carefully examine it to see that the required information has been furnished and will cause such investigation to be made or require such additional evidence to be submitted as he may deem necessary. Upon completion of the claim investigation, the assistant regional commissioner will allow or disallow the claim in accordance with existing law and regulations. If the assistant regional commissioner finds that there has been a diversion of alcohol to any illegal use by the exporter or carrier or other person having legal custody or control thereof, or with connivance, collusion, fraud, or negligence on the part of the exporter or carrier or such other person or the employees of any of them, the tax on the alcohol diverted will be assessed, or liability asserted against the bond covering the shipment, as the case may be, and the remainder, if any, of the alcohol may be subject to seizure and forfeiture. In the event the exporter does not file proof of loss and claim for remission of tax, as provided in this subpart, the assistant regional commissioner will report the tax for assessment in accordance with the prescribed procedure. Assistant regional commissioners will keep an account with each bond in accordance with Subpart J of this part.

§ 253.112 Disposition of forms. When the distilled spirits have been withdrawn, the storekeeper-gauger will forward immediately one copy of the Form 1701, with Form 1520, if any, attached, and a copy of the bill of lading, if any, to the assistant regional commissioner of the region in which the distillery or warehouse is located. He will mail two copies of the forms to the customs officer in charge at the foreign-trade zone, except that, in the case of transfers in tank trucks, he will mail one copy of each form to such customs officer and enclose the other copies in a sealed envelope addressed to such customs officer and give the same to the driver of the tank truck for delivery to him. The customs officer shall examine the contents of such containers as are found broken, damaged, or tampered with, or which he suspects do not contain the spirits originally packaged therein, and shall make a special report thereon. The customs officer shall note on his report any deficiency in quantity or discrepancy between the merchandise inspected or gauged and that described in the entry. Containers bearing evidence of loss may be deposited in the zone, unless the circumstances indicate fraud, as distinguished from losses by leakage, minor pilferage or theft in transit, in which event the collector of customs will detain the distilled spirits and report the facts immediately to the assistant regional commissioner of the region in which the zone is located, who will cause immediate investigation to be made and will take such action as the facts may warrant. Where distilled spirits are so detained, they shall be deemed not to have been deposited in the zone, and customs officers will hold in abeyance the processing of Forms 1701 and Zone Form D until the detained distilled spirits will have been released in accordance with § 253.125. Where the inspection or gauge discloses no loss, or where a loss is disclosed by such inspection or gauge and there is no evidence to indicate fraud, the officer shall execute his certificate of inspection on Form 1701, reporting thereon any discrepancy found, giving the serial numbers of the packages or cases, or the railroad tank car number, or the tank truck number and the State license number of the tank truck (if the tank truck is of the trailer type, the license number of the trailer will be shown), the original contents in proof gallons, and the nature an extent of any losses or discrepancies. The officer shall cut out that portion of each of the export stamps, if any, extending from the top to the bottom and embracing the entire width between the borders thereof, and attach them to one copy of the Form 1701 and shall then forward both copies of Form 1701 with attachments, if any, to the collector of customs. The collector of customs will execute his certificate on Form 1701 and forward one copy of the form with Forms 1520 an 696, if any, and the cut-out portions of the stamps, if any, to the assistant regional commissioner who approved the permit. The remaining copy of the Form 1701, with attachments, if any, will be retained by the collector of customs.

(68A Stat. 604; 26 U. S. C. 5011)

(68A Stat. 604; 26 U. S. C. 5011)

§ 253.123 Filing of claims. When the exporter has received a notice of loss and a request from the assistant regional commissioner for the filing of a claim, he shall, within 30 days from the date of the notification, submit a claim for remission of the tax on the spirits lost. Such claim shall be made on letter-size paper (original only), showing the name and address of the claimant and setting forth the following information:

(a) The name of the distiller who produced the spirits, and the registry number and location of the distillery;

(b) The serial numbers of the packages or cases, or the railroad tank car number, or the tank truck number and the State license number of the tank truck (if the tank truck is of the trailer type, the license number of the trailer will be shown);

(c) The quantity of spirits lost from each package or other container, and the total quantity of spirits covered by the claim;

(d) The total amount of tax for which the claim is filed;

(e) The date of the loss, or, if such date is not known, the date on which the loss was discovered and the cause and nature thereof, together with all the facts surrounding the loss;

(h) If lost by theft, whether the claimant is indemnified or recompensed for the loss, and, if so, the amount and nature of such indemnity or recompense. The actual value of the spirits, less the tax, must be stated explicitly and, where required, certified copies of all policies of insurance or other documents of indemnity covering the spirits must be furnished. The claim shall be signed by the exporter or his authorized agent and immediately above the signature there will appear the following statement: "I declare under the penalties of perjury that this claim has been examined by me and to the best of my knowledge and belief is a true and correct claim."

§ 253.124 Action by assistant regional commissioner. Where large losses in transit are reported, the assistant regional commissioner will cause immediate investigation to be made. When a claim for remission of tax is received, the assistant regional commissioner will carefully examine it to see that the required information has been furnished and will cause such investigation to be made or require such additional evidence to be submitted as he may deem necessary. Upon completion of the claim investigation, the assistant regional commissioner will allow or disallow the claim in accordance with existing law and regulations. If the assistant regional commissioner finds that a loss of distilled spirits from a container resulted from theft and the proprietor or other person responsible for the tax fails to establish that the theft did not occur as a result of connivance, colusion, fraud, or negligence on the part of the distiller, warehouseman, owner, consignor, consignee, bailee, or carrier, or the employees of any of them, the tax will be assessed. In the event the exporter does not file proof of loss and claim for remission of tax as provided in this subpart, the tax will be assessed in accordance with prescribed procedure. The penal sum of the bond on Form 1703 or of the bond on Form 186 or Form 700 on which the consent has been filed shall be sufficient to cover the tax on the maximum quantity of any wines to be withdrawn and that may remain unaccounted for at any one time, and in no case shall be less than $500. Bonds and consents of surety shall be executed and approved in accordance with Subpart J of this part.

If the inspection discloses evience of fraud, as distinguished from losses by leakage, minor pilferage or theft in transit, the collector of customs will detain the wines and report the facts immediately to the assistant regional commissioner of the region in which the zone is located, who will cause immediate investigation to be made and will take such action as the facts may warrant. Where wines are so detained, they shall be deemed not to have been deposited in the zone, and customs officers will hold in abeyance the processing of Forms 1701 and Zone Form D pertaining to such wines, until the detained wines will have been released in accordance with the provisions of § 253.162. Where the inspection discloses no shortage, or where a shortage is disclosed but there is no evidence to indicate fraud, the customs officer will execute his certificate of inspection on Form 1701, reporting thereon any discrepancy found, giving the serial numbers of the packages, cases, tanks, railroad tank car or tank truck, and, in addition, in the case of railroad tank cars, the railroad car number and, in the case of tank trucks, the State license number of the tank truck (if the tank truck is of the trailer type, the license number of the trailer), the original contents in gallons, and the nature and extent of any losses or discrepancies. § 253.226 Application. Application, addressed to the assistant regional commissioner of the region in which the zone is located and filed as hereinafter provided, for authority to destroy domestic distilled spirits (including alcohol), wines, or beer on storage in a foreign-trade zone shall be made by the exporter on a letter-size paper, in duplicate, showing the name and address of the claimant and setting forth the following information:

(a) The kind and quantity of the liquor, the serial numbers, if any, of the containers thereof, and identification of the zone in which the liquor is stored;

Upon receipt of the application the collector of customs will determine the completeness thereof and shall report any facts relating to the condition of the liquor of which he may have knowledge. The original application will be forwarded to the assistant regional commissioner and the collector of customs shall retain the copy for his files.

§ 253.227 Action by assistant regional commissioner. The assistant regional commissioner will carefully examine the application to see that all the required information has been furnished and will cause such investigation to be made or require such additional evidence, including samples, to be submitted as he may deem necessary. If the assistant regional commissioner finds that the domestic distilled spirits (including alcohol), wines, or beer were withdrawn for transportation to and deposit in a foreign-trade zone in good faith for the purpose of exportation or storage pending exportation, and that such liquors, after deposit in the zone, have become unmerchantable or unfit for export, he may approve the application and authorize the destruction of the liquor described therein under the supervision of the collector of customs. Upon approval or disapproval of the application, the assistant regional commissioner will advise the collector of customs of his action.

§ 253.301 Corporate surety. Bonds may be given with corporate surety authorized by the Secretary of the Treasury to become surety on Federal bonds, subject to the limitations prescribed by the Secretary in Treasury Department Form 356. A bond executed by two or more corporate sureties shall be the joint and several liability of the principal and the sureties: Provided, That each corporate surety may limit its liability in terms upon the face of the bond in a definite, specified amount, which amount shall not exceed the limitations prescribed for such corporate surety by the Secretary, as set forth in Treasury Department Form 356. Such additional or strengthening bonds, being filed to increase the bond liability of the principal and the surety, shall not be construed in any sense to be substitute bonds, and the assistant regional commissioner will refuse to approve any additional or strengthening bond where any notation is made thereon which may be construed as a release of any former bond or as limiting the amount of either bond to less than its full penal sum. Such bonds must have marked thereon, by the obligors at the time of execution, "Additional Bond," or "Strengthening Bond."

A new bond shall be required immediately in case of the insolvency of a corporate surety. Where a bond is found to be not acceptable or for any reason becomes invalid or of no effect, the principal shall be required to file immediately a new and satisfactory bond, or discontinue operations thereunder forthwith. Superseding bonds must show the current date of execution and the date they are to be effective, and each such bond shall have marked thereon, by the obligors at the time of execution, "Superseding Bond." Where a new bond is submitted by the principal to supersede a bond or bonds then in effect, and such superseding bond has been approved, the superseded bond shall be released as to transactions occurring wholly subsequent to the effective date of the superseding bond and notice of termination of the superseded bond may be issued as provided in § 253.317.

Continuing bonds on Form 1703 will be terminated by the assistant regional commissioner as to liability for liquors consigned to a foreign-trade zone after a specified future date (a) pursuant to a notice by the surety, as provided in § 253.314, (b) following approval of a superseding bond, as provided in § 253.307, or (c) following notification by the principal of the discontinuance of the business covered by the bond. Upon termination, the assistant regional commissioner will mark the bond "Canceled" followed by the date of cancellation, and will issue a notice of termination, Form 1490, or a notice of release, Form 1491, as provided in § 253.317.

§ 253.314 Application of surety for release from bond. A surety on any bond required by Subparts C through G of this part may at any time, in writing, notify the assistant regional commissioner in whose office the bond is on file and the principal that he desires to be relieved of liability under the bond at a date not less than 60 days after the date of the notification. One copy of the notice must be delivered to the principal and two copies shall be delivered to the assistant regional commissioner. If the notice is given by an agent of the surety it must be accompanied by a power of attorney authorizing the agent to give such notice, or by a verified statement that such power of attorney is on file with the Treasury Department. The surety must also file with the assistant regional commissioner an acknowledgment or other proof of service of such notice on the principal.

§ 253.315 Extent of release of surety from liability under bond. If the notice required by § 253.314 is not withdrawn thereafter in writing, the rights of the principal as supported by the said bond shall be terminated on the date named in the notice, and the surety will be relieved from liability for liquors withdrawn wholly subsequent to the date named. Liability under a bond on Form 1703 for liquors removed prior to the date named in the surety's notice will continue until such liquors are properly accounted for according to law and this part. Where the principal files a valid superseding bond, the surety on the bond superseded will be relieved from liability for liquors withdrawn wholly subsequent to the effective date of the superseding bond.

§ 253.316 Action by assistant regional commissioner. When an application by the surety for release as to future liability from a transportation bond required by Subparts C through G of this part is filed with the assistant regional commissioner, or when a superseding bond has been approved, or when the principal has discontinued business, the assistant regional commissioner will make a complete examination of records to determine whether there is any liability then due and payable outstanding against the bond. He shall also ascertain from the district director of internal revenue whether there are any outstanding unpaid assessments against the principal on liquors removed under the bond. If it is found that violations of law and regulations occurred during the period covered by the bond or that liabilities chargeable against the bond have not been paid or otherwise settled, no further action will be taken until all such liabilities have been settled. If the assistant regional commissioner finds that the bond may be properly terminated, he will issue notice of termination in accordance with the provisions of § 253.317.

§ 253.317 Notice of termination. Upon determining that a transportation bond filed pursuant to Subparts C through G of this part may be terminated, the assistant regional commissioner will execute a notice of termination, Form 1490, where a superseding bond has been approved, or a notice of release, Form 1491, where the principal has discontinued the business covered by the bond, or where the surety has made application for release from bond as provided in § 253.314. The notice of termination or the notice of release shall be prepared in triplicate where there is but one surety, and in quadruplicate where there are two sureties. The assistant regional commissioner will furnish one copy to each obligor, and retain one copy of the notice and the surety's application, if any, on file with the bond to which it relates.

§ 253.318 Release of collateral. The release of collateral pledged and deposited to support bonds required by Subparts C through G of this part will be in accordance with the provisions of Department Circular No. 154, revised (31 CFR Part 225), subject to the conditions governing issuance of notices on Forms 1490 and 1491 of the termination of such bonds. When the assistant regional commissioner determines that there is no outstanding liability against the bond, and has satisfied himself that the interests of the Government will not be jeopardized, the security may be released and returned to the principal.

§ 253.376 Removals to be covered by bond. No additional or special bonds will be required to cover removals of nontaxpaid tobacco products, or cigarette papers and tubes, from domestic internal revenue factories where produced, or removals of such articles from bonded internal revenue tobacco export warehouses, for delivery to foreign-trade zones under these regulations. Liability to tax on such removals shall be charged against the bonds under which the factories and warehouses are operated. However, a manufacturer, or proprietor of a bonded internal revenue tobacco export warehouse, who desires to make removals of nontaxpaid tobacco products, or cigarette papers and tubes, from his factory or warehouse for delivery to foreign-trade zones must furnish to the assistant regional commissioner of the region in which his factory or warehouse is located, an extension of coverage of bond, Form 2105, extending his factory or warehouse bond to cover such removals.

Where such articles, removed under this subpart without payment of tax, bear a label or notice, such label or notice shall not be in the likeness or similitude of a United States tax stamp, or a stamp, label, or notice required on packages of similar articles to evidence United States tax.

§ 253.378 Lottery features. No certificate, coupon, or other device purporting to be or to represent a ticket, chance, share, or an interest in, or dependent on, the event of a lottery shall be contained in, attached to, or stamped, marked, written, or printed on any package of tobacco products, or cigarette papers or tubes, removed under this subpart to a foreign-trade zone.

§ 253.380 Shipping containers. Each shipping case, crate, or other package containing nontaxpaid tobacco products, or cigarette papers and tubes, to be delivered to a foreign-trade zone under this subpart shall bear a number, such number to be assigned by the manufacturer. Removals of articles from a warehouse to a foreign-trade zone shall be made, insofar as practicable, in the same containers in which received from factories. However, where it is necessary to break a manufacturer's original shipping container to remove a portion of the contents for export, a new container shall be provided for the portion to be removed, which container shall be marked with the same number as the manufacturer's original container number followed by the letter "A" for the removal of the first portion thereof, "B" for the second portion, and so on as may be necessary.

§ 253.381 Notice of removal. For each shipment of nontaxpaid tobacco products, or cigarette papers and tubes, removed from his factory for delivery to a foreign-trade zone under this subpart, the manufacturer shall prepare a notice of removal on Form 2149 (in quadruplicate) and for each shipment of nontaxpaid articles removed from his warehouse for similar delivery, the proprietor shall prepare a notice of removal on Form 2150 (in quadruplicate). Each such notice shall be given a number by the manufacturer or warehouse proprietor in a series beginning with number one for the first such shipment removed, under this subpart, and beginning again with number one on the first day of January of each year thereafter: Provided, That where removals are also made under the provisions of Part 290 (26 CFR) such forms may be numbered in the same series as that used for Forms 2149 and 2150, respectively, under that part. All copies of such notice of removal shall show the same serial number. Upon removal of the shipment described on the form, the manufacturer or warehouse proprietor shall fill in the date of actual removal of the shipment on all copies of the notice.

§ 253.382 Disposition of copies of Forms 2149 or 2150. After filling in on all copies of the notice of removal, Forms 2149 or 2150, as the case may be, the date of removal of the shipment described thereon, as required by § 253.381, the manufacturer or warehouse proprietor shall promptly file one copy with the assistant regional commissioner for the region in which is located the factory or warehouse from which the shipment is removed and shall retain one copy for his files. The manufacturer or warehouse proprietor shall forward the other two copies of the Form 2149 or Form 2150, as the case may be, to the customs officer in charge of the foreign-trade zone to which the shipment described on the form will be delivered.

§ 253.383 Receipt of shipment into foreign-trade zone. When a shipment of nontaxpaid tobacco products, or cigarette papers and tubes, removed from a factory or warehouse under this subpart, is received at the foreign-trade zone, the customs officers at the zone shall inspect the shipment to satisfy themselves that it agrees with that described on the copies of the related Forms 2149 or 2150, as the case may be, received from the manufacturer or warehouse proprietor making the shipment. The customs officers at the foreign-trade zone should not permit receipt into the zone of, tobacco products, or cigarette papers and tubes, other than those described on the related Form 2149 or 2150. After permitting receipt of the shipment into the zone, the officer in charge shall properly execute the certificate of receipt on the back of each of the two copies of the related Forms 2149 or 2150, retain one copy for the records of his office, and transmit the other completed copy of the form to the manufacturer or warehouse proprietor making the shipment who shall file the form promptly with the proper assistant regional commissioner.

§ 253.384 Return of shipment to factory or warehouse. If, after removal from his factory, or bonded internal revenue export warehouse, and prior to delivery to and receipt in a foreign-trade zone, the manufacturer or warehouse proprietor desires to return a shipment of tobacco products, or cigarette papers and tubes, to the premises of his factory or tobacco products or cigarette papers or tubes into his warehouse, he must give immediate notice thereof to the appropriate assistant regional commissioner. Such notice shall be given by transmitting to the assistant regional commissioner three copies of the Forms 2149 or 2150 under which the tobacco products, or cigarette papers and tubes, were originally removed after the manufacturer or warehouse proprietor has appropriately modified and executed the certificate of receipt on each copy of the form to indicate the tobacco products, or cigarette papers and tubes, returned to his factory or warehouse and debited in the records of the factory or warehouse. If less than the entire shipment of tobacco products, or cigarette papers and tubes, as described on the form, is returned to the factory or warehouse, the manufacturer or warehouse proprietor shall not only set forth accurately the items returned, but shall show what disposition was made of the balance of the original shipment, and any other facts, pertinent to such shipment. The assistant regional commissioner shall indicate his acknowledgment of such notice by appropriate endorsement to that effect on each of the three copies of the related Forms 2149 or 2150, retain one copy for his records and return the other two copies thereof to the manufacturer or warehouse proprietor. Upon receipt of the two copies of the form bearing the endorsement of the assistant regional commissioner, the manufacturer or warehouse proprietor shall retain one copy for the records of his factory or warehouse and shall submit the other copy with his report for the month in which the tobacco products, or cigarette papers and tubes, are returned.

§ 253.385 Tax liability. Responsibility for the proper delivery of nontaxpaid tobacco products, or cigarette papers and tubes removed from the factory or warehouse under this subpart, shall rest upon the manufacturer or warehouse proprietor making the shipment and he will be liable for the internal revenue tax on such articles shipped or delivered otherwise than in accordance with this subpart, or for such articles shipped to a foreign-trade zone where satisfactory evidence of delivery is not received by the assistant regional commissioner.

§ 253.386 Credit for shipment. Upon receipt by the assistant regional commissioner of a copy of the notice of removal, Forms 2149 or 2150, on which the officer in charge of the foreign-trade zone has executed the certificate of receipt, or other satisfactory evidence of receipt of the articles described on the form, credit will be allowed the shipper for the merchandise actually received into the foreign-trade zone as indicated by the officer in charge of the zone. In case a shortage is reported, the shipper will be required to pay the amount of tax due on the shortage.

§ 253.387 Penal provisions. The provisions of sections 5762 and 5763 of the Internal Revenue Code apply to tobacco products, and cigarette papers and tubes, removed under this subpart.

PROPOSED RULE MAKING

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

Agricultural Marketing Service

[ 7 CFR Parts 27, 28 ]

COTTON REGULATIONS

MISCELLANEOUS AMENDMENTS

Notice is hereby given, in accordance with section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act (5 U. S. C. 1003), that the Agricultural Marketing Service is considering amendments of the regulations for cotton classification under cotton futures legislation (7 CFR Part 27, Subpart A, as amended) and the regulations under the United States Cotton Standards Act (7 CFR Part 28, Subpart A, as amended), pursuant to authority contained in section 4863 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 (68A Stat. 582; 26 U. S. C., Supp. II, 4863), and in section 4 of the United States Cotton Standards Act (42 Stat. 1517; 7 U. S. C. 54).

The primary purposes of the proposed amendments are to (1) clarify procedures for submitting requests for classification and Micronaire determinations for cotton futures purposes; (2) simplify procedures for the transfer of certificated bales of cotton from one futures delivery location to another delivery location; (3) delete obsolete provisions in cotton futures regulations; and (4) clarify the procedure for review classification by deleting the provision in both the cotton futures and Cotton Standards Act regulations which provides that the original classification shall be changed upon review "only when it shall appear upon the review that such classification was clearly erroneous."

The proposed amendments are as follows:

1. Section 27.10 would be amended by deleting the words "with full authority to perform the duties of a supervisor of cotton inspection in accordance with §§ 27.75 and 27.77", and the comma preceding such words.

2. Section 27.13 would be amended to read:

§ 27.13 Micronaire determination request incidental to classification request. The classification request may include a request for Micronaire determination.

3. Paragraph (b) of § 27.28 would be amended to read as follows:

(b) The sample may be removed, by the current holder of the cotton classification certificate covering the cotton represented by such sample, at any time within 30 days after whichever of the following occurs first: (1) such certificate becomes invalid as provided in § 27.42, or (2) the certificate (covering tenderable cotton) is surrendered for cancellation without the issuance of a new certificate in lieu thereof, or (3) the cotton is classified as untenderable and an application for review is not filed within the time specified in § 27.62, or (4) the cotton is classified as untenderable in review classification, or (5) the cotton is found untenderable in an official Micronaire determination.

4. Section 27.44 would be amended to read as follows:

§ 27.44 Invalidity of cotton class certificates. Any cotton class certificate shall become invalid for use in the tender or delivery of the cotton covered thereby on a section 4863 contract whenever such cotton shall be removed from the place of storage specified therein, except when it is handled and restored or transferred to a different place of storage and restored under the supervision of an exchange inspection agency.

5. Section 27.48 would be deleted in its entirety.

6. The sentence in § 27.64 (a), which reads as follows, would be deleted: "A copy of each such application shall be mailed by the person receiving it under this section to the other party in interest."

7. Section 27.68 would be deleted in its entirety.

8. Section 27.69 would be amended to read:

§ 27.69 Classification review; notation on certificate. If upon review the classification of the cotton is found to be the same as shown by the cotton class certificate, there shall be placed upon the certificate a notation, which shall be signed by the chairman of the board and dated, to the effect that the classification of the cotton covered by such certificate has been reviewed and determined to be as stated in such certificate. Thereupon the certificate shall be returned to the person who requested the review.

9. Sections 27.73 through 27.79 would be deleted and the following substituted for § 27.73:

§ 27.73 Supervision of transfers of cotton. Whenever the owner of any cotton inspected and sampled for classification pursuant to this subpart and for which he holds valid cotton class certificates, desires to transfer such cotton to a different place, or to a different warehouse at the same place, for the purpose of having it made available for delivery upon a section 4863 contract, such transfer shall be effected under the supervision of the exchange inspection agency in accordance with procedures approved by the Administrator or his representative. For transfers of cotton between different places the owner of the cotton shall surrender the cotton class certificates for the cotton involved to the exchange inspection agency at the place from which the cotton is being transferred. The exchange inspection agency shall cancel the cotton class certificates and forward them, together with other necessary transfer papers, to the exchange inspection agency at the location to which the cotton is being transferred. When the cotton has been delivered for storage at the place of its destination and new warehouse receipts have been issued therefor, the exchange inspection agency at that point shall surrender the cancelled cotton class certificates, other transfer papers, and the new warehouse receipts for the cotton to the board of cotton examiners. Thereupon the board will issue a new cotton class certificate for each bale involved, valid for use at such destination without the reclassification of the cotton or a new Micronaire determination with respect to the cotton. Transfers between different warehouses at the same place shall be under the supervision of the exchange inspection agency at that place and the procedure as nearly as possible shall be the same as that for transfers between different places. The exchange inspection agency shall report the facts of all transfers to the board of cotton examiners in accordance with § 27.46. Supervision of transfers in accordance with this subpart shall not be granted, nor shall any certificate be issued with respect to any bale which appears, upon examination by the exchange inspection agency, or by a supervisor of cotton inspection or other authorized representative of the Service, to be in such condition that its grade or staple length or fiber fineness and maturity is different from that shown by the cotton class certificate, until such bale has been reclassified, and, if a Micronaire determination is shown on such certificate, until a new Micronaire determination has been made for the bale in accordance with this subpart.

10. The reference in § 27.81 to "§ 27.44" would be changed to "§ 27.73."

11. Section 27.84 would be deleted in its entirety.

12. Section 28.64 would be deleted in its entirety.

Any interested persons who wish to submit written data, views, or arguments concerning the proposed amendments may do so by filing them with the Director, Cotton Division, Agricultural Marketing Service, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington 25, D. C., not later than 15 days after publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Done at Washington, D. C., this 15th day of May 1956.

[SEAL] ROY W. LENNARTSON,
Deputy Administrator,
Agricultural Marketing Service.

Determination as to compliance with specifications for ingredient content or method of preparation may be based upon information received from the inspection system having jurisdiction over the products involved.

§ 53.5 Availability of service. Service under the regulations may be made available under a cooperative agreement with respect to products shipped or received in interstate commerce, and with respect to products not so shipped or received if the Chief determines that the furnishing of service for such products would facilitate the marketing, distribution, processing, and utilization of agricultural products through commercial channels. Service will be furnished only for products processed and fabricated, and derived from animals slaughtered, at establishments operated under Federal meat inspection, or at establishments, recognized under § 53.7, which are operated under some official meat inspection system recognized under § 53.6.

§ 53.6 Recognition of non-Federal meat inspection systems; withdrawal of recognition—(a) Conditions of recognition. Non-Federal meat inspection systems will be recognized by the Chief for the purpose of § 53.5 only if they are established under the authority of laws, ordinances, or similar provisions of a State, county, city, or other political subdivision; if the inspection is conducted by qualified inspectors who are veterinarians (or who are supervised by qualified veterinarians), who are employed, assigned and paid only by an agency of the State, county, city or other political subdivision conducting the meat inspection service, and who perform no work in or for an establishment operated under the meat inspection system other than in their official capacities; if such laws, ordinances or similar enactments are consistent with the following applicable requirements; if such meat inspection systems are willing to enforce such requirements with respect to the establishments under their jurisdiction applying for recognition under § 53.7; and if such requirements are enforced in a manner satisfactory to the Chief:

(1) Requirements for slaughtering establishments. The following requirements shall be applicable to establishments where any animals are slaughtered for preparation as products for which grading or compliance service is desired under the regulations:

(i) The inspection of slaughtering operations shall include ante-mortem and post-mortem inspections.

(ii) Ante-mortem inspection of each animal shall be made immediately prior to slaughter for the purpose of eliminating all unfit animals and segregating, for more thorough examination, all animals suspected of being affected with a condition which might influence their disposition on post-mortem inspection. The unfit animals shall not be permitted to enter the slaughtering department of the establishment, and the suspected animals shall not be permitted to enter the slaughtering department until they have been found by veterinary inspection to be fit for slaughter. The suspected animals that are permitted to be slaughtered shall be handled separately and apart from the regular kill and shall be given a special post-mortem examination.

(iii) The post-mortem examination shall be made at the time the animals are slaughtered. The inspectors shall examine the cervical lymph glands, the skeletal lymph glands, the viscera and organs with their lymph glands, and all exposed surfaces of the carcasses of all animals. Such examination shall be conducted in the slaughtering department of the establishment (at the time of evisceration) during the slaughtering operations and shall not be conducted on a spot-check basis.

(iv) All carcasses and parts of carcasses, including the viscera, found to be diseased or otherwise unfit for human food shall be condemned and removed from the slaughtering department of the establishment in equipment designated for the purpose and shall be destroyed for food purposes under the supervision of an inspector. The disposition of all such carcasses and parts thereof, including the viscera, shall be under the control of a veterinary inspector.

(v) Each carcass and part thereof which has been inspected and passed shall be marked at the time of inspection with a mark assigned by and identifying the state, county, city, or other political subdivision. Such marking shall be done under the supervision of the inspector and the marking device shall be in the custody of the inspector at all times.

(2) Requirements for processing establishments. The following requirements shall be applicable to establishments processing products for which compliance service is desired under the regulations. At least daily inspection shall be made at each establishment to assure:

(i) That all processing operations are being conducted in a clean and sanitary manner.

(ii) That all products processed are clean and wholesome.

(iii) That products processed or fabricated, or derived from animals slaughtered, at plants not approved by the Chief are not permitted to enter the establishment.

(iv) That the inspectors shall be able to certify to the Agricultural Marketing Service the ingredient content and the manner of preparation of all products processed. In addition the requirements of subparagraph (1) of this paragraph shall be applicable to establishments within this subparagraph which also conduct slaughtering operations whether or not the products processed at such establishments are derived from the animals slaughtered.

(3) Requirements for fabricating establishments. Establishments fabricating products for which grading or compliance service is desired under the regulations shall meet the requirements of subparagraph (4) of this paragraph.

(4) General requirements for all establishments and premises. The following requirements shall be applicable to all establishments within subparagraph (1), (2), or (3) of this paragraph.

(i) The establishment as a whole and its facilities shall be well constructed, properly fitted and equipped for the purpose used, and so maintained that all products prepared therein will be clean and otherwise sound, healthful, wholesome, and fit for human food. The floors of the establishment shall be smooth and impervious and sloped so as to drain freely and rapidly to sewer connections. Walls and pillars in the slaughtering department, if any, must be tight, smooth, and free from crevices. All parts of the slaughtering department, if any, and other departments of the establishment in which products are processed, fabricated, or otherwise handled or stored shall be kept clean, and all of the operations in such departments shall be conducted in a clean and sanitary manner. Facilities shall be provided for the cleaning and sterilization of tools, utensils, and other equipment. All equipment used in the establishment shall be made of such materials and be so constructed as to be readily and thoroughly cleaned and shall be kept clean and in a sanitary condition. Contaminated equipment shall be promptly cleaned and sterilized. Rooms used for condemned products, inedible offal, hides, and other materials and supplies likely to contaminate products or render products inedible shall be completely partitioned from edible product departments, except for one aperture to the slaughtering department if there is one. This aperture shall be equipped with a close-fitting door and shall be of sufficient size to allow ready and free passage of materials designated as unfit for human food and all equipment used therewith.

(ii) Drainage and sewage disposal shall be adequate to maintain the establishment and premises in a sanitary condition.

(iii) Ventilation shall be sufficient to insure that the atmosphere in rooms where products are kept is free from obnoxious odors emanating from inedible product tanks, offal rooms, catch basins, toilet rooms, hide cellars, refuse heaps, livestock pens, and similar sources. Lighting shall be adequately maintained in all rooms of the establishment.

(iv) The establishment shall be provided with ample supplies of potable hot and cold water and steam, with outlets conveniently located and equipped with faucets for hose connections, for ready use during slaughtering, processing, or fabricating operations and for cleaning. Wash basins equipped with running hot and cold water, soap, and towels shall be placed in or near the dressing rooms and at such other places in the establishments as may be necessary to insure cleanliness of all persons handling products. Water for sterilizing purposes shall be maintained at a temperature of at least 180° F.

(v) Toilet rooms shall not communicate directly with any room in which animals are killed or products are processed, fabricated, otherwise handled, or stored. Dressing room facilities shall be adequate in size, convenient, equipped properly, and kept clean.

(vi) All departments in the establishment shall have adequate protection against flies, rodents, and other vermin. However, the use of poisons for any purpose in rooms or compartments where any unpacked products are processed, fabricated, otherwise handled, or stored is forbidden except under such restrictions and precautions as the chief veterinary inspector in charge of inspection at the establishment may require. So-called rat viruses shall not be used in any part of the establishment or its premises.

(vii) Barnyards, stock runs, pens, loading docks, and other facilities appurtenant to the establishment shall be kept clean. No nuisance shall be allowed on the premises, such as fly breeding places, dead stock, rat or cockroach infestation, rubbish heaps, decomposing animal material, polluted water supply, insanitary drainage disposal, or the like.

(b) Withdrawal of recognition. The Chief may at any time, without hearing, withdraw the recognition of any nonfederal meat inspection system recognized under paragraph (a) of this section if he finds that the laws, ordinances or similar enactments authorizing the system are not consistent with the applicable requirements prescribed in said paragraph or that the system has failed to take reasonable measures to assure that the applicable requirements are enforced in every respect in a satisfactory manner at each establishment recognized under § 53.7. Upon such withdrawal the recognition under § 53.7 of all establishments operating under said system shall be automatically terminated.

§ 53.7 Survey and recognition of nonfederally inspected establishments; withdrawal of recognition—(a) Conditions of recognition. Recognition will be given by the Chief for the purposes of § 53.5 to a nonfederally inspected establishment only if it is operated in accordance with the applicable requirements of § 53.6 (a) under a meat inspection system recognized under § 53.6 and is otherwise eligible for recognition. A survey will be made to determine the eligibility for recognition under the regulations of any nonfederally inspected establishment preparing products for which an application for service is made.

(b) Withdrawal or recognition. (1) The Chief may at any time, without hearing, withdraw his recognition of any nonfederally inspected establishment when he finds that the operator of the establishment or any other person conducting slaughtering, processing, or fabricating operations at the establishment has failed to comply with the applicable requirements under § 53.6. Recognition will not be restored to such establishment until it has been demonstrated for at least 30 days after application is made for reinstatement of the recognition of such establishment that the establishment is being operated in accordance with the applicable requirements under § 53.6 For each subsequent withdrawal of recognition under this subparagraph, the minimum period of withholding of recognition shall be the same as the prior period of withholding, plus an additional 30 days.

(2) The Chief may at any time, without hearing, withdraw his recognition of any nonfederally inspected establishment when he finds that, for a period of 60 consecutive days, no request has been made for service for products prepared at such establishment.

(c) Resurvey requirements. Whenever recognition of an establishment is terminated or withdrawn under § 53.6 of this section, or service at a recognized establishment is denied or withdrawn under § 53.13 (b), a resurvey of the establishment under paragraph (a) of this section may be required before restoration of recognition or service is made.

§ 53.8 How to obtain service—(a) Application. Any financially interested person may apply to the Chief for service under the regulations with respect to products in which the applicant is financially interested. If made orally, the application shall be confirmed in writing or by telegram. If the service is intended to be furnished at a packing plant or other establishment not operated by the applicant, the application shall be approved by the operator of such establishment. The application shall state (1) the name and address of the establishment at which service is desired; (2) the name and post office address of the applicant; (3) the financial interest of the applicant in the products, except where application is made by an official of a government agency in his official capacity; (4) the signature and the title of the applicant or his representative; (5) the signature and the title of the establishment operator, or his representative, if other than the applicant; and such other information as may be required by the Chief. The application shall indicate the legal status of the applicant as an individual, partnership, corporation, or other form of legal entity. Any change in such status at any time while service is being received shall be promptly reported to the Chief by the person receiving the service.

(b) Notice of eligibility for service. The applicant for service at any establishment will be notified, whether his application is approved.

(c) Requests for service by applicant. Upon notification of the approval of an application for service, the applicant may, from time to time as desired, make requests for service under the regulations with respect to specific products for which the service is to be furnished under such application. Such requests shall be made at an office of grading either directly or through any employee of the Agricultural Marketing Service who may be designated for such purpose.

§ 53.9 Order of furnishing service. Service under the regulations shall be furnished to applicants in the order in which requests therefor are received, insofar as consistent with good management, efficiency and economy. Precedence may be given to requests made by any government agency, or any regular user of the service, and to requests for appeal service under § 53.22.

§ 53.10 When request for service deemed made. A request for service under the regulations shall be deemed to be made when received by an office of grading. Records showing the date and time of the request shall be made and kept in such office.

§ 53.11 Withdrawal of application or request for service. An application or a request for service under the regulations may be withdrawn by the applicant at any time before the application is approved or prior to performance of the service upon payment, in accordance with § 53.30, of any expenses already incurred by the Agricultural Marketing Service in connection therewith.

§ 53.12 Authority of agent. Proof of the authority of any person making an application or a request for service under the regulations on behalf of any other person may be required at the discretion of the official in charge of the office of grading or other employee receiving the application or request under § 53.8.

§ 53.13 Denial or withdrawal of service—(a) For miscellaneous reasons. An application or a request for service may be rejected, or service may be otherwise denied to, or withdrawn from, any person, without a hearing, by the official in charge of the appropriate office of grading, with the concurrence of the Chief (1) for administrative reasons such as the nonavailability of personnel to perform the service; (2) for the failure to pay for service; (3) in case the application or reques' relates to products which are not eligible for service under § 53.5, or which are unclean; (4) for other noncompliance with the conditions on which service is available as provided in the regulations, except matters covered by paragraph (b) of this section; or (5) in case the person is a partnership, corporation, or other person from whom the benefits of the service are currently being withheld under paragraph (b) of this section, or is a member of such a partnership or an officer or director of such a corporation, or was such a member, officer, or director at the time of the commission of any violation for which the benefits of the service are being so withheld. Notice of such denial or withdrawal, and the reasons therefor, shall promptly be given to the person involved.

(b) For misconduct or where service would be obtained for ineligible person. An application or a request for service may be rejected, or service may be otherwise denied to, or withdrawn from, any person who, or whose employee or agent in the scope of his employment or agency, (1) has wilfully made any misrepresentation or has committed any other fraudulent or deceptive practice in connection with any application or request for service; (2) has interfered with or obstructed, or attempted to interfere with or to obstruct, any employee of the Department in the performance of his duties under the regulations by intimidation, threats, assaults, abuse, or any other improper means; (3) has falsely made, issued, altered, forged, or counterfeited any official certificate, memorandum, mark, or other identification, or device for making any such mark or identification; (4) has knowingly uttered, published, or used as true any such falsely made, issued, altered, forged, or counterfeited certificate, memorandum, mark identification, or device; (5) after making an application for service, has used the designation "Prime," "Choice," "Good," "Standard," "Commercial," "Utility," "Cutter," "Canner," "Cull," "Medium," "No. 1," "No. 2," or "No. 3" on any carcasses or wholesale or retail cuts of products which have not been graded or derived from products graded under the regulations as being of the indicated grade; (6) has knowingly, and without promptly notifying the Chief, retained possession of any such falsely made, issued, altered, forged, or counterfeited certificate, memorandum, mark, identification, or device, or of any such official device, or of any product bearing any such falsely made, issued, altered, forged, or counterfeited mark or identification, or of any carcass or wholesale or retail cut of any product bearing any designation specified in subparagraph (5) of this paragraph which has not been federally graded or derived from products graded as being of the indicated grade; (7) has knowingly represented that any product has been graded as being of a certain class, grade, or other quality, or that compliance of any product has been determined under the regulations when such is not the case; (8) has otherwise violated subsection 203 (h) of the Agricultural Marketing Act of 1946, as amended by Public Law 272, 84th Congress; or (9) has given or attempted to give, as a loan or for any other purpose, any money, favor, or other thing of value, to any employee of the Department authorized to perform any function under the regulations. An application or a request for service may be rejected, or service may be otherwise denied to or withdrawn from any person who operates an establishment for which he has made application for service if, with the knowledge of such operator, any other person conducting any operations in such establishment has committed any of the offenses specified in subparagraphs (1) through (9) of this paragraph. Moreover, an application or a request for service made in the name of a person otherwise eligible for service under the regulations may be rejected, or service may be otherwise denied to, or withdrawn from, such a person in case the service is or would be performed at an establishment operated by a partnership, corporation, or other person from whom the benefits of the service are currently being withheld under this paragraph, or by a person who is a member of such a partnership or an officer or director of, or substantial investor in, such a corporation, or was such a member, officer, director, or investor at the time of the commission of any offense under this paragraph for which service is currently being withheld from such partnership or corporation, or in case the service is or would be performed at an establishment or with respect to any product in which any such person, member, officer, director, or investor is otherwise financially interested. All cases arising under this paragraph shall be reported to the Director, for informal settlement of the controversy if possible. If the efforts at informal settlement are not successful, the matter shall be reported to the Administrator who will make the final determination as to the action to be taken, after opportunity for hearing before a proper official in the Department is accorded the persons involved. In any case of an offense under this paragraph, the official in charge of the appropriate office of grading may, with the concurrence of the Chief, deny or withdraw service, without hearing, pending efforts at informal settlement and final determination in accordance with this paragraph. Notice of any denial or withdrawal of service under this paragraph, and the reasons therefor, shall promptly be given to the persons involved.

(c) Filing of records. The final orders in formal proceedings under paragraph (b) of this section to deny or withdraw the service under the regulations (except orders required for good cause to be held confidential and not cited as precedents) and other records in such proceedings (except those required for good cause to be held confidential) shall be filed with the Hearing Clerk and shall be available for inspection by persons having a proper interest therein.

§ 53.14 Financial interest of official grader. No official grader shall grade or determine compliance of any products in which he or any of his relatives by blood or marriage is directly or indirectly financially interested.

§ 53.15 Accessibility and refrigeration of products. The applicant shall cause the products with respect to which service is requested to be made easily accessible for examination and to be so placed, with adequate illuminating facilities, as to disclose their class, grade, other quality, and compliance. Grading service will be furnished for meat in carcass form or wholesale cuts only if they are properly chilled. Determination of class, grade, or other quality of carcass meat or wholesale cuts of meat under the standards in Subpart B of this part will not be made if such carcass meat or wholesale cuts are in a frozen state. Compliance may be determined for any product in the fresh or frozen state as requested by the applicant.

§ 53.16 Official certificates.—(a) Required; exception. The official grader shall prepare, sign, and issue official certificates covering products graded by him, or for which he has determined compliance, unless through special arrangements approved by the Chief this is not required, in which case complete records of the service shall be furnished the office of grading.

(2) Where compliance is determined for product in a frozen state, the certificate shall so specify and shall also specify that the indicated compliance is certified only insofar as determinable for product in the frozen state.

(3) Where determination of ingredient content or method of preparation of products in compliance service is based upon a certification of the facts by the inspection system having jurisdiction of the products, this fact shall be stated on the certificate.

(c) Distribution. The original certificate and not to exceed two copies shall be delivered or mailed to the applicant or other person designated by him. One copy shall be filed in the office of the official grader, and one copy shall be forwarded to a central office designated by the Chief, and such copies shall be kept on file until other disposition is ordered by the Administrator. § 53.18 Marking of products. All products for which class and grade under the standards in Subpart B of this part, or compliance, is determined under the regulations, or the immediate and shipping containers thereof, shall be stamped, branded, or otherwise marked with an appropriate official identification: Provided, That except as otherwise directed by the Chief, such marking will not be required when an applicant only desires official certificates of class and grade, or compliance. The marking of products, or their containers, as required by this section shall be done by official graders or under their supervision.

§ 53.19 Official identifications. (a) A shield enclosing the letters "USDA" as shown below, with the appropriate grade designation "Prime," "Choice," "Good," "Standard," "Commercial," "Utility," "Cutter," "Canner," or "Cull," as provided in the standards in Subpart B of this part, also enclosed in the shield, and accompanied when necessary by the class designation "Stag," "Bull," "Veal," "Calf," "Yearling Mutton" or "Mutton," constitutes a form of official identification under the regulations to show the grade, and where necessary the class, under said standards, of steer, heifer and cow beef, stag beef, bull beef, veal, calf, lamb, yearling mutton, and mutton.

§ 53.20 Custody of identification devices. All identification devices used in marking products, or the containers thereof, under the regulations, including those indicating compliance with specifications approved by the Chief, shall be kept in the custody of the Branch, and accurate records shall be kept by the Branch of all such devices. Each office of grading shall keep a record of the devices assigned to it. Such devices shall be distributed only to authorized employees of the Branch who shall keep the devices in their possession or control at all times and maintain complete records of such devices.

APPEAL SERVICE

§ 53.21 What is appeal service; requirements for appeal; certain determinations not appealable. (a) Appeal service is a redetermination of the class, grade, other quality, or compliance of product when the applicant for the appeal service formally challenges the correctness of the original determination. Examination requested to determine the class, grade, other quality, or compliance of a product which has been altered or has undergone a material change since the original service, or examination of product requested for the purpose of obtaining an up-to-date certificate and not involving any question as to the correctness of the original service for the product involved, shall be considered equivalent to original service and not appeal service.

(b) Grade determinations for the following cannot be appealed: any lot of a product consisting of less than ten similar units; wholesale cuts, or other subdivisions of meat originally graded as larger units; and veal and calf carcasses originally graded with hides on. Moreover, appeal service will not be furnished with respect to product that has been altered or has undergone any material change since the original service.

§ 53.22 Request for appeal service. Except as otherwise provided in § 53.21, a request for appeal service with respect to any product under the regulations may be made by any person who is financially interested in the product when he disagrees with the determination as to class, grade, other quality, or compliance of the product as shown by the markings on the product, or its containers, or as stated in the applicable certificate. A request for appeal service shall be filed with the Chief, directly or through the official grader who performed the original service or the official in charge of the office of grading to which such grader was assigned at the time of the service, or through the nearest office of grading. The request shall state the reasons therefor and may be accompanied by a copy of any previous meat certificate or report, or any other information which the applicant may have received regarding the product at the time of the original service. Such request may be made orally (including by telephone), in writing, by telegram, or otherwise. If made orally, the person receiving the request may require that it be confirmed in writing or by telegram. Requests for appeal service received through an official grader or an office of grading shall be transmitted promptly to the Chief for instructions.

§ 53.23 When request for appeal service may be withdrawn. A request for appeal service may be withdrawn by the applicant at any time before the appeal service has been performed, upon payment of any expenses already incurred by the Branch in connection therewith.

§ 53.24 Denial or withdrawal of appeal service. A request for appeal service may be rejected or such service may be otherwise denied to or withdrawn from any person, without hearing, in accordance with the procedure set forth in § 53.13 (a), if it shall appear that the product involved is not eligible for appeal service under § 53.21, or that the identity of the product has been lost; or for any of the causes set forth in § 53.13 (a). Appeal service may also be denied to, or withdrawn from, any person in any case under § 53.13 (b), in accordance with the procedure set forth in said section.

§ 53.25 Who shall perform appeal service. Appeal service for products shall be performed by official graders designated by the Chief or by the official in charge of an office of grading when so authorized by the Chief, and shall be conducted jointly by two official graders, or more when practicable. No official grader shall perform appeal service for any product for which he previously performed the service.

§ 53.26 Appeal certificates. Immediately after appeal service has been performed for any products, a certificate designated as an "appeal certificate" shall be prepared, signed, and issued referring specifically to the original certificate and stating the class, grade, other quality, or compliance of the products as shown by the appeal service.

§ 53.27 Superseded certificates. The appeal certificate shall supersede the original certificate which, thereupon, shall become null and void and shall not thereafter be deemed to show the class, grade, other quality, or compliance of the products described therein. However, the fees charged for the original service shall not be remitted. If the original and all copies of the superseded certificate are not delivered to the official with whom the request for appeal service is filed, the official graders issuing the appeal certificate shall forward notice of such issuance and of the cancellation of the original certificate to such persons as they may deem necessary to prevent fraudulent use of the superseded certificate.

§ 53.28 Application of other regulations to appeal service. The regulations in §§ 53.1 through 53.20 and §§ 53.29 through 53.32 shall apply to appeal service except insofar as they are manifestly inapplicable.

CHARGES FOR SERVICES

§ 53.29 Fees and other charges for service. Fees and other charges equal as nearly as may be to the cost of the services rendered shall be assessed and collected from applicants in accordance with the following provisions unless otherwise provided in the cooperative agreement under which the services are furnished.

(a) Fees based on hourly rates. Except as otherwise provided in this section, fees for service shall be based on the time required to render the service, calculated to the nearest 15 minute period, including the time required for the preparation of certificates and travel of the official grader in connection with the performance of the service, and shall be at the base rate of $4.20 per hour for work performed between 6 a. m. and 6 p. m. on days other than Sundays or legal holidays; at the base rate of $4.20 per hour, plus ten percent, or $4.62, for work performed between 6 p. m. and 6 a. m. (night differential rate) on days other than Sundays or legal holidays; and at one and one-half times the base rate for work performed on Sundays, and at double the base rate for work performed on legal holidays, plus ten percent for work performed between 6 p. m. and 6 a. m. on Sundays or legal holidays. A minimum charge for one-half hour shall be made for service pursuant to each request notwithstanding that the time required to perform the service may be less than thirty minutes.

(b) Fees for service on weekly commitment basis. Minimum fees for service performed under a weekly commitment shall be on the basis of 40 hours of work between 6 a. m. and 6 p. m. on days other than Sundays or legal holidays calculated at the base rate in accordance with paragraph (a) of this section. Hours worked in excess of such 40 hours will be charged at the same base rate, except charges will be made for work performed on Sundays, legal holidays, and between 6 p. m. and 6 a. m. on any day as stated in paragraph (a) of this section. The Agricultural Marketing Service reserves the right under such a commitment to use any grader assigned to the plant on a weekly basis to perform service for other applicants, crediting the commitment applicant with the number of hours charged to the other applicants, provided the allowable credit hours, plus hours actually worked for the applicant, do not exceed 40 in any week.

(c) Travel charges. (1) When service is requested at a place so distant from an official grader's headquarters or place of prior assignment on a circuitous routing, that a total of one-half hour or more is required for the grader to travel to such place and back to the headquarters or to the next place of assignment on a circuitous routing, the charge for such service shall include a mileage charge at 7 cents per mile for such travel prorated against all the applicants furnished the service involved on an equitable basis, or, where the travel is made by public transportation (including hired vehicle), a fee equal to the actual cost thereof.

(d) Per diem charges. When service is requested at a place so distant from an official grader's headquarters that the work and travel required for such service cannot be performed within a calendar day, the fee for such service shall include a per diem charge at the rate paid the grader which shall not exceed $12.00 for each full day and $3.00 for each quarter portion of a day spent by the grader away from his headquarters in the performance of such work and travel.

(e) Charges to applicants for recognition of nonfederally inspected establishments. (1) The initial survey conducted to determine the eligibility of a nonfederally inspected establishment for service under § 53.7 shall be without cost to the applicant when the survey is made at the convenience of the Chief. Fees shall be charged, as provided in subparagraph (2) of this paragraph (i) when the applicant requests in writing that a special trip be made to conduct the initial survey, and such survey is conducted within 30 days from receipt of such request; (ii) when any survey subsequent to the initial one is required by the Chief to determine whether the establishment meets the specific requirements for recognition of which it has been previously notified as a result of the initial survey, such survey is made within 2 years after the initial survey, and there has been no change in ownership of the establishment since the initial survey; or (iii) when a survey is conducted to determine the eligibility for recognition of an establishment the recognition of which has been withdrawn under § 53.6 or § 53.7 or at which service has been denied or withdrawn under § 53.13 (b).

(2) A fee at the applicable hourly rate calculated in accordance with paragraph (a) of this section shall be charged for time spent by an authorized official in making any survey for which fees are required to be charged under subparagraph (1) of this paragraph, including time spent in traveling to the establishment from his normal route of assignment and return. ### NOTICE OF HEARING ON PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO TENTATIVE MARKETING AGREEMENT AND TO ORDER, AS AMENDED

Pursuant to the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and in accordance with the applicable rules of practice and procedure, as amended (7 CFR Part 900), notice is hereby given of a public hearing to be held in the City Hall, Rock Island, Illinois, beginning at 10:00 a. m., June 11, 1956, for the purpose of receiving evidence with respect to economic and marketing conditions which relate to the handling of milk in the Quad Cities marketing area and to the proposed amendments hereinafter set forth, or appropriate modifications thereof, to the tentative marketing agreement and to the order, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the Quad Cities marketing area. These proposed amendments have not received the approval of the Secretary of Agriculture.

Proposed by Illinois-Iowa Milk Producers Association and Clinton Cooperative Milk Producers Association:

1. Delete § 944.3 and substitute therefor the following:

§ 944.3 Quad Cities marketing area. "Quad Cities marketing area" hereinafter called the "marketing area" means all the territory within Scott, Clinton, Jackson, and Muscatine Counties in the State of Iowa, and Rock Island and Mercer Counties in the State of Illinois.

2. Delete § 944.8 and substitute therefor the following:

§ 944.8 Producer. "Producer" means any person who, in conformity with the Grade A quality requirements of the milk ordinance of any of the several municipalities in the marketing area, the Grade A milk and Grade A Milk Products Law of the State of Illinois or a Grade A permit or Grade A rating issued by the State Health Department of the State of Iowa produces milk which (a) is received at a pool plant or (b) which is caused by a cooperative association to be diverted from a pool plant to a nonpool plant. This definition shall not include a person with respect to milk produced by him which is received by a handler who is subject to another Federal marketing order and who is partially exempt from the provisions of this subpart pursuant to § 944.56.

3. Substitute a colon (:) for the period (.) at the end of § 944.10 and add thereafter the following: "Provided, That during the months of September, October, November, and December such plant offers or disposes of as Class I milk to plants described in paragraph (a) of this section, an amount equal to 50 percent or more of such plant's receipts of milk from Grade A producers. Any plant which fulfills this requirement for each of the months of September, October, November, and December of the same year shall be a pool plant until September 1 of the following year: Provided further, That the milk received at the plant continues to be qualified under the applicable health requirements as a source of milk for the plants supplied by it during said months."

4. Add a new § 944.15 as follows:

§ 944.15 Base. (a) "Base" means a quantity of milk expressed in pounds per day computed pursuant to § 944.58.

(b) Base milk. "Base milk" means a quantity of producer milk received by a handler during each of the months of March, April, May and June which is not in excess of such producer's base multiplied by the number of days such milk was produced.

(c) Excess milk. "Excess milk" means producer milk received by a handler during each of the months of March, April, May and June which is in excess of the base milk received from such producer.

5. In § 944.41 redesignate present paragraphs (b) and (c) as paragraphs (c) and (d), respectively, and add a new paragraph (b) as follows: (b) Class IA milk shall be all skim milk used to produce cottage cheese.

6. Delete that portion of present § 944.41 (b) beginning with the words "Cottage cheese" and substitute therefor the following: "Cream used for creaming cottage cheese, butterfat in skim milk used to produce cottage cheese, or any other milk product not specified in paragraphs (a), (b) and (d) of this section, and (2) disposed of to wholesale bakeries, candy manufacturers or soup companies."

7. Delete that portion of § 944.50 (a) preceding the word "Provided" and substitute therefor the following: "(a) Class I milk. The price for Class II milk for the preceding delivery period plus $1.15 for the months of July through November, inclusive, and plus $.95 during the remaining months of each year."

8. In § 944.50 redesignate present paragraphs (b) and (c) as paragraphs (c) and (d), respectively, and add a new paragraph (b) as follows:

(b) The price for Class IA milk shall be the price determined for skim milk in Class II plus 25 cents.

9. Amend present § 944.50 (b) to provide that the price determined for skim milk in Class II shall not be lower than the price determined for skim milk in Class III: Provided, That any increase resulting from this paragraph shall not be reflected in the price used to determine the price for Class I milk.

10. Delete that portion of § 944.50 (c) (2) preceding the words "and multiply that result by 3.5" and substitute therefor the following: "(2) Multiply the simple average of the daily wholesale selling prices (using the midpoint of any price range as one price) of Grade A (92-score) bulk creamery butter per pound at Chicago as reported by the Department during the delivery period in which the milk was received by 1.15."

11. Delete § 944.51 (c) and substitute therefor the following:

(c) Class III milk. Multiply the simple average of the daily average wholesale selling prices (using the midpoint of any price range as one price) of Grade A (92-score) bulk creamery butter per pound at Chicago as reported by the Department during the delivery period in which the milk was received by 1.15 and divide the resulting amount by 10.

12. Add as § 944.53 the following:

§ 944.53 Location adjustments to handlers. For milk which is received from producers at a pool plant located outside the marketing area, the prices computed pursuant to § 944.50 shall be reduced 5 cents for each 15 miles or fraction thereof that such plant is located more than 30 miles from the City Hall of Rock Island, Illinois, such distance to be the shortest highway distance as determined by the market administrator.

13. Amend § 944.56 by adding a new paragraph as follows:

(c) A handler operating a plant which is not a fully qualified pool plant during a month, shall in lieu of the payments required pursuant to § 944.60 through § 944.66, pay to the market administrator, for the producer-settlement fund, on or before the 12th day after the end of such month, the amount resulting from the following computation:

(1) The product of the quantity of milk received by such handler which was disposed of in the marketing area on routes or in plant stores as Class I milk during the month multiplied by the difference between the price for Class I milk and the uniform price computed pursuant to § 944.61.

14. Add a new § 944.58 as follows:

§ 944.58 Computation of base and base rules. (a) Subject to the conditions set forth in paragraph (b) of this section, the market administrator shall compute for each of the months of March, April, May and June, a base for each producer, as follows:

(1) Divide the total pounds of milk received by a handler from each producer during the months of September, October and November immediately preceding by the number of days such milk was produced (not to be less than 60 days): Provided, That any producer for whom a base has been computed may upon written notice to the market administrator postmarked not later than January 15 preceding the months in which the base applies, relinquish his base and be allotted a base computed pursuant to subparagraph (2) of this paragraph.

(2) Any producer who has not established a base or who elects to relinquish his base pursuant to the provisions of subparagraph (1) of this paragraph shall be assigned a base for each of the months of March, April, May and June computed as follows:

(i) From the total quantity of producer milk received by handlers during the same month of the previous year, subtract the total receipts from producers who did not establish bases or who had relinquished their bases.

(ii) Determine the percentage that base milk was of the remaining pounds, and subtract 10.

(iii) Multiply the resulting percentage by the total pounds of milk received by a handler from the producer during the applicable month and divide the result by the number of days such milk was produced.

(b) Any base computed pursuant to paragraph (a) (1) of this section shall be subject to the following rules:

(1) A base shall be held in the name of the producer and may be transferred only at his option.

(2) The milk to which the transferred base shall apply must be produced on the same farm from which such base was earned and the transferor must notify the market administrator in writing on or before the last day of the month that such base is to be transferred indicating the name of the transferee, the amount of base transferred, and the effective date of the transfer; and in the event of a producer's death his base may be so transferred upon written notice to the market administrator from any member of the producer's immediate family.

(3) Where two or more producers deliver milk from the same farm, the market administrator shall compute one base for each such farm, which base shall be held jointly in the names of the producers, and during March, April, May and June, each producer having an interest in a jointly held base shall share the base during each delivery period in the same proportion as he shares in the milk deliveries in such delivery period: Provided, That if the producers have earned bases separately, one or more of which was earned on another farm, each producer may retain his individual base if application is made in writing to the market administrator postmarked not later than the last day of the first month during which the base is to apply.

(4) When two or more producers holding a joint base cease delivering milk from the same farm, the base may be divided among the producers having an interest in such base by notification in writing to the market administrator postmarked not later than the last day of the month during which the division is to be effective, such notification to specify the terms of division of base and bearing the signatures of all interested producers: Provided, That in the event producers do not notify the market administrator of their agreed terms of division of base by letter postmarked not later than the last day of the month during which the division is effective, the market administrator shall divide the base among the producers in the same ratio as they shared in the milk deliveries during the base-making period, or if the base is held in the name of a partnership, it shall be divided equally among the interested producers.

(5) Where two or more producers deliver milk from the same farm, the market administrator shall compute one base for each such farm, which base shall be jointly held in the names of the producers. During March, April, May and June each producer having an interest in a jointly held base shall share the base in the same proportion as he shares in the milk delivery.

(6) Subject to the provisions set forth in subparagraphs (1) and (2) of this paragraph, a producer who discontinues shipping milk to a pool plant during September, October, or November may transfer to another producer credit for milk deliveries for base making purposes.

15. Amend § 944.61 to provide for the determination of a uniform price for base milk for the months of March, April, May and June and a uniform price for excess milk, which is the price for Class III milk.

16. Amend § 944.65 by adding a new paragraph (d) as follows:

(d) In making payments to producers for milk received at a pool plant located outside the marketing area, there shall be deducted 5 cents for each 15 miles or fraction thereof that such plant is located more than 30 miles from the City Hall in Rock Island, Illinois, such distance to be the shortest highway distance as determined by the market administrator.

17. Amend § 944.65 by adding a new paragraph (e) as follows:

(e) Additional payments. Any handler may make payments to producers in addition to payments made pursuant to this section: Provided, That such additional payments are made to all producers supplying such handler.

18. Make such other changes as may be required to make the entire marketing agreement and order conform with any amendments thereto that may result from this hearing.

Proposed by Quality Milk Association:

19. Amend § 944.3 to include the counties of Carroll, Whiteside, and Lee in the State of Illinois.

20. Amend § 944.41 to provide for a separate classification known as "Class IA" for skim milk used to produce cottage cheese, and provide for a price which will be the price determined for Class II skim milk plus 25 cents.

21. Amend § 944.50 (b) to provide that the price determined for skim milk in Class II shall not be lower than the price determined for skim milk in Class III.

22. Delete § 944.50 (a) and substitute therefor the following:

(a) Class I milk. The price for Class II milk for the preceding delivery period plus $1.15 for each month of each year. Provided, That in no month shall the price for Class I milk be less than the 70-mile zone price established per hundredweight of Class I milk under Order No. 41, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the Chicago, Illinois, marketing area plus 20 cents.

23. Add as § 944.53 the following:

§ 944.53 Location adjustments to handlers. For milk which is classified as Class I milk and which is received from producers at a pool plant located more than 50 miles from the City Hall of Rock Island, Illinois, the price computed pursuant to § 944.50 shall be reduced 5 cents for each 15 miles or fraction thereof that such plant is located beyond the 50-mile zone, such distance to be the shortest highway distance as determined by the market administrator. This provision shall apply to reload points at which milk is moved from the farm in a tank truck and reloaded into another truck before entering a plant.

24. Add a new § 944.58 to provide for a base-rating plan in accordance with the plan contained in Order No. 41, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the Chicago, Illinois, marketing area.

25. Amend § 944.65 by adding a new paragraph (d) as follows:

(d) In making payments to producers for milk received at a plant located more than 50 miles from the City Hall of Rock Island, Illinois, there shall be deducted

Bureau of Foreign Commerce

[Case No. 209]

CONFIDENTIAL OVERSEAS FORWARDING, INC., ET AL.

ORDER REVOKING EXPORT LICENSES AND DENYING EXPORT PRIVILEGES

In the matter of Confidential Overseas Forwarding, Inc., Guy Sorrentino, 15 Whitehall Street, New York, New York; General Export Clothing Corporation, Lila Kass, 145-147 Mulberry Street, New York, New York; respondents; Case No. 209.

The Director, Investigation Staff, Bureau of Foreign Commerce, having charged (a) the respondents General Export Clothing Corporation and Lila Kass with having inserted false export declaration numbers in dock receipts given for goods intended to be exported from the United States, with having placed on a dock for exportation goods for which no export declaration had been authenticated, and with having exported goods from the United States without first having authenticated an export declaration required for such exportation; and (b) the respondents Confidential Overseas Forwarding, Inc. and Guy Sorrentino with having aided in or induced and abetted such acts; and

The charging letter having been duly served on all the respondents, who duly appeared herein and demanded an oral hearing;

This proceeding was duly referred to the Compliance Commissioner, who, in accordance with the practice, held a hearing in New York City, at which hearing all respondents were present and represented by counsel. He has submitted his written report, including findings of fact and findings that violations have occurred.

Now, after reviewing and considering the entire record of this case, the Compliance Commissioner's Report and Recommendation, and the summations submitted on behalf of the respondents, I hereby make the following:

Findings of fact. 1. At all times hereinafter mentioned, General Export Clothing Corporation was engaged in the export business in the City of New York and Lila Kass was its employee and agent vested with the duty and responsibility for completing all details relating to the exportation of commodities on behalf of General Export Clothing Corporation, except insofar as she was assisted by Confidential Overseas Forwarding, Inc.

2. At all times hereinafter mentioned, Confidential Overseas Forwarding, Inc. was engaged in the freight forwarding business in the City of New York, and Guy Sorrentino, its president, performed on its behalf all the acts hereinafter found to have been performed by him.

3. American Export Lines, Inc., not a respondent in this case, is a steamship company carrying goods exported from the United States to various parts of the world. In connection with the receipt of goods on its pier for the purpose of being loaded on its ships to be exported from the United States, it has established a practice requiring that persons so tendering goods show on its form of dock receipt an export declaration number as evidence of or representation that an export declaration for such proposed exportation has been passed. This practice had been established prior to and was in effect at all times hereinafter mentioned.

4. All the respondents herein were informed of and knew of this practice and requirement at all times hereinafter mentioned.

5. Prior to November 1954, Kass attempted to deliver on behalf of General one or more loads of goods to American's pier and said goods were refused admission to the pier because the dock receipts tendered on General's behalf did not have endorsed thereon export declaration numbers.

6. She then telephoned Sorrentino and told him that the trucks were in line at the pier waiting to be unloaded but that American refused to accept the goods because export declaration numbers were not shown on the dock receipts.

7. Sorrentino at that time advised and instructed her that where she was "unable to get the steamship company to accept the 'goods' in the absence of a shipper's export declaration number on the dock receipt" she should "prepare a dock receipt anyway and show thereon the number of a prior shipper's export declaration."

8. Thereafter, Sorrentino failed and omitted to inform Kass of any export declaration number for any of the goods involved herein although at all times he well knew and was aware of the fact that Kass was delivering the goods involved herein to American's pier and that American invariably refused to accept goods on its pier unless and until an export declaration number was shown on the dock receipt tendered to it at the time of delivery to its pier.

9. Thereafter, Kass adopted a practice of placing fictitious export declaration numbers on dock receipts tendered to American for delivery to its pier in order to induce American to accept such goods for ultimate exportation from the United States on its ships.

10. In so doing, in about the months of November and December, 1954, Kass prepared and caused to be tendered to American, together with goods intended to be exported from the United States, eighteen dock receipts on each of which she endorsed or inserted a number said to be an export declaration number and thereby she represented to American that an export declaration had been duly passed and authenticated for the goods being delivered together with said dock receipt.

11. In each of said instances, American accepted the goods and relied on the insertion of the number in said dock receipts as evidence that the export declarations had been duly passed and authenticated.

12. In each of said instances, the number so inserted was false and fictitious and neither Kass nor anyone on General's behalf had, at the time of tender filed and had authenticated an export declaration for the goods delivered.

13. In the case of two of the dock receipts so tendered, American, believing that an export declaration had been passed and authenticated for the goods involved, loaded the goods aboard one of its ships and carried them out of the United States.

And from the foregoing, the following are my:

Conclusions. A. That General and Kass made and Confidential and Sorrentino caused, induced and permitted to be made false representations and statements and concealed material facts in connection with the preparation and submission of export control documents, to wit dock receipts in this case, for the purpose of and in connection with effecting exports of eighteen loads of commodities from the United States in violation of § 381.5 (a) and (b) or related sections of the export control regulations;

B. That General and Kass placed or caused to be placed and Confidential and Sorrentino caused, induced and permitted to be placed eighteen loads of commodities on a pier for the purpose of exportation from the United States without first having presented duly executed shippers' export declarations to and obtained authentication from a United States Collector of Customs, in violation of § 379.1 (a) or related sections of the export control regulations;

C. That all the respondents herein caused, induced and permitted to be exported from the United States two lots of commodities without the authorization of either a validated export license or a general license, in violation of § 370.2 (a) or related sections of the export control regulations.

In this case, in every instance except two, an export declaration was ultimately authenticated. In the two exceptions, the ship sailed before the parties were able to have the declaration authenticated and, in these instances, it is probable that, had the ship not sailed, the export declaration would have been authenticated. The violations came to light because of Sorrentino's prompt disclosure of the sailing prior to authentication and Kass' agreement to such disclosure. Sorrentino cooperated in the investigation. General and Kass did, to a limited extent. The prevarication of all the respondents started during the investigation and continued until the very end of the hearing. In this case, fortunately, no strategic goods were involved. The case at first does not seem to be too important but, considering the evil to be averted it becomes very important. If goods can be placed on a pier and then loaded on a ship leaving the United States without being subject to inspection merely by the device of using a fictitious export declaration number, then the door is opened to the illegal exportation of strategic goods to unauthorized consignees. To prevent this possibility, exporters must be made aware that conduct such as occurred here is illegal, that it will not be condoned and, in the future, it will be the subject of much stronger remedial action. Also, as far as Sorrentino is concerned, although he is a forwarder, he and his firm should be treated in the same manner as the other respondents because, in the last analysis, it was he who started Kass on the practice and could have stopped it at any time and further because the violations herein occurred as late as November and December 1954. The Compliance Commissioner referred to these elements of the case as his reason for recommending that all the respondents be denied validated and general license privileges for two months commencing fifteen days after the date of the order to be entered herein. This recommendation appears to be fair and just and is necessary to achieve effective enforcement of the law. It is now therefore, after careful consideration of the entire record, the answers, the summations on behalf of the respondents and the report of the Compliance Commissioner, hereby ordered:

I. The respondents and each of them for a period of two months commencing May 30, 1956, be and they hereby are denied all privileges of participating directly or indirectly in any manner or capacity in an exportation of any commodity or technical data from the United States to any foreign destination, including Canada, whether such exportation has heretofore or hereafter been completed. Without limitation of the generality of the foregoing denial of export privileges, participation in an exportation is deemed to include and prohibit participation by any of the respondents, directly or indirectly, in any manner or capacity, (a) as a party or as a representative of a party to any validated export license application, (b) in the obtaining or using of any validated or general export license or other export control documents, (c) in the receiving, ordering, buying, selling, using, or disposing in any foreign country of any commodities in whole or in part exported or to be exported from the United States, and (d) in storing, financing, forwarding, transporting, or other servicing of such exports from the United States;

II. Such denial of export privileges shall apply not only to each of the respondents, but also to any person, firm, corporation, or business organization with which any of them may be now or hereafter related by ownership, control, position of responsibility, or other connection in the conduct of trade in which may be involved exports from the United States or services connected therewith;

III. All outstanding validated export licenses held by or issued in the name of any of the respondents or in which they appear or participate as purchaser, intermediate or ultimate consignee, or otherwise, shall, on May 30, 1956, be deemed to be revoked and shall be returned on that day to the Bureau of Foreign Commerce for cancellation;

IV. No person, firm, corporation, partnership, or other business organization, whether in the United States or elsewhere, during any time when any respondent is prohibited under the terms hereof from engaging in any activity within the scope of Part I hereof, shall, without prior disclosure to, and specific authorization from, the Bureau of Foreign Commerce, directly or indirectly, in any manner or capacity (a) apply for, obtain, or use any license, shipper's export declaration, bill of lading, or other export control document relating to any such prohibited activity, (b) order, receive, buy, use, dispose of, finance, transport or forward, any commodity on behalf of or in any association with such respondent, or (c) do any of the foregoing acts with respect to any commodity or exportation in which such respondent may have any interest of any kind or nature, direct or indirect.

HENRY COUNTY BROADCASTING CO.

ORDER DESIGNATING APPLICATION FOR HEARING ON STATED ISSUES

In re application of John Garrett tr/as Henry County Broadcasting Company, Mt. Pleasant, Iowa, Docket No. 11705, File No. BP-9983; for construction permit.

At a session of the Federal Communications Commission held at its offices in Washington, D. C., on the 9th day of May 1956;

The Commission having under consideration the above-captioned application of John Garrett tr/as Henry County Broadcasting Company for a construction permit for a new standard broadcast station to operate on 1340 kilocycles with a power of 100 watts, unlimited time, at Mt. Pleasant, Iowa;

It appearing that the applicant is legally, technically, financially and otherwise qualified to operate the proposed station but that the proposed operation would be involved in objectionable interference with Stations KXGI, Fort Madison, Iowa (1360 kc, 500 w, Day), KROS, Clinton, Iowa (1340 kc, 250 w, U), and KXEO, Mexico, Missouri (1430 kc, 250 w, U); that the population loss resulting from interference received by the proposed operation would be excessive under § 3.28 (c) of the Commission's rules; and that the 25 mv/m contour of the proposed operation may overlap with the 2 mv/m contour of Station KXGI; and

It further appearing that, pursuant to section 309 (b) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, the subject applicant was advised by letter dated January 20, 1956, of the aforementioned deficiencies and that the Commission was unable to conclude that a grant of the application would be in the public interest; and

It further appearing that in a reply filed April 17, 1956, the applicant stated that the interference which would be caused to Stations KXGI, KROS, and KXEO would be slight, that a grant of the application should be made in the interest of public service, that approximately 10 percent of the people residing within the normally protected service area of the proposed station would receive objectionable interference but that a "percentage of more than (10 percent was) not recognized"; and

It further appearing that the Commission, after consideration of the above, is of the opinion that a hearing is necessary;

It is ordered, That, pursuant to section 309 (b) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, the said application is designated for hearing, at a time and place to be specified in a subsequent order, upon the following issues:

1. To determine the areas and populations which would receive primary service from the proposed operation, and the availability of other primary service to such areas and populations.

2. To determine whether the proposed operation would cause objectionable interference to Stations KXGI, Fort Madison, Iowa; KROS, Clinton, Illinois; and KXEO, Mexico, Missouri, or any other existing standard broadcast stations, and, if so, the nature and extent thereof, the areas and populations affected thereby, and the availability of other primary service to such areas and populations.

3. To determine whether, because of the interference received, the proposed operation would comply with § 3.28 (c) of the Commission's rules, and if compliance with § 3.28 (c) is not achieved, whether circumstances exist which would warrant a waiver of said election of the rules.

4. To determine whether the 25 mv/m contour of the proposed operation would overlap with the 2 mv/m contour of Station KXGI in violation of § 3.37 of the Commission's rules.

5. To determine, in the light of the evidence adduced pursuant to the foregoing issues, if a grant of the subject application would serve the public interest.

It is further ordered, That KXGI, Inc., the Clinton Broadcasting Corporation and the Audrain Broadcasting Corporation, licensees of Station KXGI, KROS, and KXEO, respectively, are made parties to the proceeding.

Released: May 14, 1956.

AUSTIN RADIOPAGE

ORDER TO SHOW CAUSE WHY LICENSE SHOULD NOT BE REVOKED

In the matter of Greg Scott, d/b as Austin Radiopage, Austin, Texas, Docket No. 11708; order to show cause why the license of station KKH477 in the Domestic Public Land Mobile Radio Service should not be revoked.

At a session of the Federal Communications Commission held at its offices in Washington, D. C., on the 9th day of May 1956;

The Commission having under consideration the matter of certain apparent violations of sections 214, 220 (c) and 303 (n) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, and sections 6.48, 6.504 and 6.602 of the Commission's rules committed by the licensee of the above-described station during the course of the operation thereof; and

It appearing that Greg Scott is the licensee of radio station KKH477, which is a one-way signaling station in the Domestic Public Land Mobile Radio Service subject to the provisions of Part 6 of the Commission's rules; and

It further appearing, that the Commission's Engineer-in-Charge of the district in which station KKH477 is located attempted to inspect the said station on November 5, 1955, pursuant to sections 220 (c) and 303 (n) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, and § 6.504 of the Commission's rules, but was unable to make such inspection because the station was unattended and locked and the licensee's telephone was unanswered; and

It further appearing that said Engineer-in-Charge apprised the licensee of station KKH477 by mail, on November 10, 1955, of the attempted inspection and requested to be advised if the station were still in operation, and, if so, the hours of operation; and

It further appearing, that the licensee of the said station has not answered the above-mentioned letter of November 10, 1955; and

It further appearing that the Commission then sent, by Registered Mail Return Receipt Requested, on December 7, 1955, a copy of the aforesaid letter of November 10, 1955, and requested a response thereto within seven days of the date of receipt thereof; and

It further appearing, that the return receipt for said letter of December 7, 1955, signed by Greg Scott on December 9, 1955, has been received by the Commission, but that the licensee has failed to reply thereto; and

It further appearing, that the Commission has reason to believe that the licensee of station KKH477 may have discontinued operation of the said station; and may have done so in violation of section 214 of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, and §§ 6.48 and 6.602 of the Commission's rules;

It is ordered, That, pursuant to sections 312 (a) (1) and (2) and (c) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, Greg Scott show cause why the license of his Domestic Public Land Mobile Radio Service station KKH477 should not be revoked; and

It is further ordered, That a hearing in this matter will be held in Washington, D. C., on the 18th day of June 1956, in order to determine whether an order revoking said license should be issued and that Greg Scott is herewith called upon to appear at this hearing and give evidence upon the matters specified herein; and

It is further ordered, That the Secretary shall mail a copy of the Order to the licensee by Registered Mail—Return Receipt Requested.

NOTE: Section 1.402 of the Commission's rules provides that in order to avail himself of the opportunity to appear before the Commission at the time and place specified in the show cause order, the licensee shall within thirty (30) days from the date of receipt of this order inform the Commission in writing whether he will appear or whether he waives his rights to a hearing. Waiver of a hearing may be accompanied by a statement of reasons why said licensee believes that an order of revocation should not be issued. A waiver unaccompanied by such a statement will be deemed to be an admission of the allegations specified in this order. Failure to respond within the above 30 day period, or failure to appear at the hearing, will be deemed to be a waiver of the right to a hearing and an admission of the allegations specified in the order to show cause.

Released: May 14, 1956.

[Docket No. G-8931]

TEXAS EASTERN TRANSMISSION CORP. AND TEXAS EASTERN PENN-JERSEY TRANSMISSION CORP.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION AND DATE OF HEARING

MAY 11, 1956.

Texas Eastern Transmission Corporation (Texas Eastern) and Texas Eastern Penn-Jersey Transmission Corporation (Penn-Jersey), wholly owned subsidiary of Texas Eastern (Applicant), both Delaware corporations with their principal place of business in Shreveport, Louisiana, filed a joint application on May 20, 1955, as supplemented on June 23, 1955, for a certificate of public convenience and necessity pursuant to section 7 of the Natural Gas Act, authorizing the construction and operation of certain facilities and an order permitting the abandonment of certain facilities in Pennsylvania and New Jersey, subject to the jurisdiction of the Commission, all as more fully described in their joint application which is on file with the Commission and open for public inspection.

Penn-Jersey states that its system is interconnected with that of Texas Eastern, and is operated, under lease, by Texas Eastern. The Penn-Jersey system extends from the Oakford Storage field in western Pennsylvania to Texas Eastern's compressor station No. 26 at Lambertville, New Jersey, and its primary function is to supplement the winter gas supply on the eastern end of Texas Eastern's system by withdrawing storage gas from the Oakford field.

Applicant states in this application that the main proposal is to construct two new compressor stations on the Penn-Jersey line and thereby increase Penn-Jersey's delivery capacity from approximately 200,000 Mcf per day to approximately 300,000 Mcf per day.

In connection with the above construction, Texas Eastern proposes not to construct certain compressor horsepower which has been previously authorized in two compressor stations, on the Big and Little Inch lines between Connellsville and Phoenixville, Pennsylvania.

Applicant further states that the proposed rearrangement of these compressor facilities will effect a better distribution of compressor horsepower on the two systems with the resultant increase in capacity on the Penn-Jersey facilities. In total, it means the non-construction of 8,000 certificated horsepower at Texas Eastern's stations Nos. 23 and 25[1] and the construction of two new gas turbine centrifugal compressor stations on the Penn-Jersey line at Perulack and Grantville, Pennsylvania, each having 5,000 horsepower.

Texas Eastern also proposes to construct two short pipeline loops in the Philadelphia area consisting of about 11 miles of 12-inch pipelines and a new 3,300 horsepower station on the site of station No. 27 near Linden, New Jersey, to obtain greater flexibility in its operations in the Philadelphia-New Jersey area where deliveries to its customers have been limited by the inadequate capacities of existing lateral line facilities.

Applicant has furnished data which shows past winter requirements and estimates of future winter requirements on its system east of station No. 21 A (Connellsville).

Texas Eastern alleges that its present delivery capacity on its system combined with that of Penn-Jersey, east of the Oakford Storage Area, is approximately 731,000 Mcf per day. This capacity has been adequate heretofore, but additional capacity must be installed this summer in order to meet anticipated peak requirements during the winter of 1955–56. Exhibit X–1, attached to the application, shows that Texas Eastern's 1954–55 firm delivery obligations east of station 21 A were 678,708 Mcf and that on the peak day in that area Texas Eastern actually delivered 755,397 Mcf by withdrawing approximately 24,000 Mcf from line pack. For the winter of 1955–56, Texas Eastern estimates that its firm delivery obligations east of station 21 A will be 727,478 Mcf per day, but based on its experience in the past winter, estimates that excess deliveries of 87,721 Mcf of winter peaking gas will be requested on peak days during the winter of 1955–56, making a total peak day requirement of 815,199 Mcf east of station 21 A. It is estimated that the rearrangement of facilities, as proposed herein, will result in a delivery capacity of about 843,000 Mcf per day which is an excess of approximately 28,000 Mcf per day over the estimated requirements for the winter season of 1955–56.

In support of its contention applicant filed a first supplement to its application on June 23, 1955. This supplement is a compilation of Texas Eastern's existing service agreements and letters of intent with certain customer companies for winter peaking service during the 1955–56 season.[2]

These contracts cover the delivery of 62,120 Mcf per day of winter peak service gas. To this Texas Eastern has added 87,721 Mcf per day which was shown to be delivered during the winter season of 1954–55 in excess of WPS contract obligations.

Applicant also alleges that the total cost of Texas Eastern's proposed new facilities is estimated at $2,595,700. The estimated cost of Penn-Jersey's proposed facilities is $2,836,000.

Texas Eastern states that it intends to finance its proposed construction from funds on hand and funds to be developed from operations.

Penn-Jersey states that it proposes to finance its construction from funds on hand and funds to be developed from operations, and from the proceeds of a $1,000,000 bank loan from Girard Trust Corn Exchange Bank, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

A confirming letter from the bank is attached to the application. This letter and other exhibits similarly attached indicate that Applicant will encounter no difficulty in financing the proposed construction as planned.

Applicant further states that the gas reserves behind the facilities authorized in Docket No. G–1012, which are proposed herein to be replaced through the rearrangement, were found adequate by the Commission in Docket No. G–1012. It is also noted that Texas Eastern will have substantial capacity and deliverability in the Oakford Field (about 23,000,000 Mcf in top storage as of November 1, 1955) of which only 12,240,000 Mcf is needed to perform a storage service for Transcontinental Gas Pipe Line Corp. Thus, about 10,710 Mcf will be available for winter peaking service next winter which will be transported through the facilities proposed herein.

This matter is one that should be disposed of as promptly as possible under the applicable rules and regulations and to that end:

Take further notice that, pursuant to the authority contained in and subject to the jurisdiction conferred upon the Federal Power Commission by sections 7 and 15 of the Natural Gas Act, and the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, a hearing will be held on June 14, 1956, at 9:30 a. m., e. d. s. t., in a hearing room of the Federal Power Commission, 441 G Street NW., Washington, D. C., concerning the matters involved in and the issues presented by such joint application: Provided, however, That the Commission may, after a non-contested hearing, dispose of the proceedings pursuant to the provisions of § 1.30 (c) (1) or (2) of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure. Under the procedure herein provided for, unless otherwise advised, it will be unnecessary for Applicant to appear or be represented at the hearing.

Protests or petitions to intervene may be filed with the Federal Power Commission, Washington 25, D. C., in accordance with the rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10) on or before May 31, 1956. Failure of any party to appear at and participate in the hearing shall be construed as waiver of and concurrence in omission herein of the intermediate decision procedure in cases where a request therefor is made.

[Docket No. G–10149]

TEXAS EASTERN TRANSMISSION CORP. AND HOPE NATURAL GAS CO.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION AND DATE OF HEARING

MAY 14, 1956.

Texas Eastern Transmission Corporation (Texas Eastern) and Hope Natural Gas Company (Hope), a Delaware and West Virginia corporation, respectively, having their principal places of business located at Shreveport, Louisiana, and Clarksburg, West Virginia, respectively, filed a joint application on March 26, 1956, for a certificate of public convenience and necessity pursuant to section 7 of the Natural Gas Act, for authorization to construct and operate certain facilities in Marshall County, West Virginia, for delivery and sale of natural gas to Hope, all as more fully hereinafter described, subject to the jurisdiction of the Commission, all as more fully represented in the joint application which is on file with the Commission and open for public inspection.

Texas Eastern seeks authorization to construct and operate a meter station together with appurtenant equipment, on its existing 24-inch pipe line at Milepost 974 in Marshall County, West Virginia, to deliver and sell natural gas to Hope at such point; deliveries to Hope will be made by Texas Eastern into Hope's existing 12-inch line known as H197 which crosses Texas Eastern's existing 24-inch line at such point.

Hope seeks by this application to construct and operate at the proposed point of delivery a valve, together with the necessary fittings on its existing 12-inch pipeline to enable it to take the proposed deliveries from Texas Eastern.

Applicants state that the estimated overall capital cost of Texas Eastern's proposed facilities is approximately $35,000 and is to be financed from funds on hand, and the estimated overall capital cost of Hope's proposed facilities is approximately $7,000 and is to be financed from cash on hand.

Applicants also state that Texas Eastern at present has a service agreement, in accordance with Commission authorization, with three of the operating companies in the Consolidated Natural Gas System (East Ohio Gas Co., Peoples Natural Gas Co., and New York State Natural Gas Corp.) as joint buyers of a maximum 326,500 Mcf per day at 15.025 psia. Although this volume is available to these companies on a daily basis, they can no longer take full advantage of such available volumes of gas for storage purposes at all times, particularly during the summer, because of the limited capacity of their facilities. Eastern has another arrangement whereby it sells storage gas to New York State Natural at substantially less than the average price of firm gas at 100 percent load factor.

Applicants finally state that the estimated sales and revenues for the twelve months ending May 1957 are 119,172,500 Mcf for $40,323,216, or 33.8 cents per Mcf.

This matter is one that should be disposed of as promptly as possible under the applicable rules and regulations and to that end:

Take further notice that, pursuant to the authority contained in and subject to the jurisdiction conferred upon the Federal Power Commission by sections 7 and 15 of the Natural Gas Act, and the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, a hearing will be held on June 14, 1956, at 9:30 a. m., e. d. s. t., in a hearing room of the Federal Power Commission, 441 G Street NW., Washington, D. C., concerning the matters involved in and the issues presented by such joint application: Provided, however, That the Commission may, after a non-contested hearing, dispose of the proceedings pursuant to the provisions of § 1.30 (c) (1) or (2) of the Commission's rule of practice and procedure. Under the procedure herein provided for, unless otherwise advised, it will be unnecessary for Applicants to appear or be represented at the hearing.

Protests or petitions to intervene may be filed with the Federal Power Commission, Washington 25, D. C., in accordance with the rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10) on or before May 31, 1956. Failure of any party to appear at and participate in the hearing shall be construed as waiver of and concurrence in omission herein of the intermediate decision procedure in cases where a request therefor is made.

UNITED STATES TARIFF COMMISSION

TOWELING, OF FLAX, HEMP, OR RAMIE

"ESCAPE CLAUSE" REPORT

MAY 15, 1956.

The Tariff Commission today submitted a report to the President of its findings and recommendation in "escape clause" Investigation No. 44 under section 7 of the Trade Agreements Extension Act of 1951, as amended, with respect to toweling of flax, hemp, or ramie, or of which these substances or any of them is the component material of chief value, classifiable under paragraph 1010 of the Tariff Act of 1930. Such toweling is subject to a rate of duty of 10 percent ad valorem, which reflects the prevailing concession granted under the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade. The original rate provided in paragraph 1010 of the Tariff Act of 1930 was 40 percent ad valorem. The investigation was instituted by the Commission on the basis of an application for an escape-clause investigation by the Stevens Linen Associates, Inc., of Dudley, Mass.

The Commission found unanimously that the toweling in question is being imported into the United States in such increased quantities, both actual and relative to domestic production, as to cause serious injury to the domestic industry producing such toweling and that, in order to remedy the serious injury, it is necessary to restore for an indefinite period the original rate of duty established in the Tariff Act of 1930 for such toweling (40 percent ad valorem). Accordingly, the Commission recommended to the President the withdrawal of the tariff concession on this article granted in the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade. If the President does not act on the Commission's recommendation within sixty days he is directed by the statute to submit a report stating his reasons to the Committee on Ways and Means of the House of Representatives and to the Committee on Finance of the Senate.

Copies of the Commission's report are available upon request so long as the limited supply lasts. Address requests to the United States Tariff Commission, Eighth and E Streets NW., Washington 25, D. C.

[1] Station 23 will have 7,500 hp. (presently installed) of the total of 10,000 hp. authorized and station 25 will have 2,000 hp. (yet to be installed) of the total of 7,500 hp. authorized. The horsepower in these stations were originally authorized in Docket No. G–1012, but their completion has been delayed because of the unforeseen slow development of the load of Algonquin Gas Transmission Company.

[2] However, the subject application does not request authority to sell any gas, merely to construct and operate the enabling facilities.

[1] The stated effective date is the first day after expiration of the required thirty days' notice, or the effective date proposed by Applicant if later.

TITLE 7—AGRICULTURE

Chapter VII—Commodity Stabilization Service (Farm Marketing Quotas and Acreage Allotments), Department of Agriculture

PART 728—WHEAT

SUBPART—1957–58 MARKETING YEAR

STATE ACREAGE ALLOTMENTS FOR 1957 CROP AND 1957–58 COMMERCIAL WHEAT-PRODUCING AREA

§ 728.704 Basis and purpose. (a) The regulations contained in §§ 728.704, 728.705, and 728.725 are issued (1) to apportion among the several States the national acreage allotment for the 1957 crop of wheat proclaimed on May 14, 1956, 21 F. R. 3216, in accordance with the provisions of section 334 (a) of the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, as amended, which provides for the apportionment of the 1957 national acreage allotment for wheat (less a reserve of not to exceed one per centum thereof for apportionment to counties in addition to county allotments made under section 334 (b) of the act on the basis of the relative needs of counties for additional allotment because of new areas coming into the production of wheat during the preceding ten years) among the several States on the basis of the acreage seeded for the production of wheat during the ten calendar years 1946 to 1955 (plus, in applicable years, the acreage diverted from wheat under agricultural adjustment and conservation programs), with adjustments for abnormal weather conditions and for trends in acreage during such period; and (2) to designate the 1957–58 commercial wheat-producing area.

(b) In making the findings and determinations contained in § 728.705 the State wheat acreage estimates of the Agricultural Marketing Service of this Department were used, adjusted where necessary to reflect the acreages of wheat used for wheat mixtures in States approved for this practice, for green manure, cover crop, hay, and silage, in all States, and the acreage planted to Durum Wheat (Class II) under Public Law 290, 83d Congress and Public Law 8, 84th Congress in the States of Minnesota, Montana, North Dakota, and South Dakota, as indicated by statistics of the Commodity Stabilization Service of this Department. For States for which wheat acreage estimates are not compiled by the Agricultural Marketing Service, statistics of the Commodity Stabilization Service were used. It is hereby found and determined that the statistics of the Agricultural Marketing Service, as so adjusted and supplemented by Commodity Stabilization Service data, constitute the latest available and most reliable statistics of the Federal Government.

(c) Prior to the apportionment of the national acreage allotment for the 1957 crop of wheat among the several States, and designation of the 1957–58 commercial wheat-producing area, public notice of the proposed action was given (20 F. R. 10062) in accordance with section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act (5 U. S. C. 1003). The views and recommendations received from wheat growers and other interested persons have been duly considered within the limits permitted by the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, as amended.

(d) Since a referendum of wheat producers who will be subject to the national marketing quota proclaimed on the 1957 crop of wheat must be held prior to July 25, 1956, to determine whether such producers favor or oppose such marketing quotas, and since the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, as amended, requires, insofar as practicable, the mailing of notices of farm acreage allotments to farm operators in sufficient time to be received prior to the date of the referendum, and since farm acreage allotments cannot be established until the national acreage allotment has been apportioned among States and counties, and the commercial wheat-producing area has been designated, it is hereby determined that the regulations herein shall become effective upon filing with the Director, Division of the Federal Register.

§ 728.705 Apportionment of the national acreage allotment for the 1957 crop of wheat among the several States. The national acreage allotment proclaimed in § 728.703, less a reserve of three one-hundredths of one per centum

TITLE 41—PUBLIC CONTRACTS

Chapter II—Division of Public Contracts, Department of Labor

PART 202—MINIMUM WAGE DETERMINATIONS

OFFICE MACHINES INDUSTRY

On January 10, 1956, notice was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER of a proposed decision of the Secretary of Labor determining prevailing minimum wages under the Walsh-Healey Public Contracts Act (49 Stat. 2036; 41 U. S. C. 35 et seq.), for the Office Machines Industry (21 F. R. 202). The notice allowed a period of thirty days in which interested parties might submit exceptions to the proposed decision.

The one exception which has been received is directed to the definition of the industry as defined in the proposed decision. It requests (1) that the definition be modified by the exclusion of electronic computing and associated information processing equipment, and (2) that the reference to "parts therefor" be clarified so that only those parts which are particular and unique to office machines, and not parts suitable for use in equipment other than office machines, are within the scope of the definition.

The matter of the inclusion of electronic computing and associated information processing equipment in the definition of the industry was specifically raised during the course of the public hearing. The record supports the inclusion of these products in the industry, and justifies a conclusion that they are customarily manufactured by firms making office machines. This part of the exception is overruled.

The second part of the exception which requests the clarification of the words "parts therefor" is well taken and the final determination will be modified to identify the parts with greater particularity.

Aside from the exception considered above, a review of the proposed determination reveals that the inclusion of a specific provision for the employment of handicapped workers is unnecessary since § 201.1102 of the general regulations (41 CFR Part 201) delineates the procedures to be followed for the employment of handicapped workers at wages lower than the prevailing minimum wage applicable under section 1 (b) of the act.

Upon reviewing the entire record, it is my conclusion that the proposed determination, amended by the clarification of the words "parts therefor", and deletion of the special provision applicable to the employment of handicapped workers, should be adopted. Accordingly, pursuant to authority vested in me by the Walsh-Healey Public Contracts Act, Part 202 of Title 41 is hereby amended by the addition of § 202.52 to read as follows:

§ 202.52 Office machines industry—(a) Definition. The office machines industry is that industry which manufactures or furnishes machines (and parts especially designed therefor) primarily for use in offices, such machines including, but not being limited to, the following:

Accounting machines.
Adding machines.
Addressing machines (manual and automatic).
Billing machines.
Bookkeeping machines.
Calculating machines.
Cash registers.
Change making machines.
Check handling machines.
Collating machines.
Currency and coin handling machines.
Dating machines (automatic).
Dictating machines (except tape and wire recorders).
Duplicating machines (except photocopy, blueprint and printing).
Electronic computing and associated information processing equipment.
Envelope handling machines.
Folding machines.
Inserting machines.
Key punch machines.
Label pasting machines.
Mailing machines.
Payroll machines.
Perforating and cancelling machines (except hand punches).
Postal permit mailing machines.
Post office cancelling machines.
Punched card tabulating machines.
Shorthand machines.
Sorting machines.
Stamp affixing machines.
Stencil machines.
Tabulating machines.
Time recorders.
Time stamping machines (except hand stamping).
Typewriters.
Varitypers.

(b) Minimum wages. The minimum wage for persons employed in the manufacture or furnishing of products of the office machines industry under contracts subject to the Walsh-Healey Public Contracts Act shall be $1.10 an hour, arrived at either on a time or piece-rate basis.

(c) Tolerance for apprentices. (1) Apprentices may be employed at wage rates below the statutory minimum of the Fair Labor Standards Act upon the same terms and conditions as are prescribed for the employment of apprentices by the regulations of the Administrator of the Wage and Hour and Public Contracts Division of the United States Department of Labor (29 CFR Part 521), under section 14 of the Fair Labor Standards Act.

(2) Apprentices may be employed at wage rates equal to or in excess of the statutory minimum of the Fair Labor Standards Act but less than $1.10 an hour, provided the apprentice is employed under a written apprenticeship agreement or program which is recorded as meeting the standards of a State Apprenticeship Agency recognized by the Bureau of Apprenticeship, United States Department of Labor; or the standards of the Bureau of Apprenticeship, United States Department of Labor.

(d) Effect on other obligations. Nothing in this section shall affect any obligations for the payment of minimum wages that an employer may have under any law or agreement more favorable to employees than the requirements of this section.

(e) Effective date. This section shall be effective and the minimum wage hereby established shall apply to all contracts subject to the Public Contracts Act, bids for which are solicited or negotiations otherwise commenced on or after June 18, 1956.

(Sec. 4, 49 Stat. 2038; 41 U. S. C. 38)

Signed at Washington, D. C., this 15th day of May 1956.

JAMES P. MITCHELL, Secretary of Labor.

PROCEDURE AND ADMINISTRATION

PAYMENT OF TAXES BY FOREIGN CURRENCY

Notice is hereby given, pursuant to the Administrative Procedure Act, approved June 11, 1946, that the regulations set forth in tentative form below are proposed to be prescribed by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, with the approval of the Secretary of the Treasury or his delegate. Prior to the final adoption of such regulations, consideration will be given to any data, views, or arguments pertaining thereto which are submitted in writing, in duplicate, to the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, Attention: T:P, Washington 25, D. The proposed regulations are to be issued under the authority contained in sections 6316 and 7805 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 (68A Stat. 778, 917; 26 U. S. C. 6316, 7805).

[SEAL] O. GORDON DELK, Acting Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

The following regulations, applicable with respect to the tax for taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 1955, are hereby prescribed under section 6316 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954:

Sec.
301.6316 Statutory provision payment by foreign currency.

Sec.

301.6316–1 Persons entitled to pay tax in foreign currency.
301.6316–2 Definitions.
301.6316–3 Allocation of tax attributable to foreign currency.
301.6316–4 Return requirements.
301.6316–5 Manner of paying tax by foreign currency.
301.6316–6 Declarations of estimated tax.
301.6316–7 Refunds and credits in foreign currency.
301.6316–8 Interest, additions to tax, etc.

SEC. 6316. Payment by foreign currency. The Secretary or his delegate is authorized in his discretion to allow payment of taxes in the currency of a foreign country under such circumstances and subject to such conditions as the Secretary or his delegate may by regulations prescribe.

§ 301.6316–1 Persons entitled to pay tax in foreign currency. Subject to the provisions of §§ 301.6316–3 to 301.6316–5, inclusive, that portion of the tax which is attributable to amounts received by a citizen of the United States in nonconvertible foreign currency disbursed from funds made available to a foundation or commission established in a foreign country pursuant to an agreement entered into under the authority of section 32 (b) of the Surplus Property Act of 1944, as amended, 50 U. S. C. App. 1641, may be paid in that currency if:

(a) The amounts so received (1) constitute either a grant made for the authorized purposes of the agreement or compensation for personal services performed in the employ of the foundation or commission and (2) are treated as income from sources without the United States under the provisions of sections 861 to 864, inclusive, and the regulations thereunder; and

(b) At least 75 percent of the entire amount of the grant or compensation paid to the citizen by that foundation or commission is paid in such nonconvertible foreign currency.

§ 301.6316–2 Definitions. For purposes of §§ 301.6316–1 to 301.6316–7, inclusive:

(a) The term "tax" means the income tax imposed for the taxable year by chapter 1 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954.

(b) The term "nonconvertible foreign currency" means currency of the government of a foreign country which, owing to (1) monetary, exchange, or other restrictions imposed by the foreign country, (2) an agreement entered into with the United States of America, or (3) the terms and conditions of the United States Government grant, is not convertible into United States dollars or into other money which is convertible into United States dollars. The term shall not, however, include currency which, notwithstanding such restrictions, agreement, terms, or conditions, is in fact converted into United States dollars or into property which is readily disposable for United States dollars.

(c) If the taxpayer computes taxable income under the accrual method, then the term "received" shall be construed to mean "accrued".

§ 301.6316–3 Allocation of tax attributable to foreign currency—(a) Adjusted gross income ratio. The portion of the tax which is attributable to amounts received in nonconvertible foreign currency shall, for purposes of applying § 301.6316–1 to the currency of each foreign country, be the amount by which:

(1) The amount which bears the same ratio to the entire tax for the taxable year as (i) the taxpayer's adjusted gross income received in that currency bears to (ii) the adjusted gross income determined under section 62 by taking into account the entire gross income and all deductions allowable under that section without distinction as to amounts received in foreign currency, exceeds

(2) The total of the allowable credits against tax, and payments on account of tax, which are properly allocable to the amount of that currency included in gross income.

(b) Example. (1) For the calendar year 1955 Mr. Jones and his wife filed a joint return on which the adjusted gross income is as follows, after amounts received in foreign currency had been properly translated into United States dollars for tax computation purposes:

C. For the time for filing income tax returns, see sections 6072 and 6081 and the regulations thereunder.

(b) Statements required. (1) A statement, certified by the United States educational foundation or commission, shall be attached to the return showing that for the taxable year involved the taxpayer is entitled to pay tax in foreign currency in accordance with section 6316 and the regulations thereunder. This statement shall disclose the amount of the grant or compensation received by the taxpayer during the taxable year under the authority of section 32 (b) of the Surplus Property Act of 1944, as amended, and the amount thereof paid in nonconvertible foreign currency. It shall also state that with respect to the grant or compensation the percentage requirement of paragraph (b) of § 301.6316–1 is satisfied.

(2) The taxpayer shall also attach to the return a detailed statement showing (i) the computation, in the manner prescribed by § 301.6316–3, of the portion of the tax attributable to amounts received in nonconvertible foreign currency and (ii) the rates of exchange used in determining the tax liability in United States dollars. See paragraph (c) of § 301.6316–5.

§ 301.6316–5 Manner of paying tax by foreign currency—(a) Time and place to pay. The unpaid tax required to be shown on a return filed in accordance with § 301.6316–4, whether payable in whole or in part in foreign currency, is due and payable to the Director of International Operations, Internal Revenue Service, Washington 25, D. C., at the time the return is filed. However, see paragraph (d) of this section with respect to the depositing of the foreign currency with the disbursing officer of the Department of State.

(b) Certified statement. Every taxpayer who desires to pay tax in foreign currency under the provisions of § 301.6316–1 shall first obtain the certified statement referred to in paragraph (b) (1) of § 301.6316–4.

(c) Determination of the tax. In determining the tax payable for the taxable year in United States dollars, the taxpayer shall use the rates of exchange which most clearly reflect the correct tax liability in dollars, whether it be the official rate, the open market rate, or any other appropriate rate. After determining the correct tax liability in United States dollars the taxpayer shall then ascertain, in accordance with the principles of § 301.6316–3, the portion of the tax which is attributable to amounts received in nonconvertible foreign currency.

(d) Deposit of foreign currency with disbursing officer. (1) After the portion of the tax which is attributable to amounts received in nonconvertible foreign currency is determined in United States dollars, the amount so determined shall be deposited in the same nonconvertible foreign currency with the disbursing officer of the Department of State for the foreign country in which the foundation or commission paying the grant or compensation is located. The amount of foreign currency to be deposited shall be that amount which, when converted at the rate of exchange used on the date of deposit by that disbursing officer for the acquisition of such currency for his official disbursements, equals the portion of the tax so determined in United States dollars.

(2) The disbursing officer may rely upon the taxpayer for the determination of the amount of tax payable in foreign currency but may not accept any such currency for deposit until the taxpayer has presented for inspection the certified statement referred to in paragraph (b) (1) of § 301.6316–4. Upon acceptance of foreign currency for deposit the disbursing officer shall give the taxpayer a receipt in duplicate showing the name and address of the depositor, the date of the deposit, the amount of foreign currency deposited, and its equivalent in United States dollars on the date of deposit.

(3) Every taxpayer making a deposit of foreign currency in accordance with this paragraph shall attach to the return required to be filed in accordance with § 301.6316–4, in part or full payment of the taxes shown thereon, the original of the receipt given by the disbursing officer and shall pay to the Director of International Operations in United States dollars the balance, if any, of the tax shown to be due. Tender of such receipt to the Director of International Operations shall be considered as payment of tax in an amount equal to the United States dollars represented by the receipt.

(4) A taxpayer shall make the deposit required by this paragraph in ample time to permit him to attach the receipt to his return for filing within the time prescribed by section 6072 or 6081 and the regulations thereunder.

§ 301.6316–6 Declarations of estimated tax—(a) Filing of declaration. A declaration of estimated tax in respect of amounts on which the tax is to be paid in foreign currency under the provisions of § 301.6316–1 shall be filed with the Director of International Operations, Internal Revenue Service, Washington 25, D. C., and shall have attached thereto the statements required by paragraph (b) (1) and (2) (i) of § 301.6316–4 in respect of the tax return. For the time for filing declarations of estimated tax, see sections 6073 and 6081 and the regulations thereunder.

(b) Determination of estimated tax—(1) Allocation of tax attributable to foreign currency. In determining the amount of estimated tax for purposes of this section, all items of income, deduction, and credit, whether or not attributable to amounts received in nonconvertible foreign currency, shall be taken into account. The portion of the estimated tax which is attributable to amounts to be received during the taxable year in nonconvertible foreign currency shall be determined consistently with the manner prescribed by § 301.6316–3.

(2) Example. (i) For the calendar year 1955 Mr. Jones and his wife filed a joint declaration of estimated tax in the determination of which the adjusted gross income was estimated to be as follows, after amounts received in foreign currency had been properly translated into United States dollars for tax computation purposes:

The full amount of estimated tax payable in foreign currency, as determined under paragraph (b) of this section, may be deposited before the date prescribed for the payment thereof.

(2) Every taxpayer making a deposit of foreign currency in accordance with this paragraph shall tender to the Director of International Operations, Internal Revenue Service, Washington 25, D. C., the original of the receipt from the disbursing officer as payment, to the extent of the amount represented thereby in United States dollars, of the estimated tax. For the dates prescribed for the payment of estimated tax, see sections 6153 and 6161 and the regulations thereunder. A taxpayer should make the deposit required by this paragraph in ample time to permit him to tender such receipt by the date prescribed for payment of the estimated tax.

(d) Credit on return for the taxable year. The receipt given by the disbursing officer of the Department of State and tendered in payment of estimated tax under this section shall, for purposes of paragraph (a) (2) of § 301.6316–3, be considered as payment on account of the tax for the taxable year. The amount so considered to be paid shall be the amount in United States dollars represented by the receipt.

112.4 Domestic and stock use.
112.5 Farm units.
112.6 Delivery point.

112.8 Duty of water.
112.9 Waterusers responsible for delivered water.
112.10 Waste water.
112.11 Right-of-way.

112.15 Service ditches.
112.16 Assessments.
112.17 Waterusers' ledgers.
112.18 Crop and statistical report.
112.19 Complaints.

§ 112.1 Definitions. As used in §§ 112.2 through 112.18 "Commissioner" shall mean the Commissioner of Indian Affairs or his authorized representative.

§ 112.2 Organization. The Klamath Indian Irrigation Project is in the charge of the Commissioner who is fully authorized to administer, carry out and enforce the rules and regulations in this part, either directly or as delegated by him, through other officials and employees such as, the Area Director, Superintendent, watermasters, ditchriders, foremen, and other assistants. The Commissioner is fully authorized to refuse or discontinue delivery of water to any person who willfully disregards the rules and regulations in this part.

§ 112.3 Irrigation season. Water shall be available for irrigation purposes from April 15 to September 30 each year. These dates may be varied as much as 15 days when the Commissioner determines that weather conditions and the necessity for doing maintenance work warrants doing so.

§ 112.4 Domestic and stock use. Irrigation projects are primarily built and maintained for serving land with water for the irrigation of crops during the growing season. Water for domestic and stock water use shall be delivered during the non-irrigation season only at the discretion of the Commissioner.

§ 112.5 Farm units. For the purpose of the rules and regulations in this part and for the delivery of water, a farm unit shall be defined as a contiguous area of land in single ownership containing not less than one 40-acre subdivision of the public survey regardless of the original status as a farm unit or allotment. In the case of leases a farm unit shall be defined as the contiguous area under a single lease.

§ 112.6 Delivery point. The general rule of the project shall be one delivery point at the upper boundary of the farm unit or allotment, and the project shall maintain the lateral system to that extent. In special cases where from a cost or topographic standpoint it is impracticable for the landowner or lessee to irrigate the entire irrigable area of his tract from one delivery point, the Commissioner may establish additional delivery points but in no instance shall more than one delivery point be established and maintained when the landowner or lessee can at a reasonable expense provide for delivery by the construction of suitable head ditches.

§ 112.7 Method of delivery. Water for irrigation purposes shall be delivered throughout the irrigation season at the discretion of the Commissioner either by the continuous flow or rotation method.

§ 112.8 Duty of water. Water shall be delivered subject to the provisions of the regulations in this part, on a demand basis so long as a sufficient quantity is available for project use. In case of a shortage of water, the Commissioner is authorized to adopt a rotation system, either for the entire project or for individual units thereof when, in his opinion, such action shall be for the best interests of the project. In the apportionment of the water each user shall receive his proportionate share of the available supply on an irrigable area basis.

§ 112.9 Waterusers responsible for delivered water. It shall be the duty of the Commissioner to furnish water for beneficial irrigation use only, and it shall be the duty of the wateruser to assist in the prevention of waste, and also prevent damage to adjacent lands. Waterusers shall be held responsible for water after it is delivered to their land, and they shall be required to have their field ditches in suitable condition and of such capacity as to permit the use of economical heads.

§ 112.10 Waste water. In all cases waste water shall be kept to a minimum consistent with good irrigation practice and the water user shall be held responsible for the disposal of all waste water, coming from his fields, in such a manner that no injury shall be done to his land or other land by flooding or "subbing." Waste water may be emptied into project canals, laterals and drain ditches only at such points as have been designated for that purpose by the Commissioner, who shall have the right summarily to shut off water from any lands where he finds that water is being unnecessarily wasted or that the provisions of this section are being violated by the owner of such land, or other person who may be in charge of such land under authority of the owner.

§ 112.11 Right-of-way. For use in the necessary activities and emergencies incident to the operation and maintenance of the irrigation system, there shall be reserved a right-of-way along all canals, laterals, sub-laterals and drains, in addition to the land actually occupied by such channels and their embankments, measured from the outside limits of the embankments or channel, a strip of land of sufficient width on each side of said canals, laterals, sub-laterals and drains to permit the operation of maintenance equipment, making repairs and improvements, and travel by the project ditchriders.

§ 112.12 Obstructions and their removal. No trees, buildings, hay or straw stacks, or other obstructions, shall be placed upon said reserved right-of-way by any adjacent landowners or others. Any trees, buildings, hay or straw stacks, or other obstructions of any kind whatsoever located upon said right-of-way may be ordered removed by the Commissioner, and if not removed by the person or persons placing them thereon they shall be removed under the supervision of the Commissioner at his discretion, and the cost of such removal shall be added to the cost of operation and maintenance for the particular tract of land under the project belonging to the persons so placing or causing such obtsructions to be placed thereon.

§ 112.13 Fences. No fences shall be placed in the right-of-way except those crossing a canal, lateral or drain ditch, and in such case a gate of approved type shall be installed and maintained by the property owner on each side of the canal, lateral or drain ditch of sufficient width to permit the operation of equipment, travel of ditchriders and all other necessary activities incident to the proper operation and maintenance of the project system. No wire, timber or other material used in the construction of fences across a project canal, lateral or drain ditch shall be placed less than 12 inches above the maximum high water surface elevation of the canal, lateral or drain ditch.

§ 112.14 Structures. (a) All necessary headgates, checks, drops, turnouts, flumes and measuring devices will be installed and maintained by the project. Any person or corporation desiring to build a bridge or other structures over, under, in or across a project canal, lateral or drainage ditch, shall first obtain from the Commissioner a written permit to build such structures, which permit shall stipulate that it is granted, and accepted by the permittee, on the condition that the repair and maintenance of the structures shall be the duty of the permittee, or his successors, without cost to the project. The permit shall further provide that if any such structure be not regularly used for a period of one year or more the Commissioner in writing may notify the person responsible for its maintenance to remove it within a period of 90 days; and that if the structure is not removed within the time allowed, it may thereafter be removed by the Commissioner, the cost of such removal to be paid by the party responsible for the maintenance of the structure.

(b) Wherever the project is extended to an area without existing roads, and the construction of roads, bridges or culverts becomes necessary, the Commissioner shall investigate the possibility of liquidating all or part of the cost of such construction by securing funds from any governmental agency providing funds for such purposes, and he is authorized to negotiate any necessary agreements with such governmental agency.

(c) All persons or corporations are warned against the violation of this section.

§ 112.15 Service ditches. The farm unit or service ditch into which water is delivered from the project canals, or laterals shall have ample capacity and be maintained by the water user in proper condition to receive water and convey it to the place of use with a minimum of loss. Any service ditch that has been or may be constructed upon any project canal, lateral or drain right-of-way shall be considered an obstruction and subject to the provisions of § 112.12.

§ 112.16 Assessments. The annual per acre charge for operation and maintenance shall be levied against the entire irrigable area of each farm unit or allotment to which irrigation water can be delivered from present constructed works. Charges shall become due and payable in accordance with §§ 130.47 to 130.48b of this chapter, and the provisions therein regarding the refusal of delivery of water in case of delinquency shall be enforced.

§ 112.17 Waterusers' ledgers. Separate entries shall be made in the waterusers' ledgers for each tract. Bills shall be issued to the record owner, and payments made thereon shall be credited to the proper ledger accounts.

§ 112.18 Crop and statistical report. A crop report on forms furnished for that purpose shall be taken each year by the Commissioner. This report shall show the number of acres devoted to each crop, total yield and value of crops for each unit of the project and for the entire project.

§ 112.19 Complaints. All complaints shall be made to the official in charge of the project under these regulations in this part in writing. In case of dispute regarding application of rules and regulations and decisions of such official made pursuant thereto, appeal may be made within 30 days to the Area Director who shall settle the dispute if possible or refer it with his recommendations to the Commissioner of Indian Affairs.

FRED G. AANDAHL,
Acting Secretary of the Interior.

(a) A distributing plant from which a volume of Class I milk equal to not less than 50 percent of the Grade A milk received at such plant from dairy farmers and from other plants is disposed of during the month on routes during the months of February through July and 60 percent of the Grade A milk received at such plant from dairy farmers and from other plants is disposed of during the month on routes during all other months (including routes operated by vendors), or through plant stores to retail or wholesale outlets (except pool plants) and not less than 20 percent of such receipts are so disposed of to such outlets in the marketing area: Provided, That if the operator of a supply plant disposes of not less than 70 percent of his receipts of producer Grade A milk as Class I in the marketing area during the delivery periods of September through December, such operator shall qualify as a pool plant during the months of January through August, provided he disposes of not less than 30 percent of his receipts of producer Grade A milk as Class I in the marketing area.

§ 906.10 Nonpool plant. "Nonpool plant" means any milk manufacturing, processing or bottling plant other than a pool plant.

§ 906.11 Handler. "Handler" means:

(c) A milk plant approved by an appropriate health authority having jurisdiction within the marketing area for the receipt of Grade A milk, at which milk is received directly from the farms of producers holding Grade A permits or authorizations issued by such health authority and which is operated by a cooperative association, qualified pursuant to § 906.5, which ships 60 percent or more of the milk produced by its members to pool plants.

§ 906.12 Producer. "Producer" means any person, other than a producer-handler, who produces milk, under a dairy farm permit, permit authorization or rating, for the production of milk to be disposed of as Grade A milk, issued by a duly constituted health authority, which is received at a pool plant. Producer shall include any such person whose milk is caused by a handler to be diverted for the account of such handler from a pool plant to a nonpool plant, and milk so diverted shall be deemed to have been received at a pool plant by the handler who causes it to be diverted. Producer shall not include any person with respect to milk produced by him which is received at a plant operated by a handler who is subject to another Federal order.

§ 906.13 Producer milk. "Producer milk" means all skim milk and butterfat in milk produced by a producer which is received by a handler either directly from producers or from other handlers.

§ 906.16 Base milk. "Base milk" means producer milk received by a handler during any of the months of February through July which is not in excess of each producer's daily average base computed pursuant to § 906.65 multiplied by the number of days in such month for which such producer delivered milk to such handler.

§ 906.17 Excess milk. "Excess milk" means producer milk received by a handler during any of the months of February through July which is in excess of base milk received from each producer during such month, and shall include all milk received from producers for whom no daily average base can be computed pursuant to § 906.65.

§ 906.18 Route. "Route" means any delivery (including any delivery by a vendor or disposition at a plant store) of skim milk, buttermilk, flavored milk, flavored milk drinks or cream other than delivery in bulk form to a milk plant.

In either case the market administrator shall give further written notification to the handler promptly, upon the termination of the litigation or when the records are no longer necessary in connection therewith.

CLASSIFICATION

§ 906.40 Skim milk and butterfat to be classified. All skim milk and butterfat received within the month by a handler and which is required to be reported pursuant to § 906.30 shall be classified by the market administrator pursuant to the provisions of §§ 906.41 to 906.46, inclusive.

§ 906.41 Classes of utilization. Subject to the conditions set forth in §§ 906.43 and 906.44, inclusive, the classes of utilization shall be as follows:

(a) Class I milk shall be all skim milk (including reconstituted skim milk) and butterfat disposed of in the form of milk, skim milk, buttermilk, flavored milk, flavored milk drinks, cream, cultured ice cream, any mixture (except bulk ice cream mix) of cream and milk or skim milk, and all skim milk and butterfat not specifically accounted for under paragraph (b) of this section;

(b) Class II milk shall be all skim milk and butterfat;

(1) Used to produce any product other than those specified in paragraph (a) of this section,

(2) Disposed of for livestock feed,

(3) In cream frozen and stored,

(4) In skim milk dumped, after prior notification to and opportunity for verification by the market administrator,

(5) In shrinkage assigned to Class II milk pursuant to § 906.42,

(6) In shrinkage of other source milk, and

(7) In inventory at the end of the month as milk, skim milk, cream (except frozen) of any product specified in paragraph (a) of this section.

§ 906.42 Shrinkage. The market administrator shall determine the assignment of shrinkage to Class II milk as follows:

(a) Determine the total shrinkage of butterfat and skim milk in the fluid milk plant(s) of each handler;

(b) Multiply the pounds of skim milk and butterfat in producer milk (except milk diverted pursuant to § 906.12) and other source milk by 0.02;

(c) Multiply the pounds of butterfat and skim milk respectively, determined pursuant to paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section, whichever is less, by the percentage of butterfat and skim milk classified pursuant to § 906.41 (a) and (b) which is in Class II milk. The resulting amounts of skim milk and butterfat shall be classified as Class II milk;

(d) Assign the shrinkage of skim milk and butterfat classified as Class II milk pro rata to producer milk and other source milk; and

(e) If milk is received by a cooperative producers association, qualified pursuant to § 906.5, at a supply plant or pool plant, and is transferred to the operator of a pool plant, the two percent shrinkage allowance shall be allocated, as follows:

(1) One-half of one percent to such cooperative association, and

(2) One and one-half percent to the operator of the pool plant.

§ 906.43 Responsibility of handlers and reclassification of milk. All skim milk and butterfat shall be Class I milk unless the handler who first receives such skim milk or butterfat can prove to the market administrator that such skim milk or butterfat should be classified otherwise.

§ 906.44 Transfers. Skim milk or butterfat disposed of by a handler either by transfer or diversion shall be classified:

(a) As Class I milk if transferred or diverted in the form of milk, skim milk, or cream, to the pool plant of another handler (except a producer-handler) unless utilization in Class II is mutually indicated in writing to the market administrator by both handlers on or before the 7th day after the end of the month within which such transaction occurred: Provided, That the skim milk or butterfat so assigned to Class II shall be limited to the amount thereof remaining in Class II in the plant of the transferee-handler after the subtraction of other source milk pursuant to § 906.46, and any additional amounts of such skim milk or butterfat shall be assigned to Class I: And provided further, That if, either or both handlers have received other source milk, the skim milk or butterfat so transferred or diverted shall be classified at both plants so as to allocate the greatest possible Class I utilization to producer milk;

(b) As Class I milk is transferred or diverted to a producer-handler in the form of milk, skim milk or cream;

(c) As Class I milk if transferred or diverted in the form of milk or skim milk to a nonpool plant located more than 350 miles from the pool plant, by the shortest highway distance as determined by the market administrator;

(d) As Class I milk if transferred in the form of cream under Grade A certification to a nonpool plant, or unless the handler claims classification as Class II milk and established the fact that such cream was transferred without Grade A certification and with each container labeled or tagged to indicate that the contents are for manufacturing use only, and that the shipment was so invoiced;

(e) (1) As Class I milk, if transferred or diverted in the form of milk or skim milk to a nonpool plant located not more than 350 highway miles from the pool plant, and from which fluid milk is disposed of on wholesale or retail routes or to other milk plants, unless all the following conditions are met:

(i) The market administrator is permitted to audit the records of such nonpool plant, and

(ii) Such nonpool plant received milk from dairy farmers who the market administrator determines constitute its regular source of supply for Class I milk, and

(2) If these conditions are met the market administrator shall classify such milk as reported by the handler subject to verification as follows:

(i) Determine the use of all skim milk and butterfat at such nonpool plant, and

(ii) Allocate the skim milk and butterfat so transferred or diverted to the highest use classification remaining after subtracting in series beginning with the highest use classification, the skim milk and butterfat in milk received at the nonpool plant from dairy farmers; and

(f) As Class II milk if transferred or diverted in the form of milk or skim milk to a nonpool plant located not more than 350 miles from the pool plant, and from which fluid milk is not disposed of on wholesale or retail routes, except that:

(1) If such nonpool plant transfers milk or skim milk to a pool plant, an equal amount of skim milk and butterfat transferred to such nonpool plant from the pool plants of other handlers shall be deemed to have been transferred directly to the second pool plant and shall be classified pursuant to the provisions of paragraph (a) of this section, and

(2) If such nonpool plant transfers milk or skim milk to a second nonpool plant which distributes fluid milk on wholesale or retail routes, skim milk or butterfat transferred from a pool plant to the first nonpool plant shall be Class I milk to the extent of the amount so transferred to such second nonpool plant unless it is established that the milk or skim milk was transferred to the second nonpool plant without Grade A certification and with each container labeled or tagged to indicate that the contents are for manufacturing use only, and that the shipment was so invoiced.

§ 906.45 Computation of the skim milk and butterfat in each class. For each month, the market administrator shall correct for mathematical and for other obvious errors the monthly report submitted by each handler and shall compute the pounds of skim milk and butterfat in Class I milk and Class II milk for such handler.

§ 906.46 Allocation of skim milk and butterfat classified. After making the computations pursuant to § 906.45 the market administrator shall determine the classification of milk received from producers as follows:

(a) Skim milk shall be allocated in the following manner:

(1) Subtract from the total pounds of skim milk in Class II the pounds of skim milk determined pursuant to § 906.41 (b) (5),

(2) Subtract from the remaining pounds of skim milk, in series beginning with Class II, the pounds of skim milk in receipt of other source milk,

(3) Subtract the volume of unpriced other source milk from the volume of other source milk which has been priced pursuant to the provision of another Federal milk marketing order and agreement,

(4) Subtract from the remaining pounds of skim milk in each class the skim milk received from other handlers in the form of milk, skim milk or cream according to its classification as determined pursuant to § 906.44 (a),

(5) Add to the remaining pounds of skim milk in Class II the pounds of skim milk subtracted pursuant to subparagraph (1) of this paragraph, and

(6) If the remaining pounds of skim milk in both classes exceed the pounds of skim milk received from producers, subtract such excess from the remaining pounds of skim milk in series beginning with Class II milk. Any amount so subtracted shall be called "overage";

(b) Butterfat shall be allocated in accordance with the same procedure outlined for skim milk in paragraph (a) of this section; and

(c) Determine the weighted average butterfat content of the Class I and Class II milk computed pursuant to paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section.

MINIMUM PRICES

§ 906.50 Basic formula price to be used in determining Class I prices. The basic formula price to be used in determining the price per hundredweight of Class I milk shall be the highest of the prices computed pursuant to paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section and § 906.51 (b) for the preceding month.

(a) The average of the basic or field prices per hundredweight reported to have been paid for milk of 3.5 percent butterfat content received from farmers during the month at the following plants or places for which prices have been reported to the market administrator or to the Department, divided by 3.5 and multiplied by 5.0:

(b) The price per hundredweight computed by adding together the plus values pursuant to subparagraphs (1) and (2) of this paragraph:

(1) From the simple average as computed by the market administrator of the daily wholesale selling prices (using the midpoint of any price range as one price) per pound of Grade A (92-score) bulk creamery butter per pounds at Chicago, as reported by the Department during the month, subtract 3 cents, add 20 percent thereof and multiply by 4.0, and

(2) From the simple average as computed by the market administrator of the weighted averages of carlot prices per pounds for nonfat dry milk solids, spray, and roller process, respectively, for human consumption, f. o. b. manufacturing plants in the Chicago area as published for the period from the 26th day of the preceding month through the 25th day of the current month by the Department, deduct 5.5 cents, multiply by 8.5 and then multiply by 0.96.

§ 906.51 Class prices. Subject to the provisions of § 906.52 and § 906.53, inclusive, the minimum prices per hundredweight to be paid by each handler for milk received at his plant from producers during the months shall be as follows:

(a) Class I milk. The basic formula price plus $2.30 during all months of the year provided that for each of the months of September, October, November and December, such price shall not be less than that for the preceding month, and that for each of the months of April, May and June, such price shall not be more than that for the preceding month. To this price, add or subtract a supply-demand adjustment of not more than 35 cents, computed as follows:

(1) Divide the total receipts of producer milk in the first and second months preceding by the total gross volume of Class I milk (excluding interhandler transfers, and sales by producer-handlers and handlers partially exempt from this subpart pursuant to § 906.61) for the same months, multiply the result by 100, and round to the nearest whole number. The result shall be known as the Class I utilization percentage,

(2) Compute a "net deviation percentage" as follows:

(i) If the Class I utilization percentage is neither less than the minimum standard utilization percentage below nor in excess of the maximum standard utilization percentage is zero,

(ii) Any amount by which the Class I utilization percentage is less than the minimum standard utilization percentage specified below is a "minus net deviation" percentage, and

(iii) Any amount by which the Class I utilization percentage exceeds the maximum standard utilization percentage specified below is a "plus net deviation" percentage;

| Months for which price applies | Months used in computations | Standard utilization percentages | |
|---|---|---|---|
| | | Minimum | Maximum |
| January | November–December | 117 | 123 |
| February | December–January | 118 | 124 |
| March | January–February | 122 | 128 |
| April | February–March | 126 | 132 |
| May | March–April | 130 | 136 |

| November | September–October | 115 | 121 |
| December | October–November | 117 | 123 |

(3) For a "minus net deviation percentage" the Class I price shall be increased and for a "plus net deviation percentage" the Class I price shall be decreased as follows:

(i) One cent for each such percentage point of net deviation,

(ii) One cent for the lesser of:

(a) Each such percentage point of net deviation, or

(b) Each percentage point of net deviation of like direction (plus or minus, with any net deviation percentage of opposite direction considered to be zero for purposes of the computations of this subparagraph) computed pursuant to subparagraph (2) of this paragraph for the month immediately preceding, and

(iii) One cent for the least of:

(a) Each such percentage point of net deviation,

(b) Each percentage point of net deviation of like direction computed pursuant to subparagraph (2) of this paragraph for the month immediately preceding, or

(c) Each percentage point of net deviation of like direction computed pursuant to subparagraph (2) of this paragraph for the second preceding month; and

(b) Class II milk. The average of the basic or field prices reported to have been paid or to be paid for ungraded milk of 4.0 percent butterfat content received from farmers during the month at the following plants or places for which prices have been reported to the market administrator or to the Department.

Present Operator and Location

§ 906.52 Butterfat differentials to handlers. If the average butterfat content of the milk of any handler allocated to any class pursuant to § 906.46 is more or less than 4.0 percent, there shall be added to the respective class price, computed pursuant to § 906.51, for each one-tenth of 1 percent that the average butterfat content of such milk is above 4.0 percent or subtracted for each one-tenth of 1 percent that such average butterfat content is below 4.0 percent an amount equal to the butterfat differential computed by multiplying the simple average, as computed by the market administrator, of the daily wholesale selling price per pound (using the midpoint of any price range as one price) of Grade A (92-score) bulk creamery butter at Chicago as reported by the Department during the month specified below by the applicable factor listed and dividing the result by 10:

(a) Class I milk. Multiply such price for the preceding month by 1.25; and

(b) Class II milk. Multiply such price for the current month by 1.15.

§ 906.53 Location adjustment credit to handlers. For that portion of milk which is,

(a) Received directly from producers at a pool plant located outside of the marketing area and 35 or more miles from a point computed by drawing a circle from the City Hall of Bristow, Oklahoma, with an 80 mile radius by the shortest hard-surfaced highway distance as determined by the market administrator; and

(b) Is either:

(1) Transferred in the form of milk, skim milk or cream to a pool plant located in the marketing area and assigned to Class I pursuant to the provisions of this section; or

(2) Is classified as Class I milk without such improvement, the prices specified in § 906.51 shall be subject to a location adjustment credit to the handler computed as follows:

| Distance from nearest edge of marketing area: | Cents per hundredweight |
|---|---|
| 35 to 50 miles | 15 |
| 50.1 to 65 miles | 17 |
| 65.1 to 80 miles | 19 |
| 80.1 to 95 miles | 21 |
| 95.1 to 110 miles | 23 |
| 110.1 to 125 miles | 25 |
| 125.1 to 140 miles | 27 |

Plus 1 cent for each additional 15 miles or fraction thereof in excess of 140 miles.

Provided, That for the purposes of calculating such adjustment transfers between pool plants shall be assigned to Class I milk in a volume not in excess of that by which Class I disposition at the transferee plant exceeds 95 percent of the receipts from producers at such plant, such assignment to transferor plants to be made first to plants at which no adjustment credit is applicable and then in the sequence at which the lowest location adjustment credit would apply.

§ 906.54 Use of equivalent prices. If for any reason a price quotation required by this part for computing class prices or for other purposes is not available in the manner described, the market administrator shall use a price determined by the Secretary to be equivalent to the price which is required.

APPLICATION OF PROVISIONS

§ 906.60 Producer - handlers. Sections 906.40 through 906.46, 906.65, 906.66, 906.50 through 906.54, 906.70 through

906.73, and 906.80 through 906.89, shall not apply to a producer-handler.

§ 906.61 Handlers subject to other orders. In the case of any handler who the Secretary determines disposes of a greater portion of his milk as Class I milk in another marketing area regulated by another milk marketing agreement or order issued pursuant to the act, the provisions of this subpart shall not apply except as follows:

(a) The handler shall, with respect to his total receipts of skim milk and butterfat, make reports to the market administrator at such time and in such manner as the market administrator may require and allow verification of such reports by the market administrator; and

(b) If the price which such handler is required to pay under the other Federal order to which he is subject, for skim milk and butterfat which would be classified as Class I milk under this subpart is less than the price provided by this subpart, such handler shall pay to the market administrator for deposit into the producer-settlement fund (with respect to all skim milk and butterfat disposed of as Class I milk within the marketing area) an amount equal to the difference between the value of such skim milk or butterfat as computed pursuant to this subpart and its value as determined pursuant to the other order to which he is subject, less the amount of any allowable location adjustment credit computed pursuant to § 906.53.

§ 906.62 Handlers operating nonpool plants. None of the provisions from §§ 906.50 through 906.54, inclusive, from §§ 906.70 through 906.73, or §§ 906.80 through 906.86, inclusive, shall apply in the case of a handler in his capacity as the operator of a nonpool plant, except that such handler shall, on or before the 13th day after the end of each month, pay to the market administrator for deposit into the producer-settlement fund an amount calculated by multiplying the total hundredweight of butterfat and skim milk disposed of as Class I milk from such plant to retail or wholesale outlets (including sales by vendors and plant stores) in the marketing area during the month, by the rate determined pursuant to § 906.63.

§ 906.63 Rate of payment on unpriced milk. Each handler who operates a distributing plant which is not a pool plant, but from which Class I milk is disposed of on routes in the marketing area, shall in lieu of the payments required by §§ 906.80 through 906.88, pay to the market administrator on or before the 13th day after the end of the month during which milk was received, an amount of money calculated as follows:

(a) For the producer-settlement fund, the lesser of the amounts resulting from the following computations:

(1) From the value of all skim milk and butterfat disposed of as Class I milk on routes in the marketing area at the Class I price applicable at the location of such handler's plant, deduct the value of milk, skim milk and butterfat at the Class II price, or

(2) Any plus amount remaining after deducting from the value that would have been computed pursuant to § 906.70 if such handler had operated a pool plant, the gross payments, including any authorized deductions, made by such handler for milk received during the preceding month from dairy farmers whose milk was approved for fluid use; and

(b) As his pro rata share of the expenses of administration of this subpart, an amount equal to that which would have been computed pursuant to § 906.88 had such handler operated a pool plant.

DETERMINATION OF BASE

§ 906.65 Computation of daily average base for each producer. For the months of February through July of each year, the market administrator shall compute a daily average base for each producer as follows, subject to the rules set forth in § 906.66:

(a) Divide the total pounds of milk received by a handler(s) from such producer during the months of September through December immediately preceding by the number of days between the first day of delivery and December 31, not to be less than ninety, of such producer's delivery in such period.

§ 906.66 Base rules. (a) A base shall apply to deliveries of milk by the producer for whose account that milk was delivered during the base-forming period;

(b) Bases may be transferred only during the period of February through July by notifying the market administrator in writing before the last day of any month that such base is to be transferred to the person named in such notice only as follows:

(1) In the event of the death, retirement, or entry into military service of a producer the entire base may be transferred to a member(s) of such producer's immediate family who carries on the dairy operations, and

(2) If a base is held jointly and such joint holding is terminated, the entire base may be transferred to one of the joint holders;

(c) A producer who ceases to deliver milk to a handler for more than 45 consecutive days after the end of the base setting period shall forfeit his base; and

(d) The market administrator shall determine and assign bases to producers delivering to a handler who becomes an operator of a pool plant after the end of the base setting period by an audit of that handler's records in the same manner that bases are determined and assigned to producers who deliver to the operator of a pool plant during the base setting period.

DETERMINATION OF UNIFORM PRICES

§ 906.70 Computation of value of milk. The value of milk received by each handler each month from producers shall be a sum of money computed by the market administrator as follows:

(a) Multiply the pounds of such milk in each class by the applicable respective class prices (adjusted pursuant to §§ 906.52 and 906.53) and add together the resulting amounts;

(b) Add an amount computed by multiplying the pounds of any overage deducted from each class pursuant to § 906.46 (a) (6) by the applicable class price(s);

(c) Add any charges computed as follows:

(1) For any skim milk or butterfat in inventory reclassified pursuant to § 906.43 (b) which is not in excess of the quantity in producer milk classified as Class II milk (other than as shrinkage) in the handler's plant(s) for the preceding month, a charge shall be computed at the difference between its value at the Class I price for the current month and its value at the Class II price of the preceding month; and

(d) For any other source milk in inventory reclassified during the month in Class I, add an amount equal to the difference between its value at the Class I and Class II price for the current month.

§ 906.71 Computation of aggregate value used to determine price(s). For each month, the market administrator shall compute an aggregate value from which to determine the uniform price(s) per hundredweight for milk of 4.0 percent butterfat content received from producers as follows:

(a) Combine into one total the values computed pursuant to § 906.70 for all handlers who made the reports prescribed in § 906.30 and who made the payments pursuant to § 906.80 and § 906.84 for the preceding month;

(b) Add the aggregate of the values of all allowable location adjustments to producers pursuant to § 906.81;

(c) Add not less than one-half of the cash balance on hand in the producer-settlement fund less the total amount of the contingent obligations to handlers pursuant to § 906.85; and

(d) Subtract if the average butterfat content of the milk included in these computations is greater than 4.0 percent, or add if such average butterfat content is less than 4.0 percent an amount computed by multiplying the amount by which the average butterfat content of such milk varies from 4.0 percent by the butterfat differential computed pursuant to § 906.82 and multiplying the resulting figure by the total hundredweight of such milk.

§ 906.72 Computation of uniform price. For each of the months of August through January the market administrator shall compute the uniform price per hundredweight for all milk of 4.0 percent butterfat content received from producers as follows:

(a) Divide the aggregate value computed pursuant to § 906.71 by the total hundredweight of milk included in such computation; and

(b) Subtract not less than 4 cents nor more than 5 cents.

§ 906.73 Computation of uniform prices for base milk and excess milk. For each of the months of February through July the market adminstrator shall compute the uniform prices per hundredweight for base milk and for excess milk, each of 4.0 percent butterfat content, as follows:

(a) Compute the total value on a 4.0 percent butterfat basis of excess milk included in these computations by multiplying the hundredweight of such milk not in excess of the total quantity of Class II milk included in these computations by the price for Class II milk of 4.0 percent butterfat content, multiplying the hundredweight of such milk in excess of the total hundredweight of such Class II milk by the price for Class I milk of 4.0 butterfat content, and adding together the resulting amounts;

(b) Divide the total value of excess milk obtained in paragraph (a) of this section by the total hundredweight of such milk and adjust to the nearest cent. The resulting figure shall be the uniform price for excess milk of 4.0 percent butterfat received from producers;

(c) Subtract the value of excess milk obtained in paragraph (a) of this section from the aggregate value of milk computed pursuant to § 906.71 and adjust by any amount involved in adjusting the uniform price of excess milk to the nearest cent;

(d) Divide the amount obtained in paragraph (c) of this section by the total hundredweight of base milk included in these computations; and

(e) Subtract no less than 4 cents nor more than 5 cents from the amount computed pursuant to paragraph (d) of this section. The resulting figure shall be the uniform price for base milk of 4.0 percent butterfat content received from producers.

PAYMENTS

§ 906.80 Time and method payment. Each handler shall make payment as follows:

(a) On or before the 15th day after the end of the month during which the milk was received, to each producer to whom payment is not made pursuant to paragraph (c) of this section, at not less than the applicable uniform price(s) for such month computed pursuant to § 906.72 and § 906.73, adjusted by the butterfat differential computed pursuant to § 906.82, subject to location adjustments to producers pursuant to paragraph (d) of this section; Provided, That if by such date such handler has not received full payment pursuant to § 906.85, he may reduce his total payments to all producers uniformly by not less than the amount of reduction in payment from the market administrator; he shall, however, complete such payments pursuant to this paragraph not later than the date for making such payments next following receipt of the balance from the market administrator,

(b) On or before the last day of each month, to each producer for whom payment is not made pursuant to paragraph (c) of this section for milk received from him during the first 15 days of the month at not less than the Class II price for the preceding month;

(c) (1) Upon receipt of a written request from a cooperative association which the market administrator determines is authorized by its members to collect payment for their milk and receipt of a written promise to reimburse the handler the amount of any actual loss incurred by him because of any improper claim on the part of the cooperative, each handler shall (i) pay to the cooperative association on or before the 13th and 27th day of each month, in lieu of payments pursuant to paragraphs (a) and (b) respectively, of this section, an amount equal to the gross sum due for all milk received from certified members, less amounts owing by each member-producer to the handler for supplies purchased from him on prior written order or as evidenced by a delivery ticket signed by the producer, (ii) submit to the cooperative association on or before the 10th day of each month written information which shows for each member-producer (a) the total pounds of milk received during the preceding month, (b) the total pounds of butterfat contained in such milk, (c) the number of days on which milk was received, (d) for the months of February through July the amount of base and excess milk received, and (e) the amounts withheld by the handler in payment for supplies sold, and (iii) submit to the cooperative association on or before the 25th day of each month written information which shows for each such member-producer the total pounds of milk received during the first 15 days of the current month. The foregoing payment and submission of information shall be made with respect to milk of each producer whom the cooperative association certifies is a member, which is received on and after the first day of the calendar month next following receipt of such certification through the last day of the month next preceding receipt of notice from the cooperative association of a termination of membership or until the original request is rescinded in writing by the association, and

(2) A copy of each such request, promise to reimburse and certified list of members shall be filed simultaneously with the market administrator by the cooperative and shall be subject to verification at his discretion, through audit of the records of the cooperative association pertaining thereto. Exceptions, if any, to the accuracy of such certification by a producer claimed to be a member, or by a handler, shall be made by written notice to the market administrator and shall be subject to his determination, and

(d) On or before the 15th day after the end of each month, each handler shall pay each cooperative association which operates a pool plant for skim milk or butterfat received from such cooperative association during such month an amount of money computed by multiplying the total pounds of such skim milk and butterfat in each class pursuant to §§ 906.41 through 906.44 by the class price.

§ 906.81 Location adjustment to producers. In making payments to producers pursuant to § 906.80 each handler may deduct the hundredweight of milk received from producers at a nonpool plant, or diverted to a nonpool plant, either of which is located outside the marketing area and 35 or more miles from a point computed by drawing a circle from the City Hall of Bristow, Oklahoma, with a radius of 80 miles by shortest hard-surfaced highway distance, as determined by the market administrator, the applicable amounts set forth below:

|---|---|
| 35 to 50 miles | 15 |
| 50.1 to 65 miles | 17 |
| 65.1 to 80 miles | 19 |
| 80.1 to 95 miles | 21 |
| 95.1 to 110 miles | 23 |
| 110.1 to 125 miles | 25 |
| 125.1 to 140 miles | 27 |

Plus 1 cent for each additional 15 miles or major fraction thereof in excess of 140 miles.

§ 906.82 Producer butterfat differential. In making payments pursuant to § 906.80 there shall be added to or subtracted from the uniform price for each one-tenth of one percent that the average butterfat content of the milk received from the producer is above or below 4.0 percent, an amount computed by multiplying by 1.2 the simple average, as computed by the market administrator, of the daily wholesale selling prices per pound (using the midpoint of any price range as one price) of Grade A (92-score) bulk creamery butter at Chicago as reported by the Department during the month, dividing the resulting sum by 10, and rounding to the nearest one-tenth of a cent.

§ 906.83 Producer-settlement fund. The market administrator shall establish and maintain a separate fund known as the "producer-settlement fund", into which he shall deposit all payments made by handlers pursuant to §§ 906.84, 906.61 (b) and 906.86, and out of which he shall make all payments to handlers pursuant to §§ 906.85 and 906.86, inclusive.

§ 906.84 Payments to the producer-settlement fund. On or before the 13th day after the end of the month during which the milk was received, each handler, including a cooperative association which is a handler, shall pay to the market administrator the amount, if any, by which the value of the milk received by such handler from producers as determined pursuant to § 906.70 is greater than the amount required to be paid producers by such handler pursuant to § 906.80.

§ 906.85 Payment out of the producer-settlement fund. On or before the 14th day after the end of the month during which the milk was received the market administrator shall pay to each handler, including a cooperative association which is a handler, the amount, if any, by which the value of the milk received by such handler from producers during the month as determined pursuant to § 906.70 is less than the amount required to be paid producers by such handlers pursuant to § 906.80: Provided, That if the balance in the producer-settlement fund is insufficient to make all payments pursuant to this paragraph, the market administrator shall reduce uniformly such payments and shall complete such payments as soon as the necessary funds are available.

§ 906.86 Adjustments of accounts. Whenever audit by the market administrator of any handler's reports, books, records or accounts discloses errors resulting on moneys due (a) the market administrator from such handler (b) such handler from the market administrator, or (c) any producer or cooperative association from such handler, the market administrator shall promptly notify such handler of any amount so due and payment thereof shall be made on or before the next date for making payments set forth in the provisions under which such error occurred.

§ 906.87 Marketing services. (a) Except as set forth in paragraph (b) of this section, each handler, in making payments to producers (other than himself) pursuant to § 906.80 shall deduct 5 cents per hundredweight or such amount not exceeding 5 cents per hundredweight as may be prescribed by the Secretary, and shall pay such deductions to the market administrator on or before the 15th day after the end of each month. Such moneys shall be used by the market administrator to sample, test, and check the weights of milk received from producers and to provide producers with market information; and

(b) In the case of producers for whom a cooperative association is actually performing the services set forth in paragraph (a) of this section, each handler shall make, in lieu of the deductions specified in paragraph (a) of this section such deductions from the payments to be made to such producers as may be authorized by the membership agreement or marketing contract between such cooperative association and such producers and on or before the 15th day after the end of each month pay such deduction to the cooperative association rendering such services, identified by a statement showing for each such producer the information required to be reported to the market administrator pursuant to § 906.31. In lieu of such statement a handler may authorize the market administrator to furnish such cooperative association the information with respect to such producers reported pursuant to § 906.31.

§ 906.88 Expense of administration. As his pro rata share of expenses of administration of this subpart, each handler shall pay to the market administrator on or before the 15th day after the end of the month, 4 cents per hundredweight, or such amount not exceeding 4 cents per hundredweight as the Secretary may prescribe, with respect to all receipts within the month of (a) other source milk which is classified as Class I milk, and (b) milk from producers including such handler's own production.

§ 906.89 Termination of obligation. The provisions of this section shall apply to any obligation under this subpart for the payment of money.

(a) The obligation of any handler to pay money required to be paid under the terms of this subpart shall, except as provided in paragraphs (b) and (c) of this section, terminate two years after the last day of the calendar month during which the market administrator receives the handler's utilization report on the milk involved in such obligation unless within such two year period the market administrator notifies the handler in writing that such money is due and payable. Service of such notice shall be complete upon mailing to the handler's last known address, and it shall contain but need not be limited to, the following information:

(1) The amount of the obligation,

(2) The month(s) during which the milk with respect to which the obligation exists, was received and handled, and

(3) If the obligation is payable to one or more producers or to an association of producers, the name of such producer(s) or association of producers, or if the obligation is payable to the market administrator, the account for which it is to be paid;

(b) If a handler fails or refuses, with respect to any obligation under this subpart, to make available to the market administrator or his representatives all books and records required by this subpart to be made available, the market administrator may, within the two year period provided in paragraph (a) of this section, notify the handler in writing of such failure or refusal. If the market administrator notifies a handler, the said two year period with respect to such obligation shall not begin to run until the first day of the calendar month following the month during which all such books and records pertaining to such obligation are made available to the market administrator or his representatives;

(c) Notwithstanding the provisions of paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section, a handler's obligation under this subpart to pay money shall not be terminated with respect to any transaction involving fraud or willful concealment of a fact, material to the obligation, on the part of the handler against whom the obligation is sought to be imposed; and

(d) Any obligation on the part of the market administrator to pay a handler any money which such handler claims to be due him under the terms of this subpart shall terminate two years after the end of the calendar month during which the milk involved in the claim was received if an underpayment is claimed, or two years after the end of the calendar month during which the payment (including deduction or setoff by the market administrator) was made by the handler if a refund on such payment is claimed, unless such handler, within the applicable period of time, files pursuant to section 8 (c) (15) (A) of the act, a petition claiming such money.

EFFECTIVE TIME, SUSPENSION OR TERMINATION

§ 906.90 Effective time. The provisions of this subpart or any amendment to this subpart shall become effective at such time as the Secretary may declare and shall continue in force until suspended or terminated pursuant to § 906.91.

§ 906.91 Suspension or termination. The Secretary may suspend or terminate this subpart or any provision of this subpart whenever he finds this subpart or any provision of this subpart obstructs or does not tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act. This subpart shall terminate in any event whenever the provisions of the act authorizing it cease to be in effect.

§ 906.92 Continuing obligations. If, upon the suspension or termination of any or all of the provisions of this subpart, there are any obligations thereunder the final accrual or ascertainment of which requires further acts by any person (including the market administrator), such further acts shall be performed notwithstanding such suspension or termination.

§ 906.93 Liquidation. Upon the suspension or termination of the provisions of this subpart, except this section, the market administrator or such other liquidating agents as the Secretary may designate, shall if so directed by the Secretary, liquidate the business of the market administrator's office, dispose of all property in his possession or control, including accounts receivable, and execute and deliver all assignments or other instruments necessary appropriate to effectuate any such disposition. If a liquidating agent is so designated, all assets, books and records of the market administrator shall be transferred promptly to such liquidating agent. If, upon such liquidation, the funds on hand exceed the amounts required to pay outstanding obligations of the office of the market administrator and to pay necessary expenses of liquidation and distribution, such excess shall be distributed to contributing handlers and producers in an equitable manner.

MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS

§ 906.100 Agents. The Secretary may, by designation in writing, name any officer or employee of the United States to act as his agent or representative in connection with any of the provisions of this subpart.

[Docket No. AO-101-A22]

MILK IN CHICAGO, ILL., MARKETING AREA

NOTICE OF HEARING ON PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO TENTATIVELY APPROVED MARKETING AGREEMENT AND TO ORDER, AS AMENDED, REGULATING HANDLING

Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure governing the formulation of marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), notice is hereby given of a public hearing to be held in the LaSalle Hotel, LaSalle and Madison Street, Chicago, Illinois, beginning at 10:00 a. m., c. d. t., June 4, 1956.

The hearing is for the purpose of receiving evidence with respect to economic and marketing conditions which relate to the handling of milk for the Chicago, Illinois, marketing area and to the proposed amendments set forth herein below, or modifications thereof, to the tentative marketing agreement as heretofore approved by the Secretary of Agriculture and to the order, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the said marketing area. Consideration will be given to the question of whether market conditions, as presented on the record, require emergency action with respect to any amendments deemed necessary as the result of this hearing. The amendments proposed have not received the approval of the Secretary of Agriculture.

The following amendments have been proposed:

Proposed by the Pure Milk Association:

Proposal no. 1. Delete §§ 941.52 (a) (3), 941.52 (b) (3), 941.52 (e) (1), and 941.52 (e) (2) which refer to a 70-cent out of market sales differential.

Proposal no. 2. Delete § 941.6 Reload point, and the words "or reload point" in § 941.65 (a).

Proposal No. 3. Amend § 941.41 (b) and § 941.44 (d), respectively, to include the following provisions:

a. In § 941.41 (b) establish a new and separate class designated Class II-a by adding: "Class II-a milk shall consist of ice cream, ice cream mix and other frozen desserts."

b. In § 941.44 (d) add: "Compute the milk equivalent of Class II-a milk as follows:

"(1) Divide the pounds of butterfat in Class II-a milk by 0.0467;

"(2) Divide the pounds of non-fat milk solids in Class II-a milk by 0.14; and

"(3) Add the figures obtained from 1 and 2 to obtain the total pounds of Class II-a milk."

Proposal No. 4. Change § 941.52 (a) to read as follows:

(a) Class I milk. (1) The price for Grade A Class I milk shall be the basic formula price plus $1.10; Provided, That such Class I price differential shall be increased, or decreased, respectively, 2 cents for each full percent that the adjusted supply-demand ratio is greater or less than 72 percent, but shall not be increased or decreased more than 24 cents because of the supply-demand ratio.

(2) The price for Grade B Class I milk shall be the price for Grade A Class I milk, less $0.10.

Proposal No. 5. Delete §§ 941.66 and 941.67 and substitute therefor the following:

§ 941.66 Pool plant. (a) In order to qualify as a "pool plant" any country receiving station which does not process and/or package Class I and Class II products must ship more than 50 percent of the butterfat received from producers to a plant which does process more than 50 percent of its total receipts into Class I and Class II products for distribution in the marketing area. Any plant which fulfills this requirement during each of the months of September, October and November will be considered a pool plant until the following September.

(b) Each plant must qualify on an individual basis.

(c) Any handler receiving milk or cream from a "non-pool" plant will be credited in the pool with the blended price adjusted by the appropriate handler and producer location adjustments provided under this order.

Proposal No. 6. Change § 941.70 (d) to read as follows:

(d) Subtract the following rates upon milk produced at farms located as follows: Within 55 mile zone, 4 cents per hundredweight; and beyond 55 mile zone but within 70 mile zone, 2 cents per hundredweight.

Proposal No. 7. Change § 941.80 (a) and (b) to read as follows:

(a) On or before the 15th day after the end of each delivery period each handler shall pay to each cooperative association which is also a handler for milk received from it during the delivery period not less than the total value of such milk computed by multiplying the pounds of such milk in each class by the applicable class price subject to the location adjustment credit pursuant to § 941.53 and to a butterfat differential computed as in § 941.82. If milk is produced at farms located as follows, the following additional rates shall be added; i. e., if farm is located within 55 mile zone, 4 cents per hundredweight, and outside 55 mile zone and within 70 mile zone, 2 cents per hundredweight, plus 4 cents per hundredweight if the milk was received from producers at a pool plant located within the marketing area and 2 cents if received at a pool plant located outside the marketing area and not more than 55 miles from the City Hall in Chicago.

(b) On or before the 18th day after the end of the delivery periods of July through February each handler shall pay to each producer per hundredweight of milk received from him during such delivery period not less than the uniform price, subject to the location adjustment and butterfat differential provided by § 941.81 and § 941.82: Provided, That if milk was produced at farms located as follows, the following additional payments shall be made; i. e., if farm is located within 55 mile zone, 4 cents per hundredweight; and beyond 55 mile zone, but within 70 mile zone, 2 cents per hundredweight, plus 4 cents per hundredweight, if the milk was received from producers at a pool plant located within the marketing area and 2 cents if received at a pool plant located outside the marketing area and not more than 55 miles from the City Hall in Chicago.

Proposal No. 8. Add a new paragraph (d) to § 941.80 to read as follows:

(d) On or before the 4th day after the end of each delivery period, each handler shall pay to each producer, or to a cooperative association authorized to collect payment, a payment which for the delivery periods of July through February shall be at not less than the uniform price announced by the market administrator for the preceding delivery period, and for the delivery periods of March through June at not less than the uniform price announced by the market administrator for base milk for the preceding delivery period such payment to be for milk received from such producer or caused to be delivered to such handler by such cooperative association during the first 15 days of such delivery period: Provided, That in the event any producer or cooperative association discontinues shipping to such handler during any delivery period, such partial payments shall not be made and full payment for all milk received from such producr or cooperative association during such delivery period shall be made on the 18th day after the end of such delivery period pursuant to paragraphs (b) and (c) of this section.

Proposed by Willow-Dale Dairy Company; also proposed by certain (12) producers:

Proposal No. 9. That the definition of the Chicago milk marketing area, as set forth in § 941.3 of Order 41, be amended so as to include all of Lake County, Illinois, in the Chicago milk marketing area.

Proposal No. 12. Review § 941.52 for the purpose of taking evidence with respect to proper adjustments in class prices to compensate for any change which might result in producer prices in the event the Department recommends changing the method of accounting from a milk equivalent to a fat and skim basis.

Proposed by Mr. G. R. Scheib (producer):

Proposal No. 13. Delete in § 941.6, § 941.65 (a) and § 941.66 and wherever else necessary in other provisions of the order such language as will rescind or render void the concept of "Reload point" as incorporated into the order effective March 1, 1956.

Proposed by Pure Milk Products Cooperative:

Proposal No. 14. Amend § 941.52 to provide for a Class I differential of $1.10 per cwt. to be added to the basic formula price during each delivery period of the year.

Proposal No. 15. Delete §§ 941.52 (a) (3) and 941.52 (b) (3), so as to eliminate the 70 cents payment for out of market sales during the fall months of September, October and November.

Proposal No. 16. Amend § 941.52 so as to provide for a Class II differential of 70 cents per cwt, to be added to the basic formula price during each delivery period of the year, providing, however, a special allowance for butterfat used in ice cream sold in competition with ice cream made from unregulated milk.

Proposal No. 17. Amend §§ 941.51 and 941.52 so as to provide for the elimination of the supply-demand adjustor provision of Order 41 as it affects the Class I and Class II price differentials.

Proposed by Mr. Hugh Miller (producer, hauler).

Proposal No. 18. Reconsider the order amendments made effective March 1, 1956, which relate to §§ 941.6, 941.45 (a), 941.65 (a), 941.66, and 941.69 (a) (2).

[Admin. Order 462]

SUGAR MANUFACTURING INDUSTRY IN PUERTO RICO

APPOINTMENT OF INDUSTRY COMMITTEE NO. 21 TO INVESTIGATE CONDITIONS AND RECOMMEND MINIMUM WAGES

Pursuant to authority under the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938 (52 Stat. 1060, as amended; 29 U. S. C. 201 et seq.) and Reorganization Plan No. 6 of 1950 (5 U. S. C. 611), I hereby appoint, convene, and give notice of the hearing of Industry Committee No. 21 for the sugar manufacturing industry in Puerto Rico to be composed of the following representatives:

For the public:

Archibald Cox, Wayland, Massachusetts, Chairman.
Carroll L. Christenson, Bloomington, Indiana.
Martin Clapp, Santurce, Puerto Rico.

For the employers:

Juan B. Garcia-Mendez, San Juan, Puerto Rico.
Fernando A. Villamil, Aguirre, Puerto Rico.
Fortune A. Graugnard, Jr., New Orleans, Louisiana.

For the employees:

Frank Masino, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.
Bertrand R. Seidman, Washington, D. C.
David Sternback, San Juan, Puerto Rico.

For the purpose of this order the sugar manufacturing industry in Puerto Rico is defined as follows:

The production of raw sugar, cane juice, molasses and refined sugar, and incidental by-products and all railroad transportation activities carried on by a producer of any of these products (or by any firm owned or controlled by or owning and controlling such producer, or by any firm owned or controlled by the parent company of such producer), where the railroad transportation activities are in whole or in part used for the production or shipment of the products of the industry, and any transportation activities by truck or other vehicle performed by a producer of the products of the industry in connection with the production or shipment of such products by such producer: Provided, however, That the industry shall not include any transportation activity covered by the wage orders for the shipping industry or the railroad, railway express and property motor transport industry in Puerto Rico, or any transportation activity to which the agricultural exemption contained in section 13 (a) (6) of the act is applicable.

I hereby refer to the industry committee the question of the minimum rate or rates to be fixed under section 6 (c) of the act for the sugar manufacturing industry. The industry committee shall investigate conditions in the industry, and the committee, or any authorized sub-committee thereof, shall hear such witnesses and receive such evidence as may be necessary or appropriate to enable the committee to perform its duties and functions under the act.

The Committee herein appointed and convened shall commence its hearing on June 25, 1956, at 2 p. m. in the offices of the Wage and Hour Division, United States Department of Labor, New York Department Store Building, Portalesa and San Juan Streets, San Juan, Puerto Rico.

In order to conduct its investigation and to make appropriate decisions concerning its hearing, the Committee will meet at the same place at 10 a. m. on June 25, 1956.

In order to reach as rapidly as is economically feasible the objective of the minimum wage prescribed in paragraph (1) of section 6 (a) of the act, the industry committee shall recommend to the Administrator the highest minimum wage rates for the industry which it determines, having due regard to economic and competitive conditions, will not substantially curtail employment in the industry and will not give any industry in Puerto Rico a competitive advantage over any industry in the United States outside of Puerto Rico. Where the industry committee finds that a higher minimum wage may be determined for employees engaged in certain activities or in the manufacture of certain products in the industry than may be determined for other employees in the industry, the committee shall recommend such reasonable classifications within the industry as it determines to be necessary for the purpose of fixing for each classification the highest minimum wage rate that can be determined for it, under the principles set out here, which will not substantially curtail employment in such classification and will not give a competitive advantage to any group in the industry. No classification shall be made, however, and no minimum wage shall be fixed solely on a regional basis or on the basis of age or sex. In determining whether there should be classifications within the industry, in making such classifications, and in determining the minimum wage rates for such classifications, the committee shall consider, among other relevant factors, the following: (1) Competitive conditions as affected by transportation, living and production costs; (2) the wages established for work of like or comparable character by collective labor agreements negotiated between employers and employees by representatives of their own choosing; and (3) the wages paid for work of like or comparable character by employers who voluntarily maintain minimum wage standards in the industry.

The Administrator shall prepare an economic report containing such data as he is able to assemble pertinent to the matters to be referred to the committee. Copies of this report may be obtained at the National and Puerto Rican Offices of the Department of Labor as soon as they are completed and prior to the hearing. The Committee will take official notice of the facts stated in the economic report to the extent that they are not refuted by evidence received at the hearing.

The procedure of this industry committee will be governed by 29 CFR, Part 511, as revised and published in the November 4, 1955 issue of the FEDERAL REGISTER, (20 F. R. 8285), which, among other requirements, provides that a notice of intention to participate and a prehearing statement containing certain specific information, shall be filed before the hearing, within the time provided, by persons interested in participating as witnesses or parties.

Signed at Washington, D. C., this 15th day of May 1956.

Secretary of Labor.

MAY 15, 1956.

In the matter of The Columbia Gas System, Inc., United Fuel Gas Company, Amere Gas Utilities Company, Atlantic Seaboard Corporation, Central Kentucky Natural Gas Company, Virginia Gas Distribution Corporation, The Ohio Fuel Gas Company, Natural Gas Company of West Virginia, The Manufacturers Light and Heat Company, Binghamton Gas Works, Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company, Home Gas Company, and The Keystone Gas Company, Inc.; File No. 70-3478.

Notice is hereby given that The Columbia Gas System, Inc. ("Columbia"), a registered holding company, and its wholly-owned subsidiaries United Fuel Gas Company ("United Fuel"), Amere Gas Utilities Company ("Amere"), Atlantic Seaboard Corporation ("Seaboard"), Central Kentucky Natural Gas Company ("Central Kentucky"), Virginia Gas Distribution Corporation ("Distribution"), The Ohio Fuel Gas Company ("Ohio"), Natural Gas Company of West Virginia ("Natural Gas"), The Manufacturers Light and Heat Company ("Manufacturers"), Binghamton Gas Works ("Binghamton"), Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company ("Cumberland"), Home Gas Company ("Home"), and The Keystone Gas Company, Inc. | Distribution | 629,300 | 550,000 |
| Central Kentucky | 1,146,100 | 800,000 |
| Cumberland | 2,906,500 | 2,175,000 |

| Natural Gas | 1,091,800 | 925,000 |
| Binghamton | 1,437,336 | 1,025,000 |
| Total | 68,652,679 | 47,990,000 |

[1] The additional capital necessary to complete the construction programs will be obtained from internal sources of the respective companies.

It is proposed that the new money required by the respective subsidiary companies will be obtained by their issuance and sale to Columbia of either shares of their Common Stock or Installment Promissory Notes or both, in amounts as follows:

| Company | Common stock: Number of common shares | Common stock: Par value | Common stock: Aggregate amount | Installment notes, aggregate amount not to exceed— |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Manufacturers | 50,000 | $50 | $2,500,000 | $7,950,000 |

| Keystone | 2,000 | 25 | 50,000 | 165,000 |
| Natural Gas | 6,000 | 100 | 600,000 | 325,000 |
| Binghamton | 11,000 | 25 | 275,000 | 750,000 |
| Total amounts | | | 12,675,000 | 35,315,000 |

The Installment Notes will be unsecured and will be dated when issued. The principal amounts will be due in 25 equal annual installments on February 15 of each of the years 1958 to 1982 inclusive. Interest will be payable semi-annually at the rate of 3.9 percent per annum, which is the approximate cost of money to Columbia on its last sale of debentures.

The securities will be issued and sold periodically when and to the extent that funds are required for the purposes stated. With respect to each of the companies issuing Common Stock, Columbia will first purchase Common Stock up to the amounts above set forth and thereafter will purchase Installment Notes; but none of the Common Stock or Installment Notes will be purchased after March 31, 1957.

Of approximately $40,000,000 realized by Columbia from its sale of Series F debentures in April 1956, $25,000,000 was applied in discharging an outstanding bank loan, leaving approximately $15,000,000 available to meet the New Money Requirements of $47,990,000 aforesaid. In a prior filing (File No. 70-3454) Columbia stated that the remaining New Money Requirements of approximately $33,000,000 will be provided by means of bank loans, the sale of additional debentures, or some combination thereof.

Financing Gas Inventory Requirements. Six of the aforesaid subsidiary companies operate facilities for the underground storage of natural gas, which is purchased during the offpeak seasonal periods. Columbia proposes to advance to these subsidiaries, on open account, such amounts as they may require during 1956 for the purchase of current inventory gas, not to exceed the following aggregate amounts:

|---|---|
| Manufacturers | $6,600,000 |
| United Fuel | 10,000,000 |
| Ohio | 16,000,000 |
| Seaboard | 600,000 |
| Central Kentucky | 300,000 |
| Home | 1,500,000 |
| Total | 35,000,000 |

Such advances will be repayable in three equal installments on February 25, March 25, and April 25, 1957, with interest at the rate of 3½ percent per annum, which rate is the same as that which Columbia has agreed to pay on bank loans to be consummated for the procurement of the required funds. The borrowing by Columbia will be the subject of a separate declaration.

The aggregate fees and expenses to be paid by the several companies in connection with the proposed transactions are estimated at $17,292.50, including Federal original issue taxes $13,942.50, services of Columbia Gas System Service Corporation $1,300 (or $100 for each company involved), and miscellaneous expenses $2,050 (including legal fees of $200 and $400 to be paid by Manufacturers and Distribution, respectively).

Authorization for the issuance and sale of the securities as proposed must be obtained by eleven of the twelve subsidiary companies from the regulatory commissions of the States in which such companies are organized and doing business, as follows:

Company and State Commission

Manufacturers: Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission.
United Fuel: [1] Public Service Commission of West Virginia.
Amere: Public Service Commission of West Virginia.

[1] United Fuel is also required to obtain state authorization for Columbia's advances to it on open account.

Distribution: State Corporation Commission of Virginia.

Central Kentucky: Kentucky Public Service Commission.

Home: New York Public Service Commission.

Keystone: New York Public Service Commission.

Binghamton: New York Public Service Commission.

It is requested that the Commission issue its order herein with respect to each proposed transaction as soon as possible after the filing of the final amendment applicable thereto.

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than May 31, 1956, at 5:30 p. m., request the Commission in writing that a hearing be held on such matter, stating the nature of his interest, the reasons for such request, and the issues of fact or law, if any, raised by said application-declaration which he desires to controvert; or he may request that he be notified if the Commission should order a hearing thereon. Any such request should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington 25, D. C. At any time after said date, said application-declaration, as filed or as amended, may be granted and permitted to become effective, in whole or in part, as provided in Rule U-23 of the rules and regulations promulgated under the act, or the Commission may grant exemption from its rules as provided in Rules U-20 (a) and U-100, or take such other action as it may deem appropriate.

By the Commission.

TITLE 21—FOOD AND DRUGS

Chapter I—Food and Drug Administration, Department of Health, Education, and Welfare

PART 146b—CERTIFICATION OF STREPTOMYCIN (OR DIHYDROSTREPTOMYCIN) AND STREPTOMYCIN- (OR DIHYDROSTREPTOMYCIN-) CONTAINING DRUGS

STREPTOMYCIN (OR DIHYDROSTREPTOMYCIN) SULFATE POWDER ORAL VETERINARY

By virtue of the authority vested in the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare by the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (sec. 507, 59 Stat. 463, 61 Stat. 11; 21 U. S. C. 357) and delegated to the Commissioner of Food and Drugs by the Secretary (20 F. R. 1996), the regulations for the certification of streptomycin and streptomycin-containing drugs (21 CFR, 1955 Edition, 146b; 21 F. R. 131, 1795, 2231) are amended by making the following changes in § 146b.115 Streptomycin sulfate powder oral veterinary • • •.

1. In paragraph (a) Standards of identity • • •, the words "333 micrograms per milligram" in the second sentence are changed to read "3.75 grams per pound."

2. In paragraph (c) Labeling, subparagraph (1) (iv) is amended by changing the colon after the word "section" to a comma and adding the following clause: "and except that if the potency of the batch is less than 150 grams per pound the blank is filled in with the date that is 12 months after the month during which the batch was certified:".

Notice and public procedure are not necessary prerequisites to the promulgation of this order, and I so find, since it was drawn in collaboration with interested members of the affected industry and since it would be against public interest to delay providing for the amendments set forth above.

Effective date. This order shall be effective on the date of its publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

(Sec. 701, 52 Stat. 1055, 21 U. S. C. 371. Interprets or applies sec. 507, 59 Stat. 463, as amended; 21 U. S. C. 357)

Dated: May 15, 1956.

[SEAL] GEO. P. LARRICK,
Commissioner of Food and Drugs.

This part, until superseded or rescinded, shall apply to all airplanes for which applications for type certification under this part were made between the effective date of this part (November 13, 1945) and March 31, 1953. For applications for a type certificate made after March 31, 1953, this part shall apply only to airplanes which have a maximum weight of 12,500 pounds or less.

(3) Approved. Approved, when used alone or as modifying terms such as means, devices, specifications, etc., shall mean approved by the Administrator. (See § 3.18.)

(b) General design—(1) Standard atmosphere. The standard atmosphere is an atmosphere defined as follows:

(i) The air is a dry, perfect gas,

(ii) The temperature at sea level is 59° F.,

(iii) The pressure at sea level is 29.92 inches Hg,

(iv) The temperature gradient from sea level to the altitude at which the temperature equals −67° F. is −0.003566° F./ft. and zero thereabove,

(v) The density $\rho_0$ at sea level under the above conditions is 0.002378 lb. sec.$^2$/ft.$^4$

(2) Maximum anticipated air temperature. The maximum anticipated air temperature is a temperature specified for the purpose of compliance with the powerplant cooling standards. (See § 3.583.)

(3) Airplane configuration. Airplane configuration is a term referring to the position of the various elements affecting the aerodynamic characteristics of the airplane (e. g. wing flaps, landing gear).

(d) Speeds—(1) IAS. Indicated air speed is equal to the pitot static air-speed indicator reading as installed in the airplane without correction for air-speed indicator system errors but including the sea level standard adiabatic compressible flow correction. (This latter correction is included in the calibration of the air-speed instrument dials.)

(2) CAS. Calibrated air speed is equal to the air-speed indicator reading corrected for position and instrument error. (As a result of the sea level adiabatic compressible flow correction to the air-speed instrument dial, CAS is equal to the true air speed TAS in standard atmosphere at sea level.)

(8) Reverse pitch. Reverse pitch is the propeller pitch setting for any blade angle used beyond zero pitch (e. g., the negative angle used for reverse thrust).

(g) Fire protection — (1) Fireproof. Fireproof material means material which will withstand heat at least as well as steel in dimensions appropriate for the purpose for which it is to be used. When applied to material and parts used to confine fires in designated fire zones, fireproof means that the material or part will perform this function under the most severe conditions of fire and duration likely to occur in such zones.

(2) Fire-resistant. When applied to sheet or structural members, fire-resistant material means a material which will withstand heat at least as well as aluminum alloy in dimensions appropriate for the purpose for which it is to be used. When applied to fluid-carrying lines, other flammable fluid system components, wiring, air ducts, fittings, and powerplant controls, this term refers to a line and fitting assembly, component, wiring, or duct, or controls which will perform the intended functions under the heat and other conditions likely to occur at the particular location.

CERTIFICATION

§ 3.10 Eligibility for type certificate. An airplane shall be eligible for type certification under the provisions of this part if it complies with the airworthiness provisions hereinafter established or if the Administrator finds that the provision or provisions not complied with are compensated for by factors which provide an equivalent level of safety: Provided, That the Administrator finds no feature or characteristic of the airplane which renders it unsafe for the category in which it is certificated.

§ 3.11 Designation of applicable regulations. The provisions of this section shall apply to all airplane types certificated under this part irrespective of the date of application for type certificate.

(a) Unless otherwise established by the Board, the airplane shall comply with the provisions of this part together with all amendments thereto effective on the date of application for type certificate, except that compliance with later effective amendments may be elected or required pursuant to paragraphs (c), (d), and (e) of this section.

(b) If the interval between the date of application for type certificate and the issuance of the corresponding type certificate exceeds three years, a new application for type certificate shall be required, except that for applications pending on May 1, 1954, such three-year period shall commence on that date. At the option of the applicant, a new application may be filed prior to the expiration of the three-year period. In either instance the applicable regulations shall be those effective on the date of the new application in accordance with paragraph (a) of this section.

(c) During the interval between filing the application and the issuance of a type certificate, the applicant may elect to show compliance with any amendment of this part which becomes effective during that interval, in which case all other amendments found by the Administrator to be directly related shall be complied with.

(d) Except as otherwise provided by the Board, or by the Administrator pursuant to § 1.24 of this subchapter, a change to a type certificate (see § 3.13 (b)) may be accomplished, at the option of the holder of the type certificate, either in accordance with the regulations incorporated by reference in the type certificate pursuant to § 3.13 (c), or in accordance with subsequent amendments to such regulations in effect on the date of application for approval of the change, subject to the following provisions:

(1) When the applicant elects to show compliance with an amendment to the regulations in effect on the date of application for approval of a change, he shall show compliance with all amendments which the Administrator finds are directly related to the particular amendment selected by the applicant.

(2) When the change consists of a new design or a substantially complete redesign of a component, equipment installation, or system installation of the airplane, and the Administrator finds that the regulations incorporated by reference in the type certificate pursuant to § 3.13 (c) do not provide complete standards with respect to such change, he shall require compliance with such provisions of the regulations in effect on the date of application for approval of the change as he finds will provide a level of safety equal to that established by the regulations incorporated by reference at the time of issuance of the type certificate.

NOTE: Examples of new or redesigned components and installations which might require compliance with regulations in effect on the date of application for approval, are: New powerplant installation which is likely to introduce additional fire or operational hazards unless additional protective measures are incorporated; the installation of an auto-pilot or a new electric power system.

(e) If changes listed in subparagraphs (1) through (3) of this paragraph are made, the airplane shall be considered as a new type, in which case a new application for type certificate shall be required and the regulations together with all amendments thereto effective on the date of the new application shall be made applicable in accordance with paragraphs (a), (b), (c), and (d) of this section.

(1) A change in the number of engines;

(2) A change to engines employing different principles of operation or propulsion;

(3) A change in design, configuration, power, or weight which the Administrator finds is so extensive as to require a substantially complete investigation of compliance with the regulations.

§ 3.12 Recording of applicable regulations. The Administrator, upon the issuance of a type certificate, shall record the applicable regulations with which compliance was demonstrated. Thereafter, the Administrator shall record the applicable regulations for each change in the type certificate which is accomplished in accordance with regulations other than those recorded at the time of issuance of the type certificate. (See § 3.11.)

§ 3.13 Type certificate. (a) An applicant shall be issued a type certificate when he demonstrates the eligibility of the airplane by complying with the requirements of this part in addition to the applicable requirements in Part 1 of this subchapter.

(b) The type certificate shall be deemed to include the type design (see § 3.14 (b)), the operating limitations for the airplane (see § 3.737), and any other conditions or limitations prescribed by the regulations in this subchapter.

(c) The applicable provisions of this part recorded by the Administrator in accordance with § 3.12 shall be considered as incorporated in the type certificate as though set forth in full.

§ 3.14 Data required. (a) The applicant for a type certificate shall submit to the Administrator such descriptive data, test reports, and computations as are necessary to demonstrate that the airplane complies with the requirements of this part.

(b) The descriptive data required in paragraph (a) of this section shall be known as the type design and shall consist of such drawings and specifications as are necessary to disclose the configuration of the airplane and all the design features covered in the requirements of this part, such information on dimensions, materials, and processes as is necessary to define the structural strength of the airplane, and such other data as are necessary to permit by comparison the determination of the airworthiness of subsequent airplanes of the same type.

§ 3.15 Inspections and tests. Inspections and tests shall include all those found necessary by the Administrator to insure that the airplane complies with the applicable airworthiness requirements and conforms to the following:

(a) All materials and products are in accordance with the specifications in the type design.

(b) All parts of the airplane are constructed in accordance with the drawings in the type design.

(c) All manufacturing processes, construction, and assembling are as specified in the type design.

§ 3.16 Flight tests. After proof of compliance with the structural requirements contained in this part, and upon completion of all necessary inspections and testing on the ground, and proof of the conformity of the airplane with the type design, and upon receipt from the applicant of a report of flight tests performed by him, the following shall be conducted:

(a) Such official flight tests as the Administrator finds necessary to determine compliance with the requirements of this part.

(b) After the conclusion of flight tests specified in paragraph (a) of this section, such additional flight tests, on airplanes having a maximum certificated take-off weight of more than 6,000 pounds, as the Administrator finds necessary to ascertain whether there is reasonable assurance that the airplane, its components, and equipment are reliable and function properly. The extent of such additional flight tests shall depend upon the complexity of the airplane, the number and nature of new design features, and the record of previous tests and experience for the particular airplane type, its components, and equipment. If practicable, these flight tests shall be conducted on the same airplane used in the flight tests specified in paragraph (a) of this section.

§ 3.17 Airworthiness, experimental, and production certificates. (For requirements with regard to these certificates see Part 1 of this subchapter.)

§ 3.18 Approval of materials, parts, processes, and appliances. (a) Materials, parts, processes, and appliances shall be approved upon a basis and in a manner found necessary by the Administrator to implement the pertinent provisions of the regulations in this subchapter. The Administrator may adopt and publish such specifications as he finds necessary to administer this regulation, and shall incorporate therein such portions of the aviation industry, Federal, and military specifications respecting such materials, parts, processes, and appliances as he finds appropriate.

NOTE: The provisions of this paragraph are intended to allow approval of materials, parts, processes, and appliances under the system of Technical Standard Orders, or in conjunction with type certification procedures for an airplane, or by any other form of approval by the Administrator.

(b) Any material, part, process, or appliance shall be deemed to have met the requirements for approval when it meets the pertinent specifications adopted by the Administrator, and the manufacturer so certifies in a manner prescribed by the Administrator.

§ 3.19 Changes in type design. (For requirements with regard to changes in type design and the designation of applicable regulations therefor, see § 3.11 (d) and (e), and Part 1 of this subchapter.)

AIRPLANE CATEGORIES

§ 3.20 Airplane categories. (a) For the purpose of certification under this part, airplanes are divided upon the basis of their intended operation into the following categories:

(1) Normal-suffix N. Airplanes in this category are intended for nonacrobatic, nonscheduled passenger, and nonscheduled cargo operation.

(2) Utility-suffix U. Airplanes in this category are intended for normal operations and limited acrobatic maneuvers. These airplanes are not suited for use in snap or inverted maneuvers.

NOTE: The following interpretation of paragraph (a) (2) was issued May 15, 1947, 12 F. R. 3434: The phrase "limited acrobatic maneuvers" as used in § 3.6 (now § 3.20) is interpreted to include steep turns, spins, stalls (except whip stalls), lazy eights, and chandelles.

(3) Acrobatic-suffix A. Airplanes in this category will have no specific restrictions as to type of maneuver permitted unless the necessity therefor is disclosed by the required flight tests.

(b) An airplane may be certificated under the requirements of a particular category, or in more than one category, provided that all of the requirements of each such category are met. Sections of this part which apply to only one or more, but not all, categories are identified in this part by the appropriate suffixes added to the section number, as indicated in paragraph (a) of this section. All sections not identified by a suffix are applicable to all categories except as otherwise specified.

SUBPART B—FLIGHT REQUIREMENTS

GENERAL

§ 3.61 Policy re proof of compliance. Compliance with the requirements specified in this subpart governing functional characteristics shall be demonstrated by suitable flight or other tests conducted upon an airplane of the type, or by calculations based upon the test data referred to above, provided that the results so obtained are substantially equal in accuracy to the results of direct testing. Compliance with each requirement must be provided at the critical combination of airplane weight and center of gravity position within the range of either for which certification is desired. Such compliance must be demonstrated by systematic investigation of all probable weight and center of gravity combinations or must be reasonably inferable from such as are investigated.

§ 3.62 Flight test pilot. The applicant shall provide a person holding an appropriate pilot certificate to make the flight tests, but a designated representative of the Administrator may pilot the airplane insofar as that may be necessary for the determination of compliance with the airworthiness requirements.

§ 3.63 Noncompliance with test requirements. Official type tests will be discontinued until corrective measures have been taken by the applicant when either:

(a) The applicant's test pilot is unable or unwilling to conduct any of the required flight tests; or

(b) Items of noncompliance with requirements are found which may render additional test data meaningless or are of such nature as to make further testing unduly hazardous.

§ 3.64 Emergency egress. Adequate provisions shall be made for emergency egress and use of parachutes by members of the crew during the flight tests.

§ 3.65 Report. The applicant shall submit to the representative of the Administrator a report covering all computations and tests required in connection with calibration of instruments used for test purposes and correction of test results to standard atmospheric conditions. The representative of the Administrator will conduct any flight tests which he finds to be necessary in order to check the calibration and correction report.

WEIGHT RANGE AND CENTER OF GRAVITY

§ 3.71 Weight and balance. (a) There shall be established, as a part of the type inspection, ranges of weight and center of gravity within which the airplane may be safely operated.

(b) When low fuel adversely affects balance or stability, the airplane shall be so tested as to simulate the condition existing when the amount of usable fuel on board does not exceed 1 gallon for every 12 maximum continuous horsepower of the engine or engines installed.

§ 3.72 Use of ballast. Removable ballast may be used to enable airplanes to comply with the flight requirements in accordance with the following provisions:

(a) The place or places for carrying ballast shall be properly designed, installed, and plainly marked as specified in § 3.766.

(b) The Airplane Flight Manual shall include instructions regarding the proper disposition of the removable ballast under all loading conditions for which such ballast is necessary, as specified in §§ 3.766 and 3.777.

§ 3.73 Empty weight. The empty weight and corresponding center of gravity location shall include all fixed ballast, the unusable fuel supply (see § 3.437), undrainable oil, full engine coolant, and hydraulic fluid. The weight and location of items of equipment installed when the airplane is weighed shall be noted in the Airplane Flight Manual.

§ 3.74 Maximum weight. (a) The maximum weight shall not exceed any of the following:

(1) The weight selected by the applicant.

(2) The design weight for which the structure has been proven, except as provided in § 3.242 for multiengine airplanes.

(3) The maximum weight at which compliance with all of the applicable flight requirements has been demonstrated.

(b) The maximum weight shall not be less than the weights under the loading conditions prescribed in subparagraphs (1) and (2) of this paragraph assuming that the weight of the occupant in each of the seats is 170 pounds for the normal category and 190 pounds for the utility and acrobatic categories, unless placarded otherwise.

(1) All seats occupied, oil to full tank capacity, and at least a fuel supply for one-half hour operation at rated maximum continuous power.

(2) Fuel and oil to full tank capacities, and minimum crew.

§ 3.75 Minimum weight. The minimum weight shall not exceed the sum of the weights of the following:

(a) The empty weight as defined by § 3.73.

(b) The minimum crew necessary to operate the airplane (170 pounds for each crew member).

(c) One gallon of usable fuel (see § 3.437) for every 12 maximum continuous horsepower for which the airplane is certificated.

(d) Either 1 gallon of oil for each 25 gallons of fuel specified in (c) or 1 gallon of oil for each 75 maximum continuous horsepower for which the airplane is certificated, whichever is greater.

§ 3.76 Center of gravity position. If the center of gravity position under any possible loading condition between the maximum weight as specified in § 3.74 and the minimum weight as specified in § 3.75 lies beyond (a) the extremes selected by the applicant, or (b) the extremes for which the structure has been proven, or (c) the extremes for which compliance with all functional requirements were demonstrated, loading instructions shall be provided in the Airplane Flight Manual as specified in § 3.777–3.780.

§ 3.80 Alternate performance requirements. The provisions of §§ 3.84, 3.85, 3.86, and 3.112 (a) (2) (ii) shall not be applicable to airplanes having a maximum certificated take-off weight of 6,000 pounds or less. In lieu thereof, such airplanes shall comply with the provisions of §§ 3.84a, 3.85a, 3.87, and 3.112 (c).

§ 3.81 Performance. The following items of performance shall be determined and the airplane shall comply with the corresponding requirements in standard atmosphere and still air.

§ 3.82 Definition of stalling speeds. (a) $V_{s_0}$ denotes the true indicated stalling speed, if obtainable, or the minimum steady flight speed at which the airplane is controllable, in miles per hour, with:

(1) Engines idling, throttles closed (or not more than sufficient power for zero thrust),

(2) Propellers in position normally used for take-off,

(3) Landing gear extended,

(4) Wing flaps in the landing position,

(5) Cowl flaps closed,

(6) Center of gravity in the most unfavorable position within the allowable landing range,

(7) The weight of the airplane equal to the weight in connection with which $V_{s_0}$ is being used as a factor to determine a required performance.

(b) $V_{s_1}$ denotes the true indicated stalling speed, if obtainable, otherwise the calculated value in miles per hour, with:

(1) Engines idling, throttles closed (or not more than sufficient power for zero thrust),

(2) Propellers in position normally used for take-off, the airplane in all other respects (flaps, landing gear, etc.) in the particular condition existing in the particular test in connection with which $V_{s_1}$ is being used.

(3) The weight of the airplane equal to the weight in connection with which $V_{s_1}$ is being used as a factor to determine a required performance.

(c) These speeds shall be determined by flight tests using the procedure outlined in § 3.120.

§ 3.83 Stalling speed. $V_{s_0}$ at maximum weight shall not exceed 70 miles per hour for (1) single-engine airplanes and (2) multiengine airplanes which do not have the rate of climb with critical engine inoperative specified in § 3.85 (b).

TAKE-OFF

§ 3.84 Take-off. (a) The distance required to take off and climb over a 50-foot obstacle shall be determined under the following conditions:

(1) Most unfavorable combination of weight and center of gravity location,

(2) Engines operating within the approved limitations,

(3) Cowl flaps in the position normally used for take-off.

(b) Upon obtaining a height of 50 feet above the level take-off surface, the airplane shall have attained a speed of not less than 1.3 $V_{s_1}$ unless a lower speed of not less than $V_2$ plus 5 can be shown to be safe under all conditions, including turbulence and complete engine failure.

(c) The distance so obtained, the type of surface from which made, and the pertinent information with respect to the cowl flap position, the use of flight-path control devices and landing gear retraction system shall be entered in the Airplane Flight Manual. The take-off shall be made in such a manner that its reproduction shall not require an exceptional degree of skill on the part of the pilot or exceptionally favorable conditions.

§ 3.84a Take-off requirements; airplanes of 6,000 lbs. or less. Airplanes having a maximum certificated take-off weight of 6,000 lbs. or less shall comply with the provisions of this section.

(a) The elevator control for tail wheel type airplanes shall be sufficient to maintain at a speed equal to 0.8 $V_{s_1}$ an airplane attitude which will permit holding the airplane on the runway until a safe take-off speed is attained.

(b) The elevator control for nose wheel type airplanes shall be sufficient to raise the nose wheel clear of the take-off surface at a speed equal to 0.85 $V_{s_1}$.

(c) The characteristics prescribed in paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section shall be demonstrated with:

(1) Take-off power,

(2) Most unfavorable weight,

(3) Most unfavorable c. g. position.

(d) It shall be demonstrated that the airplane will take off safely without requiring an exceptional degree of piloting skill.

CLIMB

§ 3.85 Climb—(a) Normal climb condition. The steady rate of climb at sea level shall be at least 300 feet per minute, and the steady angle of climb at least 1:12 for landplanes or 1:15 for seaplanes with:

(1) Not more than maximum continuous power on all engines,

(2) Landing gear fully retracted,

(3) Wing flaps in take-off position,

(4) Cowl flaps in the position used in cooling tests specified in §§ 3.581–3.596.

(b) Climb with inoperative engine. All multiengine airplanes having a stalling speed $V_{s_0}$ greater than 70 miles per hour or a maximum weight greater than 6,000 pounds shall have a steady rate of climb of at least 0.02 $V_{s_0}^2$ in feet per minute at an altitude of 5,000 feet with the critical engine inoperative and:

(1) The remaining engines operating at not more than maximum continuous power,

(2) The inoperative propeller in the minimum drag position,

(3) Landing gear retracted,

(4) Wing flaps in the most favorable position,

(5) Cowl flaps in the position used in cooling tests specified in §§ 3.581–3.596.

(c) Balked landing conditions. The steady angle of climb at sea level shall be at least 1:30 with:

(1) Take-off power on all engines,

(2) Landing gear extended,

(3) Wing flaps in landing position.

If rapid retraction is possible with safety without loss of altitude and without requiring sudden changes of angle of attack or exceptional skill on the part of the pilot, wing flaps may be retracted.

§ 3.85a Climb requirements; airplanes of 6,000 lbs. or less. Airplanes having a maximum certificated take-off weight of 6,000 lbs. or less shall comply with the requirements of this section.

(a) Climb; take-off climb condition. The steady rate of climb at sea level shall not be less than 10 $V_{s_1}$ or 300 feet per minute, whichever is the greater, with:

(1) Take-off power,

(2) Landing gear extended,

(3) Wing flaps in take-off position,

(4) Cowl flaps in the position used in cooling tests specified in §§ 3.581 through 3.596.

(b) Climb with inoperative engine. All multiengine airplanes having a stalling speed $V_{s_0}$ greater than 70 miles per hour shall have a steady rate of climb of at least 0.02 $V_{s_0}^2$ in feet per minute at an altitude of 5,000 feet with the critical engine inoperative and:

(1) The remaining engines operating at not more than maximum continuous power,

(2) The inoperative propeller in the minimum drag position,

(3) Landing gear retracted,

(4) Wing flaps in the most favorable position,

(5) Cowl flaps in the position used in cooling tests specified in §§ 3.581–3.596.

(c) Climb; balked landing conditions. The steady rate of climb at sea level shall not be less than 5 $V_{s_0}$ or 200 feet per minute, whichever is the greater, with:

(1) Take-off power,

(2) Landing gear extended,

(3) Wing flaps in the landing position.

If rapid retraction is possible with safety, without loss of altitude and without requiring sudden changes of angle of attack or exceptional skill on the part of the pilot, wing flaps may be retracted.

LANDING

§ 3.86 Landing. (a) The horizontal distance required to land and to come to a complete stop (to a speed of approximately 3 miles per hour for seaplanes or float planes) from a point at a height of 50 feet above the landing surface shall be determined as follows:

(1) Immediately prior to reaching the 50-foot altitude, a steady gliding approach shall have been maintained, with a true indicated air speed of at least 1.3 $V_{s_0}$.

(2) The landing shall be made in such a manner that there is no excessive vertical acceleration, no tendency to bounce, nose over, ground loop, porpoise, or water loop, and in such a manner that its reproduction shall not require any exceptional degree of skill on the part of the pilot or exceptionally favorable conditions.

(b) The distance so obtained, the type of landing surface on which made and the pertinent information with respect to cowl flap position, and the use of flight path control devices shall be entered in the Airplane Flight Manual.

§ 3.87 Landing requirements; airplanes of 6,000 lbs. or less. For an airplane having a maximum certificated take-off weight of 6,000 lbs. or less it shall be demonstrated that the airplane can be safely landed and brought to a stop without requiring an exceptional degree of piloting skill, and without excessive vertical acceleration, tendency to bounce, nose over, ground loop, porpoise, or water loop.

FLIGHT CHARACTERISTICS

§ 3.105 Requirements. The airplane shall meet the requirements set forth in §§ 3.106 to 3.124 at all normally expected operating altitudes under all critical loading conditions within the range of center of gravity and, except as otherwise specified, at the maximum weight for which certification is sought.

CONTROLLABILITY

§ 3.106 General. The airplane shall be satisfactorily controllable and maneuverable during take-off, climb, level flight, dive, and landing with or without power. It shall be possible to make a smooth transition from one flight condition to another, including turns and slips, without requiring an exceptional degree of skill, alertness, or strength on the part of the pilot, and without danger of exceeding the limit load factor under all conditions of operation probable for the type, including for multiengine airplanes those conditions normally encountered in the event of sudden failure of any engine. Compliance with "strength of pilots" limits need not be demonstrated by quantitative tests unless the Administrator finds the condition to be marginal. In the latter case they shall not exceed maximum values found by the Administrator to be appropriate for the type but in no case shall they exceed the following limits:

| | Pitch | Roll | Yaw |
|---|---|---|---|
| (a) For temporary application: | | | |
| Stick | 60 | 30 | 150 |
| Wheel [1] | 75 | 60 | 150 |
| (b) For prolonged application | 10 | 5 | 20 |

[1] Applied to rim.

§ 3.107–U Approved acrobatic maneuvers. It shall be demonstrated that the approved acrobatic maneuvers can be performed safely. Safe entry speeds shall be determined for these maneuvers.

§ 3.108–A Acrobatic maneuvers. It shall be demonstrated that acrobatic maneuvers can be performed readily and safely. Safe entry speeds shall be determined for these maneuvers.

§ 3.109 Longitudinal control. The airplane shall be demonstrated to comply with the following requirements:

(a) It shall be possible at all speeds below $V_x$ to pitch the nose downward so that the rate of increase in air speed is satisfactory for prompt acceleration to $V_x$ with:

(1) Maximum continuous power on all engines, the airplane trimmed at $V_x$.

(2) Power off, airplanes of more than 6,000 pounds maximum weight trimmed at 1.4 $V_{s_1}$, and airplanes of 6,000 pounds or less maximum weight trimmed at 1.5 $V_{s_1}$.

(3) (i) Wing flaps and landing gear extended and

(ii) Wing flaps and landing gear retracted.

(b) During each of the controllability demonstrations outlined below it shall not require a change in the trim control or the exertion of more control force than can be readily applied with one hand for a short period. Each maneuver shall be performed with the landing gear extended.

(1) With power off, flaps retracted, and the airplane trimmed as prescribed in paragraph (a) (2) of this section, the flaps shall be extended as rapidly as possible while maintaining the air speed at approximately 40 percent above the instantaneous value of the stalling speed.

(2) Same as subparagraph (1) of this paragraph, except the flaps shall be initially extended and the airplane trimmed as prescribed in paragraph (a) (2) of this section, then the flaps shall be retracted as rapidly as possible.

(3) Same as subparagraph (2) of this paragraph, except maximum continuous power shall be used.

(4) With power off, the flaps retracted, and the airplane trimmed as prescribed in paragraph (a) (2) of this section, take-off power shall be applied quickly while the same air speed is maintained.

(5) Same as subparagraph (4) of this paragraph, except with the flaps extended.

(6) With power off, flaps extended, and the airplane trimmed as prescribed in paragraph (a) (2) of this section, air speeds within the range of 1.1 $V_{s_1}$ to 1.7 $V_{s_1}$ or $V_f$, whichever is the lesser, shall be obtained and maintained.

(c) It shall be possible without the use of exceptional piloting skill to maintain essentially level flight when flap retraction from any position is initiated during steady horizontal flight at 1.1 $V_{s_1}$ with simultaneous application of not more than maximum continuous power.

§ 3.110 Lateral and directional control. (a) It shall be possible with multiengine airplanes to execute 15-degree banked turns both with and against the inoperative engine from steady climb at 1.4 $V_{s_1}$ or $V_y$ for the condition with:

(1) Maximum continuous power on the operating engines,

(2) Rearmost center of gravity,

(3) (i) Landing gear retracted and

(ii) Landing gear extended.

(4) Wing flaps in most favorable climb position,

(5) Maximum weight,

(6) The inoperative propeller in its minimum drag condition.

(b) It shall be possible with multiengine airplanes, while holding the wings level laterally within 5 degrees, to execute sudden changes in heading in both directions without dangerous characteristics being encountered. This shall be demonstrated at 1.4 $V_{s_1}$ or $V_y$ up to heading changes of 15 degrees, except that the heading change at which the rudder force corresponds to that specified in § 3.106 need not be exceeded, with:

(1) The critical engine inoperative,

(2) Maximum continuous power on the operating engine(s),

(3) (i) Landing gear retracted and

(ii) Landing gear extended,

(4) Wing flaps in the most favorable climb position,

(5) The inoperative propeller in its minimum drag condition,

(6) The airplane center of gravity at its rearmost position.

§ 3.111 Minimum control speed ($V_{mc}$). (a) A minimum speed shall be determined under the conditions specified below, such that when any one engine is suddenly made inoperative at that speed, it shall be possible to recover control of the airplane, with the one engine still inoperative, and to maintain it in straight flight at that speed, either with zero yaw or, at the option of the applicant, with a bank not in excess of 5 degrees. Such speed shall not exceed 1.3 $V_{s_1}$, with:

(1) Take-off or maximum available power on all engines,

(2) Rearmost center of gravity,

(3) Flaps in take-off position,

(4) Landing gear retracted.

(b) In demonstrating this minimum speed, the rudder force required to maintain it shall not exceed forces specified in § 3.106, nor shall it be necessary to throttle the remaining engines. During recovery the airplane shall not assume any dangerous attitude, nor shall it require exceptional skill, strength, or alertness on the part of the pilot to prevent a change of heading in excess of 20 degrees before recovery is complete.

TRIM

§ 3.112 Requirements. (a) The means used for trimming the airplane shall be such that, after being trimmed and without further pressure upon or movement of either the primary control or its corresponding trim control by the pilot or the automatic pilot, the airplane will maintain:

(1) Lateral and directional trim in level flight at a speed of 0.9 $V_h$ or at $V_c$, if lower, with the landing gear and wing flaps retracted;

(2) Longitudinal trim under the following conditions:

(i) During a climb with maximum continuous power at a speed between $V_z$ and 1.4 $V_{s_1}$,

(a) With landing gear retracted and wing flaps retracted,

(b) With landing gear retracted and wing flaps in the take-off position,

(ii) During a glide with power off at a speed not in excess of 1.4 $V_{s_1}$,

(a) With landing gear extended and wing flaps retracted,

(b) With landing gear extended and wing flaps extended under the forward center of gravity position approved with the maximum authorized weight,

(c) With landing gear extended and wing flaps extended under the most forward center of gravity position approved, regardless of weight.

(iii) During level flight at any speed from 0.9 $V_h$ to $V_z$ or 1.4 $V_{s_1}$ with landing gear and wing flaps retracted.

(b) In addition to the above, multiengine airplanes shall maintain longitudinal and directional trim at a speed between $V_y$ and 1.4 $V_{s_1}$ during climbing flight with the critical of two or more engines inoperative, with:

(1) The other engine(s) operating at maximum continuous power,

(2) The landing gear retracted,

(3) Wing flaps retracted,

(4) Bank not in excess of 5 degrees.

(c) For aircraft having a maximum certificated take-off weight of 6,000 lbs. or less, the value specified in paragraph (a) (2) (ii) of this section shall be 1.5 $V_{s_1}$ or, if the stalling speed $V_{s_1}$ is not obtainable in the particular configuration, 1.5 times the minimum steady flight speed at which the airplane is controllable.

STABILITY

§ 3.113 General. The airplane shall be longitudinally, directionally, and laterally stable in accordance with the following sections. Suitable stability and control "feel" (static stability) shall be required in other conditions normally encountered in service, if flight tests show such stability to be necessary for safe operation.

§ 3.114 Static longitudinal stability. In the configurations outlined in § 3.115 and with the airplane trimmed as indicated, the characteristics of the elevator control forces and the friction within the control system shall be such that:

(a) A pull shall be required to obtain and maintain speeds below the specified trim speed and a push to obtain and maintain speeds above the specified trim speed. This shall be so at any speed which can be obtained without excessive control force, except that such speeds need not be greater than the appropriate maximum permissible speed or less than the minimum speed in steady unstalled flight.

(b) The air speed shall return to within 10 percent of the original trim speed when the control force is slowly released from any speed within the limits defined in paragraph (a) of this section.

§ 3.115 Specific conditions. In conditions set forth in this section, within the speeds specified, the stable slope of stick force versus speed curve shall be such that any substantial change in speed is clearly perceptible to the pilot through a resulting change in stick force.

(a) Landing. The stick force curve shall have a stable slope and the stick force shall not exceed 40 lbs. at any speed between 1.1 $V_{s_1}$ and 1.8 $V_{s_1}$ with:

(1) Wing flaps in the landing position,

(2) The landing gear extended,

(3) Maximum weight,

(4) Throttles closed on all engines,

(5) Airplanes of more than 6,000 pounds maximum weight trimmed at 1.4 $V_{s_1}$, and airplanes of 6,000 pounds or less maximum weight trimmed at 1.5 $V_{s_1}$.

(b) Climb. The stick force curve shall have a stable slope at all speeds between 1.2 $V_{s_1}$ and 1.6 $V_{s_1}$ with:

(1) Wing flaps retracted,

(2) Landing gear retracted,

(3) Maximum weight,

(4) 75 percent of maximum continuous power,

(5) The airplane trimmed at 1.4 $V_{s_1}$.

(c) Cruising. (1) Between 1.3 $V_{s_1}$ and the maximum permissible speed, the stick force curve shall have a stable slope at all speeds obtainable with a stick force not in excess of 40 pounds with:

(i) Landing gear retracted,

(ii) Wing flaps retracted,

(iii) Maximum weight,

(iv) 75 percent of maximum continuous power,

(v) The airplane trimmed for level flight with 75 percent of the maximum continuous power.

(2) Same as subparagraph (1) of this paragraph, except that the landing gear shall be extended and the level flight trim speed need not be exceeded.

§ 3.116 Instrumented stick force measurements. Instrumented stick force measurements need not be made when changes in speed are clearly reflected by changes in stick forces and the maximum forces obtained in the above conditions are not excessive.

§ 3.117 Dynamic longitudinal stability. Any short period oscillation occurring between stalling speed and maximum permissible speed shall be heavily damped with the primary controls (1) free, and (2) in a fixed position.

§ 3.118 Directional and lateral stability—(a) Three-control airplanes. (1) The static directional stability, as shown by the tendency to recover from a skid with rudder free, shall be positive for all flap positions and symmetrical power conditions, and for all speeds from 1.2 $V_{s_1}$ up to the maximum permissible speed.

(2) The static lateral stability as shown by the tendency to raise the low wing in a sideslip, for all flap positions and symmetrical power conditions, shall:

(i) Be positive at the maximum permissible speed.

(ii) Not be negative at a speed equal to 1.2 $V_{s_1}$.

(3) In straight steady sideslips (unaccelerated forward slips), the aileron and rudder control movements and forces shall increase steadily, but not necessarily in constant proportion, as the angle of sideslip is increased; the rate of increase of the movements and forces shall lie between satisfactory limits up to sideslip angles considered appropriate to the operation of the type. At greater angles, up to that at which the full rudder control is employed or a rudder pedal force of 150 pounds is obtained, the rudder pedal forces shall not reverse and increased rudder deflection shall produce increased angles of sideslip. Sufficient bank shall accompany sideslipping to indicate adequately any departure from steady unyawed flight.

(4) Any short-period oscillation occurring between stalling speed and maximum permissible speed shall be heavily damped with the primary controls (i) free and (ii) in a fixed position.

(b) Two-control (or simplified) airplanes. (1) The directional stability shall be shown to be adequate by demonstrating that the airplane in all configurations can be rapidly rolled from a 45-degree bank to a 45-degree bank in the opposite direction without exhibiting dangerous skidding characteristics.

(2) Lateral stability shall be shown to be adequate by demonstrating that the airplane will not assume a dangerous attitude or speed when all the controls are abandoned for a period of 2 minutes. This demonstration shall be made in moderately smooth air with the airplane trimmed for straight level flight at 0.9 $V_h$ (or at $V_c$, if lower), flaps and gear retracted, and with rearward center of gravity loading.

(3) Any short period oscillation occurring between the stalling speed and the maximum permissible speed shall be heavily damped with the primary controls (i) free and (ii) in a fixed position.

STALLS

§ 3.120 Stalling demonstration. (a) Stalls shall be demonstrated under two conditions:

(1) With power off, and

(2) With a power setting of not less than that required to show compliance with the provisions of § 3.85 (a) for airplanes of more than 6,000 pounds maximum weight, or with 90 percent of maximum continuous power for airplanes of 6,000 pounds or less maximum weight.

(b) In either condition required by paragraph (a) of this section it shall be possible, with flaps and landing gear in any position, with center of gravity in the position least favorable for recovery, and with appropriate airplane weights, to show compliance with the applicable requirements of paragraphs (c) through (f) of this section.

(c) For airplanes having independently controlled rolling and directional controls, it shall be possible to produce and to correct roll by unreversed use of the rolling control and to produce and correct yaw by unreversed use of the directional control up until the time the airplane pitches in the maneuver prescribed in paragraph (g) of this section.

(d) For two-control airplanes having either interconnected lateral and directional controls or for airplanes having only one of these controls, it shall be possible to produce and to correct roll by unreversed use of the rolling control without producing excessive yaw up until the time the airplane pitches in the maneuver prescribed in paragraph (g) of this section.

(e) During the recovery portion of the maneuver, it shall be possible to prevent more than 15 degrees roll or yaw by the normal use of controls, and any loss of altitude in excess of 100 feet or any pitch in excess of 30 degrees below level shall be entered in the Airplane Flight Manual.

(f) A clear and distinctive stall warning shall precede the stalling of the airplane, with the flaps and landing gear in any position, both in straight and turning flight. The stall warning shall begin at a speed exceeding that of stalling by not less than 5 but not more than 10 miles per hour and shall continue until the stall occurs.

(g) In demonstrating the qualities required by paragraphs (c) through (f) of this section, the procedure set forth in subparagraphs (1) and (2) of this paragraph shall be followed.

(1) With trim controls adjusted for straight flight at a speed of approximately 1.4 $V_{s_1}$ for airplanes of more than 6,000 pounds maximum weight, or approximately 1.5 $V_{s_1}$ for airplanes of 6,000 pounds or less maximum weight, the speed shall be reduced by means of the elevator control until the speed is slightly above the stalling speed; then

(2) The elevator control shall be pulled back at a rate such that the airplane speed reduction does not exceed 1 mile per hour per second until a stall is produced as evidenced by an uncontrollable downward pitching motion of the airplane, or until the control reaches the stop. Normal use of the elevator control for recovery shall be allowed after such pitching motion has unmistakably developed.

§ 3.121 Climbing stalls. When stalled from an excessive climb attitude it shall be possible to recover from this maneuver without exceeding the limiting air speed or the allowable acceleration limit.

§ 3.122 Turning flight stalls. When stalled during a coordinated 30-degree banked turn with 75 percent maximum continuous power on all engines, flaps and landing gear retracted, it shall be possible to recover to normal level flight without encountering excessive loss of altitude, uncontrollable rolling characteristics, or uncontrollable spinning tendencies. These qualities shall be demonstrated by performing the following maneuver: After a steady curvilinear level coordinated flight condition in a 30-degree bank is established and while maintaining the 30-degree bank, the airplane shall be stalled by steadily and progressively tightening the turn with the elevator control until the airplane is stalled or until the elevator has reached its stop. When the stall has fully developed, recovery to level flight shall be made with normal use of the controls.

§ 3.123 One-engine-inoperative stalls. Multiengine airplanes shall not display any undue spinning tendency and shall be safely recoverable without applying power to the inoperative engine when stalled with:

(a) The critical engine inoperative,

(b) Flaps and landing gear retracted,

(c) The remaining engines operating at up to 75 percent of maximum continuous power, except that the power need not be greater than that at which the use of maximum control travel just holds the wings laterally level in approaching the stall. The operating engines may be throttled back during the recovery from the stall.

SPINNING

§ 3.124 Spinning—(a) Category N. All airplanes of 4,000 lbs. or less maximum weight shall recover from a one-turn spin with the controls applied normally for recovery in not more than one additional turn and without exceeding either the limiting air speed or the limit positive maneuvering load factor for the airplane. In addition, there shall be no excessive back pressure either during the spin or in the recovery. It shall not be possible to obtain uncontrollable spins by means of any possible use of the controls. Compliance with these requirements shall be demonstrated at any permissible combination of weight and center of gravity positions obtainable with all or any part of the designed useful load. All airplanes in category N, regardless of weight, shall be placarded against spins or demonstrated to be "characteristically incapable of spinning" in which case they shall be so designated. (See paragraph (d) of this section.)

(b) Category U. Airplanes in this category shall comply with either the entire requirements of paragraph (a) of this section or the entire requirements of paragraph (c) of this section.

(c) Category A. All airplanes in this category shall be capable of spinning and shall comply with the following:

(1) At any permissible combination of weight and center of gravity position obtainable with all or part of the design useful load, the airplane shall recover from a six-turn spin, or from any point in a six-turn spin, in not more than 1½ additional turns after the application of the controls in the manner normally used for recovery.

(2) It shall be possible to recover from the maneuver prescribed in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph without exceeding either the limiting air speed or the limit positive maneuvering load factor of the airplane.

(3) It shall not be possible to obtain uncontrollable spins by means of any possible use of the controls.

(4) A placard shall be placed in the cockpit of the airplane setting forth the use of the controls required for recovery from spinning maneuvers.

(d) Category NU. When it is desired to designate an airplane as a type "characteristically incapable of spinning," the flight tests to demonstrate this characteristic shall also be conducted with:

(1) A maximum weight 5 percent in excess of the weight for which approval is desired,

(2) A center of gravity at least 3 percent aft of the rearmost position for which approval is desired,

(3) An available up-elevator travel 4 degrees in excess of that to which the elevator travel is to be limited by appropriate stops.

(4) An available rudder travel 7 degrees, in both directions, in excess of that to which the rudder travel is to be limited by appropriate stops.

GROUND AND WATER CHARACTERISTICS

§ 3.143 Requirements. All airplanes shall comply with the requirements of §§ 3.144 to 3.147.

§ 3.144 Longitudinal stability and control. There shall be no uncontrollable tendency for landplanes to nose over in any operating condition reasonably expected for the type, or when rebound occurs during landing or take-off. Wheel brakes shall operate smoothly and shall exhibit no undue tendency to induce nosing over. Seaplanes shall exhibit no dangerous or uncontrollable porpoising at any speed at which the airplane is normally operated on the water.

§ 3.145 Directional stability and control. (a) There shall be no uncontrollable looping tendency in 90-degree cross winds up to a velocity equal to 0.2 $V_{s_0}$ at any speed at which the aircraft may be expected to be operated upon the ground or water.

(b) All landplanes shall be demonstrated to be satisfactorily controllable with no exceptional degree of skill or alertness on the part of the pilot in power-off landings at normal landing speed and during which brakes or engine power are not used to maintain a straight path.

(c) Means shall be provided for adequate directional control during taxying.

§ 3.146 Shock absorption. The shock-absorbing mechanism shall not produce damage to the structure when the airplane is taxied on the roughest ground which it is reasonable to expect the airplane to encounter in normal operation.

§ 3.147 Spray characteristics. For seaplanes, spray during taxying, take-off, and landing shall at no time dangerously obscure the vision of the pilots nor produce damage to the propeller or other parts of the airplane.

FLUTTER AND VIBRATION

§ 3.159 Flutter and vibration. All parts of the airplane shall be demonstrated to be free from flutter and excessive vibration under all speed and power conditions appropriate to the operation of the airplane up to at least the minimum value permitted for $V_d$ in § 3.184. There shall also be no buffeting condition in any normal flight condition severe enough to interfere with the satisfactory control of the airplane or to cause excessive fatigue to the crew or result in structural damage. However, buffeting as stall warning is considered desirable and discouragement of this type of buffeting is not intended.

SUBPART C—STRENGTH REQUIREMENTS

GENERAL

§ 3.171 Loads. (a) Strength requirements are specified in terms of limit and ultimate loads. Limit loads are the maximum loads anticipated in service. Ultimate loads are equal to the limit loads multiplied by the factor of safety. Unless otherwise described, loads specified are limit loads.

(b) Unless otherwise provided, the specified air, ground, and water loads shall be placed in equilibrium with inertia forces, considering all items of mass in the airplane. All such loads shall be distributed in a manner conservatively approximating or closely representing actual conditions. If deflections under load would change significantly the distribution of external or internal loads, such redistribution shall be taken into account.

(c) Simplified structural design criteria shall be acceptable if the Administrator finds that they result in design loads not less than those prescribed in §§ 3.181 through 3.265.

§ 3.172 Factor of safety. The factor of safety shall be 1.5 unless otherwise specified.

§ 3.173 Strength and deformations. The structure shall be capable of supporting limit loads without suffering detrimental permanent deformations. At all loads up to limit loads, the deformation shall be such as not to interfere with safe operation of the airplane. The structure shall be capable of supporting ultimate loads without failure for at least 3 seconds, except that when proof of strength is demonstrated by dynamic tests simulating actual conditions of load application, the 3-second limit does not apply.

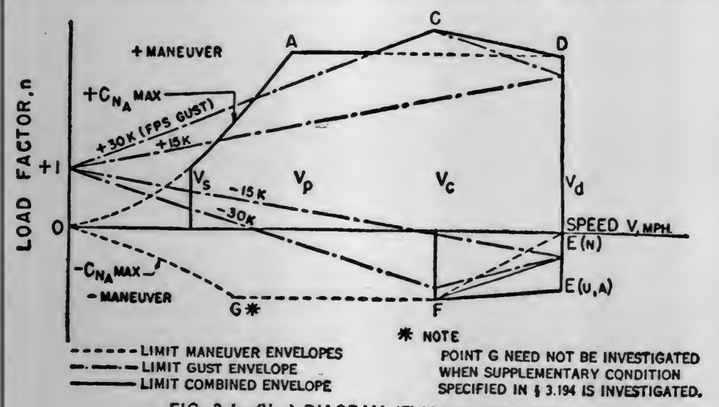

FIG. 3-1—(V-n) DIAGRAM (FLIGHT ENVELOPE)

§ 3.174 Proof of structure. Proof of compliance of the structure with the strength and deformation requirements of § 3.173 shall be made for all critical loading conditions. Proof of compliance by means of structural analysis will be accepted only when the structure conforms with types for which experience has shown such methods to be reliable. In all other cases substantiating load tests are required. Dynamic tests including structural flight tests shall be acceptable, provided that it is demonstrated that the design load conditions have been simulated. In all cases certain portions of the structure must be subjected to tests as specified in Subpart D of this part.

FLIGHT LOADS

§ 3.181 General. Flight load requirements shall be complied with at critical altitudes within the range in which the airplane may be expected to operate and at all weights between the minimum design weight and the maximum design weight, with any practicable distribution of disposable load within prescribed operating limitations stated in §§ 3.777–3.780.

§ 3.182 Definition of flight load factor. The flight load factors specified represent the acceleration component (in terms of the gravitational constant g) normal to the assumed longitudinal axis of the airplane, and equal in magnitude and opposite in direction to the airplane inertia load factor at the center of gravity.

SYMMETRICAL FLIGHT CONDITIONS (FLAPS RETRACTED)

§ 3.183 General. The strength requirements shall be met at all combinations of air speed and load factor on and within the boundaries of a pertinent V–n diagram, constructed similarly to the one shown in Figure 3–1, which represents the envelope of the flight loading conditions specified by the maneuvering and gust criteria of §§ 3.185 and 3.187. This diagram will also be used in determining the airplane structural operating limitations as specified in Subpart G of this part.

§ 3.184 Design air speeds. The design air speeds shall be chosen by the designer except that they shall not be less than the following values:

$V_c$ (design cruising speed)
$=38\ \sqrt{W/S}$ (NU)
$=42\ \sqrt{W/S}$ (A)

except that for values of $W/S$ greater than 20, the above numerical multiplying factors shall be decreased linearly with $W/S$ to a value of 33 at $W/S=100$: And further provided, That the required minimum value need be no greater than 0.9 $V_h$ actually obtained at sea level.

$V_d$ (design dive speed)
$=1.40\ V_{c\ \min}$ (N)
$=1.50\ V_{c\ \min}$ (U)
$=1.55\ V_{c\ \min}$ (A)

except that for values of $W/S$ greater than 20, the above numerical multiplying factors shall be decreased linearly with $W/S$ to a value of 1.35 at $W/S=100$. ($V_{c\ \min}$ is the required minimum value of design cruising speed specified above.)

$V_p$ (design manuevering speed)
$=V_s\ \sqrt{n}$ where:
$V_s$=a computed stalling speed with flaps fully retracted at the design weight, normally based on the maximum airplane normal force coefficient, $C_{N_A}$.
$n$=limit maneuvering load factor used in design, except that the value of $V_p$ need not exceed the value of $V_c$ used in design.

§ 3.185 Maneuvering envelope. The airplane shall be assumed to be subjected to symmetrical maneuvers resulting in the following limit load factors, except where limited by maximum (static) lift coefficients:

(a) The positive maneuvering load factor specified in § 3.186 at all speeds up to $V_d$,

(b) The negative maneuvering load factor specified in § 3.186 at speed $V_c$; and factors varying linearly with speed from the specified value at $V_c$ to 0.0 at $V_d$ for the N category and −1.0 at $V_d$ for the A and U categories.

§ 3.186 Maneuvering load factors. (a) The positive limit maneuvering load factors shall not be less than the following values:

$n=2.1+\frac{24{,}000}{W+10{,}000}$ ---------- Category N except that $n$ need not be greater than 3.8 and shall not be less than 2.5.

$n=4.4$ ---------- Category U
$n=6.0$ ---------- Category A

(b) The negative limit maneuvering load factors shall not be less than −0.4 times the positive load factor for the N and U categories, and shall not be less than −0.5 times the positive load factor for the A category.

(c) Lower values of maneuvering load factor may be employed only if it be proven that the airplane embodies features of design which make it impossible to exceed such values in flight. (See also § 3.106.)

§ 3.187 Gust envelope. The airplane shall be assumed to encounter symmetrical vertical gusts as specified below while in level flight and the resulting loads shall be considered limit loads:

(a) Positive (up) and negative (down) gusts of 30 feet per second nominal intensity at all speeds up to $V_c$,

(b) Positive and negative 15 feet per second gusts at $V_d$. Gust load factors shall be assumed to vary linearly between $V_c$ and $V_d$.

§ 3.188 Gust load factors. In applying the gust requirements, the gust load factors shall be computed by the following formula:

$$n=1+\frac{KUVm}{575\ (W/S)}$$

where: $K=\frac{1}{2}(W/S)^{1/4}$ (for $W/S<16$ p. s. f.)

$=1.33-\frac{2.67}{(W/S)^{2/4}}$ (for $W/S>16$ p. s. f.)

$U$=nominal gust velocity, f. p. s. (Note that the "effective sharp-edged gust" equals $KU$.)

$V$=airplane speed, m. p. h.
m=slope of lift curve, $C_L$ per radian, corrected for aspect ratio.
$W/S$=wing loading, p. s. f.

§ 3.189 Airplane equilibrium. In determining the wing loads and linear inertia loads corresponding to any of the above specified flight conditions, the appropriate balancing horizontal tail load (see § 3.215) shall be taken into account in a rational or conservative manner.

Incremental horizontal tail loads due to maneuvering and gusts (see §§ 3.216 and 3.217) shall be reacted by angular inertia of the complete airplane in a rational or conservative manner.

FLAPS EXTENDED FLIGHT CONDITIONS

§ 3.190 Flaps extended flight conditions. (a) When flaps or similar high lift devices intended for use at the relatively low air speeds of approach, landing, and take-off are installed, the airplane shall be assumed to be subjected to symmetrical maneuvers and gusts with the flaps fully deflected at the design flap speed $V_f$ resulting in limit load factors within the range determined by the following conditions:

(1) Maneuvering, to a positive limit load factor of 2.0.

(2) Positive and negative 15-feet-per-second gusts acting normal to the flight path in level flight. The gust load factors shall be computed by the formula of § 3.188.

$V_f$ shall be assumed not less than 1.4 $V_s$ or 1.8 $V_{sf}$, whichever is greater, where:

$V_s$=the computed stalling speed with flaps fully retracted at the design weight
$V_{sf}$=the computed stalling speed with flaps fully extended at the design weight

except that when an automatic flap load limiting device is employed, the airplane may be designed for critical combinations of air speed and flap position permitted by the device. (See also § 3.338.)

(b) In designing the flaps and supporting structure, slipstream effects shall be taken into account as specified in § 3.223.

NOTE: In determining the external loads on the airplane as a whole, the thrust, slipstream, and pitching acceleration may be assumed equal to zero.

UNSYMMETRICAL FLIGHT CONDITIONS

§ 3.191 Unsymmetrical flight conditions. The airplane shall be assumed to be subjected to rolling and yawing maneuvers as described in the following conditions. Unbalanced aerodynamic moments about the center of gravity shall be reacted in a rational or conservative manner considering the principal masses furnishing the reacting inertia forces.

(a) Rolling conditions. The airplane shall be designed for (1) unsymmetrical wing loads appropriate to the category, and (2) the loads resulting from the aileron deflections and speeds specified in § 3.222, in combination with an airplane load factor of at least two-thirds of the positive maneuvering factor used in the design of the airplane. Only the wing and wing bracing need be investigated for this condition.

NOTE: These conditions may be covered as noted below:

(a) Rolling accelerations may be obtained by modifying the symmetrical flight conditions shown in Figure 3–1 as follows:

(1) Acrobatic category. In conditions A and F assume 100 percent of the wing airload acting on one side of the plane of symmetry and 60 percent on the other.

(2) Normal and utility categories. In condition A, assume 100 percent of the wing airload acting on one side of the airplane and 70 percent on the other. For airplanes over 1,000 pounds design weight, the latter percentage may be increased linearly with weight up to 80 percent at 25,000 pounds.

(b) The effect of aileron displacement on wing torsion may be accounted for by adding the following increment to the basic airfoil moment coefficient over the aileron portion of the span in the critical condition as determined by the note under § 3.222:

$$\Delta c_m = -.01\delta$$

$\Delta c_m$ = moment coefficient increment
$\delta$ = down aileron deflection in degrees in critical condition

(b) Yawing conditions. The airplane shall be designed for the yawing loads resulting from the vertical surface loads specified in §§ 3.219 to 3.221.

SUPPLEMENTARY CONDITIONS

§ 3.194 Special condition for rear lift truss. When a rear lift truss is employed, it shall be designed for conditions of reversed airflow at a design speed of:

$$V = 10\sqrt{W/S} + 10 \text{ (m. p. h.)}$$

NOTE: It may be assumed that the value of $C_L$ is equal to $-0.8$ and the chordwise distribution is triangular between a peak at the trailing edge and zero at the leading edge.

§ 3.195 Engine torque effects. (a) Engine mounts and their supporting structures shall be designed for engine torque effects combined with certain basic flight conditions as described in subparagraphs (1) and (2) of this paragraph. Engine torque may be neglected in the other flight conditions.

(1) The limit torque corresponding to take-off power and propeller speed acting simultaneously with 75 percent of the limit loads from flight condition A. (See Fig. 3–1.)

(2) The limit torque corresponding to maximum continuous power and propeller speed, acting simultaneously with the limit loads from flight condition A. (See Fig. 3–1.)

(b) The limit torque shall be obtained by multiplying the mean torque by a factor of 1.33 in the case of engines having 5 or more cylinders. For 4-, 3-, and 2-cylinder engines, the factors shall be 2, 3, and 4, respectively.

§ 3.196 Side load on engine mount. The limit load factor in a lateral direction for this condition shall be at least equal to one-third of the limit load factor for flight condition A (see Fig. 3–1) except that it shall not be less than 1.33. Engine mounts and their supporting structure shall be designed for this condition which may be assumed independent of other flight conditions.

CONTROL SURFACE LOADS

§ 3.211 General. The control surface loads specified in the following sections shall be assumed to occur in the symmetrical and unsymmetrical flight conditions as described in §§ 3.189–3.191. See Figures 3–3 to 3–10 for acceptable values of control surface loadings which are considered as conforming to the following detailed rational requirements.

§ 3.212 Pilot effort. In the control surface loading conditions described, the airloads on the movable surfaces and the corresponding deflections need not exceed those which could be obtained in flight by employing the maximum pilot control forces specified in Figure 3–11. In applying this criterion, proper consideration shall be given to the effects of control system boost and servo mechanisms, tabs, and automatic pilot systems in assisting the pilot.

§ 3.213 Trim tab effects. The effects of trim tabs on the control surface design conditions need be taken into account only in cases where the surface loads are limited on the basis of maximum pilot effort. In such cases the tabs shall be considered to be deflected in the direction which would assist the pilot and the deflection shall correspond to the maximum expected degree of "out of trim" at the speed for the condition under consideration.

HORIZONTAL TAIL SURFACES

§ 3.214 Horizontal tail surfaces. The horizontal tail surfaces shall be designed for the conditions set forth in §§ 3.215–3.218.

§ 3.215 Balancing loads. A horizontal tail balancing load is defined as that necessary to maintain the airplane in equilibrium in a specified flight condition with zero pitching acceleration. The horizontal tail surfaces shall be designed for the balancing loads occurring at any point on the limit maneuvering envelope, Figure 3–1, and in the flap conditions. (See § 3.190.)

NOTE: The distribution of Figure 3–7 may be used.

§ 3.216 Maneuvering loads. (a) At maneuvering speed $V_p$ assume a sudden deflection of the elevator control to the maximum upward deflection as limited by the control stops or pilot effort, whichever is critical.

NOTE: The average loading of Figure 3–3 and the distribution of Figure 3–8 may be used. In determining the resultant normal force coefficient for the tail under these conditions, it will be permissible to assume that the angle of attack of the stabilizer with respect to the resultant direction of air flow is equal to that which occurs when the airplane is in steady unaccelerated flight at a flight speed equal to $V_p$. The maximum elevator deflection can then be determined from the above criteria and the tail normal force coefficient can be obtained from the data given in NACA Report No. 688, "Aerodynamic Characteristics of Horizontal Tail Surfaces," or other applicable NACA reports.

(b) Same as case (a) except that the elevator deflection is downward.

NOTE: The average loading of Figure 3–3 and the distribution of Figure 3–8 may be used.

(c) At all speeds above $V_p$ the horizontal tail shall be designed for the maneuvering loads resulting from a sudden upward deflection of the elevator, followed by a downward deflection of the elevator such that the following combinations of normal acceleration and angular acceleration are obtained:

| Condition | Airplane normal acceleration $n$ | Angular acceleration radian/sec.$^2$ |
|---|---|---|
| Down load | 1.0 | $+\frac{45}{V}n_m(n_m-1.5)$ |
| Up load | $n_m$ | $-\frac{45}{V}n_m(n_m-1.5)$ |

where:

$n_m$ = positive limit maneuvering load factor used in the design of the airplane.
$V$ = initial speed in miles per hour.

(d) The total tail load for the conditions specified in (c) shall be the sum of: (1) The balancing tail load corresponding with the condition at speed $V$ and the specified value of the normal load factor $n$, plus (2) the maneuvering load increment due to the specified value of the angular acceleration.

NOTE: The maneuvering load increment of Figure 3–4 and the distributions of Figure 3–8 (for down loads) and Figure 3–9 (for up loads) may be used. These distributions apply to the total tail load.

§ 3.217 Gust loads. The horizontal tail surfaces shall be designed for loads occurring in the conditions specified in paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section.

(a) Positive and negative gusts of 30 feet per second nominal intensity at speed $V_c$ corresponding with the flight condition specified in § 3.187 (a) with flaps retracted.

NOTE: The average loadings of Figures 3–5 (a) and (b) and the distribution of Figure 3–9 may be used for the total tail loading in this condition.

(b) Positive and negative gusts of 15 feet per second nominal intensity at speed $V_f$ corresponding with the flight condition specified in § 3.190 (b) with flaps extended and at speed $V_d$ corresponding with the flight condition specified in § 3.187 (b) with flaps retracted.

(c) In determining the total load on the horizontal tail for the conditions specified in paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section, the initial balancing tail loads shall first be determined for steady unaccelerated flight at the pertinent design speeds $V_f$, $V_c$, and $V_d$. The incremental tail load resulting from the gust shall be added to the initial balancing tail load to obtain the total tail load.

NOTE: The incremental tail load due to the gust may be computed by the following formula:

$$\Delta t = 0.1\ KUVS_t a_t \left[1 - \frac{36 a_w}{R_w}\right]$$

where:

$\Delta t$ = the limit gust load increment on the tail in pounds,
$K$ = gust coefficient $K$ in § 3.188,
$U$ = nominal gust intensity in feet per second,
$V$ = airplane speed in miles per hour,
$S_t$ = tail surface area in square feet,
$a_t$ = slope of lift curve of tail surface, $C_L$ per degree, corrected for aspect ratio,
$a_w$ = slope of lift curve of wing, $C_L$ per degree, and $R_w$ = aspect ratio of the wing.

Acceptable values of limit average maneuvering control surface loadings can be obtained from Figure 3–3 (b) as follows:

Ailerons

(6) In lieu of conditions § 3.222 (b): Obtain $\overline{w}$ from Curve B, acting in both up and down directions.
Use distribution of Figure 3–10.

FIG. 3-10 AILERON LOAD DISTRIBUTION

§ 3.218 Unsymmetrical loads. The maximum horizontal tail surface loading (load per unit area), as determined by the preceding sections, shall be applied to the horizontal surfaces on one side of the plane of symmetry and the following percentage of that loading shall be applied on the opposite side:

$\%=100-10\ (n-1)$ where:

$n$ is the specified positive maneuvering load factor.

In any case the above value shall not be greater than 80 percent.

VERTICAL TAIL SURFACES

§ 3.219 Maneuvering loads. At all speeds up to $V_p$:

(a) With the airplane in unaccelerated flight at zero yaw, a sudden displacement of the rudder control to the maximum deflection as limited by the control stops or pilot effort, whichever is critical, shall be assumed.

NOTE: The average loading of Figure 3-3 and the distribution of Figure 3-8 may be used.

(b) The airplane shall be assumed to be yawed to a sidslip angle of 15 degrees while the rudder control is maintained at full deflection (except as limited by pilot effort) in the direction tending to increase the sideslip.

NOTE: The average loading of Figure 3-3 and the distribution of Figure 3-7 may be used.

(c) The airplane shall be assumed to be yawed to a sidslip angle of 15 degrees while the rudder control is maintained in the neutral position (except as limited by pilot effort). The assumed sideslip angles may be reduced if it is shown that the value chosen for a particular speed cannot be exceeded in the cases of steady slips, uncoordinated rolls from a steep bank, and sudden failure of the critical engine with delayed corrective action.

NOTE: The average loading of Figure 3-3 and the distribution of Figure 3-9 may be used.

§ 3.220 Gust loads. (a) The airplane shall be assumed to encounter a gust of 30 feet per second nominal intensity, normal to the plane of symmetry while in unaccelerated flight at speed $V_c$.

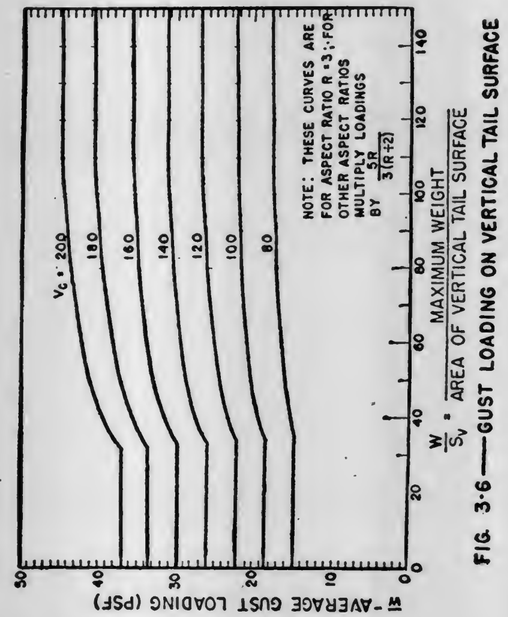

FIG. 3-6 — GUST LOADING ON VERTICAL TAIL SURFACE

(b) The gust loading shall be computed by the following formula:

$$\overline{w}=\frac{KUVm}{575}$$

where:

$\overline{w}$ = average limit unit pressure in pounds per square foot,

$K=1.33-\frac{4.5}{(W/S_v)^{3/4}}$, except that $K$ shall not be less than 1.0. A value of $K$ obtained by rational determination may be used.

$U$ = nominal gust intensity in feet per second,

$V$ = airplane speed in miles per hour,

$m$ = slope of lift curve of vertical surface, $C_L$ per radian, corrected for aspect ratio,

$W$ = design weight in pounds,

$S_v$ = vertical surface area in square feet.

(c) This loading applies only to that portion of the vertical surfaces having a well-defined leading edge.

NOTE: The average loading of Figure 3-6 and the distribution of Figure 3-9 may be used.

§ 3.221 Outboard fins. When outboard fins are carried on the horizontal tail surface, the tail surfaces shall be designed for the maximum horizontal surface load in combination with the corresponding loads induced on the vertical surfaces by end plate effects. Such induced effects need not be combined with other vertical surface loads. When outboard fins extend above and below the horizontal surface, the critical vertical surface loading (load per unit area) as determined by §§ 3.219 and 3.220 shall be applied:

(a) To the portion of the vertical surfaces above the horizontal surface, and 80 percent of that loading applied to the portion below the horizontal surface,

(b) To the portion of the vertical surfaces below the horizontal surface, and 80 percent of that loading applied to the portion above the horizontal surface.

AILERONS, WING FLAPS, TABS, ETC.

§ 3.222 Ailerons. (a) In the symmetrical flight conditions (see §§ 3.183–3.189), the ailerons shall be designed for all loads to which they are subjected while in the neutral position.

(b) In unsymmetrical flight conditions (see § 3.191 (a)), the ailerons shall be designed for the loads resulting from the following deflections except as limited by pilot effort:

(1) At speed $V_p$ it shall be assumed that there occurs a sudden maximum displacement of the aileron control. (Suitable allowance may be made for control system deflections.)

(2) When $V_c$ is greater than $V_p$, the aileron deflection at $V_c$ shall be that required to produce a rate of roll not less than that obtained in condition (1).

(3) At speed $V_d$ the aileron deflection shall be that required to produce a rate of roll not less than one-third of that which would be obtained at the speed and aileron deflection specified in condition (1).

NOTE: For conventional ailerons, the deflections for conditions (2) and (3) may be computed from:

$$\delta_2=\frac{V_p}{V_c}\delta_1; \qquad \text{and } \delta_3=\frac{0.5V_p}{V_d}\delta_1;$$

where:

$\delta_1$ = total aileron deflection (sum of both aileron deflections) in condition (1).

$\delta_2$ = total aileron deflection in condition (2).

$\delta_3$ = total deflection in condition (3). In the equation for $\delta_3$, the 0.5 factor is used instead of 0.33 to allow for wing torsional flexibility.

(c) The critical loading on the ailerons should occur in condition (2) if $V_d$ is less than $2V_c$ and the wing meets the torsional stiffness criteria. The normal force coefficient $C_N$ for the ailerons may be taken as $0.04\delta$, where $\delta$ is the deflection of the individual aileron in degrees. The critical condition for wing torsional loads will depend upon the basic airfoil moment coefficient as well as the speed, and may be determined as follows:

$$\frac{T_3}{T_2}=\frac{(C_m-.01\delta_{3_i})V_d^2}{(C_m-.01\delta_{2_i})V_c^2}$$

where:

$T_3/T_2$ is the ratio of wing torsion in condition (b) (3) to that in condition (b) (2).

$\delta_{2_i}$ and $\delta_{3_i}$ are the down deflections of the individual aileron in conditions (b) (2) and (3) respectively.

(d) When $T_3/T_2$ is greater than 1.0 condition (b) (3) is critical; when $T_3/T_2$ is less than 1.0 condition (b) (2) is critical.

(e) In lieu of the above rational conditions the average loading of Figure 3–3 and the distribution of Figure 3–10 may be used.

§ 3.223 Wing flaps. Wing flaps, their operating mechanism, and supporting structure shall be designed for critical loads occurring in the flap-extended flight conditions (see § 3.190) with the flaps extended to any position from fully retracted to fully extended; except that when an automatic flap load limiting device is employed these parts may be designed for critical combinations of air speed and flap position permitted by the device. (Also see §§ 3.338 and 3.339.) The effects of propeller slipstream corresponding to take-off power shall be taken into account at an airplane speed of not less than $1.4V_s$, where $V_s$ is the computed stalling speed with flaps fully retracted at the design weight. For investigation of the slipstream condition, the airplane load factor may be assumed to be 1.0.

§ 3.224 Tabs. Control surface tabs shall be designed for the most severe combination of air speed and tab deflection likely to be obtained within the limit $V$–$n$ diagram (Fig. 3–1) for any usable loading condition of the airplane.

§ 3.225 Special devices. The loading for special devices employing aerodynamic surfaces, such as slots and spoilers, shall be based on test data.

CONTROL SYSTEM LOADS

§ 3.231 Primary flight controls and systems. (a) Flight control systems and supporting structures shall be designed for loads corresponding to 125 percent of the computed hinge moments of the movable control surface in the conditions prescribed in §§ 3.211 to 3.225, subject to the following maxima and minima:

(1) The system limit loads need not exceed those which can be produced by the pilot and automatic devices operating the controls.

(2) The loads shall in any case be sufficient to provide a rugged system for service use, including consideration of jamming, ground gusts, taxying tail to wind, control inertia, and friction.

(b) Acceptable maximum and minimum pilot loads for elevator, aileron, and rudder controls are shown in Figure 3–11. These pilot loads shall be assumed to act at the appropriate control grips or pads in a manner simulating flight conditions and to be reacted at the attachments of the control system to the control surface horn.

§ 3.232 Dual controls. When dual controls are provided, the systems shall be designed for the pilots operating in opposition, using individual pilot loads equal to 75 percent of those obtained in accordance with § 3.231, except that the individual pilot loads shall not be less than the minimum loads specified in Figure 3–11.

§ 3.233 Ground gust conditions. (a) The following ground gust conditions shall be investigated in cases where a deviation from the specific values for minimum control forces listed in Figure 3–11 is applicable. The following conditions are intended to simulate the loadings on control surfaces due to ground gusts and when taxying with the wind.

(b) The limit hinge moment $H$ shall be obtained from the following formula:

$$H=K_cSq$$

where:

$H$ = limit hinge moment (foot-pounds).

$c$ = mean chord of the control surface aft of the hinge line (feet).

$S$ = area of control surface aft of the hinge line (square feet).

$q$ = dynamic pressure (pounds per square foot) to be based on a design speed not less than $10\sqrt{W/S}+10$ miles per hour, except that the design speed need not exceed 60 miles per hour.

$K$ = factor as specified below:

| Surface | $K$ |
|---|---|
